SESSION OF 1957

REASONS FOR PARDONS GRANTED BY GOVERNOR

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 1, 1957.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to present herewith the reasons for pardons and commutations granted from January 5, 1955 to date

GEORGE M. LEADER.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Lester E. Gore, No. A1740, December Session, 1953.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Lester E. Gore, convicted of perjury in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on October 8, 1952 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-two years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He was convicted on perjury in Philadelphia County and sentenced to a term of not less than one nor more than three years. After having served approximately eight months he was granted commutation and has been on parole approximately one and one-half years.

He desires this pardon because he has alleged that he is completely rehabilitated. At the present time he is in the building business and is unable to apply for bids and fidelity bonds of any sort by reason of this conviction.

Since he has been in no further difficulty and since he is completely rehabilitated and will not again offend against society, we are recommending that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD S. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Roddie Jones, No. A2491, September Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Roddie Jones, convicted of rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Beaver County on October 21, 1953, computed from October 14, 1953 be commuted from 1½ years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-two years of age. This was his first major conviction. He did not actually commit a rape in this case, but he did attempt to commit a rape where his accomplice succeeded. At or about the same time a similar offense was committed in Allegheny County and he was given a sentence of two to four years on this offense.

This applicant has now been incarcerated approximately one year three months on a minimum sentence of one year six months. He has a good record in the Allegheny County Workhouse, and the trial judge and district attorney have left the matter of commutation up to the Board.

The Burgess of the Boro of Ambridge, Pennsylvania, has seen fit to advise the Board of Pardons that this young man has been known to him for a number of years and he advises that he will be willing to look after him. We also have letters from others in his home town who state that he is not a bad boy at heart.

This applicant is only twenty-three years of age at the present time and we believe that he has been sufficiently punished for this offense. We, therefore, recommend that the balance of his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD S. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Raymond Eugene Pompa, C3487, No. A1950, October Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Raymond Eugene Pompa, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Dauphin County on August 4, 1952, computed from August 31, 1954 be commuted from 2 years to 1 year 4 months expiring on December 31, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of age. This was his first conviction. He was given consecutive sentences in Dauphin and Butler Counties, one which he served prior to this sentence. He was given two to four years in the Western State Penitentiary, on charges of burglary. His accomplice in this offense, Scassera, had his sentence commuted in the Allegheny County Workhouse and is now serving a like sentence in the Western State Penitentiary.

Since this applicant was a virtual first offender and had no prior criminal record, we feel that he has demonstrated his ability to behave. This applicant has now served nearly three and one-half years on what was virtually a five to ten year sentence although they were on consecutive sentences.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary have no recommendation to make, and the district attorney of Dauphin County is not opposed to the granting of clemency. The trial judge, the Honorable Homer L. Kreider, however, feels that this application is premature.

Since some clemency was shown to this applicant's accomplice by commuting the Butler County sentence so that he could begin to serve the Dauphin County sentence, we feel this applicant should be given the same sort of treatment. The clemency which was granted to this applicant's accomplice amounted to eight months.

We feel we should commute this applicant's sentence by eight months so as to place them on equal positions. We, Therefore, recommend that this applicant's minimum sentence be commuted by eight months.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD S. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Louis Scoratow, No. 5896, October Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Louis Scoratow, convicted of murder first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 27, 1933 be commuted from life imprisonment to 21 years, 7 months expiring on January 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age and this was his first major conviction. He was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to life imprisonment. After he had served approximately fifteen years he was released on parole. Since that time he has been under the supervision of the Board of Parole and has an excellent record with the Board. It is now almost seven years that this man has been under supervision. He has made a wonderful re-adjustment and is now a part owner of a prefabricated housing company. He finds it exceedingly difficult to be bonded because of this conviction and the fact that he is still on parole.

The trial judge, the Honorable J. Frank Graff, leaves the matter of commutation of maximum sentence up to the Board. The district attorney of Allegheny County is still opposed but the Board feels that this man is now completely rehabilitated and will no longer offend against society and in order not to hamper his complete rehabilitation we are recommending that his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Samuel Simonetti, D-7606, No. A-680, November Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Samuel Simonetti, convicted of robbery, and robbery armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 9, 1944, computed from January 15, 1944, be commuted from 20 years to 11 years, 1 month, expiring on February 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age. He had had several prior arrests and served minor convictions. However, this was his first serious conviction and he received a very severe sentence.

This applicant has a good work record in the State Penitentiary at Graterford and has shown an interest in bettering himself. He is considered willing, obedient and a cheerful worker.

The trial judge, the Honorable George G. Perry, has not advised the Board as to his position in the matter. The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to clemency.

This applicant at the present time has served eleven years of this minimum sentence. Since he has served more than one-half of his minimum sentence, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Peter Barneckie, E-2139, No. A-2317, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Peter Barneckie, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 2, 1947, computed from February 1, 1951, be commuted from 7½ years to 4 years expiring on February 1, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. He has had a bad prior criminal record consisting of six arrests, four convictions and one parole violation, the parole violation having been the commission of the offense for which he is presently confined in the institution. Actually applicant has served over seven years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, but since he was required to serve approximately four years as a result of being a parole violator he will have served only four years on his minimum sentence of seven and one-half years on behalf of this offense.

This applicant is probably one of the best prisoners in the Eastern State Penitentiary. At the present time he operates the Leather-Craft Shop in the Institution and he has several employees working for him. He numbers among the patrons of his shop a United States Senator; officials of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Philadelphia City officials.

At the present time the applicant has nearly ten thousand dollars in money in Government Bonds invested as a result of his craftsmanship in the institution.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Byron Milner, has written the Board and states that he recommends that the applicant be granted commutation. The District Attorney of Philadelphia is opposed in this case.

Since this applicant has attempted to complete his rehabilitation and the authorities in the Eastern State Penitentiary state he has done a magnificent job, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

In re application of John Barr, 3002, No. 262, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John Barr, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 7, 1934, be commuted from 20 years to 12 years, 3 months, 11 days, expiring on December 30, 1954.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 19, 1963.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Samuel Betoff, No. A-2786, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Samuel Betoff, convicted of failure to stop and render assistance after an accident in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 23, 1929; convicted of bookmaking in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on January 6, 1942; convicted of bookmaking in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on June 18, 1942; convicted of violation of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 21, 1944, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty years of age. He is asking a pardon on four offenses. The last of these offenses occurred in 1943, nearly twelve years ago.

Since this last offense this applicant has become the president of the Beach Amusement Corporation on the Million Dollar Pier at Atlantic City. He has a very fine reputation according to the Board of Parole, who has made an exhaustive check in his background and advises us that he is a successful business man who is well situated in successful enterprises.

Since this applicant has made such a complete rehabilitation and is no longer connected with any criminal activities, the Board is of the opinion that he will not do anything to hinder his further progress.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Francis Shunk Brown, Jr., leaves the matter of clemency up to the Board and the Honorable Harold L. Ervin leaves the matter of clemency, as far as Delaware County is concerned, up to the Board because he was not the trial judge. The district attorneys of Philadelphia and Delaware Counties are not opposed to the granting of clemency.

Since the last of these offenses occurred more than eleven years ago, and since he has completely rehabilitated himself the Board feels he has been sufficiently punished and recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Richard Anthony Bobeck, 9572-B, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Richard Anthony Bobeck, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Northumberland County on February 5, 1952 be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, 2 months expiring on January 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is seventy-six years of age and this was his first major conviction. He had four accomplices, all of whom were minors. They were drinking and when they ran out of money they committed a series of burglaries. This applicant, who was older than his accomplices, and had been involved in certain Juvenile arrests, became the object of the Court in his sentencing, and while the accomplices all received probationary sentences, this applicant was sentenced to not less than five nor more than ten years in the Northumberland County Prison.

At the present time he has served more than three years of this sentence so it is possible to state for the record that he was not quite seventeen years of age when these offenses took place.

The Warden of the Northumberland County Prison states that the applicant has a good record in the institution and has no objection to his release. Neither the trial Judge, the Honorable Robert M. Fortney nor the District Attorney are opposed.

In view of the fact that this applicant has served three years while his accomplices received probationary sentences, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished, and we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ross Bordo E-1693, No. A-1008, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Ross Bordo, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on February 6, 1948, computed from May 24, 1950, be computed from 10 years to 4 years, 9 months, expiring on February 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age and he had a bad prior criminal record. He was sentenced to a term of not less than ten nor more than twenty years following a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary. This applicant has been continuously confined for nearly seven years but only four and one-half years count because this was a parole violation.

He has an excellent institutional record for the past four years and the trial Judge, the Honorable Michael J. Eagen feels that it is premature. The District Attorney of Lackawanna County, however, is not opposed to the granting of clemency. Because this applicant has served seven years and because all the accomplices have been released, we feel that he has been punished a great deal more than any of the other participants and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved.

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Samuel Brown, D 6295, No. A2840, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Samuel Brown, convicted of murder, first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 11, 1942 be commuted from life imprisonment to 13 years expiring on February 11, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He was convicted of the charge of murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment. His accomplice, who was actually the killer in this offense, was awarded a new trial and thereafter was sentenced to a term of not less than ten nor more than twenty years on a charge of second degree murder.

This applicant has a good institutional record and the trial judge, the Honorable Vincent Carroll, has recommended that clemency be granted because it would be a rank injustice if this applicant stayed in prison while the person who committed the actual offense roamed the streets of Philadelphia.

Since this applicant has actually served two years longer than his accomplice, who committed the offense, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of R. L. Buzard, C-1876, No. A-1195, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of R. L. Buzard, convicted of murder, in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Jefferson County on May 15, 1950. Computed from November 17, 1950, be commuted from 6 years to 4 years, 3 months expiring on February 17, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-three years of age. This was his first conviction. He was convicted and sentenced on a charge of murder in the first degree for causing the death of a person with whom he had a fight. He has an excellent institutional record in the State Penitentiary at Rockview. The present Judge in Jefferson County leaves the matter up to the Board.

The District Attorney, who was not District Attorney when this offense took place, but nevertheless, is opposed.

This applicant has served two-thirds of his minimum sentence and his wife, who appeared in his behalf, has stated that he was a good father and a good provider, and she, who is his age, is in need of his aid and assistance.

Since this was the applicant's first conviction and since he has now served over four years of his minimum sentence, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Albert Carelli, No. 1471, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Albert Carelli, convicted of robbery and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on October 21, 1926 be commuted to No. 55 November Sessions, A. D. 1923 from a maximum term of 10 years to a new maximum term of 2 years 3 months, expiring February 6, 1955; and to No. 186 November Sessions, A. D. 1923 from maximum term of 3 years to a new maximum term of 2 years, 3 months, expiring on February 7, 1955; and to No. 187 November Sessions, A D. 1923 from a maximum term of 3 years to a new maximum term of 2 years, 3 months, expiring on February 8, 1855, and to No. 210 November Sessions, A. D. 1923 from a maximum term of 3 years to a new maximum term of 2 years, 3 months, expiring on February 9, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-nine years of age. He has perhaps the wierdest sentence of any person who was ever in the Western State Penitentiary. In 1925 he was sentenced to a total sentence of not less than twenty-eight nor more than fifty-nine years and after having served ten years of this sentence, his sentence was commuted and he was released on parole.

At the time of his original sentence, his sentences were illegally lumped so that when his sentence was commuted, under the decision in the Kinsella Case, he was illegally released and he had the status of a prisoner illegally at liberty. Therefore, when he was returned to the penitentiary on conviction of a subsequent sentence he was required to go ahead with the service of his sentences in the same status he had when he was illegally released

The trial judge is no longer on the bench and the present judge has no comment to make. The district attorney of Allegheny County, however, is opposed to the granting of clemency, even though this applicant has been on parole for more than two years. He has a good plan in that he desires to go to Cleveland to live with a sister and desires to go there without parole because of the evidence of his long sentence which now hangs over him.

In view of the fact that this applicant has been at liberty on two previous occasions and a period of ten years and two months we feel that he has been sufficiently punished and since the Board of Parole has no objection to the commutation of his maximum sentence, we are recommending that his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ralph Ciongoli, 73381, No. A-2304, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Ralph Ciongoli, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on January 28, 1953 be commuted from 3½ years to 2 years expiring on January 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age and this was his first major imprisonment. He plead guilty to the offense of burglary and was sentenced to not less than three and one-half nor more than seven years. His six accomplices all received very small sentences or were placed on probation.

At the present time this applicant has served more than two years of his minmum sentence. This applicant feels that he has been sufficiently punished as a result of these charges and since he now has a good record in the Workhouse and has served such a long period of time, we feel that we can recommend Executive clemency at this time.

The trial Judge did not report his opinion and the District Attorney is opposed. However, the Board still is of the opinion that this sentenced be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.

(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Edwin Collins, B-8485, A-2846, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Edwin Collins, convicted of robbery; robbery from person and assault and battery with intent to commit robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on March 15, 1943, computed from January 30, 1943 be commuted from 70 years to 12 years expiring on January 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-nine years of age. At the present time he has served twelve years of a minimum sentence of not less than seventy nor more than one hundred forty years It is interesting to note that this is the equivalent of a life sentence. The Board is of the opinion this type of sentence is ridiculous on its face, even if the applicant has a bad prior record such as this applicant had. Nevertheless this applicant has a good institutional record and the Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary have made a recommendation to the Board of Pardons that they are inclined to recommend clemency even in spite of a suspected involvement in the recent riot.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge has no comment to make. The district attorney of Allegheny County is still opposed to the granting of clemency.

In view of the fact that this applicant received a very severe sentence and has now served nearly twelve years, we are recommending that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Comido, No. A-312, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John Comido, convicted of arson in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montgomery Cunty on May 2, 1949 be commuted from 7 years to 6 years expiring on February 5, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age. He had no prior record. He, together with two accomplices, set fire to his business establishment in order that he could collect insurance. Both of his accomplices have served their sentences and have been released more than five years ago.

The Board of Parole states this applicant has made an excellent adjustment on his release from prison and that he has but a year and one-half for his maximum sentence to expire. The Board of Parole further states that his adjustment on parole has been very good and they are not opposed to the granting of commutation.

The trial judge, the Honorable George C. Corson, leaves the matter of commutation up to the Board, but the district attorney of Montgomery County remains opposed.

We feel that since this applicant has made a good adjustment he is entitled to consideration at this time and we, therefore, recommend that his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Austin Crawford, 1227-E, No. A-2420, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Austin Crawford, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Northumberland County on December 14, 1953 be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year, 2 months expiring on February 14, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-four years of age and this was his first major conviction. He and three accomplices committed an armed robbery and he was sentenced to a term of not less than one and one-half nor more than three years in the Northumberland County Prison for his participation in this offense.

At the present time he has served more than one year of this sentence. The Warden of the Northumberland County Prison advises that he is one of the best workers in the prison and that he is most cooperative and is recommending him quite highly.

Both the trial judge, the Honorable Robert M. Fortney, and the District Attorney of Northumberland County leave the matter of commutation up to the Board.

Since this applicant was virtually a first offender and he has served more than one year for his participation in this offense, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Louis Dadowski, Jr., No. A-305, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentences of imprisonment imposed on Louis Dadowski, Jr., convicted of burglary, robbery, larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on December 3, 1945, to be computed from October 5, 1945; and further recommend that the maximum sentence of imprisonment imposed on Louis Dadowski, Jr., convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Westmoreland County on November 27, 1951, to run concurrent with the Allegheny County sentence and to be computed from November 27, 1951; be commuted on Nos. 2, 3, 9 and 5 November Sessions 1945 (Allegheny County) from a maximum term of 26 years to a maximum term of 9 years, 4 months, expiring on February 5, 1955; and be commuted on No. 5 February Sessions 1946 (Westmoreland County) from a maximum term of 10 years to a maximum term of 3 years, 2 months, 10 days, expiring on February 6, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-seven years of age. This was his first major conviction After having served nearly seven years of his minimum sentence he was released on parole, and has now been on parole nearly three years. He is suffering from tuberculosis and desires to have his maximum sentences commuted in order that he may be free to go West and seek treatment, which will extend his life.

The Board of Parole advises us that this applicant's reputation has been good since his release from the penitentiary.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge has no comment. The district attorney is not opposed to the applicant's release from parole.

In view of the fact this applicant has been on parole for a period of nearly three years, we are recommending that his maximum sentences be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Millard Daley, 7548-D, No. A-2866, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Millard Daley, convicted of prison breach, burglary; larceny; burglary, aiding prisoner to escape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Franklin County on September 26, 1941, computed from June 21, 1941, be commuted from 16 years to 13 years, 7 months, expiring on January 21, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 21, 1957.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Rocco Di Nubile, No. 2689, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Rocco Di Nubile, convicted of gambling in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on October 29, 1953 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-three years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He was arrested for taking bets on a basket ball game and he plead guilty to the offense and was placed on probation for a period of one year. The Board of Parole states that this applicant is a good steady worker who adequately supports his family. He served in the Armed Forces of the United States and was honorably discharged in 1946. This applicant is a mechanical dentist and is employed at the Grevan Dental Laboratories in Philadelphia. Everyone with whom he is associated speaks well of him and it is doubtful that be will ever again be involved in these offenses.

The trial judge, Honorable John M. Davis leaves the recommending of a pardon up to the Board and the District Attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to clemency.

This applicant is married and has two children and since this offense did not involve moral turpitude and he has made an effort to adjust, and since he has such a good reputation at this time, we recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Dubenski, C-7084, No. A-1151, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follow:

This applicant is fifty-one years of age and he was sentenced on a plea of guilty to not less than ten nor more than twenty years on charges of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon. This applicant, while serving his sentence in the Philadelphia County Prison, was sent to the Farview State Hospital for the Criminal Insane on January 18, 1939. He remained at this institution until August 1953 when he was returned to the Philadelphia County Prison as cured, and released on parole on September 4, 1953.

This applicant will remain on parole until 1958 if no further action is taken. The parolee is now living in Ohio with his wife's relatives and he asks commutation of his maximum sentence. He was laid off in October 1954 and it is stated that he would be rehired when business picked up. We believe this applicant is attempting to adjust favorably but we do not wish to reward idle parolees, so it is the considered opinion, and the trial judge, the Honorable Gerald Flood, and the district attorney, that commutation of maximum sentence should be granted when this applicant has secured a job.

Accordingly, we are recommending to your Excellency that the maximum sentence be commuted, but only on condition that he is employed and working at the time recommendation is effective.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD S. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Ellis, E-4696, No. A-2836, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follow:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. His only offense against the law seems to be a result of his addiction to the drug habit. This offense occurred when the applicant had stolen physicians' prescription blanks and he was held by the Court on the ground of larceny. Also found in the apartment was approximately four thousand dollars' worth of narcotics.

This applicant seeks commutation of his sentence here on the hope that he may be transferred to the United States Public Health Hospital in Lexington, Kentucky, there to be cured of this drug habit, after which he feels that he will be able to lead a useful life in society.

The trial judge, the Honorable Louis E. Levinthal, has not seen fit to advise the Board in this matter, but the district attorney of Philadelphia has stated he is not opposed to the granting of clemency on condition that this applicant be admitted to the United States Public Health Hospital in Lexington, Kentucky.

This applicant has a very good institutional record in the State Penitentiary at Graterford and in view of the fact that he committed this offense because of his drug habit more than anything else, we are recommending that his sentence be commuted but only on condition that he be accepted to the hospital as above stated for treatment, there to be maintained and kept until he shall be certified as being cured of the drug habit.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD S. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Enos, No. 5399-D, No. 5470, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of James Enos, convicted of murder in the second degree, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Westmoreland County on May 26, 1939, be commuted from 20 years to 15 years, 6 months, expiring on November 26, 1954.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until May 1, 1959.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD S. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,

(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph F. Falcone, No. A-2856, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follow:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He plead guilty to the offense of robbery armed with an offensive weapon in 1941 and he served his minimum sentence. This applicant should be considered the spotter or finger man the offenses that took place. They all took place when he was a very young man and he has since served out his maximum sentence for his offense. He is married and has two children and he is now located in the City of Philadelphia Water Reading Meter Department.

The Board of Parole states this applicant desires this pardon in order that he may be available for civil service employment, which is more stable than the type of employment he has been engaged in prior to this.

This applicant has been in no further difficulty for nearly fourteen years and since he is attempting to go straight and raise a family, we do not wish to place any further impediment in his way so we are recommending that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD S. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) Frank F. Truscott,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Vere Felker, E-3268, No. A-2859, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Vere Felker, convicted of sodomy in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Dauphin County on September 18, 1952 be commuted from 5 years to 2 years, 5 months expiring on February 18, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-eight years of age and has had no prior criminal record. He plead guilty to the offense of sodomy committed on four girls, fourteen years of age. The girls did have a slightly tarnished reputation and this applicant has now served three months with a very good record.

The District Attorney of Dauphin County stated that he felt the sentence imposed by the Court was too severe under the circumstances. However, the trial Judge is opposed to the granting of clemency.

We feel that this applicant is more in need of treatment than confinement and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Regis C. Friem, C-293, No. A-2798, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Regis C. Friem, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on October 22, 1945, computed from August 29, 1947 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 5 months expiring on January 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age. He plead guilty to the offense of burglary and was sentenced to not less than ten nor more than twenty years. It should be pointed out that this applicant is no stranger to the penitentiary having served there on two prior occasions.

However, the Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary advises that this applicant has an excellent institutional record and in view of the fact that this applicant has served over seven years they would recommend him for clemency. It is stated that he tries at all times to do his best and he has improved his educational status. He appears to be much more mature now than he was at the time this offense occurred.

The district attorney of Allegheny County is not opposed, nor is the trial judge, the Honorable John J. Kennedy.

Since this applicant has served over seven years three months of his minimum sentence of ten years, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Samuel Francis German, No. A-2072, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due

public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Samuel Francis German, convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a minor in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Jefferson County, on August 22, 1952 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age and he had no prior criminal record. He plead guilty to the charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and served his minimum sentence. The child involved was deeply in love with the applicant and they have since have married. His former wife, who was the applicant's representative, stated that this sentence has only hurt her children and for that reason she has asked that a pardon be granted to her former husband.

He has been in no further difficulty for more than a year and since he and the person who was the cause of this offense are now married, we believe he will be in no further difficulty and we, therefore, recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of David Gerson, No. A-2785, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that David Gerson convicted of keeping a gaming house; poolselling and bookmaking and conspiracy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 1, 1939; and convicted of conspiracy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County in June 1, 1939, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-four years of age and this was his first major conviction. He was sentenced on a plea of guilty to six months in the Philadelphia County Prison for keeping and maintaining a gambling house, poolselling and bookmaking and conspiracy. There is no doubt that this applicant did at that time commit these offenses and because of that he plead guilty and was sentenced as above set forth.

However, since that time the applicant has purchased and owns and operates the City Grille, a well-known restaurant just across from City Hall in Philadelphia. He has a son, who is a student in Duke University and desires this pardon for business and social reasons.

The Board of Parole has stated that this applicant has an excellent reputation and is well known among the members of his faith for his charitable activities. In view of his positive rehabilitation and the fact that he desires this pardon so that he may clear his name is sufficient reason for the Board and we, therefore, recommend that his pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Helen Lamb Gibson, No. A-2805, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Helen Lamb Gibson, convicted of adultery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Somerset County, on November 12, 1940, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-five years of age. She has no prior record. She was convicted of the crime of adultery and this offense occurred over fourteen years ago. She has since completely rehabilitated herself and has an excellent reputation, both professional and personally.

The sentencing judge, the Hon. N. T. B., is no longer on the bench and the present judge has no objection to the granting of the applicant's petition, nor does the district attorney of Somerset County.

In view of the fact that this applicant has completely rehabilitated herself and the fact that this offense occurred over fourteen years ago, we are recommending that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thaddeus Adam Gibson, D-8185, No. A-1610, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Thaddeus Adam Gibson, convicted of robbery and conspiracy in the Court of Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on March 20, 1945 computed from December 18, 1944, be commuted from 15 years to 10 years, 2 months, expiring on February 18, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years of age. He has had a prior criminal record and at the present time is serving a sentence of not less than fifteen nor more than thirty years on charges of robbing a victim of Twenty-eight ($28.00) dollars. It is alleged there were ten places in all held up but this applicant was not involved in all the cases. He was convicted, however, on four offenses.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states that this applicant has an excellent institutional record.

The trial judge is no longer on the bench and the present judge has no recommendation. The district attorney of Delaware County is not opposed to the granting of clemency. In view of the fact that two of applicant's accomplices have had their sentences commuted, and the fact that applicant is the last one of the group to remain in prison, and the further fact that he has served two-thirds of his sentence, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished and we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John A. Gilchrist, C-967, No. A-1792, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John A. Gilchrist, convicted of burglary and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Crawford County on January 3, 1949, computed from December 13, 1948, be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 2 months expiring on February 13, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of age. This was his first major conviction. He plead guilty to a commission of the offenses of burglary and larceny and after having plead guilty to these offenses he was sentenced to a term of not less than ten nor more than twenty years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary advises that this applicant has an excellent institutional record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Herbert A. Mook, admits that in this instance he was wrong in sentencing this applicant such a lengthy sentence and he, therefore, recommends that this man's application be granted. The district attorney of Crawford County leaves the matter up to the Board.

All the accomplices were placed on probation and as a result this applicant is the only one entered in a penitentiary. Therefore, since he has now served over nine years, five months of his minimum sentence, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Carmen Greco, No. 8723, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Carmen Greco, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 21, 1941, computed from October 15, 1941, be commuted from 20 years to 13 years, 4 months expiring on February 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age and this was his first major conviction. He plead guilty to the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, and was sentenced to not less than ten nor more than twenty years. He served the full ten years of his sentence and was released on that date.

The Board of Parole has reported that this applicant now is a steady worker. He is making a satisfactory adjustment and bears a good reputation in the community. He asks release from his parole supervision in order that he may be married. As stated by one member of the Board—"He merely wishes to change his Parole Agent."

The Board is impressed with the adjustment this applicant has made in the past three years, and even though the District Attorney of Philadelphia County is opposed to the granting of clemency because he feels it is premature, we feel that having served a total of thirteen years with supervision on a twenty year sentence, he is entitled to some consideration and we, therefore, recommend that his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Fred Green, No. 4451, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Fred Green, convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 17, 1937; further convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on May 17, 1937; further convicted of pointing firearms in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on January 16, 1951, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age. This was his first conviction for any offense. He was sentenced on a charge of larceny and robbery. As to the larceny, his sentence was suspended, but for the robbery he was sentenced to not less than five nor more than ten years in the Western State Penitentiary. He served his entire minimum sentence and has served his maximum sentence while on parole and has been released from parole.

This applicant is an interior decorator in Pittsburgh and he meets many individuals and wealthy people and does work for them. Because of the fact that he has this type of clientele, he does not care to have to refer to the days of his youth when he committed these foolish offenses.

The trial judge is no longer on the bench and the present judge has no recommendation to make. The district attorney of Allegheny County is not opposed to his being granted executive clemency.

In view of the fact that he has completely rehabilitated himself, we are recommending that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Laurence Ambrose Henderson, No. A-2801, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Laurence Ambrose Henderson, convicted of forgery, fraudulent conversion and embezzlement in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lycoming County on September 7, 1944, computed from February 14, 1944 be commutted from 16 years to 11 years expiring on February 14, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-one years of age. He has no prior record. He committed a crime of forgery, fraudulent conversion and embezzlement of school funds. In all the loot amounted to approximately one hundred sixty thousand dollars. He made restitution in part from funds which he has in his possession.

He has since removed to Philadelphia where he and his wife live, and has been on parole in the State of California. Since he has been on parole three years, the Board of Parole of the State of California has advised that he has had an entirely satisfactory parole record and he has made good adjustment and desires a commutation of his maximum sentence in order that he may complete his adjustment.

This applicant comes from an excellent family, and in view of his rehabilitation since his release the Board feels that he will not again offend and we are, therefore, recommending that his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re aplpication of Charles Thomas Himmelsbach, E-3862, No. A-2852, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles Thomas Himmelsbach, convicted of sodomy; assault and battery with indecent assault in the Court of Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County on August 21, 1953. Computed from May 15, 1953 be commuted from 3 years to 2 years expiring on May 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age and has had no prior criminal record. He plead guilty to the offense of sodomy and indecent assault with young girls. He has been examined by a psychiatrist since this affair and it is stated in the psychiatric report, which was handed to the Board that there is no evidence of perversion, nor can this applicant be considered a social threat. It is felt that if this man is supervised and adequate treatment is given that he will not again be a social threat to the community.

Since this is a case of a first offender, and since the Board of Trustees of the State Penitentiary at Rockview is of the opinion that he has made a satisfactory adjustment and has been dependable and cooperative, they are not opposed because of the nature of the act. We feel, however, that further confinement can do very little for this applicant. Release with psychiatric treatment will be merciful. So even though the District Attorney is opposed to the granting of clemency, the Board is of the opinion that commutation is warranted when this applicant has served two years, which will expire on May 15, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Nathaniel Hodges, E-1012, No. A-2077, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Nathaniel Hodges, convicted of burglary; larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 14, 1949 be commuted from 10 years to 5 years, 10 months expiring on February 4, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years of age and has no prior criminal record. He plead guilty to burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods and was sentenced to this very severe of not less than ten nor more than twenty years. At the present time he has served over five years, eight months of his minimum sentence. The applicant is presently confined to the Eastern State Penitentiary where he has an excellent institutional record.

The trial judge is deceased and the District Attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed.

This applicant's accomplice, who is equally guilty and who had a much longer criminal record, was given a sentence of not less than five nor more than ten years. We feel it would be unfair and unjust to ask this applicant to serve more than his accomplice when he had no prior record and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commutted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Howell, George, A-14440, No. A-779, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of George Howell, convicted of murder, in the first degree in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Beaver County on January 2, 1926 be commuted from life to 29 years, 20 days expiring on January 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-six years of age and this was his first conviction for any offense whatsoever. He plead guilty to the commission of murder generally and the court set this offense at murder, in the first degree and sentenced this applicant to life imprisonment. He has now served one-half of his entire life in prison, or on January 2, 1955, the term of twenty-nine years.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary reports that this man has an excellent record and they would recommend commutation.

The trial Judge is deceased and the present Judge leaves the matter of commutation up to the Board. Since this applicant has served such a long period of time with an excellent record, we feel that he will not again offend against society and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Richard Lauck Hudson, No. 8703, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Richard Lauck Hudson, convicted of assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on June 14, 1946, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. This was his first offense. He, together with two accomplices, assaulted and robbed a victim of fifty dollars, after the victim had flashed a sum of money in a tavern. This applicant was on parole until June 1951. During the period of his parole he maintained a good reputation in the community and he showed signs of getting over his youthful instability.

At the present time this applicant is married and following his release from the institution attended Temple University and is now employed as an assistant treasurer of the J. B. Hudson, Ind. Company, which is operated by the applicant's father. The petitioner also is a member of the North East Junior Chamber of Commerce in Philadelphia.

The Board of Parole states he has an excellent record of rehabilitation on parole. We feel that he will not again commit any of these offenses. We, therefore, recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Howard Walter Hutton, No. 6455, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Howard Walter Hutton, convicted of murder, first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lycoming County on February 25, 1933 be commuted from life imprisonment to 22 years expiring on February 25, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-seven years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to life imprisonment. However, after he had served nearly nineteen years his sentence was commuted and he was released on parole.

He has since had a parole plan in New York, where he is living with his brother and his wife, and he is now working with the sister and operating the Garry Nursing Home. He has a good reputation with the Board of Parole of New York and, although they admit his good record, they still think it is premature for him to expect commutation of his maximum sentence, as do the authorities in Lycoming County.

The Board is of the opinion that this applicant has been sufficiently punished, as it is impressed by the rehabilitation that he has made at this time, and because of this rehabilitation, we are recommending that his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Meyer Kligerman, No. A-2838, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Meyer Kligerman, convicted of receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 19, 1926; and convicted of robbery, assault, conspiracy, kidnapping, false imprisonment, carrying concealed deadly weapons in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 29, 1947, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-four years of age. These were the only two offenses for which this applicant was ever convicted. He had arranged to buy a ring which had been stolen but applicant had no knowledge of its theft and he did participate in the Breyer hold-up which was a famous hold-up in its day. For his part in that, he was sentenced to not less than nine months, nor more than twenty-three months and he served this sentence and has since been in no further difficulty.

This applicant was brought to this country at the age of two years and has lived here fifty-two years. He did not realize he was not an American until he was served with a warrant for deportation as a result of these transgressions.

He has a wife and three children, all of whom were born in this country and his family is still dependent upon him. At present the applicant is employed by the Home Frosted Foods, Inc., of Philadelphia, and is not connected with any criminal activities.

The Board of Parole states that the applicant's reputation in the community is good and that he is described as being a good worker and fine home maker.

In view of this applicant's rehabilitation and the possibility of his deportation to Russia, we recommend that his pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Raymond J. Lipinski, No. 8343-C, No. 6994, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 8, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Loadholt, E-986, No. A-2835, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Loadholt, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court if Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 29, 1949. Computed from January 1, 1949 be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 1 month expiring on February 1, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age and this was his first conviction for any serious offense. He plead guilty to murder generally and was found guilty of murder in the second degree and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for not less than ten or more than twenty years. He is now confined in the State Penitentiary at Graterford, where the Board of Trustees state that the applicant has a very good Institutional record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Vincent A. Carroll, has advised the Board that the decedent had a worse criminal record for violence and left the matter of clemency up to the Board of Pardons.

Since this applicant had been seriously attacked by the decedent prior to the killing, we believe that he has been sufficiently punished. Although the District Attorney of Philadelphia feels that the application is premature, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Willie London, D-9490, No. A-2799, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Willie London, convicted of murder, second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 26, 1947, computed from October 23, 1946 be commuted from 10 years to 8 years, 4 months expiring on February 23, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age. This was his first major conviction. He was sentenced to not less than ten nor more than twenty years on charges of murder in the second degree. The victim was the applicant's wife and she had been running around with another man for approximately ten years. This applicant thereupon shot his wife and other man. His wife died.

At the present time he has served over eight years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, and has an excellent institutional record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Byron Milner, is not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter, and the district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed. Since he has served over eight years for a first offense, we believe he has been sufficiently punished and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph John Maguire, E-3821, No. A-2861, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph John Maguire, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Philadelphia County on July 23, 1953. Computed from June 30, 1953 be commuted from 3 years to 1 year, 7 months expiring on January 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-two years of age. This was his first major conviction. He was sentenced, after being convicted of the offense of burglary, to a term of not less than three nor more than six years. At the present time this applicant has served over one and one-half years of his minimum sentence. His wife appeared and requested that he be granted clemency in order to provide for herself and two-year old son.

The Board of Trustees at the State Penitentiary at Graterford states that this applicant has a very good record.

If granted relief he will be able to reestablish his family and support his wife and child.

The trial judge, the Honorable Raymond MacNeille, leaves the matter up to the Board and the District Attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed and also leaves the matter up to the Board.

Since this was applicant's first major conviction and since he has now served over one and one-half years of his minimum sentence with an excellent institutional record, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Marchesini, E-4292, No. A-2814, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Robert Marchesini, convicted by robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Bradford County on February 15, 1954 be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year expiring on February 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-five years of age and he had no prior criminal record. He plead guilty to a charge of robbery and was sentenced to a term of not less than one and one-half nor more than ten years. He, at first, had only a fair institutional record, but for the past four or five months he has had an excellent record.

The District Attorney is not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter, but the trial Judge, the Honorable W. Rosenfield, is opposed. The Board, however, feels that this was a very severe sentence for a first offender, and we do feel that one year is sufficient under all the circumstances. We, therefore, recommend that this applicant's sentence be commuted to one year, expiring on February 15, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.

(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Marshall, E-112, No. A-1979, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Marshall, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 19, 1948, computed from December 31, 1947 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 1 month expiring on January 31, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years of age. This is his first major conviction. He was sentenced on a plea of guilty to not less than ten nor more than twenty years on charges of robbery. This applicant robbed a taxicab driver and threatened the driver with a knife.

The Board of Trustees of the State Penitentiary at Graterford states that this applicant has an excellent institutional record.

The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of clemency since this applicant has now served seven years of his minimum sentence.

Since this applicant has been in prison seven years with an excellent institutional record, we are recommending that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Victor Martire, No. A-2857, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that James Victor Martire, convicted of conducting a lottery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on February 7, 1941 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age. This was his first conviction. He was sentenced, following his conviction, on the charge of conducting a lottery when a friend left a pack of number slips in his automobile. Although applicant states he did not know what was in the package, nevertheless he was convicted.

The Board of Parole has informed the Board of Pardons that the applicant is a man of good reputation and has been operating a legitimate business for the past several years. The applicant desires this pardon in order that he may apply for a liquor license and also that he may clear his name for himself and family.

In view of the fact that this applicant has a good reputation and the district attorney of Allegheny County is not opposed, we are recommending that this applicant be granted a pardon as he has been in no further difficulty for over fourteen years.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William J. Meany, E-4205, No. A-2804, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William J. Meany, convicted of larceny by employee in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 22, 1954 be commuted from 2 years to 1 year, expiring on January 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-five years of age. He had no prior record. He embezzled funds of his employer, a motor company in Philadelphia, over a period of two years totalling thirteen thousand dollars. He is now confined in the State Penitentiary at Rockview and the Board of Trustees of the State Penitentiary at Rockview states that applicant has an excellent institutional record.

The district attorney of Philadelphia County is opposed to the granting of clemency although the trial judge, the Honorable L. Stauffer Oliver recommends that clemency be granted. This applicant has now served approximately one year of his minimum sentence. The Board feels that having been a first offender with an excellent institutional record and since the trial judge recommends that clemency be granted, this is sufficient sentence if one year is served. We, however, to make it a condition and recommend to your Excellency that this applicant make restitution to his employer for the funds taken.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Joseph McGettigan, D-5818, No. 9073, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application haping been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John Joseph McGettigan, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 9, 1941. Computed from May 27, 1941 be commuted from 30 years to 13 years, 8 months expiring in January 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-five years of age. He has had a very bad criminal record, including fourteen arrests, seven convictions and one parole violation. After this last offense the applicant spent ten years in the institution before being released and at the present time has been on parole three and one-half years.

The applicant learned the trade of printing while in the institutiin and since his release has been employed in the printing trade. We have a good recommendation from his employer, who states that he is a steady worker and is adjusted well to his job.

The trial judge is deceased and the district attorney leaves the matter of commutation of maximum sentence up to the Board. Since this applicant served ten years and has been on parole three and one-half years, we feel he has been sufficiently punished and in view of his good rehabilitation, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Jerry McLaurin, D-9556, No. A-1150, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Jerry McLaurin, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 31, 1947, computed from November 5, 1946 be commuted from 15 years to 8 years, 3 months expiring on February 5, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-five years of age and this was his first conviction for any offense. He was sentenced on a plea of guilty to not less than fifteen nor more than thirty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He has an excellent institutional record and the trial judge is now deceased. The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter. Both accomplices were sentenced to not less than seven and one-half nor more than fifteen years, and they have now served their sentences and are released.

In view of the fact that this applicant had no worse record than his accomplices we recommend that his sentence be brought into line with the accomplices' sentence, and we recommend that clemency be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert L. Miller, A-2308, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Robert L. Miller, convicted of assault and battery; aggravated assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on June 18, 1941 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-three years of age. He had no prior record. He was the owner of certain property and when he went to collect the rent he got into a fight and was hit across the face and he grabbed an ice pick and stabbed one of his assailants. He had an excellent reputation and these offenses occurred more than thirteen years ago. He is now a detective operating a private detective agency and in the process of his job he needs to carry a gun. He, therefore, desires to secure this license but having been convicted of this offense he cannot do so without first having obtained a pardon.

The Board of Paroles advises us that this applicant has an excellent reputation. The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed.

Since this applicant has no prior record and since he has been in no further trouble for a period of over thirteen and one-half years, we are recommending to your Excellency that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, Jr.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Francis X. Morin, Jr., C-146, No. 7528, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

puted from March 6, 1947, be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 11 months, expiring on February 6, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-three years of age. This is not the first time that he has been in the toils of the law. In fact he has ben consistently involved since 1938. This applicant and six accomplices, committed a seriees of robberies in Allegheny County and Westmoreland County and upon apprehension this applicant pleaded guilty. At the present time this applicant has served almost eight years of his minimum sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states this applicant has an excellent institutional record and they have no objection to clemency being granted at this time as his interest in his work and present attitude are favorable. All the accomplices have been released and since this applicant had a worse criminal record than the others naturally he was required to spend more time in the institution. Having spent more time in the institution than his accomplice, we now recommend that his sentence be commuted.

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, Jr.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Jean Victoria Nehr, No. A-2845, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Jean Victoria Nehr, convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Erie County, on May 11, 1933 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-six years of age. She had no prior criminal record. She was sentenced on a conviction of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the sum of six dollars, but the testimony that resulted in the conviction was of very weak nature. This offense occurred more than twenty years ago and is now made the basis for a deportation proceeding to Poland. She arrived in this Country when a small girl and the basis for deportation is because of her leaving the Country to go to a Convention in Cuba.

The trial Judge, the Honorable U. P. Rossiter has no objection to the granting of clemency and the District Attorney has none, either. In view of the fact that this woman would be deported to Poland, which would be a cruel and unusual punishment, we therefore recommend to your Excellency that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John O'Lock, D-7887, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John O'Lock, convicted of burglary and felonious assault with intent to kill, in the Court of Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on September 21, 1944 and computed from September 5, 1944, be commuted from 20½ years to 10 years, 5 months, expiring on February 5, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age and has had a bad prior criminal record. He has had three convictions and two parole violations of Juvenile sentences and is now serving a term of not less than twenty and one-half nor more than forty-one years. He has now served one-half of his minimum sentence.

The trial Judge has made no comment and the District Attorney of Dauphin County is not opposed. The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary states that this applicant has an excellent record.

In view of the fact that he has now served more than ten years, three months, with an excellent record, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished and we, therefore, recommend that the balance of his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Michael Pagan, B-8416, No. A-2811, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Michael Pagan, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Allegheny County on December 16, 1942. Computed from April 3, 1950, be commuted from 10 years to 4 years, 10 months, expiring on February 3, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty years of age. He has had a rather extensive criminal record and this was not his first major conviction. He received a very severe sentence of not less than ten nor more than twenty years, and since he was on parole at the time of the happening of this offense, he was required to serve nearly eight years before he began service of this sentence.

At the present time this applicant has served approximately twelve years and he has an excellent institutional record. The accomplice of this applicant has not been released from the institution because of his previous criminal record. However, it should be pointed out that neither the trial Judge, the Honorable Frank Graff, nor the District Attorney of Allegheny County are opposed to the granting of this case.

Therefore, since this applicant has served such a long period of time, we are recommending that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Parness, E-3792, No. A-2557, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Parness, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, etc., in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 1, 1953, be commuted from 2 years to 1 year, 7 months, expiring on February 1, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-one years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He held up a theatre and secured One Thousand Dollars in loot. For this offense he was sentenced to not less than two nor more than ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. At the present time he is confined in the State Penitentiary at Rockview. The Board of Trustees of the State Penitentiary Rockview states that this applicant has an excellent institutional record.

The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of clemency. Since this applicant was a first offender and has served one year and six months of his minimum sentence we feel that he has been sufficiently punished and we are recommending that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Raymond T. Patchan, No. A-2850, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Raymond T. Patchan, convicted of robbery, in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Allegheny County on April 5, 1954, computed from March 12, 1954, be commuted from an indeterminate term to 1 year, expiring on March 12, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty years of age and this is his first major imprisonment. He was sentenced to the Pennsylvania Industrial School for having held up and robbed a Tavern. He was placed in the School for an indeterminate sentence, which, under this crime, could mean imprisonment until six years.

The Board of Trustees of the Pennsylvania Industrial School makes no recommendation in this case. We feel this applicant was the victim of circumstances and if he is granted clemency he will not be inclined to become involved again, as this applicant comes from a good family.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Russell Adams, is not opposed to the granting of clemency. Since this applicant has now been imprisoned more than eight months, and if released will not be inclined to repeat, we are recommending that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter Pearson, E-2586, No. A-2086, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Walter Pearson, convicted of fraudulently making a written instrument, etc., in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 17, 1951, computed from September 28, 1951, be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, 5 months, expiring on February 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-six years of age. This was his first major conviction. He was convicted of the crime of fraud and making a written instrument and was given the maximum sentence of imprisonment. At the present time this applicant has served over three years of his minimum sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the State Penitentiary at Graterford states this applicant has an excellent institutional record and it is stated that he is completely freed of the drug habit.

The trial judge, the Honorable Curtis Bok, has stated that he has no recommendation to make in this matter. The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of relief. Since this applicant has served over three years of his minimum sentence of five years, with an excellent institutional record, and since the trial judge and the district attorney are not opposed, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished when his accomplice was released over one year ago, and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Pepe, D-3226, No. 8170, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank Pepe, convicted of Murder, in the First Degree, in the Court of Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on June 29, 1938, be commuted from life to 16 years, 7 months, expiring on January 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age and this was his first conviction for any offense. He plead guilty to the charge of murder generally and was sentenced to life imprisonment upon a finding of first degree murder by the court. This applicant has now served nearly sixteen and one-half years of his life sentence and during all that time he has had an excellent institutional record.

The Honorable H. L. Ervin, who was a member of the Court at the time this applicant was convicted, has no recommendation to make. The District Attorney of Delaware County is not opposed.

The Board feels that since this applicant has now served nearly sixteen and one-half years with an excellent institutional record, and since the authorities are not opposed, he should be granted clemency. Therefore, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Stuart E. Phelps, C-1376, No. A-2750, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Stuart E. Phelps, convicted of burglary, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on September 28, 1949, computed from September 15, 1949, be commuted from 15 years to 5 years, 5 months, expiring on February 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years of age. This was his first major conviction. He was sentenced for a series of burglaries, there being thirty-five in which this applicant was involved. At the present time he has served over five years with an outstanding record in the institution. During his incarceration he has become an X-Ray laboratory technician in the prison hospital and will be able to be placed in this field upon his release.

The district attorney of Allegheny County is not opposed, but the trial judge, the Honorable William H. McNaugher, feels that this applicant has a chronic, aggressive, psychopathic personality. Therefore, we are recommending to your Excellency that commutation be granted but only on condition that this applicant receive and continue to receive psychopathic care and treatment until he is presumed cured and the psychiatrist so notifies the Board of Parole.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Pulaski, No. A-2844, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Pulaski, convicted of robbery and burglary, etc., in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Schuylkill County on May 20, 1950, be commuted from 5 years to 4 years, 8 months, expiring on January 20, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age and he had no prior criminal record. He plead guilty to a commission of fifteen robberies and at the present time has served four years, eight months of his minimum sentence of five years.

The Warden of the Schuylkill County Prison recommends this applicant for clemency and the trial Judge, the Honorable Cyrus M. Palmer and the District Attorney of Schuylkill County are not opposed to the granting of clemency, but leave the matter of commutation up to the Board.

Since this applicant has served four years of his minimum sentence with an excellent institutional record and since the authorities in Schuylkill County are not opposed, we feel he has been sufficiently punished and recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Bruce Thomas Reichelderfer, E-881, No. A-1630, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Bruce Thomas Reichelderfer, convicted of statutory rape, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Northumberland County on February 8, 1949, computed from February 2, 1949, be commuted from 7½ years to 6 years, expiring on February 2, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-four years of age. This was his first major conviction. He plead guilty to the offense of statutory rape and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for a term of not less than seven and one-half nor more than fifteen years. There is no doubt about the offense being rape as it was with force and against the will of the victim, who was but thirteen years of age.

Since this was applicant's first conviction he has served nearly six years of his minimum sentence and this is his second request for executive clemency.

The Board of Trustees of the State Penitentiary Graterford states that this applicant has a very good institutional record.

In view of the fact that this applicant has served nearly six years with an excellent institutional record, we believe he has been sufficiently punished and we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Cecelia Riebel, No. A-2858, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Cecelia Riebel, convicted of counterfeit and forgery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on September 15, 1938 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-nine years of age and this was the only offense for which she was ever convicted. The facts surrounding this offense were that in 1938 this applicant forged a check which was cashed in the sum of one hundred and thirty-five dollars.

The Board of Parole has reported to the Board of Pardons that this applicant is cashier in the New Dixon Restaurant in Pittsburgh and that she has made an honest effort to rehabilitate herself.

The trial Judge is not available for comment and the District Attorney leaves the matter of pardon to the Board.

Since this applicant has made an honest living for the past fifteen years and nine months, we are recommending that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Rubolino, No.-2313, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph Rubolino, convicted of keeping a gambling house, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 21, 1942 and on December 17, 1942; and convicted of conducting a lottery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on November 25, 1948, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-three years of age. He had no prior record. He plead guilty to the operation of a gambling house and number writing. These offenses all occurred between 1942 and 1948 and since that time the applicant has an excellent reputation and for the past six years he has had a good reputation, is considered an honest law-abiding family man.

At the present time this applicant is half-owner of a restaurant and cafe in McKees Rocks and states he is eager to have a pardon so that he may have a clean record for the sake of his children.

Since this applicant has completely rehabilitated himself and since he is no longer considered offensive, but a reputable family man we recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Sessa, E-902, No. A-1658, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Sessa, convicted of burglary, larceny, receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 24, 1949, computed from July 22, 1948, be commuted from 8 years to 6 years, 6 months, expiring on January 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of age. This was his first major conviction. He was sentenced to not less than eight nor more than twenty years for offenses consisting of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods.

This applicant is presently confined in the State Penitentiary Graterford and the board of Trustees of the State Penitentiary Graterford states that this applicant has an excellent record.

The trial judge is deceased and the district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of clemency in view of the fact this applicant has served over thre-fourths of his minimum sentence. Since this applicant was virtually a first offender and since this was his first major conviction we are recommending that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.

(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Sidney Shuster, D-9442, No. 9144, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Sidney Shuster, convicted of setting fire to defraud insured, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Adams County, on February 1, 1947 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He plead guilty to the crime of setting a fire to defraud insurer and was sentenced to not less than one and one-half nor more than three years. He set fire to his sister's truck because business was bad and he thought she would recoup his losses through inurance.

This applicant served his minimum sentence and has been in no further difficulty for a period of approximately six years, five months. His accomplice has also served his minimum sentence.

In view of the fact that this applicant has not had any former, or subsequent difficulty with the law, we feel that he has completely rehabilitated himself and we, therefore, recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Samuel Silverman, No. A-2642, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Samuel Silverman, convicted of pool selling and bookmaking and conspiracy on December 2, 1957; further convicted of pool selling, conspiracy and bookmaking on June 16, 1948; further convicted of pool selling and bookmaking and conspiracy on September 27, 1949; further convicted of pool selling and bookmaking and conspiracy on December 13, 1950 in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-three years of age. He, over a period of three years, became involved on four separate occasions in gambling and bookmaking. However, since 1950 the applicant has not been involved in any gambling offenses. He has since purchased and operates the Dave Shore Restaurant in Philadelphia. He wants to enlarge this business and increase his capacity. To do so he will have to have a mortgage and he is fearful that if this pardon is not granted he will be unable to secure the necessary credit arrangements.

The Board of Parole states that this applicant has what is known as an average good reputation. The various trial judges have not seen fit to advise the Board as to their positions in this matter. The district attorney of Philadelphia County, however, is opposed to any further clemency. We believe that this applicant is divorced from any criminal activities and will not again affend against society and we, therefore, recommended that his pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Clark Skidmore, No. 9183, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of George Clark Skidmore, convicted of murder, first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on April 24, 1936, be commuted from life imprisonment to 18 years, 10 months, expiring on February 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-four years of age. This was his first major conviction. He, together with two accomplices, committed a robbeery of a gas station and an attendant was shot and killed. The applicant served approximately sixteen and one-half years before he was released on parole and it should be pointed out that this applicant, after the commission of this offense, re-escaped and went to Idaho where he lived for a period of six years before being apprehended.

Since his release on parole, this applicant has returned to Idaho and has become as completely rehabilitated as it is possible for anyone to be rehabilitated and many of the persons in the community of Clearwater, Idaho, where he now lives, recommend him highly to this Board. We feel this applicant has been completely rehabilitated, and since that is so, we are recommending that this applicant's maximum sentence be commuted, although the district attorney of Allegheny County considers it premature.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of Randall Smith, 1954 D, No. 7519, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Randall Smith, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon and armed robbery with accomplice, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Monroe County on February 13, 1942, computed from February 11, 1942, be commuted from 20 years to 12 years, 11 months, expiring on January 11, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 11, 1962.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

In re application of Thomas James Snyder E-3004, No. A-2159, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Thomas James Snyder, convicted of burglary, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on May 12, 1952, computed from May 8, 1952, be commuted from 4 years to 3 years, expiring on May 8, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-three years of age and this was his first major conviction. He was convicted of burglary in four places and was sentenced to a term of not less than four nor more than ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He has now served approximately two and one-half years of his minimum sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary state that this applilcant has an excellent institutional record.

We have received a report from the trial judge and the district attorney, who state that they leave the matter of clemency up to the Board of Pardons. We, however, feel that this applicant is entitled to some consideration and we are recommending that his sentence be commuted on May 8, 1955, when he shall have served three years.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Snyder C-1789, No. A-1752, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Snyder, convicted of breaking and escaping prison, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Centre County on February 2, 1950, be commuted from 6 years to 4 years, 5 months, expiring on January 26, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age. He has had a bad criminal record. He plead guilty to an offense which was a parole violation on a charge of burglary in 1943. While serving this sentence, he escaped from the State Penitentiary at Rockview. He was returned, given a sentence of not more than twenty years nor less than six, and required to serve his entire minimum sentence. At the present time this applicant has been confined for over eleven years but only four years three months apply on this sentence because of his prior sentence and the requirement that he be made to serve his full minimum sentence.

The Board of Trustees at Western State Penitentiary states that this applicant has an excellent institutional record and they would recommend commutation.

Both the trial Judge and the District Attorney of Centre County state that he could be considered for clemency, but they leave the matter up to the Board.

In view of the fact that this applilcant has served four years, three months of his minimum sentence of six years, and the further fact that the authorities leave this matter up to the Board, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Phillip Steinman, No. A-2832, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Phillip Steinman, convicted of assault and battery; aggravated assault and battery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 3, 1939 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-five years of age. He had no prior record. He was sentenced to serve ninety days for beating up his step-father. This occurred when the boy was approximately eighteen years of age and for the past sixteen years he has been in no further difficulty.

The Board of Parole states that this applicant has a good reputation and the trial judge is deceased. The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of clemency.

Since this applicant has an excellent record for the past sixteen years and has been in no further difficulty, and since he served in the United States Army and is now attempting to secure a bachelor of science degree at Temple University, we recommend that his pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Tedesco, No. 946-D, No. 4656, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John Tedesco, convicted of robbery, armed with offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on March 12, 1937, computed from March 5, 1937, be commuted from 20 years to 17 years, 9 months, 20 days, expiring on December 25, 1954.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 5, 1957.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,

(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVINGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Regis C. Thornton, No. A-2867, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Regis C. Thornton, convicted of bigamy, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on December 15, 1933. be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applilcant is forty-two years of age and has had no prior record. He was placed on probation for the commission of a bigamous marriage which really resulted through negligence on the part of this applicant.

At this time the applicant has not been in any further trouble for over twenty-one years and we are advised that he has had a complete coronary collapse. In view of his physical condition and the fact that he is remarried and he has completely rehabilitated himself at the present time as the Chief of Police of The Dalles, Oregon.

In view of this applicant's excellent record of rehabilitation we recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Janos Toth, No. A-2865, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Janos Toth, convicted of aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lehigh County, on June 27, 1922, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-nine years of age and has had four prior arrests. However, he seeks this pardon for this offense, which occurred more than thirty years ago, on the grounds that at present a warrant of deportation has been filed upon him and he is liable to be deported to Hungary.

This applicant served in the Armed Forces of the United States in 1921 and received an honorable discharge. He is married and is engaged in the hauling and trucking business. This applicant was of the opinion that service in the United States Army made him a citizen of the United States. This, he recently learned when served with the warrant of deportation, to be erroneous.

He has not been in any further trouble since the offense for which he seeks pardon and, therefore, we are recommending that a pardon be granted in order that he may escape deportation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVINGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony Joseph Trebino, E-3009, No. A-2849, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Anthony Joseph Trebino, convicted of robbery, etc., in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on May 22, 1952, computed from April 16, 1952, be commuted from 10 years to a new minimum of 2 years, 10 months, expiring on February 16, 1955; and that the minimum sentence of Anthony Joseph Trebino, convicted of robbery and violation of the Firearms Act in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County on June 6, 1952, be commuted rfom 5 years to a new minimum of 2 years, 8 months, 10 days, expiring on February 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He plead guilty to robbery and violation of the Uniform Firearms Act. He has now been in prison for a term of two years seven months. He has made an adequate adjustment in the State Penitentiary at Graterford. We believe that he received a very severe sentence for the commission of these armed robberies.

One of the applicant's accomplices had his sentence commuted in 1954.

Since this applicant has served more than two years eight months of his minimum sentence with no worse prior criminal record than his accomplice we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Tony Varacalli, B-6453, No. A-332, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty years of age. This was his first conviction for any offense whatsoever. He killed his fiancee in an emotional outburst that resulted from the advice that the victim gave the applicant that she was pregnant by this applicant. When the verdict was returned the trial judge felt so strongly about it that he stated he felt the verdict was excessive and should not have risen higher than second degree murder and offered the applicant a new trial at that time. The applicant was so remorseful that under the circumstances existing he refused a new trial. That being the case, the Court was under the duty of sentencing him in accordance with the recommendation of the jury, which was life imprisonment.

At the present time this applicant has now served over sixteen years of his life sentence. The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states this applicant's institutional record has been excellent with never a misconduct report and they recommend him.

The trial judge, the Honorable J. Frank Fraff, who felt it was only second degree murder, leaves the matter up to the Board and the district attorney of Allegheny County is not opposed.

Since this was an emotional killing and since the applicant has now served over sixteen years of his minimum sentence, we are recommending that the sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT.
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Vaughn, E-3022, No. A-2789, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Vaughn, convicted of sodomy and aggravated assault and battery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Chester County on May 28, 1952, be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, expiring on May 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-five years of age. This was his first conviction for any offense. He was sentenced to a term of not less than five nor more than thirteen years on charges of sodomy and aggravated assault and battery. The victim was the active party in the sodomistic act and this applicant was the pathic partner, and he beat up his victim and took $25.00 from him.

At the present time the applicant has served over two and one-half years in the State Penitentiary at Graterford and the Board of Trustees states that he has a very good institutional record.

The trial Judge is opposed and we feel that this applicant, for a first offender, received a very severe sentence. Therefore, under the circumstances, we feel that he should be given consideration when he shall have served three years, and we so recommend.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT.

(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of William Vogdes, III, No. A-2802, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William Vogdes, III, convicted of robbery, together with other persons in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Montgomery County, on April 5, 1954, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty years of age. He had no prior record. He and two accomplices were drinking and this applicant, who had not ever participated of alcoholic beverages, passed out. While he was unconscious, his two accomplices committed an armed robbery and he, of course, plead guilty to avoid unfavorable publicity. It should be pointed out that this applicant is now serving in the Marine Corp of the United States and is in Japan on detail.

This applicant desires to enter medical school and cannot do so if he is not granted this pardon.

In view of the fact that he did not participate in this offense and comes from a good family, we are recommending that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph B. Ware, No. 2109, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph B. Ware, convicted of Murder, in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Erie County on April 18, 1928, be commuted from life to 26 years, 10 months, expiring on February 18, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-three years of age. He has now served more than twenty-six years of a life sentence. This offense occurred when he was seventeen years of age so that he has now served more than one-half of his entire life in the institution.

He was the innocent dupe and was under the influence of his three accomplices, all of whom were electrocuted. He has an excellent record in the Western State Penitentiary and the Board of Trustees would recommend he be commuted.

The authorities in Erie County are not opposed to his release.

Since this applicant has an excellent institutional record and since he has served such a long period of time and since the authorities are not opposed, we recommend his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT.

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of G. Harmon Webb, No. 7586, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that G. Harmon Webb, convicted of embezzlement and fraudulent conversion in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on March 26, 1943, and on April 12, 1946, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-one years of age. He had no prior record. He plead guilty to the charges of embezzling and fraudulent conversion of funds of clients. He served his minimum sentence.

This applicant has now completely rehabilitated himself and is employed by the Crockett Mortgage Company of Philadelphia. He was responsible for the financing of several real estate projects. He has been in no further difficulty for eleven years nine months, and we feel that he has learned his lesson and has been completely rehabilitated and we, therefore, recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Heber Westover, B-4507, No. 5308, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Heber Westover, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Indiana County on April 1, 1935, be commuted from life imprisonment to 19 years 10 months, expiring on February 1, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-seven years of age. He had no prior record. The applicant has now served nearly twenty years of a life sentence. An investigation of his previous life shows that prior to this offense he was a steady worker and bore a good reputation. It is very difficult for the Board to feel that this applicant could have done this without being mentally deranged at the time this offense took place.

The Board of Trustees of the State Penitentiary at Rockview advises this applicant has an excellent institutional record and they further state he has shown much self-improvement during his confinement.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge is not opposed. The present district attorney of Indiana County has no comment.

In view of the fact that this applicant has now served nearly twenty years with an excellent institutional record, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas Wheatley, Sr., E-4309, No. A-2853, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Thomas Wheatley, Sr., convicted of assault and battery with intent to kill, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bucks County on February 19, 1954, be commuted from 3½ years to 1 year, expiring on February 19, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-two years of age. This is his first criminal conviction. This applicant committed and assault and battery with intent to kill on a police officer, seriously wounding the police officer and causing him to be hospitalized for several weeks.

At present time this applicant is in the State Penitentiary at Graterford and he has a good institutional record. This applicant settled a civil case for damages in the sum of twenty thousand dollars on the police officer that he assaulted.

Although the officials in Bucks County feel that it is premature, the Board is of the opinion that this applicant is not a criminal and that he bore a good reputation in the community in which he lived. The Board is of the further opinion that having once entered prison he was as completely punished as any individual could possibly be and since he has now served over ten months of his minimum sentence, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of White, Harry, 7067, No. 5608, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Harry White, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia on December 13, 1933, computed from January 23, 1940, be commuted from 30 years to 15 years expiring on January 23, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 23, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Williams, C-1677, No. A-2164, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Williams, convicted of the crime of felonious attempt and felonious use of explosives, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Susquehanna County on August 22, 1922, be commuted from 9 years to 2 years 7 months, expiring on February 15, 1955 (10 months 22 days credit given for time served before escape); and recommend that the maximum sentence of James Williams, convicted of the crime of breaking and escaping from penitentiary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on August 1, 1952, be commuted from 4 years to 1 day, expiring on February 16, 1955; and recommend that the maximum sentence of James Williams, convicted of the crime of breaking and entering a building in the night time to commit a felony in the Court of Quarter Sessions of McKean County on December 11, 1918, be commuted from 4 years to 1 day, expiring on February 17, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-eight years of age. He is serving a term in the Eastern State Penitentiary. This applicant has been continuously involved with the law since 1926 and both in New York State and in Pennsylvania and has recently returned to Pennsylvania on July 15, 1952, when he began serving the nine to eighteen years for felonious use of explosives.

The Board is impressed with the fact that this inmate is recommended for commutation because he has now been continuously imprisoned for twenty-eight years and by the fact that the Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary recommend him for commutation because of his excellent adjustment and maturity which he has shown in his advancing age.

Under the circumstances we recommend that the sentence of this applicant be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ray Williams, No. 7706, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Ray Williams, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County, on November 16, 1935, computed from November 8, 1939, be commuted from 20 years to 15 years 3 months, expiring on February 8, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-five years of age and this is the first serious offense in which he was ever involved. However, he has had prior arrests. He served his minimum sentence on this offense of ten years and has now been on parole for more than four years. All his accomplices have had their sentences commuted before the expiration of the applicant's minimum sentence, one having been released from the penitentiary as early as 1943.

Since his release the Board of Parole has referred to this applicant as having made a good adjustment and they have no objection to commutation of maximum sentence.

The applicant appeared before us in person and explained his present position and the adequate adjustment which he has made. This is testified to by his advisor and friend, Colonel F. Dickinson Shaw, of Philadelphia.

The trial judge, the Honorable W. Alfred Valentine, leaves the matter of commutation of maximum sentence up to the Board, but the district attorney of Luzerne County, who, thinking that this was an application for pardon, is opposed. However, we believe if he were aware that all this applicant asks is a commutation of maximum sentence, he would not be opposed.

Since this applicant has served in prison nearly fifteen years and since he has been on parole over four years, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Russell Engle Wood, Jr., No. A-2815, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due

public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Russell Engle Wood, Jr., convicted of Driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County, on September 5, 1952, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-two years of age. He had no prior record. He plead guilty to driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. This offense occurred more than two years ago. At the present time the applicant is a corporal in the United States Army, serving in Korea.

He desires to continue his studies in Penn State University upon conclusion of his army service, leading eventually to a position in the field of education. Unless he is granted a pardon it would be practically impossible for him to secure a position in his chosen profession.

In view of the fact that he has a good reputation, comes from a good family, and is serving his country, we recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Stephen Wyjadka, E-1984, No. A-2843, December Session, 1954.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Stephen Wyjadka, convicted of receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on May 21, 1948, computed from September 1, 1950, be commuted from 12½ years to 4 years 5 months, expiring on February 1, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age and this was his first major conviction. He was arrested and charged with the selling of thirty-one automobiles. He was sentenced to a term of not less than twelve and one-half nor more than twenty-five years and is now confined in the State Penitentiary at Graterford. The trustees of the State Penitentiary a Graterford advises that his applicant has an excellent institutional record.

The trial judge is deceased and the district attorney of Philadelphia leaves this matter up to the Board. Although this applicant has been continuously confined for over six years, seven months, only four years, three months apply because the other time was spent in the institution serving a violation sentence.

Since this applicant has served such a long period of time and since this was his first major conviction we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) LLOYD H. WOOD,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) GENE D. SMITH,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) JOHN S. FINE,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Earl Allen, 6161-D, No. 4682, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Earl Allen, convicted of burglary and rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on December 13, 1932 be commuted from 10 years to 1 year, 3 months expiring on March 13, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 12, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Almeida, 1044-B, No. 5708, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Joseph Almeida, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 25, 1937 be commuted from 15 years to 13 years expiring on March 25, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 25, 1957.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Austin Baughman, C-2998, No. A-2294, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles Austin Baughman, convicted of breaking and escaping prison in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Centre County on October 29, 1949, computed from February 27, 1953 be commuted from 4 years to 2 years, 1 month expiring on March 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-seven years of age. This conviction arose by reason of his escaping from the State Penitentiary at Rockview while serving a sentence in that institution for robbery. As a result of this conviction he was required to serve over four years before being paroled to begin the escape sentence. This applicant has now served approximately two years of his minimum sentence of four years on the escape so that he has been continuously imprisoned for more than seven years.

Neither the trial judge, the Honorable Ivan Walker, nor the district attorney of Centre County are opposed. They leave the matter of commutation up to the Board.

Since this applicant has had only one prior arrest for disorderly conduct and has since had an excellent record in the institution, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished for this escape and we are recommending that the escape sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Philip Cavan, 4021-C, No. 4693, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Philip Cavan, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on June 18, 1931 be commuted from life to 23 years, 9 months expiring on March 18, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until end of life.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Herman Crockett, 2485-B, No. A-2871, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Herman Crockett, convicted of burglary and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on September 22, 1938, computed from September 2, 1938 be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 6 months expiring on March 2, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 2, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commutted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph DeLuca, 9135-A, No. 3908, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Joseph DeLuca, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 25, 1936, computed from that date be commuted from 20 years to 18 years, 9 months expiring on February 25, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 10, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John J. Edson, IV, No. A-2910, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John J. Edson, IV, convicted of Involuntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County, on December 11, 1952 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. He has no prior criminal record.

The facts briefly are that the applicant, and his three accomplices, who had been drinking, teased the victim about his ability to jump off a high bridge into a river near Pittsburgh. As a result of the teasing, victim agreed to jump off the bridge, which he did, and subsequently drowned. The applicant was arrested and charged with involuntary manslaughter to which he plead nolo contendere and was thereupon sentenced to pay a fine of Two Hundred Dollars and placed on probation for one year.

At the time of the happening of this offense the applicant was a student and has since graduated from the University of Pittsburgh and is now holding a responsible position with an oil drilling company in Tulsa, Oklahoma. The Board of Parole indicates this applicant bears an excellent reputation, comes from a good family in Pittsburgh, and up to the time of the happening of this tragic episode bore an excellent reputation.

Both the trial judge, the Honorable J. Frank Graff, and the district attorney of Allegheny County, leave the matter of pardon up to the Board.

The Board is of the opinion that this unfortunate tragedy resulted in a negative act by the applicant rather than in a positive act such as is usually found in involuntary manslaughter cases. The Board is further of the opinion that it would be difficult to see how this applicant could have been convicted of involuntary manslaughter had he stood trial, and they are further supported in that decision by reason of the fact that this applicant was once tried and the jury was discharged because they could not agree upon a verdict. In order to spare this applicant and his family from further publicity the plea of nolo contendere was entered.

In view of all the facts and in order that this conviction should not prevent this applicant from further advancement in his choosen field of endeavor, we recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBET B. COHEN—Dissents,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Theodore Elliott, No. A-1615, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. He was convicted of murder committed in the perpetration of an armed robbery and sentenced to death. All legal avenues of appeal were exhausted both in the State and Federal Courts. Once before, in October, 1952, applicant petitioned the Board of Pardons for commutation of the death penalty, but was refused. However, there are many unusual factors in this case, factors which the present Board believes compel a recommendation for clemency. It must be remembered that the function of the Board of Pardons is to act once legal remedies in the courts no longer are available. The Board is not a court; the adequacy or inadequacy of legal argument is not necessarily binding on the Board. In this sense it serves to fill the vacuum which the law itself cannot supply: that last resort of executive clemency. And it is precisely because the case at hand presents so many conflicting problems, because the legal and the extra-legal considerations are so intertwined here, that the present Board has seen fit to exercise its power to recommend clemency.

Theodore Elliott is certainly a mental defective. A reputable psychiatrist has stated that he is mentally ill and was such prior to 1950. Elliott's history reveals a defective condition going back to childhood. As early as 1939, he was described as a middle grade moron with cerebral Trauma. This trauma caused a progressive degeneration of his mental condition to an extent that his mental age never exceeded nine years, nine months. As a result, his life over a twelve year period has been characterized by childishness and irresponsibility.

Further complicating the issue is the fact that the court appointed psychiatrist in this case himself was latter committed to a mental institution because of a progressive degenerative condition. The probability that he was suffering from this condition at the time fo his examination of Elliott is sufficiently great that it precludes a determination that Elliolt received a competent phychiatric examination. Under such circumstances, it seems entirely possible that Elliott's mental condition was not fully appreciated by the court, and at the very least, the Board is of the opinion that the applicant's illness presents a mitigating factor which must be considered by it upon this application.

The gravity of the problems presented by this case were enough to evoke a vigorous dissent by three judge of the United States Court of Appeals when Elliott's petition for habeas corpus was denied by that Court. The position of these three judges concerning Elliott's condition reflects in large degree the feeling of the Board. Furthermore, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, during oral argument of this case before it, indicated that the case was a proper one for executive clemency.

The degree of criminal responsibility as between the moron and the mentally alert is a matter of grave concern in the execution of our criminal law; certainly the present case is a clear example of where that concern should be translated into positive action on behalf of clemency. The Board is not unmindful of the fact that the person who is dead was a police officer. It is unfortunate that a man dedicated to the preservation of law and order should pay with his life in serving that end. But in weighing all the aspects of this case—Elliott's mental condition, the lack of an adequate examination, the fact that his accomplice received a life sentence—the Board feels constrained to relieve Elliott from the burden of the death sentence.

The Commonwealth should not be placed in the position of sentencing a man to death where such conditions as these exist. It, therefore, recommends to your Excellency that for the reasons set forth above, the sentence of the applicant herein should be commuted from death to life imprisonment.

Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of Dominic Fera, 3243-C, No 6678, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Dominic Fera, convicted of rape, etc., in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 9, 1935 be commuted from 15 years to 4 years, 6 months, expiring on March 9, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In re application of George R. Frick, No. A-2911, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that George R. Frick, convicted of Involuntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County, on December 11, 1952 be pardoned.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Andrew Walter Garancosky, E-1974, No. A-2259, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Andrew Walter Garancosky, convicted of Burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Northumberland County on September 19, 1950, computed from June 12, 1950 be commuted from 6 years to 4 years, 9 months, 10 days, expiring on March 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-seven years of age. This was his first major conviction. He was sentenced on a plea of guilty to not less than six nor more than twelve years on charges of burglary. He and two other members of his family participated in this series of burglaries throughout Schuylkill and Northumberland Counties and he was the innocent dupe so far as his father and brother were concerned. One brother received only one to two years, but the father, who was the ring leader, received a fifteen to thirty year sentence.

At the present time this applicant has served nearly five years of his minimum sentence. He also has a detainer which he will have to serve from Schuylkill County so that if he is released and serves his sentence in Schuylkill County he will have served over five years.

The Board of Trustees of the State Penitentiary at Graterford states this applicant has an excellent institutional record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Robert M. Fortney, and district attorney of Northumberland County have no objection to the granting of clemency. Since this applicant has served nearly five years, we are recommending that his sentence be commuted.

In re application of Leamon Harris, 960-D, No. 5936, Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Leamon Harris, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of York County on February 25, 1926 be commuted from life imprisonment to 29 years expiring on February 25, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward Hough, No. 9351, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant, who is forty years of age, was sentenced to death in 1947 by the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Philadelphia County. The judgment and sentence were affirmed by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and execution was fixed by Governor Duff for the week beginning March 29, 1948. Application for commutation of sentence was filed with the Board of Pardons and, after a number of executive respites, on May 26, 1950, commutation was recommended by our predecessor Board of Pardons to Governor Duff. He ordered the recommendation held without action pending the disposition of litigation involving David Almeida who was involved in the same crime as applicant. Governor John S. Fine, during his administration, followed the same policy with reference to the recommendation made by the Board of Pardons holding office under Governor Duff. Applicant had testified against Almeida and for the Commonwealth during Almeida's first trial. It was assumed by the then Governors that if Almeida had to be retried Hough's testimony would be necessary to secure a conviction and that if the commutation were granted Hough would not so testify.

On October 28, 1954, David Almeida, a co-conspirator, at a second trial entered a plea of quilty to murder generally. The court determined the crime to be murder in the first degree and sentenced Almeida to life imprisonment. Prior thereto another co-conspirator, James Smith, had also been sentenced to life imprisonment. Following the disposition of the Almeida case applicant applied for rehearing to the Board of Pardons and since the first meeting of the Board following the request for rehearing was the February Sessions, oral argument and all aspects of the case were presented at that time.

We are advised that the trial judges in this case recommend that clemency be extended to this man to make his sentence the same as that imposed on his accomplices. The district attorney of Philadelphia County has joined in this request and asks that clemency be granted. By reason of this recommendation which is joined in by the district attorney, we feel that substantial justice will be done by commutation of the death sentence thus making applicant's sentence equal to that of his accomplices.

For all of the above reasons we recommend that the sentence of death imposed upon Edward Hough be commuted to life imprisonment.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joel Timothy Johnson, E-2711, No. A-2720, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

from 6 years to 3 years 6 months expiring on March 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He was convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon and was sentenced to not less than six nor more than twelve years. At the present time this applicant has served approximately three and one-half years of his minimum sentence.

The Board of Trustees of the State Penitentiary at Graterford states this applicant has a very good record and advises that he is physically capable of performing the work in the institution as well as on the outside, if released. The district attorney stated this applicant is a first offender and they are not opposed to clemency. The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, is opposed to the granting of clemency at this time.

Because this applicant has an excellent institutional record and because he is a first offender, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished. We, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles King, 4974-C, No. 7676, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the Maximum sentence of Charles King, convicted of burglary and larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on January 29, 1943, computed from December 19, 1942 be commuted from 20 years to 12 years 3 months expiring on March 19, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 19, 1962.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

In re application of Preston Lowe, 5507-D, No. 6583, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Preston Lowe, convicted of statutory rape; attempt to commit statutory rape; commit statutory rape; statutory rape; in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on March 21, 1940, computed from June 29, 1939 be commuted from 35 years to 15 years 9 months expiring on March 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 29, 1989.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of John McCann, No. 9946, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

This applicant is fifty-four years of age. This offense for which he seeks pardon occured over thirty-two years ago. The offense was that the applicant impersonated a Federal Agent and confiscated ten cases of whiskey which he had previously sold to his victim. Since this offense nearly thirty-three years ago, the applicant has been in no further difficulty. He is employed as manager of a beverage concern, which holds Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board License and he is of the opinion that this will affect him in his dealings with his suppliers, as well as with the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge has no objection to a pardon geing granted if the applicant is worthy. The district attorney of Montgomery County is opposed.

The applicant has three children and is living harmoniously with his wife. Since this was his only conviction in nearly thirty-three years, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished for this conviction and we, therefore, recommend that a pardon be granted.

In re application of Francis McGowan, 6762-C, No. 4787, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Francis McGowan, convicted of assault being armed to rob, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 5, 1937 be commuted from 20 years to 18 years 2 months expiring on March 5, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 5, 1957.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of James McMullin, 8330-D, No. A-2876, February Sesion, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of James McMullin, convicted of robbery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on August 12, 1946, computed from July 16, 1946 be commuted from 10 years to 8 years 8 months expiring on March 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until July 16, 1956.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of Harry Merrick, 78-C, No. 9175, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Harry Merrick, convicted of burglary, larceny, receiving stolen goods and prison breach, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County on August 2, 1946, computed from July 26, 1946, be commuted from 10 years to 8 years 7 months expiring on February 26, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until July 26, 1956.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Arthur Mooney, B-3742, No. A-2907, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Arthur Mooney, convicted of rape, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 19, 1933, computed from July 6, 1933, be commuted from 5 years to 1 year 8 months 22 days, expiring on March 28, 1955; and further recommend that the maximum sentence of Arthur Mooney, convicted of robbery, receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 19, 1933, computed from July 6, 1933, be commuted from 20 years to 1 year 8 months 22 day, expiring on March 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age and this is his first major conviction. He was convicted on two charges of robbery and rape and sentenced to a total of not less than twenty-five nor more than fifty years. The offenses were committed in Frick Park where the applicant would come upon couples and would hold them up, and would then rape the girl. These offenses occurred in 1933 so that at the present time this applicant has served nearly twenty-two years of his minimum sentence.

The Board of Trustees of Western State Penitentiary advise this applicant has an excellent institutional record. He has an arrested case of tuberculosis and at the present time has now spent nearly one-half his life in the Western State Penitentiary for this first offense.

The Board is of the opinion that this applicant has been sufficiently punished and that he has served a long period of time in the institution.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge has no objection to his release on parole. The district attorney of Allegheny County has no objection to clemency being granted. If released, this applicant will go to live in West Virginia.

The Board recommends commutation at this time because the applicant has served such a long period of time and also because he is a first offender, and the authorities in Allegheny County have no objection, or opposition, to his release. Since this applicant has served all but three years of his minimum sentence, we recommend that his sentence be commuted.

In re application of Louis Perri, 5533-D, No. 6489, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Louis Perri, convicted of assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery with intent to ravish, attempted rape, rape, etc., in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Session of Philadelphia County on April 26, 1940, computed from April 10, 1940, be commuted from 10 years to 4 years 11 months expiring on March 10, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 10, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Perrone, No. A-2892, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that George Perrone, convicted of conspiracy to cheat and defraud, in the Court of Quarter Session of Philadelphia County, on July 3, 1936, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-five years of age. He had no prior criminal record. In 1936 he plead guilty to conspiracy to cheat and defraud and as a result of this offense was sentenced to one year's imprisonment. He was released by the trail judge, the Honorable Joseph Kun, after having served approximately three months of this sentence. From 1936 until now he has been in no further difficulty.

At the time of this applicant's conviction the Criminal Code of 1860 was in effect and by the terms of that Act the service of the sentence acted as a legislative pardon and the stigma was removed. However, subsequent to the repeal of this Act by the Criminal Code of 1939 and the removal of legislative pardons and the passage of the McCarran Act a legislative pardon such as we granted to this applicant is of no force and effect and this applicant is now subject to deportation to Italy from whence he came as a small boy.

He is married and holds a responsible job in Philadelphia and bears an excellent reputation in his community. His employer likewise gives him good reference. In order for this man to apply for citizenship he must have a pardon, as well as to escape deportation. This would be cruel and unusual punishment to work on this man, who is married to a native born American wife and is such harsh treatment that the Board feels some consideration should be given to him.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph Kun, and the district attorney of Philadelphia County are not opposed to the granting of clemency. Because this applicant bears an excellent reputation in his community and because the authorities are not opposed, we recommend that a full gubernatorial pardon be granted.

In re application of Clifford P. Redden, D-9350, No. A-2881, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-four years of age. This was his first major conviction. He and two accomplices committed a series of armed robberies and he was sentenced following a plea of guilty to a term not less than fifty nor more than one hundred years. Both of his accomplices, who plead guilty with him, received like sentences.

At the present time this applicant has served eight years of his minimum sentence and he has a very good institutional record.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge has left the matter of commutation up to the Board. The district attorney of Delaware County is not apposed to the granting of clemency.

It should be pointed out that one of the accomplices had his sentence commuted at the June 1954 Session of the Board of Pardons.

Since this applicant has served over eight years of his unconscionable minimum sentence, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished as a first offender. We, therefore, recommend that his minimum sentence be commuted.

In re application of Bruno Rizzo, 8342-C, No. 2800, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Bruno Rizzo, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Elk County on April 7, 1920, be commuted from life to 34 years 11 months expiring March 7, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until end of life.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Clarence Robinson, convicted of robbery, receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on May 23, 1939, computed from January 18, 1939, be commuted from 20 years to 16 years 2 months expiring on March 18, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In re application of Salvatore Salvaggio, B-1989, No. 2474, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Salvatore Salvaggio, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Somerset County on April 17, 1930, be commuted from life imprisonment to 25 years expiring on April 17, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-seven years of age. This was his first conviction for any offense whatsoever. This applicant was of Italian extraction and the victim had berated both the applicant and the Italian race generally. The victim was of such a nature that he had on one occasion knocked down the applicant and on this particular day threatened the applicant, who in turn shot him through the back of the head.

This applicant has served nearly one-half of his life in prison for a crime of passion. He has an excellent institutional record in the Western State Penitentiary and has been employed as a shoemaker in the Penitentiary. If released he intends to establish himself in Johnstown, or with his brother in Cleveland, Ohio. He is in excellent health but if this applicant is to be given an opportunity to rehabilitate himself in society it will have to be by commutation of sentence at some date in the immediate future, or otherwise the applicant will become too old to sustain himself.

Since this applicant is now fifty-seven years of age and has served nearly twenty-five years in prison and since this was a crime of passion, and since he has an excellent record in the Penitentiary, even though the authorities are opposed, we feel that he should be granted clemency and we do so recommend.

In re application of Sisto Sanchis, No. A-2912, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Sisto Sanchis, convicted of Murder in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Erie County, on February 24, 1930 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty years of age and is a native of Mexico by birth. However, in 1929 he came to this country and settled in and about Erie. While there he became involved in an affair with the victim, who was larger and more aggressive than he was and who picked a fight with him. As a result of this fight the victim was shot and killed. The applicant was sentenced to a term of not less than eight nor more than sixteen years. He served his minimum sentence and was returned to his native Country of Mexico.

This applicant desires to re-enter the United States and in order to do so under the McCarran Act he is required to have a pardon for the offense before he may be admitted. In view of his request, which is for the purpose of visiting members of his family in this country, we feel that he has not been so guilty of moral turpitude as to be forever excluded from residing or visiting in this country.

Neither the present judge, nor the district attorney of Erie County, is opposed to the granting of a pardon in this case. Under all the circumstances we feel that a pardon should be granted in this case and so recommend to your Excellency.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Silvay, 6894-D, No. 8684, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Frank Silvay, convicted of sodomy, etc., in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 29, 1945 be commuted from 10 years to 9 years, 4 months, expiring on March 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 29, 1955.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Smith, 7564-C, No. 6791, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of William Smith, convicted of being armed, etc., in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 26, 1939, computed from May 6, 1939 be commuted from 20 years to 15 years, 10 months, expiring on March 6, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until May 6, 1959.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Cornelius Stark, E-865, No. A-2295, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Cornelius Stark, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 4, 1949, computed from January 31, 1949 be commuted from 7 years to 6 years, 2 months expiring on March 31, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-three years of age. He had no prior criminal record.

This applicant, in a fit of passion, rage and pain, choked his wife to death. He plead guilty to murder generally as a result of this offense and was found guilty of murder in the second degree and was sentenced to not less than seven nor more than fourteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary advises this applicant has an excellent institutional record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Eugene Alessandroni, has no comment to make in this case. The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed since this applicant has now served over six years of his minimum sentence and was a first offender, who has an excellent prison record.

We feel that his sentence should be commuted and we so recommend.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harvey Steadman, No. 8169, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-three years of age and he was sentenced in Crawford County to a term of not less than seven and one-half nor more than 15 years on charges of statutory rape. He was sentenced in the Western State Penitentiary and later was transferred to State Penitentiary at Rockview. While there he suffered a blackout and walked away from the institution. He was later apprehended. He was then given a sentence of not less than seven nor more than fourteen years for prison breach. While in the State Penitentiary at Rockview he presented a habeas corpus as to the Crawford County sentence, which was granted on the ground that the applicant was denied his fundamental rights guaranteed to him by the Constitution of United States and of Pennsylvania. This habeas corpus was granted in June 1954 so that at that time the applicant had been continuously imprisoned for over eleven years.

Since this entire confinement for eleven years has resulted in the first improper conviction we feel that he has been very severely dealt with. Also it is reported to the Board of Pardons that while in the Crawford County Prison on the habeas corpus proceedings and subsequent that he stopped a prison break and has done very valuable work for the County of Crawford. There are letters from the Sheriff of Crawford County to substantiate this position.

The district attorney of Centre County, where he was sentenced on his escape, however, at the present time remains opposed. Since this man has now served nearly one-half of his minimum sentence for prison breach which could not possibly have been imposed upon him if he had not been improperly convicted in the first instance, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Stephens, 6860, No. 2882, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles Stephens, convicted of assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Northampton County on September 15, 1954, computed from September 14, 1954 be commuted from 9 months to 6 months, 10 days expiring on March 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-four years of age. This was his first conviction. He was charged with rape, sodomy and assault and battery on a woman with whom he had been drinking. He was found not guilty of the rape and the sodomy but was found guilty of the assault and battery, although all the facts in the case pointed conclusively to a "not guilty" verdict. The victim was in the predicament that she was in by reason of her own conduct, and it has been shown that she was considerably older than the applicant.

The applicant has an excellent record in the Northampton County Prison and both the trial judge, the Honorable Carleton T. Woodring, and the district attorney leaves the matter up to the Board of Pardons.

Since this applicant has served two-thirds of his minimum sentence, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished and we recommend his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN—Dissents,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Henry C. Tromatter, 5027-A, No. 785, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentences of imprisonment imposed upon Henry C. Tromatter, convicted of burglary in the Courts of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Chester County on August 31, 1926, computed from August 2, 1926, be commuted on Bill No. 3, August Session, 1926 from a maximum term of 10 years to a new maximum term of 8 years, 7 months, expiring on March 2, 1955; on Bill No. 4, August Sessions, 1926 from a maximum term of 10 years to a new maximum term of 1 day, expiring on March 3, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until August 2, 1966.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ralph Viggiano, No. A-2884, February, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Ralph Viggiano, convicted of lottery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on February 16, 1951 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-seven years of age. This was his first conviction for any offense whatsoever. He plead guilty to the writing of numbers and keeping of punch boards. He is married and has three children.

This applicant was a trusted employee in the Westinghouse Electric Corporation but at the present time has been laid off and is presently employed as a carpenter's helper. This offense occurred over four years ago and this was the only blot on his name.

The Board of Parole has reported that this applicant has an excellent reputation.

The trial judge, the Honorable William F. Dannehower, states he has no objection. The district attorney of Allegheny County has stated he is not opposed and leaves the matter of pardon up to the Board.

Since this was applicant's first conviction and since he has a family and was a trusted employee of Westinghouse and has shown he will not again offend against society, we recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN—Dissents,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Henry W. Weaver, D-7470, No. A-40, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Henry W. Weaver, convicted of murder, in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on October 7, 1943 be commuted from life imprisonment to 11 years, 6 months expiring on April 7, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-nine years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He was convicted upon a jury trial of murder in the first degree although it is now viewed in retrospect as something less than murder in the first degree. Nevertheless this applicant has served over eleven years, four months.

The trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary advise that this applicant has a good institutional record.

The trial judge is no longer on the bench and the present judge recommends that this matter be considered favorably by the Board of Pardons. The district attorney of Delaware County, who has made a thorough investigation of this case, requests that commutation be granted.

In view of the fact that this could have been less than first degree murder, and the applicant has now served more than the minimum term for second degree murder, we are recommending that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN—Dissents,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of Henry Williams, 5763-D, No. 8034, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Henry Williams, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 7, 1939, computed from February 27, 1939 be commuted from 20 years to 16 years expiring on February 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 27, 1959.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of James Williams, 964-B, No. 5637, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of James Williams, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 9, 1940, computed from January 4, 1940 be commuted from 20 years to 15 years, 2 months expiring on March 4, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 4, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of Julius Williams, 3651-A, No. 2880, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Julius Williams, convicted of burglary and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 22, 1942, computed from April 17, 1942 be commuted from 20 years to 12 years, 11 months expiring on March 17, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 17, 1962.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Young, D-8658, No. A-2224, February Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of George Young, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 21, 1950 be commuted from 6 years to 4 years, 11 months expiring March 21, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age. He had no prior conviction. He and the victim got into a fight over a jacket and during the fight this applicant picked up an ice pick and stabbed the victim, who subsequently died. He was convicted by a jury of murder in the second degree and was sentenced by the trial judge to not less than six nor more than twelve years, which is the equivalent sentence of voluntary manslaughter.

At the present time this applicant has served approximately five years of this minimum sentence and has an excellent record in the institution.

The trial judge, the Honorable Francis Shunk Brown, is opposed to the granting of clemency and has written the Board stating that nothing has been presented to him which should cause any modification of this sentence. The district attorney of Philadelphia County, however, is not opposed to the granting of clemency. Since this grew out of a fight and the applicant is a virtually first offender with an excellent prison record, the Board feels that he has been sufficiently punished and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Brooks, 5696-C, No. 6498, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

mum term of 20 years to a new maximum term of 1 year, 10 months, expiring on April 7, 1955, and on Bill No. 47 from maximum term of 10 years to a new maximum term of 1 day, expiring on April 8, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relived of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 7, 1983.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Patrick Devlin, No. A-2963, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Patrick Devlin, convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County, on December 7, 1918 and on August 20, 1921 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-four years of age. He committed two offenses in Pennsylvania while a juvenile. The offenses occurred in 1918 and 1921, the last offense being over thirty-three years ago. The offenses were for juvenile larceny and receiving stolen goods. Since his release he has had an excellent reputation and for the past fifteen years has been a race track parker in Florida and New Jersey. He is well thought of by the managers of the Hialiah and the Garden State Race Tracks. He has an excellent reputation, is married and has kept out of trouble.

However, both the State of Florida and the State of New Jersey have passed laws which prohibit anyone who has a felony record from working at a race track, although strictly speaking his offenses were not considered felony records in Pennsylvania. Other states do, however, consider them as such. For this reason the applicant was denied reemployment at Hialeah this winter.

The Board feels that to deprive a man of his livelihood for an offense which occurred over thirty-three years ago offends the sense of justice of this Board. We, therefore, recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAME A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of Anthony Falco, 4617-D, No. 6072, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Anthony Falco, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 5, 1940, computed from May 17, 1940 be commuted from 20 years to 14 years, 11 months expiring on April 17, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. In re application of Milton Ferrel, 3622-D, No. A-2930, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Milton Ferrell, convicted of burglary, receiving stolen goods and unlawful use of drugs in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 4, 1946, computed from March 30, 1946 be commuted from 15 years to 9 years, expiring on March 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 30, 1961.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Edward Geiger, D-9463, No. A-2219, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Edward Geiger, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Dauphin County on February 10, 1947 be commuted from life to 8 years, 10 months, 18 days, expiring on April 10, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-seven years of age and he has no prior criminal record. He was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to life imprisonment. At the present time this applicant is suffering from epilepsy and is confined to a wheel chair. He desires to enter a sanitorium where tests and treatment will be available to him that are not available to him now.

The trial judge, the Honorable Robert E. Woodside, is not opposed to the granting of clemency if physical condition is as stated. The district attorney of Dauphin County leaves the matter up to the Board because of the health of the applicant. However, if his health was otherwise than stated, the district attorney would be opposed.

This applicant has only served eight years, two months of life imprisonment. The Board herein waives one of its major rules in that an applicant for commutation of life sentence must serve a substantial portion of the maximum of a second degree sentence before recommending that the sentence be commuted. It is being recommended herein but only on condition that the applicant go for treatment to a veterans' hospital, and if released from the veterans' hospital he be returned to the Eastern State Penitentiary for further disposition by the Board.

We recommend commutation on condition that he be admitted to the Veterans' Administration Hospital at Coatesville and not to be released from that insitution until after notification to the Board of Pardons of their intention to release the applicant and the Board has opportunity to act.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert G. Hannan, No. A-2942, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Robert G. Hannan, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Cambria County, on January 28, 1933 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-two years of age. He has no prior criminal record. He was convicted of the crime of burglary, the burglary consisting of certain ballots that had been placed in a position of safe-keeping following an election in the City of Johnstown. This offense occurred in or about November 11, 1931. Following his conviction he was sentenced to a term of not less than sixty days in the County Jail, which he served. Prior to, and subsequent to this offense, which occurred more than twenty-three years ago, the applicant had an excellent reputation in and about the City of Johnstown and the County of Cambria.

At the present time this applicant is a member of the City Council of the City of Johnstown and is seeking to be elected in this present election to the post which he is now filling by appointment. It is interesting to note that this old offense is not held against this applicant by persons in the community, and those who were questioned concerning his reputation stated without qualification favorably about him at this time.

The trial judge, the Honorable Ivan J. McKenrick, has stated that he will leave the matter of pardon up to the Board, and the district atorney of Cambria Couny has written the Board of Pardons and stated: "In view of the fact that this alleged occurrence took place in Cambria County upwards of twenty years ago, I sincerely believe that your Honorable Board should use its sound discretion in passing on the merits of the Application."

Since this applicant has had but this single offense against his record and is considered a very substantial citizen in the community in which he lives, and is seeking a political office, we feel that this old offense should not be held against him. Therefore, since the authorities of Cambria County are not opposed to the granting of executive clemency, we recommend that a full and complete pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William J. Harrison, 7598-C, No. 6819, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of William J. Harrison, convicted of embezzlement by employee, fraudulently making written instrument in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 24, 1941 be commuted from 15 years to 13 years, 7 months expiring on April 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 24, 1956.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Wesley Jackson, D-9880, No. A-2136, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Wesley Jackson, convicted of robbery, armed with an affensive weapon and robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 8, 1947, computed from August 27, 1947 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 8 months expiring on April 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. This was his first major conviction. He was convicted of the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, and the facts were that this applicant, and an accomplice, committed two armed robbery hold-ups. The amount of the loot was approximately Thirty Dollars. This applicant had no weapon in his possession, but his accomplice, who received a longer sentence, did have a knife in his possession.

At the present time this applicant has served seven and one-half years of his minimum sentence. If released he intends to live with his mother in Philadelphia and will be employed by a local funeral director, who has promised him an opportunity to rehabilitate himself.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge has no comment to make. The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed.

In view of the fact that this applicant has served over three-fourths of his minimum sentence and since this was his first major conviction, we feel that he has been sufficiently punished and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of Roger H. Jones, D-9385, No. A-2247, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Roger R. Jones, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 22, 1947, computed from November 30, 1946 be commuted from 10 years to 8 years, 5 months expiring on April 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age. This was his first conviction for any offense. He was convicted of the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, which offense consisted of the hold-up of three taxicab drivers. The total loot amounted to approximately Seventy-Four Dollars.

At the present time this applicant has served over eight years of his minimum sentence. He is a sick man and has an excellent reputation in the State Penitentiary at Graterford, where he is presently confined. He has an excellent record in that institution.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge has no comment to make. The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed.

Under all the circumstances above outlined we feel the applicant has been sufficiently punished and we, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

In re application of Paul Lamlein, 9542A, No. A-2952, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

September 8, 1938 be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, 7 months expiring on April 8, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 8, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank J. McKinney, 4971-C, No. 8545, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 1, 1956.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Jacob Mezey, No. A-2959, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Jacob Mezey, convicted of setting up and maintaining an illegal lottery; engaging in poolselling and bookmaking and conspiracy, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, one June 28, 1932, on November 18, 1949 and on September 25, 1950, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-three years of age. He is applying for a pardon on three offenses which occurred between the years of 1932 and 1950. They were all the same character and nature, being charges of setting up and maintaining illegal lottery, pool selling and bookmaking.

Since the last offense in 1950 the applicant has decided to change his mood of living and has become employed with various legitimate industries and is now associated in a real estate company. He is making a success in this business but in order for him to become wholly successful in it, it is necessary for him to have a real estate license issued by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In view of his present conviction he is not eligible for this license.

Because he has turned from his criminal activity and has turned to a legitimate activity for more than four and one-half years, we feel that he should not be further burdened with his prior conduct. He is married and has two children and he desires a pardon in order to clear his name for their benefit. He lives in a fine residential section surrounding Philadelphia and this offense would carry a certain stigma with it.

In view of his present financial and social obligations we feel that he has been completely rehabilitated and we, therefore, rcommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of Ronald Montgomery, 2618-A, No. 4738, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Ronald Montgomery, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 24, 1938, computed from June 16, 1938, be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, 10 months expiring on April 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 16, 1953.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of John Mullaney, 78, No. A-476, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John Mullaney, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 7, 1948, computed from December 3, 1947, be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 4 months, expiring on April 3, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is one of many parolees whose release from parole by commutation of the maximum sentence has been recommended to the Board of Pardons by the Board of Parole.

The Board of Parole has recommended that this applicant, because of his excellent record in the armed forces of the United States. The applicant has served in the Korean conflict and has received an honorable discharge from the armed services. By reason of this service the applicant assisted in turning back the Communist aggressor.

The Board of Pardons is of the opinion that this applicant's military service, together with the good record on parole, and the recommendation of the Board of Parole that, it is our recommendation to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles L. Plowman, No. A-2932, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age and this was his first offense. He plead guilty to the offense of burglary and was sentenced to a term of not less than one nor more than ten years. After having served approximately ten years for this offense he was released on parole and has since been under supervision of the Board of Parole. The report from the Board of Parole indicates that this applicant has been working steadily and has married and is rearing a family. He has made a favorable adjustment and is considered to be a stable and well-adjusted family man.

In view of this applicant's favorable adjustment the Board of Parole has stated they have no objection to the commutation of his maximum sentence.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge has no recommendation to make in this matter. The district attorney of Allegheny County stated to the Board of Parole that he feels this applicant merits consideration in the commutation of maximum sentence and his office, therefore, is not opposed.

In view of applicant's wholesome re-adjustment to society we feel that further parole supervision is unnecessary and we, therefore, recommend that his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN.
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of David King Rainey, No. A-2958, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that David King Rainey, convicted of assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 5, 1942; and convicted of larceny of automobile and operating motor vehicle without consent of owner, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia on September 19, 1949, he pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years of age. But for these offenses he has no prior record. They occurred in 1942 and again in 1949. The last offense occurred when the applicant was under the influence of intoxicating liquor and took an automobile without the permission of the owner. He was involved in an accident and he was sentenced to a year in prison. He served this year. Again he was charged with assault and battery and was given ten days in the County Prison.

The Board of Parole has made a thorough investigation of this applicant and approves the application. He is referred to as a good family man who has demonstrated stability in his employment. At the present time the applicant is employed by Joseph Ellsie, as a general helper in a grocery store. He is interested in learning the trade of meat cutter and has been getting a lot of experience in this line.

The applicant is doing everything to raise his children in an honorable and law-abiding manner. In view of the fact that this applicant has completely rehabilitated himself and has found the error of his ways, we recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Christian Rastetter, 3818-C, No. 8421, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Christian Rastetter, convicted of burglary, receiving stolen goods and robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on February 9, 1944, computed from November 27, 1943 be commuted from 15 years to 11 years, 4 months, expiring on March 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 27, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Thomas Ryan, Sr., E-2309, No. A-2117, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Thomas Ryan, convicted of burglary and arson in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Montgomery County on April 27, 1951, computed from March 1, 1951 be commuted from 5 years to 4 years, 2 months, expiring on May 1, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-eight years of age. He had no prior record. He plead guilty to the crime of burglary and arson and was sentenced to a term of not less than five nor more than ten years. He has now served over four years of his minimum sentence and the Warden of the Montgomery County Prison states that he has a very good conduct record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harold G. Knight, states he has no objection to his release on parole.

This offense was committed by the applicant in a fit of rage and sense of injustice over a financial reverse which he blamed on the owners of the destroyed building. Since his imprisonment he has seen the error of his ways.

The Board feels that this applicant has beein sufficiently punished and that he will not again offend against society and for that reason we are recommending that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN, Dissents,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harvey Shapiro, No. A-2948, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Harvey Shapiro, convicted of unlawful possession and use of drugs in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 14, 1951 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-five years of age and he has no prior criminal record. He was charged with the possession and use of drugs, nearly four years ago. At this time the applicant has completely cured himself of his disease and is now married and has two children. He lives in Bucks County, Pennsylvania.

This applicant could be eligible for advancement in society but with this offense hanging over him he is not permitted to take civil service examination where he is required to state prior criminal record. It has been established that this applicant bears a good reputation in the community in which he lives and he has not been involved in any misconduct with the exception of this offense.

The trial judge, the Honorable Gerald Flood, has no comment to make with regard to the granting of executive clemency. However, the district attorney of Philadelphia County remains opposed at this time. In view of the fact that this applicant has completely rehabilitated himself, is married, has a family and is being deterred in his advancement by this offense, we recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In re application of Alice Shisler, 1669-D, No. 6246, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Alice Shisler, convicted of murder, in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on March 27, 1935 be commuted from life imprisonment to 20 years expiring on March 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until end of life.

In re application of Harry Sill, 2570-C, No. 4853, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Harry Sill, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on September 20, 1939, computed from September 20, 1939 be commuted from 20 years to 15 years 7 months expiring on April 20, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 20, 1959.

For the reason that his applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Souter, C-9252, No. 5571, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Souter, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on October 20, 1933 be commuted from life to 21 years, 6 months expiring on April 20, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-four years of age and this was his first conviction for any offense whatever. He was charged with the murder of his wife and he plead guilty to murder generally and the court fixed the degree at murder in the first degree.

The trial judge, the Honorable Horace Stern, who is now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, did not advise the Board of his position, although in prior years he has left the matter entirely up to the Board of Pardons. The district attorney of Philadelphia County leaves the matter of clemency up to the Board.

Since this was a killing involved in passion and since this applicant has served nearly twenty-one and one-half years of his sentence with an excellent record, we feel that his sentence should be commuted and we, therefore, recommend to your Excellency.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Strain, E-5318, No. A-2951, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Robert Strain, convicted of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 20, 1952, computed from December 24, 1954 be commuted from 6 months to 4 months expiring on April 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-five years of age. He does have a bad prior criminal record. He has been continuously confined since 1952 so that at the present time he has served over three years, three months in prison. His minimum sentence will expire in June 1955.

This applicant is asking for clemency because he feels that he has now learned if he does not re-adjust to society he will have a long time to serve until the expiration of the maximum sentence. He is pentinent about his wrong-doing and it is the opinion of the Board that he will not again become involved.

The Warden of the Philadelphia County Prison has stated that the applicant has a good conduct record and the trial judge, the Honorable Francis Shunk Brown, leaves the matter of clemency up to the Board. The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of clemency.

In view of the fact that he has served all but three months of his minimum sentence we are recommending that clemency be extended and his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Widemire, 2580-D, No. 8342, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the maximum sentence of Charles Widemire, convicted of burglary, burglary and larceny and burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Indiana County on September 18, 1944, computed from July 24, 1944 be commuted from 12 years to 10 years, 9 months, expiring on April 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until July 24, 1956.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Yaworski, No. A-2962, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph Yaworski, convicted of sodomy and obscene exhibition in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on July 28, 1943 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-nine years of age. He was found guilty of the offense of sodomy by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on the twenty-eighth day of July 1943, at No. 633 December Term 1942. He was fined one hundred dollars and costs.

The crime comprised of the operation of a stag smoker at which obscene moving pictures were displayed and other indecent occurrences were part of the program. The applicant was placed on probation.

Since his arrest and conviction in 1943 the applicant has conducted himself as a law-abiding citizen and he has never been involved in any offenses either prior to this arrest or subsequent thereto. He is desirous of taking a civil service examination for a position with the County of Philadelphia and believes that his eligibility would be in danger by reason of this offense.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge has no comment. The district attorney of Philadelphia County states: "Our investigation has been completed and we desire to notify the Board that we do not oppose this application for a pardon."

The Board of Parole, upon their investigation, states that the reputation of the applicant, is very good and that he has conducted himself in an exemplary manner during the past twelve years. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William D. O'Connor, No. A-2927, March Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William D. O'Connor, convicted of burglary and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Butler County on April 10, 1953; and convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Mercer County on May 11, 1953, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-six years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He was sentenced for the crime of larceny in Mercer County and sentenced for the crimes of burglary and receiving stolen goods in Butler County. He was sentenced to 6 months in the Allegheny County Workhouse and released in July, 1953.

Honorable Herman M. Rodgers, of Mercer County Court, recommends that the applicant be granted a pardon. Likewise, Honorable Leo H. McKay, of Mercer County, recommends that a pardon be granted. Honorable Clyde S. Shumaker, of Butler County, relies upon the action of the Board. The district attorney of Butler County has no objection to the granting of clemency, and the Board of Parole reports that the district attorney of Mercer County has made no comment.

At the time this applicant was committing these offenses he was a teacher and basket ball coach at the Harrisville High School of Harrisville, Penna. His accomplice was a student at the State Teachers College at Slippery Rock, Penna.

Following his release from the Allegheny County Workhouse, the applicant obtained employment in the North Boroughs Y. M. C. A., Bellevue, Pa., where he is employed as a youth director. The applicant, because of these offenses, is in danger of losing his professional teaching certificate as issued by the Department of Education. The present employment of the applicant as a youth director of the Y. M. C. A. indicates that this organization has the feeling that his misdeeds have been atoned. The very fact that the youth organization has employed him in such a responsible position indicates the confidence that they have in his rehabilitation. The Secretary of the North Boroughs Y. M. C. A. has expressed himself forcibly along this line.

The Department of Education is holding up the matter of the revoking of the applicant's teaching certificate until the Board of Pardons disposes of the application. If the pardon is not granted by the Commonwealth there is every likelihood that the Board of Education will revoke his certificate.

The Board feels that the circumstances of these offenses committed by the applicant are most unusual in view of the background of this young man and further that the community has so readily restored him to their confidence, and a youth organization has entrusted to him the supervision of youth, persuades the Board to believe that a pardon under the circumstances will make this applicant realize that good conduct, good social relationship and good habits are virtues which are esteemed and to be followed diligently. The Board, therefore, recommends that to save this young man from losing his professional standing a pardon should be granted, and so recommends.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Francis Baio, 7010-D, No. 8303, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Francis Baio, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 15, 1937, computed from October 27, 1937 be commuted from 50 years to 17 years, 6 months, expiring on April 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until October 27, 1987.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Barbour, 3951-A, No. 4063, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Frank Barbour, convicted of forgery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on July 15, 1932, computed from July 15, 1932 be commuted from 24 years to 22 years, 10 months expiring on May 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after receiving his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until July 15, 1956.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Emanuel Bruni, No. A-1892, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Emanuel Bruni, convicted of assault and battery with attempt to kill in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County on November 16, 1951 be commuted from 4 years to 3 years, 7 months expiring on June 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-three years of age. He was sentenced to imprisonment for assault and battery with intent to kill on November 16, 1951 for from two to four years in the Montgomery County Prison. In May 1953 his minimum sentence was commuted and he has been on parole since September 1, 1953.

The Board of Parole reports that this applicant has not violated his parole plan and is regularly employed as a truck driver. The Board of Parole also reports that his tendency in the old days to become intoxicated has been expended and that he is now living a very law-abiding life.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Harold G. Knight, is not in favor of the granting of this commutation at this time. However, the reason that this applicant deserves commutation is that his future employment requires that he be released from parole supervision. This has persuaded the Board that his maximum sentence be commuted. His conduct over the past several years seems to warrant confidence in his future behavior. We, therefore, recommend that his maximum sentence be reduced from four years to three years, seven months, expiring on June 16, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Cellucci, D-7607, No. A-1820, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Cellucci, convicted of robbery and robbery armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 9, 1944, computed from January 15, 1944 be commuted from 18 years to 11 years, 5 months expiring on June 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age and had no prior criminal record. He was sentenced as of January 15, 1944 for the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, for from eighteen to forty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He was involved in a series of armed robberies in Philadelphia.

The district attorney of Philadelphia stated to the Board that he was not opposed to the granting of commutation of this sentence. The authorities at the Eastern State Penitentiary state that he has a very fine record and gives every indication of adjustment so that upon his return to society there is every likelihood he will not again become involved in any criminal difficulties.

The Board believes that this applicant has demonstrated his desire to realize his responsibilities as a citizen, and the Board and the district attorney's office, join in recommending the commutation of this sentence.

The Board recommends that this minmum sentence be commuted to eleven years, five months, expiring June 14, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In re application of Charles W. Davis, No. A-2988, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Charles W. Davis, convicted of public indecency in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County, on May 29, 1930 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-two years of age. In May of 1930 this applicant was found guilty, fined $50.00, and given a sentence of fourteen days in the Dauphin County Prison for public indecency. He has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner in Pennsylvania and in accordance with the statement of the District Attorney of Dauphin County he is not opposed to granting this application. For the past ten years he has been residing in Pleasantville, New Jersey, and the New Jersey Parole Office states that he has made a very good Community adjustment.

Judge William H. Neely, of the Dauphin County Courts states: "We do not think it would defeat the ends of Justice if a pardon were granted for this offense."

The applicant was involved in a minor offense in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and State of New Jersey and he is subject to deportation to England under the McCarren Act. The purpose of this pardon is to enable him to continue as a resident of this Country and make proper application for citizenship.

Respectfully submitted,

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 15, 1958.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In re application of Casimir Guiseppe Erzegovich, No. A-2974, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Casimir Guiseppe Erzegovich, convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County, on February 24, 1953 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is thirty-two years of age. He had no prior criminal record He was convicted and sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on three charges of larceny in January 1953 for from 8 months to 20 months in Dauphin County Prison. It is understood that the victim was fully reimbursed for the loss of property and since this applicant's parole in February 1953 he has conducted himself as a law-abiding member of society.

The purpose of this application is to avoid deportation under the McCarren Act. The District Attorney of Dauphin County is not opposed to this application and Judge William H. Neely, of the Dauphin County Courts, expressed his opinion as follows: "We do not believe it would defeat the ends of Justice, under all the circumstances, if this man were granted the pardon which he requests."

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas Martin Ferguson, No 8978. April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Thomas Martin Ferguson, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on March 18, 1946 be commuted from 12 years to 9 years, 6 months expiring on June 17, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-seven years of age. According to the record he had a previous record of minor offenses and the offense for which he is seeking commutation is voluntary manslaughter, for which he received a sentence of six to twelve years in December 1945 in Delaware County. His minimum sentence was commuted in October 1948 and he was released on parole in December 1948.

Since his release he has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner. The report of the Board of Parole indicates that he has been residing in Philadelphia and is employed in that area by the Baldwin Corporation. Investigation reveals that he is held in esteem by his friends and acquaintances. The applicant desires to seek employment without the State as he is an experienced welder and for that reason desires to be released from further parole supervision.

President Henry G. Sweney of Delaware County states: "Since this man has served his sentence in the Penitentiary and has adjusted well during the period which he has been on parole, I see no reason why his maximum sentence should not be commuted."

The District Attorney of Delaware County stated that he was not opposed to the granting of this application.

In view of the applicants readjustment to society we feel that his maximum sentence should be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

In re application of Peter George Goff, E-3258, No. A-2979, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Peter George Goff, convicted of conspiracy, robbery, carrying concealed deadly weapons in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 22, 1952, computed from April 16, 1952 be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, 2 months expiring on June 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. His prior record consisted of three juvenile offenses and the present sentence was from five to ten years in Philadelphia County for robbery. The prison authorities state that this applicant has an outstanding record in the institution. He occupies a position of trust in the State Penitentiary at Graterford, where the authorities speak highly of the adjustment this applicant has made during his incarceration. They feel that he has proved to their satisfaction that he will become a law-abiding citizen if returned to society.

The district attorney and trial judge, the Honorable Lewis E. Levinthal, were not in favor of clemency.

Since this applicant has served over three years of his minimum sentence with an outstanding institutional record we recommend that his sentence be commuted to three years two months expiring June 16, 1955.

In re application of Daltha Haliburton, 1603-D, No. 7554, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Daltha Haliburton, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 7, 1939, computed from May 7, 1939 be commuted from 20 years to 16 years expiring on May 7, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In re application of Leo A. Higgins, No. 7834, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Leo A. Higgins, convicted of burglary and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Susquehanna County on February 17, 1943 be commuted from 15 years to 12 years, 6 months expiring on May 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age. He had a prior criminal record consisting of some Juvenile offenses. The offense for which he was sentenced for from seven and one-half to fifteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary from Susquehanna County involved the breaking into garages and stealing of small sums of money and automobile tires.

The applicant was paroled on May 8, 1950 and he moved to New York State with the consent of the Parole Board. He is employed by General Motors in Towanda. He is married and the report from the Board of Parole states that since his return to the Community he is considered to be of good reputation.

The New York State Parole Agents recommend that favorable consideration be given this applicant for commutation of his maximum sentence.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Edward P. Little, has submitted no opposition and likewise the District Attorney of Susquehanna County offered no opposition to this commutation of maximum sentence. Therefore, the Board recommends that his maximum sentence be reduced to twelve years, 6 months, expiring on May 28, 1955

In re application of William Kay, E-219, No. A-1152, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: This applicant is thirty years of age. He has no prior record. On March 24, 1948, this applicant, together with an accomplice, robbed a garage and killed the attendant. This offense occured in 1943. Following that, the applicant became a member of the United States Army and served with Distinquished Service in the European Theatre. Upon his return to the United States he submitted himself to the authorities in Philadelphia and confessed to his crime. At the time of this offense he was eighteen years of age. He plead guilty and Judges Oliver, MacNeille and Sloane heard the testimony and sentenced him to life imprisonment.

One member of the trial Court, the Honorable L. Stauffer Oliver, personally appeared before the Board and made an eloquent plea for commutation of this sentence. He expressed the opinion that the facts that were brought out at the hearing indicated that a miscarriage of justice may have been made. The accomplice wielded the weapon and although under the law the accomplice, who was equally guilty, did not receive a sentence of life imprisonment, but surrounding circumstances were of such nature that mercy should be extended.

While in combat, this applicant exposed himself and performed acts of heroism, which proved to Judge Oliver and the Assistant District Attorney that he was attempting to expiate his crime by deeds of heroism. Judge Oliver stated that the Judges MacNeille and Sloane, of the Philadelphia Courts, concurred in his statements. The District Attorney of Philadelphia stated to the Board that he was not opposed to the granting of commutation.

The unusual occurance of a Trail Judge in appearing before the Board pleading for commutation of a prisoner who he had sentenced, making a full and adequate explanation of why he was compelled to sentence as he did, persuades the Board that this young man is worthy of restoration to society.

The authorities of the State Penitentiary at Graterford state that he has a very satisfactory record in the Institution.

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board recommend that the minimum sentence of William Kay, convicted of Murder, in the First Degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on March 24, 1948, be commuted from life imprisonment to seven years, two months, expiring on May 24, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Langham, Charles R. 1681-C, No. 2989, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Charles R. Langham, 1681-C, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Clearfield County on February 3, 1947, be commuted from 10 years to 8 years 3 months expiring on May 3, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 3, 1957

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Sylvester Laskowski, No. A-3006, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Sylvester Laskowksi, convicted of setting up and maintaining an illegal lottery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on September 29, 1950 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-nine years of age. He had one prior arrest, but no conviction, for gambling. He was sentenced on the charge of setting up and maintaining and illegal lottery by the Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County in September, 1950, to pay a fine of one hundred dollars.

This applicant is self-employed, operating a Grocery Store with his brother. He has made application for the pardon to obtain a position with the City of Pittsburgh and believes that a pardon for this minor offense will aid him in obtaining this employment. Several of the citizens of Pittsburgh have written to the Board stating that he has taken good care of his family, is a reputable member of his community, and is living an honest and upright life.

The Board of Parole's investigation confirms the opinions of his friends as to his excellent conduct for the past five years. The District Attorney of Allegheny County said that their office had no objection to the granting of this pardon. The Board, therefore, recognizes that this man, who had demonstrated his adjustment and realizes his responsibilities to his family and to his Communty, merits the mercy of the State, and recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Gilbert U. Laurence, 3445, No. 2975, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Gilbert U. Laurence, convicted of sodomy, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Elk County on June 11, 1954, computed from June 10, 1954, be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year expiring on June 10, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-four years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He was found guilty of the crime of sodomy and sentenced, on June 11, 1954, computed from June 10, 1954, to 2½ to 5 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

This applicant was intoxicated when he committed this offense. It was felt that in view of his prior good record and his behavior while in the custody of the Western State Penitentiary that he received an unduly severe sentence.

Prior to his conviction he was in business in St. Mary's, Penna., and his wife still operates the restaurant in that community.

Judge Joseph L. Trambley, and the district attorney of Elk County did not voice opposition to the application for cmmutation.

The Board feels that the applicant has been sufficiently punished and that he will not become involved in offenses of this character in the future.

Since this applicant has served nearly one year of his minimum sentence we recommend that his sentence be commuted when he has served one year, effective June 10, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Linonis, 882-D, No. 7354, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John Linonis, convicted of entering to commit felony, receiving stolen goods, burglary, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Venango County on May 5, 1942, computed from January 11, 1942, be commuted from 20 years to 13 years, 5 months, expiring on June 11, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 11, 1962.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER.
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Andrew Lippke, No. A-3007, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Andrew Lippke who plead guilty to charges of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 20, 1927; who was convicted of statutory rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on January 14, 1936; and who plead guilty to charges of lottery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on November 20, 1945, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age. He was sentenced in May 1927 on the crime of larceny and placed on probation. He was sentenced in January 1936 on the crime of rape and served six months in the Allegheny County Workhouse. He was sentenced in November 1945 to the crime of lottery and found guilty and sentenced to thirty days in the Allegheny County Prison.

The applicant is requesting a pardon because he desires to obtain employment with the City of Pittsburgh.

The sentencing Judge, the Honorable J. Frank Graff, states that he has no objection to the granting of pardon.

The district atteorney of Allegheny County likewise expressed no opposition. The applicant has been employed by the Yellow Taxicab Company of Pittsburgh for the past four years and has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner. He is occupying a home that he is buying, has a wife and child and bears an excellent reputation in the community.

In view of the excellent conduct of this applicant since his last offense and the recommendations from his friends and acquaintances, the Board feels that there will be no further involvement of the applicant in criminal activities. At present this applicant is suffering from a severe heart attack and this act of mercy of the Commonwealth may help him in recovering his health. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Herman Loacker, 2946-B, No. 3359, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Herman Loacker, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 14, 1932, be commuted from 60 years to 23 years, 1 month, 18 days, expiring on June 1, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 19, 1962.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervison.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harold Traverse McBride, No. A-2987, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harold Traverse McBride, convicted of burglary, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lebanon County on July 7, 1954, computed from June 14, 1954, be commuted from 2 years to 1 year, expiring on June 14, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age. He has no prior criminal record. He was convicted of the crime of burglary and was sentenced, July 7, 1954, for from two to four years in the Lebanon County Prison. The crime consisted of a series of burglaries of stores and shops in Lebanon County. Partial restitution has been made of some of the merchandise stolen.

The trial judge, the Honorable A. Harry Ehrgood, and the district attorney of Lebanon County felt that probably the application was a bit premature. However, the Board was much impressed with the statement of his spiritual advisor that the applicant was quite contrite and has improved very much both morally and spiritually. Every assurance was given to the Board that this applicant never again will become involved in offenses of this nature.

The Board, therefore, recommends that the minimum sentence be reduced to one year, effective June 14, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Francis McCall, No. A-2991, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that James Francis McCall, convicted of violation of Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act and poolselling and bookmaking and establishing a gambling house, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on February 7, 1945, and February 20, 1951, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age. He had no prior record. He was sentenced in 1945 for violation of the Liquor Control Act and was given a suspended sentence. Again, in 1951 he was sentenced on charges of poolselling and bookmaking and was fined one hundred dollars.

The applicant, following his 1951 offense, has never become involved in any further criminal activities. At present he is employed as a clerk in the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County and he desires a pardon to take a civil service examination.

The Board of Pardons investigation indicates that his conduct is exemplary and they speak very highly of his work record and reputation in the community. The District Attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the application, and the Board believes that this man has demonstrated by his exemplary conduct that he will not become involved in any violation of the law.

The trial judge, the Honorable Vincent Carroll states: "I would recommend that it be granted unless there is some definite policy against granting applications of this kind."

The Board feels that, in view of all the above facts, a pardon should be granted and so recommends.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William M. Meehan, E-538, No. A-2998, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William M. Meehan, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 24, 1948, computed from April 16, 1948, be commuted from 11½ years to 7 years, 2 months, expiring on June 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-seven years of age. He was involved as a juvenile in thirteen offenses. In 1948 he was sentenced on the crime of burglary for from eleven and one-half to twenty-six years in April of that year. The sentence he received in Philadelphia County was for stealing two automobile tires, tubes and wheels. The sentencing judge had been misinformed as to the prior record of this applicant. The district attorney of Philadelphia County felt that this applicant was probably given this severe sentence on the basis of the prior record that did not exist. The sentencing judge was evidently mislead. The district attorney further expressed his belief that this applicant has been more than punished for any offenses that he may have committed.

The Board agrees with the district attorney and due to the applicant's satisfactory prison record they have every confidence that he will take his place in society without further becoming involved with the law.

The applicant has served seven years two months of his minimum sentence and we recommend that it be commuted expiring June 16, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 12, 1966.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 23, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Pastelyak, No. 6723, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Charles Pastelyak, convicted of burglary and larceny, in the Court of Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer of Lehigh County on January 6, 1940, computed from November 18, 1943, be commuted from 16 years to 11 years, 6 months, expiring on May 19, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. The applicant's prior record involved two juvenile delinquencies for burglarly and larceny, in Northampton and Lehigh Counties, sentences he served in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

His sentence was commuted from November 19, 1943 and is for from eight to sixteen years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The applicant received a commutation of his sentence in April of 1947 and was paroled, effective April 20, 1947.

This applicant requests that his maximum sentence be commuted for the reason that he desires to go into business, which will require frequent absences from his home county.

The Board of Parole expressed the opinion that this applicant has been under their supervision for almost eight years and his adjustment has been favorable. The district attorney of Lehigh County had no objection to the granting of commutation and the President Judge of Lehigh County, the Honorable James F. Henninger recommends favorable action by the Board.

The Board believes that this man has readjusted himself and has demonstrated his desire to live a law-abiding life and no good purpose would be served by continuing him under parole supervision. The Board therefore, recommends that his maximum sentence be commuted to eleven years, 6 months, expiring May 19, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN.

In re application of Rocco Pellegrino, No. A-2968, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Rocco Pellegrino, convicted of murder, in the second degree, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Mercer County, on May 2, 1916, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is seventy-two years of age. He was born in Italy. He had no prior record until he was sentenced to imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for from sixteen to twenty years for murder in the second degree.

This was a crime of passion. In October 1931, the applicant was paroled and since that time has been residing in Greenville, Pennsylvania, and has conducted himself as a law abiding resident and enjoys a good reputation. At no time has he violated his parole.

The applicant desires to make application for citizenship.

The Board feels that this applicant, having spent his entire parole and the years following with an excellent conduct, he deserves the mercy of the State. We, therefore, recommend that a pardon be granted.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until October 2, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In re application of John Raymond Ridosh, No. A-1906, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John Raymond Ridosh, convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on October 15, 1951 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age. He had one prior arrest for larceny and was placed on probation for a period of one year. The offense was stealing equipment from T. W. A., for which offense he was placed on probation for a period of one year and discharged October 15, 1952.

Since that time he has been regularly employed by various Aircraft Companies in the Pittsburgh area. He has been very active, according to information received, in the Ukranian Youth League and by his example has been helpful to young people in that area.

The Trail Judge, the Honorable J. Frank Graff, states that he has no objection to the action of the Board and the Probation Officer of Allegheny County indicates that the applicant has lived up to his Parole contract.

The Board recommends that the mercy of the Commonwealth be extended to this applicant and that a pardon be granted in view of his evident adjustment to the Community life and his exemplary conduct.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) WILLIAM S. LIVENGOOD, JR.,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Ross, 318-B, No. A-2966, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Charles Ross, convicted of robbery, in the Court of Quarter Session, May 10, 1948 computed from April 8, 1948, be commuted from 10 years to 7 years 1 month expiring on May 8, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 8, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Irving Schonberg, No. A-2967, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Irving Schonberg, convicted of gambling, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on February 15, 1938 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He was arrested and fined for gambling in Philadelphia in February 1938. He paid his fine and costs and is now employed by the New Jersey Racing Commission as a cashier.

The Trail Judge, the Honorable James C. Crumlish, recommends favorable consideration. The District Attorney of Philadelphia County was opposed to the application, and the New Jersey Parole Board reports that their investigator indicates that this applicant bears a good reputation and has never become involved in any legal activities since his release.

This application is based upon his desire to continue his employment, which is one of responsibility and trustworthiness. The Board, in view of the excellent conduct and fine reputation that he has acquired, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Uriah Smith, D-6543, No. 9109, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Uriah Smith, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Philadelphia County on June 17, 1942, computed from December 11, 1941 be commuted from life to 13 years, 8 months, 10 days expiring on August 21, 1955, on condition that he return to his home in Jamaica, B. W. I.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-eight years of age. He had no prior criminal record The applicant was sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime of murder in the first degree arising from the fatal shooting of the victim in Philadelphia. The tragedy arose from an argument involving a broken engagement to marry between the victim and the applicant.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Francis Shunk Brown, Jr., states that he would have no objection to the commutation of the sentence provided that the applicant returns to his home in the Island of Jamaica. The District Attorney's office in Philadelphia likewise expresses the opinion that they would have no objection provided that he returns to the Island of Jamaica. There is no deportation warrant lodged with the Penitentiary but assurance have been given that this applicant will return to his home.

The Vice President of the Girad Trust Corn Exchange Bank, R. C. MacDougall, stated before the Board that this applicant will return to the Island of Jamaica.

The Penitentiary reports that his conduct has been very good and further states: "recommended for commutation of sentence because of no previous arrests or convictions, excellent adjustment, maturity and insight into problems of behavior."

Assurances have been received from the British Consulate General, Philadelphia, that they will facilitate his return to the Island of Jamaica. The Board, in view of all the facts set forth above, recommends that this applicant's sentence be commuted, provided he returns to his home in Jamaica, British West Indies.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Dino Tabarrini, E-4113, No. 2747, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Dino Tabarrini, convicted of larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Session of Lackawanna County on October 14, 1953, be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year 8 months expiring on June 14. 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age. He had a prior criminal record involving robberies while a minor and a liquor violation. He was sentenced for the crime of larceny by the Court of Lackawanna County on October 14, 1953 for from two and one-half to five years.

The district attorney of Lackawanna County states that he has no objection to commutation and the trial judge, the Honorable Michael J Eagen, likewise expressed no opposition relying upon the discretion of the Board as to whether or not application should be granted.

This applicant has served a substantial portion of his minimum sentence with a good institutional record, we are recommending that his minimum sentence be commuted to one year eight months, expiring June 14, 1955.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ross C. Vilches, D-9440, No. 2424, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Ross C. Vilches, convicted of robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on January 27, 1947, computed from January 16, 1947, be commuted from 50 years to 8 years 5 months expiring on June 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-seven years of age. He had a prior criminal record consisting of two arrests but no convictions. In January 1947 he was sentenced in Philadelphia to fifty to one hundred years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on charges of robbery. He was involved in a series of seven or eight robberies of taxicab operators and was sentenced by the late Judge Harry S. McDevitt.

The prison authorities report that this applicant has made an excellent adjustment and has maintained an exemplary record and is in fact an exceptional prisoner. The assistant district attorney of Philadelphia stated that applicant was first offender in the eyes of the law and that the sentence he received for a first offense was out of all proportion to the crime committed.

Although this type of crime is most serious, the splendid adjustment that this applicant has made during his incarceration has persuaded the district attorney that the applicant will not become involved in any further criminal activities if released.

The Board believes that this applicant has reached that period in adjustment and rehabilitation in view of the severeness of the sentence for a first offender, that merits his commutation. He served eight years three months of his minimum sentence and will be under the supervision of the parole Board the rest of his life. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted to expire June 16, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of Earl E. Wentzel, No. A-2986, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Earl E. Wentzel, convicted of maintaining gambling places in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County, on May 29, 1952 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-four years of age. He has no prior criminal record. He was Secretary of a Club in Pottstown and he, together with other officials of the Club, was convicted of maintaing a gambling place. They operated slot machines. In June 1952 he was sentenced to pay a fine of two hundred and fifty dollars and to spend ten day in the Montgomery County Prison. He was released in June 1952.

Following his parole he was employed by the County of Montgomery in the Recorder of Deeds Office, where he is working. He enjoys a very fine reputation and Honorable George C. Gorson, the Trial Judge, expresses no opposition to this application for pardon.

The Board feels that the conduct of this applicant has been exemplary over the past years and that the good wishes of his friends, neighbors and business associates lend confidence to the action of the Board in recommending that his request for pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

In re application of Edward Wright, 7200-C, No. 9096, April Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Edward Wright, convicted of robbery, armed with an offiensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 28, 1943, computed from June 22, 1943 be commuted from 15 years to 11 years 11 months expiring on May 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 22, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Barnhill, C-2269, No. A-2288, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of George Barnhill, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Beaver County on June 25, 1951, computed from March 12, 1951 be commuted from 6 years to 4 years, 3 months, 10 days expiring on June 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-three years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of voluntary manslaughter by Judge Robert McCreary of Beaver County to a term of six to twelve years, effective March 12, 1951. The crime consisted of killing a man who is alleged to have threatened him with a switch-blade knife, wherein the applicant shot him with a revolver that he alleges he was taking with him for target practice that day. The applicant plead not guilty to the charge of murder and was convicted by a jury of voluntary manslaughter.

The district attorney of Beaver County relies on the Board for their decision in the matter. Parole Officer Welch states that this man has an excellent record in the institution and has served over two-thirds of his minimum sentence for a crime that well may have been justifiable homicide.

During the applicants incarceration he has made every attempt to improve himself. He entered as an illiterate and is now able to read and write. The institution further reports that he has an outstanding conduct and work record and can be rated as a most cooperative inmate.

The Board believes that this applicant, who has for the past four years, made such an excellent record within the institution, and who has no previous criminal record, should be released to continue his good habits learned in the penitentiary.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Henry Bradley, No. A-3051, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Henry Bradley, convicted of assault with intent to ravish, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on December 11, 1953, computed from August 13, 1953, be commuted from 2 years, 6 months to 1 year, 10 months, expiring on June 13, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty years of age. His prior record consisted of an automobile violation. He was sentenced by the Delaware County Court to two and one-half to five years in the Delaware County Prison, effective August 13, 1953. The applicant plead not guilty to the crime of assaulting his ten-year-old daughter with intent to ravish. The applicant has strongly denied this accustation and subsequent record of the family lends credence to the belief that this applicant may have been convicted on testimony of his sister-in-law, who despised the applicant and that the child was coerced in testifying against him.

The trial judge the Honorable William R. Toal, recommends that serious consideration be given to the commutation of the minimum sentence in view of the sister-in-law's and his wife conspiring to frame him on this charge. The district attorney of Delaware County suggested that the applicant may have been framed and recommends the commutation of his sentence.

The report of the Delaware County Prison states it is believed the applicant will make a fair parole risk and states further that his conduct during incarceration has been good.

In view of all the above facts the Board recommends that the minimum sentence of this applicant be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Paul Conner, E-197, No. A-2297, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommenation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He plead guilty to the crime of murder in the second degree before Judge Levinthal of the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County and was sentenced from ten to twenty years, effective December 16, 1947. The sentencing judge states "I write to inform you that I have no objection to the granting of this petition." Likewise assistant district attorney Wright stated before the Board that he had no objection to the granting of commutation.

The applicant has an honorable discharge from the United States Army and he has established and maintained an unblemished disciplinary record and all department reports are most favorable.

It was said that an excellent parole plan had been set up for this applicant and the Board believes that this man has rehabilitated himself and will conduct himself in an exemplary manner if released. The Board, therefore, recommends the commutation of his minimum sentence.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of W. Elmer Double, B-5068, No. A-3024, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of W. Elmer Double, convicted of Murder in the first degree in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Butler County on June 16, 1936 be commuted from life imprisonment to 19 years expiring on June 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is seventy-eight years of age. He had no prior criminal record. The paplicant plead guilty to the crime of murder in the first degree and was sentenced by the late Judge Wilson of Butler County to life imprisonment, effective June 16, 1936.

The applicant became involved in a dispute with his sister, arising over his wife and he killed her with a club. The applicant has been confined for over nineteen years and the institution reports that his conduct has been exemplary.

The district attorney of Butler County has no objection and the trial judge is deceased, and the present judge has offered no comment.

The applicant is a Spanish American War Veteran and he receives a pension. Likewise he has a small annuity from the estate of a relative. Parole Officer Welch states that he believes this applicant, if released, cannot hope to live very long but he will not be a dependent on the public because of his income from pension and inheritance amounting to about $150.00 a month. His wife is still living, although in poor health.

The Board is of the opinion that a man of his years with the fine institutional record and with no prior criminal record can safely be released with the assurance that he will commit no offense in the future. The Board, therefore, recommends the commutation of his sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of James English, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 24, 1938, computed from December 27, 1937 be commuted from 20 years to 17 years, 6 months expiring on June 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 27, 1957.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter Fischer, E-1245, No. A-2061, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Walter Fischer, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon; conspiracy to rob; carrying concealed deadly weapons without a license in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on September 12, 1949, computed from July 29, 1949 be commuted from 7 years to 5 years, 11 months expiring on June 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age and he has no previous criminal record. He was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County to a term of seven to forty years for the crimes of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, conspiracy to rob, and carrying concealed deadly weapons without a license. The applicant, with two accomplices, entered a loan office in Philadelphia and held up the manager, tied up two victims and fled with Five Hundred and Seventeen Dollars. They were also involved in a number of taxicab hold-ups.

The trial judge, the Honorable Louis E. Levinthal, did not express himself with respect to this applicant. However, assistant district attorney Wright interviewed this applicant at the pentitentiary and was much impressed by him and stated that he was not opposed to the granting the application.

The applicant, during his incarceration, has studied automobile mechanics and has made good progress in learning that trade. Likewise, he has been employed in the prison tailor shop and his supervisor reports his record good. His institutional record is rated as good, also.

One of his accomplices has been released and the other is still confined. The Board believes that this applicant has made every effort to rehabilitate himself and is sufficiently well adjusted that if released he will become a law-abiding citizen, and therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of James Gilmore, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 26, 1939, computed from March 31, 1939 be commuted from 15 years to 5 years, 4 months, 27 days expiring on June 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 28, 1956.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of Edward K. Hayre, No. A-3036, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Edward K. Hayre, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County, on May 8, 1942 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age. This was his first conviction, having no prior record He plead guilty to the crime of burglary and was placed on probation for a period of two years, effective May 8, 1942, by Judge James L. O'Toole of Allegheny County, now deceased. He had no accomplice and his offense consists of entering a series of private dwellings and stealing various items therefrom. We are informed that he made restitution and paid the costs.

At the present time the applicant is living in Pittsburgh and is suffering from a heart condition. He advises that his physical condition prevents him from taking up ordinary employment and when he applies for employment suitable to his health condition the matter of this offense seems to prevent his engagement.

The district attorney, D. Albert Mazer, was not opposed to the granting of this application and the parole officer reports that he was a good probationer and bears a very good reputation in his community and among his acquaintances.

Since this applicant has maintained an excellent conduct record for the past thirteen years, the Board feels that he has earned the mercy of the Commonwealth and recommends that he be pardoned.

Respectfully submitted,

In re application of Joseph Hofften, No. A-2928, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph Hofften, convicted of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on October 22, 1936 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-nine years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He plead guilty to the crime of receiving stolen goods and his sentence was suspended. The crime consisted of being in possession of ten cartons of stolen cigarettes.

Since 1936 the applicant has maintained an excellent record and has never been involved in any further offenses. His reputation, among his neighbors and friends, is excellent. At present he is employed by the Registration Commission of the City of Philadelphia, where it is reported his work is very satisfactory.

The applicant is requesting this pardon so that his name may be cleared and there be no question as to his status as an employer of the City of Philadelphia.

He holds an honorable discharge from the United States Army from the first world war, received a medal for distinguished service in several of the battles of that war.

The trial judge, the Honorable Eugene V. Alessandroni, has no objection to the granting of a pardon and likewise the assistant district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of this application. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Donald Richard Irvin, No. A-2486, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Donald Richard Irvin, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on January 12, 1949, computed from December 31, 1948 be commuted from 15 years to 6 years, 5 months, 29 days expiring on June 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age. He, together with two accomplices, entered three business places in Harrisburg and stole about One Hundred and Forty Dollars worth of goods. The applicant was sentenced by Judge Rupp of the Quarter Session Court of Dauphin County for from fifteen to thirty years.

The applicant had a prior juvenile record. However, the district attorney of Dauphin County expressed the opinion that it was too heavy a sentence for the offense. The trial judge is no longer on the bench and the President Judge is unavailable.

The applicant has maintained an unblemished disciplinary record and he has made efforts to improve himself since his admittance.

Since this applicant has served a considerable portion of his minimum sentence. From the reports of the penitentiary and the expression of opinion of the district attorney it is believed that this applicant has been sufficiently punished and has made effort to rehabilitate himself and that his future conduct as a citizen will be without blemish. The Board, thehefore, recommends that his minimum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Kleminich, No. A-3030, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John Kleminich, convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Northampton County, on September 25, 1922 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-two years of age. He had a prior record of one arrest and no conviction. This was of minor character.

The present offense was larceny of an automobile for which he received a sentence of three years in the Northampton County Prison. He plead not guilty before the late Judge Robert A. Stotz. The facts of the crime are that he, together with three other boys, were driving home from a dance in the Northampton to Allentown. The applicant was not involved in the theft of this automobile and alleges that he had no knowledge that it was a stolen car when he entered it.

Judge William G. Barthold, of Northampton County, does not express an opinion as to the merits of this case.

The Board is of the opinion that this applicant was involved in this escapade without knowledge of the seriousness of the offense and it is open to question as to whether or not he knew the car was a stolen one. At the time of this theft the applicant could not drive an automobile. At present the applicant is a resident of Syracuse, New York and the New York State Parole authorities report that he lives in Syracuse and his conduct has been exemplary and he has not been involved in any offense since residing in that City.

The Board has on file letters from Chief of Police, Syracuse; Rev. Joseph F. Sadowski, Assistant Pastor of the Sacred Heart Church; and former Mayor of Syracuse, all setting forth that they have known the applicant for a great many years and that he is of good character and well-liked in the community. The applicant desires to own and operate a tavern in New York State and in order to apply for such a license he must have a pardon covering the prior conviction. The Board recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Lewan Kyryczruk, C-3399, No. 3591, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minmum sentence of Lewan Kyryczruk, convicted of Murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Teminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 30, 1926 be commuted from Life imprisonment to 29 years, 2 months expiring on June 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-two years of age and he has no prior record except a non-support charge lodged against him years ago. He plead not guilty to the offense of murder in the first degree. The crime arose because of a quarrel between he and his wife. As a conclusion to the quarrel the applicant shot her and she died. The late Judge Harry S. McDevitt sentenced the applicant to life imprisonment, effective April 1926. He has now served twenty-nine years of this life sentence with an excellent institutional record.

The institution reports that for the past nineteen years he has had no misconduct reports. At present he is employed on the block in the penitentiary.

The trial judge being deceased there is no report from the court. However, assistant district attorney Victor Wright of Philadelphia County feels that this applicant has served a long time and that since he has arranged with the Salvation Army to sponsor him he is not opposed to the granting of commutation.

The Board believes that with the excellent record this man has made for the long period of time he has been confined and with no prior criminal record, there is every confidence that this applicant, upon release, will never violate the law and will be a good law-abiding citizen.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Milton Leigey, 5135-C, No. A-3027, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Milton Leighey, convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and rape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Clearfield County on September 29, 1947 be commuted from 8 years to 7 years, 9 months expiring on June 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 29, 1955.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles W. Lewis, E-1610, No. A-3045, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles W. Lewis, convicted of burglary with intent to rob and robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 4, 1950, computed from March 15, 1950, be commuted from 10 years to 5 years, 3 months, 10 days expiring June 25, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-five years of age. He has no previous criminal record. He was sentenced for the crime of robbery, burglary and carrying concealed deadly weapons by the Court of Philadelphia County to a term of ten to thirty years, effective March 15, 1950. The offense consisted of entering a jewelry shop in Philadelphia at the point of a gun and stealing about fifty dollars in money and jewelry. The applicant alleges that the money and jewelry were stolen in order to make an impression upon his girl.

During his incarceration he has maintained a very excellent record and has made fair progress in improving his education. The institution states his record is very good.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph Sloane, has not forwarded his comments on this applicant, but the district attorney of Philadelphia County states he is not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter. The Board believes that this young man, under the impression of making a favorable impression upon his sweetheart went to extraordinary efforts to gain her regard and the result being that he has paid well and long for his offense.

The institution report indicates that he has fully realized that by violating the law it has been a most expensive procedure and that his very good conduct and efforts while incarcerated speak for his determination to live a law-abiding life in the future. The Board, therefore, recommends commutation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas R. Maines, 5299-C, No. 9326, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Thomas R. Maines, convicted of rape, adultery and bastardy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Clearfield County on September 29, 1947 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 9 months expiring on June 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 29, 1957.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert A. McAdams, Jr., No. A-2925, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Robert A. McAdams, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on April 6, 1954, computed from March 12, 1954 be commuted from an indeterminate to 6 years term to 1 year, 3 months expiring on June 12, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of robbery by the Court of Allegheny County to an indeterminate sentence to 6 years, effective March 12, 1954, in the Pennsylvania Industrial School, Camp Hill, Pa. This offense consisted of robbing a roadside restaurant in company with another young man and an older woman. This applicant had no prior record.

This offense seemingly occurred on the day he returned home upon discharge from the United States Marine Corp and he was celebrating his release. His record in the Marine Corp was excellent and he received an honorable discharge.

The district attorney of Allegheny County was not opposed and the trial judge, the Honorable Russell Adams recommended that "leniency be extended to this young man."

Letters have been received from citizens of Allegheny County expressing their confidence both in him and the very excellent family of which he is a member. The Pennsylvania Industrial School reports an excellent conduct record, where he is now presently assigned as an aid to the chaplain.

His accomplice, a young man of the same age, has been released from the Pennsylvania Industrial School. The Board recommends for your consideration the commutation of his sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Bernard Francis McAneny, 6812-C, No. 8606, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Bernard Francis McAneny, convicted of burglary and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on March 15, 1943, computed from January 30, 1943 be commuted from 20 years to 12 years, 5 months expiring on June 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 30, 1963.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James McArthur, D-9762, No. A-801, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James McArthur, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 15, 1947, computed from March 12, 1947 be commuted from 10 years to 8 years, 3 months, 10 days expiring on June 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-six years of age. He had one prior arrest and conviction. He was sentenced by Judge Levinthal on the crime of murder in the second degree for from ten to twenty years, effective March 12, 1947. It would appear that the applicant was engaged in a dispute with two men and later in the day the same two men again started to fight with him. The applicant, believing that one of his assailants was going to shoot him, and so, in self-defense, he shot one of his assailants.

The sentencing judge has made no report as to his opinion of this case. However, assistant district attorney Wright personally interviewed the applicant in the penitentiary and was very much impressed by him. Believing that he has been sufficiently punished for his crime, the assistant district attorney is not opposed to the granting of a commutation of sentence.

The institution reports that the applicant has maintained an unblemished disciplinary report and currently enjoys a very good vocational report. These reports rated him as very good.

The Board is of the opinion that this applicant has made every effort in the institution to prepare himself or a future life of good behavior and they recommend that this applicant's sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of Walter Mitchell, 6966-C, No. 4296, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Walter Mitchell, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 22, 1926 be commuted from life to 28 years, 7 months expiring on June 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until end of life.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of William H. Mitchell, III, No. A-3023, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William H. Mitchell, III, convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on July 17, 1952, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-three years of age and this was his first major conviction. He was sentenced for the crime of larceny of an automobile by the Court of Allegheny County on July 17, 1952 for a probationary period of two years and in addition made restitution. His three accomplices received a similar sentence. The applicant was released from probation in February 1953 and entered the Army and was honorably discharged, with the rank of corporal, on the 15th of February 1955.

Since his return from the army he has held a rather confidential position as mail clerk with the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad. The parole agent reports that his reputation in the community is excellent and his employer expresses satisfaction with his record. He desires to go to a school out of the State under the G.I. Bill of Rights in September of this year.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Ralph T. Bell, writes that he has no objection to the granting of a pardon. The district attorney of Allegheny County likewise expressed no objection. The Board, therefore, recommends the granting of a pardon by your Excellency

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of Stanley Motyle, 7489-A, No. A-3020, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Stanley Motyle, convicted of larceny of autos, etc. in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 21, 1941, computed from November 7, 1946 be commuted from 10 years to 8 years, 7 months, 20 days expiring on June 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relived of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 7, 1956.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Richard Showell, D-3917, No. 9635, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Richard Showell, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer if Delaware County on March 22, 1939, computed from December 28, 1938 be commuted from life imprisonment to 17 years expiring on December 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-one years of age. He has no criminal record. He was sentenced for the crime of murder in the first degree having plead not guilty and the jury bringing in a verict to the contrary. He was sentenced to life imprisonment by the late Judge Albert Dutton MacDade.

The crime consists of this applicant becoming embroiled in an argument with his wife, who was leaving the home with another man and woman, without making any preparation for the Christmas Day. The applicant was drinking and when she was leaving the next-door neighbor's home in an automobile with other people, he shot her.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge expressed no opinion. The district attorney of Delaware County has no objection and recommends the granting of the application.

The applicant appears to have a good parole plan if released and his record in the penitentiary is excellent and he has, during his incarceration for the past sixteen years, improved himself.

This applicant committed a crime of passion and there is every reason to believe that having never been involved in any prior crime he has been sufficiently punished for this offense. With his good prison record, and his attempt to rehabilitate himself, the Board believes that he will become a law-abiding citizen in the future.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Martin Stern, No. A-3044, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Martin Stern, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Northampton County on March 13, 1922; and further convicted of breaking and entering and assault and battery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Northampton County on June 15, 1926, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-four years of age. He was sentenced to serve three years in the Northampton County Prison in March 1922, on charges of robbery, and sentenced to serve for from four to eight years in the Eastern State Penitentiary in June 1926 on charges of breaking and entering and assault and battery. The applicant served twenty-seven months of his three year sentence in the Northampton County Prison and served his minimum sentence of four years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He was released on parole on June 14, 1930.

The applicant is now employed as a janitor in the United Steel Workers of America in Bethlehem and his reputation is considered good and he has been steadily employed since his parole in 1930.

The trial judge, the Honorable Russell C. Stewart is deceased but the present judge, the Honorable William G. Barthold, leaves the matter to the discretion of the Board.

The applicant is requesting this pardon for the reason that he desires to become a citizen of the United States and is prevented from so doing by reason of these offenses.

The district attorney of Northampton County writes that this applicant has not violated any law since arrest and conviction in 1926. The Chief of Police of Bethlehem states that the applicant has been a law-abiding citizen.

The Board feels that this applicant, being fifty years of age, and having conducted himself for the past twenty-five years in an exemplary fashion will hardly at this time of life commit any serious offense and in order that he may procure citizenship papers the Board recommends that he be granted a pardon.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Gerald Stewart, E-339, No. A-899, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Gerald Stewart, convicted or robbery, etc. in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 13, 1948, computed from April 30, 1948 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 2 months expiring on June 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of age. He has no previous criminal recorrd. He plead guilty to the crime of robbery and was sentenced by the Court of Philadelphia County for a period of ten to twenty years, effective April 30, 1948. His crime, together with his two accomplices, consisted of robbing several taxicabs. One of his accomplices had his sentence commuted and has been released on parole.

The institution reports that this applicant has maintained an unblemished disciplinary record and has earned a very stable work report.

The trial judge, the Honorable Vincent A. Carroll, relies upon the Board as to their disposition of the case. Assistant district attorney Wright stated to the Board that he personally interviewed the applicant in the penitentiary and was most favorably impressed by him; that the crime appeared to him as an economic crime as the applicant was in need of money and used this method of obtaining it. Mr. Wright very frankly stated that he was not opposed to the granting of a commutation of sentence believing that this applicant has rehabilitated himself and that if released he will be a law-abiding citizen. The Board concurring with this opinion, recommends that the sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Gilbert Taylor, D-9543, No. A-3025, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Gilbert Taylor, convicted of larceny and burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on January 11, 1944, computed from March 26, 1947 be commuted from 13 years to 8 years, 3 months expiring on June 26, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty years of age. He was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Dauphin County for from thirteen to twenty-six years for the crime of larceny and burglary. He was found guilty of a series of robberies and hold-ups in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, in 1943. There was no weapon employed in these offenses which largely consisted of larceny of an automobile and entering of private dwellings.

The district attorney of Dauphin County, Huette F. Dowling, did not oppose the application in view of the fact that no weapon was employed in the commission of these offenses and he believes that for the type of offense, having served over eight years of the minimum sentence, he has been sufficiently punished.

The institutional reports are satisfactory and the applicant has been employed for the last six years as a repairer of chairs. He has made some progress in improving his education by correspondence courses. The Board believes that this man has been sufficiently punished and from all reports believes that upon release he will be a law-abiding citizen and, therefore, recommends the commutation of his minimum sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Walsh, 436-D, No. A-3056, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of William Walsh, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on October 2, 1939, computed from July 27, 1954 be commuted from 5 years to 11 months expiring on June 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until July 27, 1959.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Watson, C-8366, No. 6210, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank Watson, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on October 10, 1932 be commuted from life imprisonment to 22 years, 8 month, 20 days, expiring on June 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-one years of age. He had no prior criminal record excepting arrest for assault and battery. The applicant plead guilty to the crime of murder and was sentenced by Judge Donald P. McPherson, serving specially in Delaware County, to life imprisonment effective October 10, 1932.

The applicant has a splendid record in the institution and has made efforts to improve his educational standards and with his increasing age he has become more mature and stable. He gives a very favorable impression to visitors.

This offense arose over a quarrel while a group were gambling.

The Board is of the opinion that the applicant having served twenty-two years of a life sentence and having conducted himself very well in prison and having no criminal record prior to his incarceration, it is believed that this applicant has completely learned his lesson and that he will not commit any offense and will live a law-abiding life. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Francis Winters, B4282, No. 9857, May Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Francis Winters, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Westmoreland county on August 29, 1934, computed from May 23, 1939 be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, 1 month expiring on June 23, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-six years of age. He had two arrests and one conviction. He was paroled on a first conviction from the Western State Penitentiary in September 1933. Then, in 1934, he together with three accomplices, robbed the Manor Bank, Manor, Pennsylvania, for which he was sentenced to twenty to forty years, effective May 23, 1939, following his parole violation. As a result, this applicant has spent nearly twenty-five years in the penitentiary.

The district attorney of Westmoreland County and the trial judge are opposed to the granting of clemency. However, the Senior Parole Officer, Mr. Welch, believes because of the excellent record of this prisoner when involved in the prison riots in January 1953; because he has reached such a stage of adjustment and rehabilitation that the institution authorities have every conviction he will conduct himself properly upon release; and because he received a maximum sentence for his offense, his application should have serious consideration. The Board believes that the opinion rendered by Senior Parole Officer Welch has much merit and that in view of the effort that the applicant has made to rehabilitate and to adjust, this application merits the consideration of the Board. We, therefore, recommend that this applicant's sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Carl R. Alessi 76458, No. A-3106, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Carl R. Alessi, convicted of bribery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 6, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 9 months expiring on October 6, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age, He has a prior record of six arrests and two convictions all on minor charges, This applicant operated a small Cigar Store in 1952 and was involved in the payment of money to the Erie Police Vice Squad for protection. He was sentenced to pay a fine of Five Hundred Dollars and for from one to two years in the Allegheny County Workhouse.

The District Attorney of Erie County did not recommend commutation basing it on the fact that the applicant plead not guilty at the trial, the District Attorney having stated previously that those persons indicted for this offense who would plead guilty, would receive his favorable recommendation. The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel Y. Rossiter, stated that he felt the sentence was justified, according to the report of the Parole Agent.

The Warden of the Allegheny County Workhouse states that the conduct of the applicant, while incarcerated, has been satisfactory.

The Board believes that this applicant has been sufficiently punished for his offense and recommends that his sentence be commuted when he has served nine months on October 6, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Rodolfo Apulche E-4361, No. A-3090, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Rodolfo Apulche, convicted of being armed with an offensive weapon with intent to rob and robbery in the Court of Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 10, 1954. Computed from February 17, 1954 be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year, 6 months, 10 days expiring on August 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-six years of age. He had one prior arrest and no convictions. His present offense consisted of a holdup, armed with an offensive weapon, of a girl in a hotel. He was sentenced for from two an one-half to ten years.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Vincent J. Carroll, states: "I would neither recommend nor oppose commutation at this time although I think this applicant would merit consideration." The District Attorney's office of Philadelphia County likewise states that they are not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter.

The applicant has made a satisfactory adjustment and has proved himself dependable and willing to accept responsibility. The institution reports further that his conduct and attitude has been above reproach and it is felt that confinement has had a very good effect upon him. The Board has been lead to believe that the applicant will properly conduct himself if released and will not become involved in any criminal offense in the future. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry B. Barbera, No. A-3107, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sessions of Allegheny County, on February 26, 1946, and convicted of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on December 18, 1946 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-nine years of age. He was released from probation on December 18, 1947 and since that time has been employed by the Veteran's Administration Leech Farm Hospital at Pittsburgh as a Supervisor of painters. The Chief Probation Officer of Allegheny County, J. A. Coulter, states that full restitution has been made and all costs paid incident to the Court Trials.

The sentencing Judge, the Honorable Walter P. Smart, informs the Board that he is not opposed to the granting of a pardon. The purpose of the application is to permit him to qualify under Civil Service regulations as a painter foreman.

The Board believes that this applicant, having conducted himself in a law-abiding manner, and since his general character displays traits of industry and trustworthiness, merits the recommendation of this pardon.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General,
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward Camilli, 3025-E, No. A-3083, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Edward Camilli, convicted of bribery and conspiracy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 6, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 9 month expiring on October 6, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. He had no prior record. He was sentenced to pay a fine of two hundred and fifty dollars and to imprisonment in the Erie County Prison for from one to two years. At the time of his conviction he was a member of the Erie City Police Department and was convicted of accepting protection money from various gamblers in the City of Erie. This policeman was not one of the principals in this matter of accepting bribes.

The trial Julge, the Honorable Samuel Y. Rossiter, did not file with the Board his opinion as to the merits of the application The District Attorney of Erie County, who appeared at the hearing, stated he would not oppose the granting of clemency but would so recommend.

The Board has on file letters from the various members of the City Police Force of Erie, testifying to the character and reputation of the applicant, as well as letters from private business concerns throughout the City of Erie. There is a petition on file covering about one hundred and eighteen names of the Police of the City of Erie stating that "* * * We know that prior to Camilli being involved in the bribery cases he was an honest and efficient policeman and a law-abiding citizen with an excellent reputation. We feel that he has been a victim of circumstances and that his exposure was a severe punishment to him and his family. We believe that further incarceration is not necessary to rehabilitate him and that if released that he can take his place in society as a law-abiding citizen."

The Board carefully considered this petition of a member of the Police force and feels that this man may have unwillingly become a partner in this offense through circumstances beyond his control. He was just an ordinary policeman and held no grade or rank in the Police Force and was subject to the control of his police officers of superior rank. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted when he has served nine months, expiring on October 6, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General,
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT.
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Dahl, E-1244, No. A-1830-1, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Dahl, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, etc., in the Court of Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 12, 1949, computed from July 29, 1949, be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 1 month, expiring on August 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. He had no prior record. His present offense consisted of a series of armed robberies for which he was sentenced for from ten to twenty years.

The Institution reports he has maintained an unblemished disciplinary record and his work record is very good. He has likewise an unusually good educational report as he has completed courses over the past five years in Machine Shop; Blue-print Reading and Refrigeration and Air Conditioning. The Institutional staff believes that this man has made a remarkable record while incarcerated.

The Board received no report from the sentencing Judge, the Honorable Louis Levinthal. The District Attorney's Office of Philadelphia is not opposed to the granting of commutation and believes that the applicant will conduct himself properly if released. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General,
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Arthur Damore, 76532, No. A-3118, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Arthur Damore, convicted of bribery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 6, 1955. Computed from January 25, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 9 months expiring on October 25, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. He had a prior record of one arrest for operating a lottery but was discharged. This present offense was in payment of money to the Vice Squad of the Erie Police Department for protection purposes in operating a sale of lottery tickets. Prior to his arrest the applicant was associated in the Cigar Store business and Restaurant business.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Burton R. Laub, stated that the sentence was justified but that he would neither oppose or recommend granting of celemency. The District Attorney of Erie County opposed the extension of clemency because the applicant did not plead guilty at the trial.

The Board feels, however, that this applicant has been sufficiently punished for his offense and recommends that his minimum sentence be reduced to nine months, effective October 25, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT.

In re application of Daniel Di Tullio, 76479, No. A-3079, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Daniel Di Tullio, convicted of bribery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 10, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 9 months expiring on October 10, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-three years of age. He had no prior record. This present offense was paying money to the members of the Vice Squad of the Erie Police for protection on the sale of baseball pool slips. The applicant was employed by the Erie Forge Company to nineteen forty-seven and following that to the date of his arrest, a partner in the Star News. His activities in the sale of baseball lottery tickets was to add to his income.

He was sentenced to pay a fine of two hundred and fifty dollars and to imprisonment in the Allegheny County Workhouse for from one to two years.

The Allegheny County Workhouse reports that he has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner and was employed in the Prison kitchen. The District Attorney of Erie County, who appeared at the Board meeting is not opposed to the applicant's commutation as this applicant plead guilty.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Samuel Y. Rossiter, has filed no comment as to the merits of this application with the Board.

The Board feels that this applicant has been sufficiently punished when he has served nine months and therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted on October 10, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Endrukat, 4-604-A, No. 939, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Frank Endrukat, convicted of murder, in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 24, 1912 be commuted from life to forty-three years, six months expiring on August 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until end of life.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Guiseppe Guida D-5083, No. A-737, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due

public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Guiseppe Guida, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 29, 1940. Computed from March 30, 1940 be commuted from life to 15 years, 5 months provided he be deported to Italy expiring on August 30, 1995.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This appellant is sixty-four years of age. He had two prior arrests with no conviction. His present offense consisted of the killing of a woman in the course of a burglary. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in July 1940.

Since his incarceration the Institution reports that he has demonstrated a favorable adjustment and attitude which has resulted in an unblemished disciplinary record over the last fifteen years. There seems to be no tendencies for criminal behavior in his make-up.

The trial Judge is deceased and the Court has not filed any comment with the Board in this case. However, the District Attorney's office stated that it was not opposed to the granting of commutation of the sentence provided the applicant was deported to Italy. The Parole Board reports that there is a warrant for deportation on file and upon release the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service will take charge of the applicant and deport him to Italy as soon as possible. The Board, therefore, in view of warrant of deportation, recommends that his sentence be commuted, provided that deportation is effected.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Harris, E-316, No. A-3096, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank Harris, convicted of robbery, etc. in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 29, 1948. Computed from April 17, 1948 be commuted from 20 years to 7 years, 4 months, 10 days expring on August 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age. He had one minor conviction on an assault and battery charge. His present crime involves robbing taxi cab drivers in Philadelphia, while armed with an offensive weapon. He was sentenced by the late Judge Harry S. McDevitt to a term of twenty to forty years.

Since his committment the Institution authorities state that he has had an unblemished disciplinary record, and has shown good vocational stability.

The sentencing Judge is deceased and no comment was received from the Court. However, the District Attorney's office of Philadelphia County stated that it was not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter.

The Board believes that the determined effort of this young man in adjusting himself and attempting to acquire a trade and an education, while incarcerated, is indicative of his determination to live a law-abiding life. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert E. Hatry D-4979, No. 9990, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Robert E. Hatry, convicted of murder, in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 10, 1940 be commuted from life to 15 years, 2 months expiring on August 10, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. He had a minor criminal record prior to his arrest for the crime of murder in the first degree. Since his incarceration the institution reports that he is recommended for a commutation because of favorable reports from all departments in the institution. He has passed courses in mechanical drawing; mathematics and carpentry.

The Courts of Common Pleas No. 2, No. 5 and No. 6, expressed their recommendation to the Board that applicant's plea for mercy be favorably considered. President judge, Honorable Edwin O. Lewis, of Common Pleas No. 2, recommends favorable action upon the application. Likewise, the Honorable Curtis Bok, president judge of Common Pleas No. 6 recommends to the Board that favorable consideration be given to the application. The Honorable Eugene V. Alessandroni, president judge of Common Pleas No. 5, states: "I am inclined to recommend favorable consideration by your Honorable Board of applicant's plea for clemency at this time."

The District Attorney's office of Philadelphia County stated that the applicant had rehabilitated himself and that it was not opposed to the granting of commutation at this time.

The Board, from all the facts in this case, believes that this was a crime of passion and that if released this man will no longer misconduct himself and that he will live a law-abiding life in the future. The Board, therefore, recommends that this sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,

(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John C. Johnson, E-3307, No. A-2528, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John C. Johnson, convicted of robbery and burglary in the Court of Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on October 1, 1952. Computed from June 13, 1952 be commuted from 4 years to 3 years, 2 months, 10 days expiring on August 23, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-seven years of age. He had a prior record of four arrests and no convictions. His present offense consisted of the holding up and robbing of a woman in Chester. He denied his guilt at the trial but was found guilty and sentenced to not less than four nor more than twenty-six years.

During applicants incarceration the Prison staff reports that he has established and maintained an unblemished disciplinary record and has demonstrated attempts at self-improvement. Reports from all departments are favorable.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Arthur P. Bretherick, states that there is some merit to this application. He adds: "Johnson is an intelligent, swaggering extrovert, but if he has 'learned his lesson' I would have no objection to his release." The District Attorney of Delaware County has no objection to the granting of clemency.

A careful review of the Institutional record for the past six years indicates that this applicant has made every effort to rehabilitate himself. He has enrolled in the English; shorthand and bookkeeping courses and has maintained fine progress for the past twenty-seven and one-half months. He is musically inclined and is a member of a fine institutional band.

The Board believes that this young man, with the efforts that he has been making to fit himself for a better place in Society, is deserving of every consideration and the Board further believes that he has been sufficiently punished and that he will no longer be involved in any criminal offenses. The Board, therefore, recommends that his minimum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ernest Jordan, C-2250, No. A-623, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Ernest Jordan, convicted of murder in the second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 27, 1946. Computed from April 24, 1946 be commuted from 10 years to 9 years, 4 months expiring on August 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years old. He had practically no prior record except for one arrest and discharge. The present crime involved the stabbing of the victim following a quarrel involving several other persons. The applicant was sentenced to not less than ten nor more than twenty years.

The Institution reports that the applicant has made an excellent adjustment and displayed a respectful attitude toward authority and has been a very cooperative inmate. It is felt that he has done everything possible within a prison situation to prove himself.

The trail Judge, the Honorable Byron A. Milner, expressed the opinion that the applicant should serve his minimum term. However, the District Attorney's office stated that in view of his first conviction they were not opposed to the commutation.

The Board, in considering this application, believes that the steady and dependable character and relatively mature judgement, which he has displayed during his incarceration, indicates that he is determined to conduct himself properly if released. The applicant has served nine-tenths of his minimum sentence. The Board believes that he is fit for a return to society, and recommends, that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd.) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd.) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd.) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of John C. Koehler, 76469, No. A-3105, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John C. Koehler, convicted of bribery and conspiracy, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 6, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 9 months expiring on October 6, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-one years of age. He had one arrest and one conviction although he denies that he was guilty. The F. B. I. has no record. He was sentenced to pay a fine of Five Hundred Dollars and to imprisonment for from one to two years in the Allegheny Workhouse.

The present offense consists of payment of money for protection to the Erie Police Vice Squad. According to the parole report the sentencing Judge, the Honorable Samuel Y. Rossiter, neither oposes or recommends commutation. The District Attorney's office of Erie County did not oppose the granting of clemency in this matter for the reason that this applicant plead guilty.

The Board believes that this man has been sufficiently punished, and since the Warden of the Allegheny County Workhouse states that this applicant's conduct while incarcerated has been good, therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted when he has served nine months on October 6, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd.) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd.) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd.) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd.) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd.) GEORGE M. LEADER.
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Yonas Kostman, No. A-2929, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Yonas Kostman, convicted of robbery and assault, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on March 11, 1925, be pardoned.

This applicant is sixty-five years of age. He had a prior record involving seven arrests and four convictions. His present offense involving the robbery and asault in connection with the burglary of a store in 1925. The applicant and his accomplice were armed.

The trial Judge is deceased. The present Judge, the Honorable Henry G. Sweney, states that he has no objection to the granting of pardon. Likewise, the District Attorney's office of Delaware County, has no objection to the granting of this pardon.

The applicant, for the past twenty-five years, has been employed in the Restaurant and Hotel business and now owns and operates Hotel Drake in San Francisco. Letters are on file from various business places in San Francisco attesting to the high regard they hold for him as a customer, and the prompt payment of bills and other credit which they extended to him over the years.

The California Division of Adult Paroles reports to us that his conduct has been exemplary and that he has not become involved in any criminal offense. He has a well established credit and his reference is the Bank of America, San Francisco.

This applicant desires to obtain a pardon in order that he may avoid deportation to Poland. He has also received executive clemency from the Governor of New York for the offense which he commited in that State, and the Bureau of Immigration is giving him time to have the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania grant him clemency if the Commonwealth so desires. The Board believes that this man has certainly rehabilitated himself during the past few years and his standing among business men in San Francisco and his operation of Hotels and Restaurants for the past few years in that City has justified the confidence of his friends. We, therefore, recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd.) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd.) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd.) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd.) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd.) GEORGE M. LEADER.
Governor.

BOARD OF PADONS

In re application of James La John, 3026-E, No. A-3011, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James La John, convicted of bribery and conspiracy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 6, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 9 months expiring on October 6, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-nine years of age. He had four prior arrests and two convictions for gambling. His present crime was the payment of a sum of money for protection in the sale of lottery tickets, to the Vice Squad of the Erie City Police.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Burton R. Laub, advised the Parole Agent that he would leave the matter entirely in the hands of the Board of Pardons. The District Attorney of Erie County stated to the Board at the hearing that he was in favor of granting clemency to the applicant. At the present time the applicant is suffering from a severe heart condition. Dr. Petri, of the Erie County Jail, reports that his health is serious and he frequently has angina attacks at night. The Doctor is prescribing treatment and medicine to meet the serious condition of the applicant.

Dr. Roland E. Miller was also consulted relative to the condition of the applicant and states that he is suffering from angina pectoris, which causes severe and continuous chest pains.

The Board feels that this applicant has been sufficiently punished and, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Richard LeSage, No. A-3136, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Richard LeSage, convicted of Entering with intent to steal, larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 26, 1935; and further convicted of Operating a Motor Vehicle While Intoxicated and Larceny of an Automobile in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on November 19, 1937; and further convicted of Operating a Motor Vehicle without the Consent of the Owner in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 23, 1938; and further convicted of Operating an Automobile without the Consent of the Owner, etc., in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 7, 1938, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-nine years of age. He was sentenced in Delaware County in November 1937, and likewise sentenced in Philadelphia County in 1938. He was released in 1939 on parole and since that time he has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner and has not been involved in any criminal offenses.

The parole investigation reports that he is living with his wife in a satisfactory neighborhood which home he owns. He is employed by the Garden State Race Track of Camden, New Jersey, in charge of the parking facilities of that track, and also employed by the Atlantic City Race Track and the Delaware Park Track in the State of Delaware. The purpose of his request for pardon is based upon the State Law of New Jersey that requires all employes of race tracks to be free of any criminal records.

The district attorney of Delaware County stated that he would reply upon the action of the Board in this matter and the district attorney of Philadelphia County stated that he was not opposed to the granting of the commutation as his information lead him to believe that he had led a law-abiding life since 1939.

The Board recommends that a pardon be granted for the offenses committed by the applicant in both Delaware and Philadelphia Counties.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Clarence S. Lintner, Jr., No. A-3077, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Clarence S. Lintner, Jr., convicted of larceny in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Allegheny County, on May 25, 1948, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-seven years of age and had no previous record. This was his first offense. He plead guilty to the crime of larceny, and the Court promptly suspended the sentence, directing that he undergo treatment at the Veteran's Hospital.

The applicant has been on probation since May 25, 1948. He is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh in Bacteriology and holds Honorable Discharges from the United States Army and Air Force.

The applicant desires a pardon in order to obtain a position as Bacteriologist under Civil Service. The District Attorney of Pittsburgh stated that he was not opposed to the granting of this pardon and felt that the applicant deserves and merits consideration.

Since his release on probation the applicant has conducted himself in a law-abiding manner and the Board believes that this offense was caused primarily by a mental condition of which, it is reported, he has been cured.

The Board believes that the advancement of this young man in the field of Bacteriology should not be hindered and, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John McLaughlin, D-7281, No. 7652, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John McLaughlin, convicted of burglary, larceny and conspiracy, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 26, 1949. Computed from July 28, 1952, be commuted from 4 years to 3 years, 1 month, expiring on August 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty years of age. He had a prior criminal record. The present offense was stealing from his sponsor while on parole.

At present this applicant is confined in the Philadelphia County Prison and the warden, Fred Kreuger, states that this applicant has an excellent conduct record and has participated in various constructive activities. At present he is doing a very good job as an inmate nurse in the Prison Hospital.

The trial judge is deceased. However, President Judge Raymond MacNeille of Common Pleas No. 3, states: "I feel that I cannot do other than to suggest that whether or not he is released would depend to some extent upon his conduct while in custody." The District Attorney's office stated that they were not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter, believing that the applicant has sufficiently rehabilitated himself.

The Rev. Walter W. Ware, former prison chaplain, states to the Board: "I have always felt that when a man has made a definite effort toward rehabilitation, and has a good record at the prison, it is time then for him to have a chance on parole to prove himself."

The Board, after carefully considering this application, basing its recommendation on the quite evident effort of this applicant to rehabilitate and prove, under prison situation, his ability to adjust, recommends that his minimum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PADONS

In re application of John Francis McShane, No. A-3145, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John Francis McShane, convicted of establishing a gambling place, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Chester County, on December 5, 1951, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-one years of age. He had practically no prior criminal record, having been arrested for disorderly conduct, and gamling, and find. His present offense consisted of operating and maintaining a gambling place for which offense he was fined $500.00 and costs.

This offense occured in December 1951. Since that time he became associated with the Ajax Stables as a trainer of horses. He is now in New Jersey as a trainer. The New Jersey law requires that employes or persons connected with racing in that State be free from any criminal record.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Ernest Harvey, stated to the Board that he had no comment to make that would be of any assistance to the board in the determination of the application. The District Attorney's office opposed the granting of pardon. The Pennsylvania Board of Parole reviewed the case for the Board and discloses that since 1951 the applicant has conducted himself properly and has not been involved in any offenses. The Board believes that this applicant, who has made a serious attempt to rehabilitate himself in every way, will live a law-abiding life with honest employment, is entitled to every consideration.

The employer of the applicant, Jack N. Alexander, states that he has found the applicant to be honest and trustworthy and that he is most anxious to re-employ the applicant as a trainer as soon as his license can be reissued by the Racing Commission of New Jersey.

In view of all the above facts the Board recommends that a pardon be granted the applicant.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN (Dissents),
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PADONS

In re application of Frederick Markovich, C-3364, No. A-3068, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frederick Markovich, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Washington County on March 26, 1954, be commuted from 5 years to 1 year, 5 months, expiring on August 20, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-two years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon for from five to ten years. The applicant had no prior record and his present offense is that he struck a man and robbed him of his money.

The trial Judge, the Honorable George T. Cummins of Washington County, states: "It is my opinion now that the sentence I imposed on this defendant at the time he entered his plea of guilty was too severe, and that he should rceive some consideration from the Board of Pardons on his application for clemency." Likewise, the District Attorney of Washington County does not oppose the granting of this commutation and follows the action of Judge Cummins.

During his incarceration the applicant has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner and is employed in the Trailer Shop of the Institution. He is the sole support of his Mother and three sisters and it is believed from the records that he has learned a bitter lesson, for there is every likelihood that if released that he will conduct himself as a law-abiding citizen and will not again become involved in any criminal offense.

In view of all the foregoing facts the Board recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PADONS

In re application of John George Marshall, No. A-3075, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John George Marshall, convicted of larceny, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on March 29, 1934, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of larceny on the twenty-ninth day of March 1934 and immediately placed on probation for a term of four years and ordered to make restitution of the amount stolen, to wit: Thirty-two dollars. The applicant had no prior criminal record.

The report of the Chief Probation Officer, J. C. Coulter of Allegheny County, states that this applicant reported regularly and has paid his Court costs in full and made restitution.

The trial Judge, the Honorable W. Heber Dietrich, is deceased. The District Attorney of Allegheny County stated that the applicant merited the consideration of the Board in his application for a pardon.

The applicant has a distinguished World War record and was wounded in action. He has been employed among various Industrial Plants in the Pittsburgh area and finds that his conviction has hindered him very much in finding suitable employment.

The Board believes that a pardon should be granted this applicant because of his law-abiding life since 1934; his distinguished service in the United States Army (being wounded in action and receives a disability pension); and so recommends.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

BOARD OF PADONS

In re application of Harry Mayo, B-4447, No. 3910, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harry Mayo, convicted of Murder, in the First Degree, in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Clinton County, on February 14, 1935 be commuted from life to 20 years, 6 months, 10 days, expiring on August 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-seven years of age. His prior record consisted of four arrests and four convictions.

His present offense consisted of the killing of a Policeman in Lock Haven, Pennsylvania, about three o'clock in the morning at the back door of the Clinton Athletic Club, of that City. About five months the applicant was arrested in the City of Philadelphia. He plead not guilty but was convicted and was sentenced to life imprisonment. The applicant has always maintained his innocence and this position is concurred in by many people who know the circumstances of the entire tragedy.

The trial Judge is deceased. The President Judge, the Honorable Abraham I. Lipez states to the Board: "I feel now as I did then that the application should be granted." The District Attorney of Clinton County, according to the report of the Parole Agent, does not object to the granting of clemency. The District Attorney's office, however, did not communicate direct with the Board of Pardons.

The wife of the victim, Robert W. Probst, writes the Board that after all these years she still believes that there are many things which cast grave doubt on Mr. Mayo's guilt. She concludes her letter by stating: "I join, therefore, in Mr. Mayo's application to the end that his sentence may be commuted and that he may now take his place in society while he still has useful years of life ahead of him."

The Institution states that this applicant has maintained since 1951 an excellent Institutional record. The Parole Agent reports in an interview with the District Attorney of Clinton County, William Hollis, in May 1955, that he expressed the thought that he no longer opposed the commutation of sentence as he feels the applicant has served sufficient time and that he has made a proper adjustment.

There is also on file a letter from the family of the victim, signed by his brothers and sisters. They, too, believe that there is a grave doubt as to the guilt of the applicant.

The Board believes that this man has been sufficiently punished and also believes that he has been fully rehabilitated. The Board, therefore, recommends that his life sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Merlino, 76484, No. A-3063, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Merlino, convicted of bribery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 6, 1955, be commuted from 1 year to 9 months, expiring on October 6, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendations are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-three years of age. He had one arrest and one conviction of a sale of lottery tickets. His present crime consisted of payment of money to the Vice Squad of the Erie Police for protection of operating a poker game in his Snack Bar. The applicant was employed by the Erie Forge and Steel Company up to the date of his arrest but over the week-ends operated the Snack Bar where gambling was conducted.

Judge Burton R. Laub states to the parole agent that he thinks his sentence was justified but he will neither oppose nor recommend. The District Attorney's office is not opposed.

The applicant is now suffering high blood pressure which so far has been unresponsive to treatment. By virtue of this condition he is subject to a cerebral hemorrhage or stroke. Also the applicant is almost stone blind in one eye due to a hemorrhage. Lawrence P. Keenan, superintendent of the Allegheny County Workhouse, transmits to us the opinion of Dr. Kraft, prison physician. Dr. Arthur B. Calabrese, of Erie, Pennsylvania, also submits his diagnosis.

This applicant is one of the small-time gamblers involved in bribing the police force. He was a steady worker during the week and used this means of adding to his income by operating the Snack Bar and poker games.

The Board believes that this man has been sufficiently punished and therefore recommends that his minimum sentence be reduced to nine months, expiring on October 6, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor,
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward Michalski, 76509, No. A-3104, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Edward Michalski, convicted of bribery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 17, 1955, computed from January 6, 1955, be commuted from 9 months to 7 months, 10 days, expiring on August 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. He had no prior record. He was sentenced to pay a fine of five hundred dollars and to imprisonment in the Allegheny County Workhouse for from nine months to two years.

This applicant sold baseball slips and paid protection to the Erie Police Vice Squad. Although this man was regularly employed by the General Electric Company, in order to increase his income he indulged in this activity. He was a small-time gambler.

The District Attorney of Erie County did not oppose the granting of clemency and indeed recommended it.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Elmer L. Evans, stated to the parole agent that he neither opposed nor recommended. Honorable Julian Polaski, assemblyman from Erie County, likewise recommends the granting of clemency.

President Judge Elmer L. Evans states: "I have no recommendatoin to make except that if the Board recommends commutation in one case it may be constrained to take similar action in the others."

The Board, believing that this applicant has been sufficiently punished, recommends that this applicant's sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor,
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William F. Moore, No. A-3108, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendations are as follows:

The applicant is forty-nine years of age and was sentenced for the offense of armed robbery to a term of not less than eight nor more than twenty years, effective April 15, 1937. The applicant was released on parole on April 30, 1945, at the expiration of his minimum sentence. Since his release he has been employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad as a brakeman but because of high blood pressure he must seek other work consistent with his physical condition.

The Board of Parole reports that since the applicant has been under their supervision he has made an excellent adjustment and that the Board of Parole does not oppose the granting of a commutation of his maximum sentence. The District Attorney of Allegheny County stated that he had no opposition to the commutation of the maximum sentence.

The president judge, the Honorable William H. McNaugher, states that he would rely upon the Board for their action. The Board believes that since this applicant has been in no further trouble, that he will not again offend against society and appears to be fully rehabilitated, recommends that his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor,
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Louis E. Morgan, 74992, No. A-2775, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Louis E. Morgan, convicted of subornation of perjury: forgery of a written instrument, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on January 28, 1954, be commuted from 3½ years to 1 year, 6 months, 12 days, expiring on August 10, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-eight years of age and had no prior record. He was sentenced for the crime of subornation of prejury and forgery of a written instrument. The applicant at the time of his arrest was a lieutenant of the Pittsburgh Police Department and was involved in the investigation of the Vice Squad of that particular Department in 1953. The applicant was sentenced to a term of not less than 3½ nor more than 7 years for these offenses.

The trial judge, the Honorable Walter H. Braham, did not give the Board the benelt of his comments. However, Judge Samuel A. Weiss, of Allegheny County, expressed hmiself very clearly in a letter to the Board as follows: "* * * this applicant's punishment should have been no more severe than any of the offenders who were actually responsible for much of the corruption that prevailed in this department. It is my candid opinion that his sentence was far out of proportion with his involvement." The District Attorney's office stated to the Board that it had no opinion to express either pro or con.

The applicant is likewise sffering from coronary thrombosis and during his present incarceration he has had several attacks. His physical condition is attested to by the physician attached to the Allegheny County Workhouse, Dr. Kraft, and his associate, Dr. Clateman.

The Board feels that this applicant's sentence should be commuted, believing that he has been sufficiently punished and believing also that he will not in the future become involved in any criminal offense of any type. The applicant is a man of standing in the Community and testimony at the trial by his many friends attested to his character and integrity. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN—Dissents,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Willie Paddlefoot, D-9967, No. 3072, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Willie Paddlefoot, convicted of murder, in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on October 7, 1947, computed from June 23, 1947 to be commuted from 10 years to 8 years, 8 months expiring on August 23, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-three years of age. He had two arrests and no convictions covering minor offenses such as vagrancy. His present offense consisted of assaulting a young woman in the Green Leaf Social Club. In the course of the argument the applicant stabbed her, the wounds from which she died. He was sentenced for from ten to twenty years for murder in the second degree.

The Institutional staff states that his Institutional conduct record is considered very good, and that vocationally, he has demonstrated stability. He is also given credit for having a very good educational report.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Henry G. Sweeney, states: "I would have no objection to this commutation if his record at the penitntiary has been good and if they feel that he will make a good adjustment." The District Attorney of Delaware County stated that he had no objection to the granting of clemency.

The Board believes that this young man has learned a lesson so that if released he will conduct himself in a law-abiding manner and will not become involved in any further criminal offense. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Manning Pinckney, E-1786, No. 3074, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Manning Pinckney, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 13, 1950, computed from June 28, 1950 be commuted from 10 years to 5 years, 2 months expiring on August 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-four years of age. He had no prior criminal record. He was sentenced for the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, to a term of from ten to twenty years.

Since the applicant's incarcernation the Institution reports that his disciplinary record is good and his Institutional rating is very good. He has interested himself in improving his education.

The trial judge is retired and the present judge, Honorable Joseph L. Kun, relies upon the Board for its decision. The District Attorney's representative at the hearing before the Board on this application stated he was not opposed and recommended that commutation be granted.

This young man was only eighteen years of age when he committed this offense and his efforts at rehabilitation which he has made while incarcerated makes the Board believe that if released he will conduct himself as a law-abiding citizen. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Sara Pinder, 3561-C, No. 9329, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Sara Pinder, convicted of murder, in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on June 18, 1947, be commuted from 12 years to 8 years, 2 months expiring on August 18, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 15, 1959.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

in re application of Raymond Plechner, E-3076, No. A-2702, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Raymond Plechner, convicted of robbery, etc. in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 26, 1952, computed from March 12, 1952 be commuted from 6 years to 3 years, 5 months, 10 days expiring on August 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years of age. He had practically no prior criminal record having been arrested only for minor offenses, no convictions.

The present offense arose out of his robbing a Taxi Cab. He was sentenced from six to twelve years. The Institution that the applicant has established a very good Institutional record and has made progress in his study involving refrigeration.

The trial judge, the Honorable Eugene V. Alessandroni, advises the Board that the application is a matter for their discretion. The District Attorney's office was opposed to the granting of clemency as of October 1954. However, this opinion was reversed and the District Attorney's office, as of June 1955, is not now opposed to the granting of clemency in view of the excellent Institutional record that the applicant has made.

The Board, therefore, believing that this young man will no longer be a menace to society and will live a law-abiding life in the future, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Rotunda 3027-E, No. A-3119, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Rotunda, convicted of bribery in the Court of Quarter Session of Erie County on January 6, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 9 months expiring on October 6, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age. He had one prior arrest but no convictions. His present offense consisted of payment of money for protection of the operation of the sale of lottery tickets and the running of a card game, to the Erie Police Vice Squad. At the same time of his arrest the applicant operated a Cigar Store and a News Room. He was sentenced to pay a fine of Five Hundred Dollars and to imprisonment in the Allegheny County Workhouse for from one to two years.

The Parole Agent reports that the sentencing Judge, The Honorable S. Y. Rossiter, advised that he would neither oppose or recommend commutation. The District Attorney of Erie County has stated that he would not oppose commutation of this sentence, being practically neutral in the matter.

At present the applicant is employed in cleaning records and painting office equipment in the Court House at Erie County and the Prothonotary of the Court states that his conduct has been irreproachable and that the County has benefited by his services. The Board was informed that at the present time his wife is seriously ill.

The Board believes that this man has been sufficiently punished and recommends that his minimum sentence be commuted to nine months, expiring October 6, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James P. Salamone, 76485, No. A-3137, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James P. Salamone, convicted of bribery and conspiracy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 6, 1955 be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year expiring on January 6, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-nine years of age. He had seven prior arrests and two convictions for minor charges involving illegal driving; violation of the Liquor Laws and carrying concealed deadly weapons. The present offense consists of payment of the sum of Four Hundred Dollars each month for protection for operating a gambling club, the Beaver Club, to the Erie Police Vice Squad. He was sentenced to pay a fine of Five Hundred Dollars and to imprisonment in the Allegheny County Workhouse for from one and one-half to three years.

During the applicant's incarceration he has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner and is one of the Hospital attendants at the Institution. The Warden of the Allegheny County Workhouse states that any consideration that he Board of Pardons is inclined to grant will meet with the full approval of the authorities of this Institution.

The sentencing Judge, the Honorable Burton R. Laub, stated to the Parole Agent that the sentence was justified but he did not oppose or recommend the granting of clemency.

The District Attorney of Erie County stated he felt the sentence was a severe one although he believed that this appplicant should serve a bit longer in the Allegheny County Workhouse. The Board believes that this man has been sufficiently punished and recommends that his minimum sentence be reduced to one year, expiring on January 6, 1956.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James E. Semple, C-3363, No. A-3069, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James E. Semple, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Washington County on March 26, 1954 be commuted from 5 years to 1 year, 5 months expiring on August 20, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-six years of age. He was sentenced for from five to ten years in Washington County for the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon. This applicant was involved with one Frederick Markovich in the hold-up and robbery of a victim.

The Trial Judge, the Honorable George T. Cummins states: "It is my opinion now that the sentence I imposed on this defendant at the time he entered his plea of guilty was too severe, and that he should receive some consideration from the Board of Pardons on his application for clemency." The District Attorney of Washington County does not oppose the granting of this commutation, and follows the action of the sentencing Judge.

During his incarceration the applicant has made attempts to improve himself and he has been a satisfactory prisoner.

The Board believes that this applicant has been taught a lesson and has rehabilitated himself sufficiently to permit his release and to regain a place in society. This Board also believes that this young man will not again be guilty of any criminal offense and that the mercy of the Commonwealth, as it is recommended, will help him very much in regaining his confidence and a place in society. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Hizzie Stevenson, D-9881, No. A-3089, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Hizzie Stevenson, convicted of murder, in the second degree in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Philadelphia County on September 8, 1947, computed from June 17, 1947 be commuted from 10 years to 8 years, 2 months, 10 days expiring on August 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-one years of age. He had a prior record, a conviction for assault and battery. His present crime was the beating of his wife so severely that she died.

The Institution reports that he has maintained an unblemished disciplinary record and currently works in a position of trust in the Electric Light Plant of the Institution.

The Trial Judge is deceased and the present Court has not expressed an opinion. The District Attorney is not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter and so stated both before the Board and in writing.

The Board is of the opinion that this was a crime of passion and that the defendant will not become involved in any further criminal activities. His behavior in the Institution lends conviction to the belief that he will adjust hmself properly in society. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN—Dissents,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Charles Stewart, 74484, No. A-3085, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Robert Charles Stewart, convicted of false pretense and obtaining goods, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County, on September 8, 1953, be commuted from 3 years to 2 years, 10 days expiring on August 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-eight years of age and had a record of twenty-five arrests and four convictions, covering the passing of worthless checks defrauding Hotel and Inn keepers.

The Allegheny County Workhouse reports that he has been a trustworthy and reliable inmate and the Chaplain of that Institution, Rev. John J. Hugo, believes that the applicant is now a God-fearing man anxious to set straight whatever wrong he has done in the past and desirous of setting his life in order upon his release from Prison.

The trial Judge, Burton R. Laub, advises the Parole Agent that he will not oppose commutation. The District Attorney's office states that his record in Prison is excellent and that he believes having served approximately two years he has been sufficiently punished for his offense. His primary trouble is over indulgence in alcoholic beverages. His present trouble is the crime of giving a store a worthless check for purchases made there.

The Board believes that this man has learned at last that a continuance of his past life will lead to jail sentence after jail sentence. The Board also believes that he has adjusted his thinking and living and that if released he will conduct himself in the future as a law-abiding citizen. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN—Dissents,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In re application of Joseph Taylor, C-2197, No. A-1479, June Session, 1955.

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Taylor, convicted of murder, in the Second Degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County, May 9, 1951, computed from June 28, 1950, be commuted from 6 years to 5 years, 2 months expiring on August 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-one years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of murder in the second degree for from 6 to 12 years in the Western State Penitentiary to No. 97 September Term 1950. The applicant's prior criminal record was quite minor, having been arrested, with no convictions, for the offense of loitering and assault and battery. The present crime for which he now seeks commutation, arose in a fight between brothers during which the applicant drew a knife and stabbed the victim.

The Board of Trustees of the Western State Penitentiary states that this applicant has an excellent prison record and has made a satisfactory progress in the face of many emotional obstacles following the riot trials in 1953. The report is that he is a steady, dependable and cooperative inmate and has a sense of personal responsibility. Since his incarceration his wife died and he is survived by a nine year old daughter.

The sentencing Judge, the Honorable Henry Ellenbogen, according to the Parole report, is relying on the Board for its action. The District Attorney of Allegheny County, however, is opposed. The Board of Parole advises that this man made a fine adjustment during his prison sentence, of which he has served approximately 85% of the minimum, indicating that the applicant is rehabilitated and ready to take his place in society. The Board, in view of all of these facts, recommends that the minimum sentence of this applicant be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert R. Turner, E-4796, No. A-3091, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Robert R. Turner, convicted of rape, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia Conty, on September 17, 1954. Computed from July 30, 1954, be commuted from 1½ to 5 years to 1 year, 1 month, expiring on August 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-five years of age. He had no prior record. He was sentenced for the crime of assault and battery; aggravated assault and battery to ravish; rape and corrupting the morals of a minor, by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions for from one and one-half to five years. The crime involved intercourse with his sixteen year old step-daughter.

During his incarceration the Institution reports that this man has made a consistently satisfactory adjustment. He has proved himself to be dependable and willing to accept responsibility.

The trial Judge, the Honorable Peter F. Hagan, believes that his minimum sentence should be served. The District Attorney's office, however, is not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter.

The Board has considered the factors in this matter and is recommending clemency based on the evident effort of rehabilitation which this applicant has made during his incarceration in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The inmate does not possess criminal tendencies and it is believed that upon his release he will conduct himself as a law-abiding citizen and not become involved in offenses of this nature in the future. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Oscar Vanderpool, 200-E, No. A-3064, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Oscar Vanderpool, convicted of statutory rape; possessing obscene literature; contributing to the delinquency of a child, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Jefferson County on July 6, 1953, be communted from 3 years to 2 years, 1 month, 20 days, expiring on August 26, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-four years of age. He had no prior record, and his present offense was intercourse with a fifteen years old girl; possession of obscene literature and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The applicant, during his incarceration, conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner. He was released on parole July 6, 1954, and he desires commutation of maximum sentence which expires in July 1956 for the reason that he wishes to go to Virginia with his wife, where he expects to reside among friends and relatives and does not desire to be under the restraint of parole supervision. The Board of Parole reports that since his release he has conducted himself for the past six months in a very satisfactory manner.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY

This applicant is now suffering from a heart condition and needs a change of residence in order to help him. His maximum sentence will expire in one year and the Board feels that this can be taken into consideration in view of his conduct and rehabilitation.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Robert M. Morris, states that he is satisfied that his application should be favorably considered by the Board. The office of the District Attorney of Jefferson County advises us that they are not opposing this application and that this man has only been in difficulty this one time and that he deserves another opportunity. The Board, therefore, recommends that his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re appliation of Reginald Wright, D-4980, So. 8961, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Reginald Wright, convicted of murder, in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer & Terminer of Philadelphia County on June 11, 1940, be commuted from life to 15 years, 2 months, expiring on August 11, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty years of age. He had no prior record. He was sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime of murder in the first degree, by reason of the killing of his wife.

During the period that he has been in custody the institution reports that the inmate has established and maintained a good institutional adjustment record and constant improvement in attitude. All reports are favorable.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Curtis Bok and the Honorable Joseph Sloane did not communicate with the Board as to the merits of the application. The District Attorney's office stated that they did not oppose the granting of clemency for this man.

The former employer, Charles J. Linton, wrote favorably, the Restaurant Guild, Local No. 138, recommends the granting of clemency and assures the Board that they will stand back of him and assured him of a position upon release.

This offense was a crime of passion and resulted from a discussion between the applicant and his wife regarding her abnormal tendencies.

The Board believes that this applicant will never again be guilty of a criminal offense and will adjust himself to Society. The assurances of former employer and of his Union officials will help to stabilize his entry into society. The Board, therefore, recommends that his minimum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Mike Zervos, No. 2654, June Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Mike Zervos, convicted of murder, in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Westmoreland County on July 24, 1930, be commuted from life to 25 years, 1 month, expiring on August 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-eight years of age and had two previous arrests for violation of liquor and narcotics laws. The present crime, for which he was sentenced to life imprisonment for murder in the first degree, is as follows: In 1928 a dead man was found along the road badly beaten. Later, the applicant was arrested and convicted of this offense. He plead not guilty. In 1951 his sentence was commuted by the Board of Pardons to a term of twenty-one years, eleven months and he was released in June 1952. For the past four years the applicant has been under the supervision of the Board of Parole and according to the report has conducted himself in a law-abiding manner.

The applicant has been employed since his release at the Liberty Shoe Shine Parlor and Hat Cleaning Shop of New Kensington, Pa., and the City News Company of New Kensington, where his work is reported satisfactory and his conduct excellent. The applicant also has the warm reommendation of the Public Safety Director of the City of New Kensington and the Mayor of the City, as well as other persons, residents of New Kensington, Pa.

The District Attorney of Westmoreland County states that any action taken by the Board will be satisfactory to his office. The sentencing judge is now deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Richard D. Laird, has not responded to our inquiry as to the merits of this application.

This applicant is requesting commutation of his maximum sentence for the purpose of entering into business and the Board therefore recommends that the sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Larry D. Abbott, E-4350, No. A-3232, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Larry D. Abbott, convicted of burglary and larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on March 1, 1954, computed from February 23, 1954, be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year, 8 months, expiring on October 23, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-one years of age and was sentenced for the crime of burglary, larceny by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Delaware County for from 2½ years to 10 years, effective February 23, 1954.

The applicant together with an accomplice broke into a lunch room in Media and they were caught while burglarizing the premises.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Arthur P. Bretherick stated "I have no objection to your granting the application of this applicant providing the board is satisfied that he is not likely to cause any future trouble." The district attorney stated before the board that he recommended the granting of the application and he would not oppose it and believed the applicant was penitent. The prison authorities have indicated that he has a very good institutional rating and seems to have acquired an ability to inhibit anti-social impulses.

The board, therefore, recommends that this clemency be extended to the applicant and his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Dominic Adiutori, No. 3212, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Dominc Adiutori, convicted of bribery in the Court of Quarter Sessions Erie County on December 8, 1954, computed from January 10, 1955 be commuted from 1½ years to 11 months, 5 days expiring on December 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-three years of age. His present crime involved the bribing of a police officer in Erie, Pennsylvania, and he was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions of Erie County for from 1½ to 3 years in the Allegheny County Workhouse.

The purpose of this bribe was to protect the applicant in the pursuit of his gambling activities. The applicant's offense appeared to be that he failed to pay a city tax on the removal of pin-ball machines to other locations and was protected in this evasion of the law. The applicant was connected with the Erie Coin Sales Company. The workhouse reports that his conduct has been satisfactory in every respect.

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel Y. Rossiter, stated that he would rely on the Board as to their best judgment in granting this application. The district attorney stated that the applicant was not one of the big shots in the gambling ring but he was not opposed to a reduction of his minimum sentence. The Board of Pardons believe that this applicant has been sufficiently punished and, therefore, recommends that his minimum sentence be commuted at the expiration of eleven months, five days, effective December 15, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved.

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER.
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Louis B. Bicoff, 6162-D, No. 6280, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Louis B Bicoff, convicted of robbery in the Courts of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 17, 1936, be commuted from a maximum sentence of 20 years on Bill No. 372 to a new maximum sentence of 9 years 10 months expiring on October 24, 1955; and commuted from a maximum sentence of 20 years on Bill No. 373 to a new maximum sentence of 1 day expiring on October 25, 1955; and commuted from a maximum sentence of 10 years on Bill No. 374 to a new maximum sentence of 1 day expiring on October 26, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved or further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 18, 1965.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward Lee Bowen, 9738-C, No. 7442, September Session, 1955

To His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the maximum sentence of Edward Lee Bowen, convicted of attempted burglary and burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Washington County on March 8, 1940, computed from February 24, 1940 be commuted from 27 years to 15 years, 8 months expiring on October 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved or further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 24, 1967.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Nick Boykas, B 6669, No. 8252, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Nick Boykas, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Washington County on April 12, 1939, computed from May 29, 1938 be commuted from life imprisonment to 17 years, 5 months, expiring on October 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-seven years of age and was sentenced for the crime of murder in the first degree by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Washington County to life imprisonment. The crime arose from a dispute between the applicant and his uncle wherein the applicant shot and killed him. The applicant, a young Greek boy unable to speak English, was employed by his uncle at low wages and at long hours. The dispute arose when the applicant went to Pittsburgh on Sunday to visit a friend.

The trial judge is deceased and a parole report states that President Judge Roy I. Carson has no comments to make. The present district attorney of Washington County says: "* * * It is my personal opinion based on inquiry recently made, that I do not oppose the application to commute the sentence and would recommend serious favorable consideration. * * *"

The penitentiary authorities report at this time that this man has an excellent institutional record and that further incarceration would not tend to make him more stable. The Board is informed that an excellent parole plan has been set up for this man and that there is every likelihod that he will be given supervision of the best type. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved.

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Charles Burns, D-3446, No. 7702, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Charles Burns, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 29, 1938 be commuted from life imprisonment to 17 years 1 month expiring on October 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-four years of age and was sentenced by the Oyer & Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for the crime of murder in the first degree sentenced to life imprisonment effective September 29, 1938.

The applicant together with an accomplice, committed an armed robbery in which the storekeeper was killed. The applicant had one prior arrest as a juvenile. Since his imprisonment the authorities report that he has earned an excellent conduct record and has held a job of trust and responsibility in the institution since 1948. He has made a remarkable record in sending home from his earnings in the institution approximately $3,000.00.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry McDevitt is deceased. The district attorney's office is not in favor of clemency at this time. The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant has demonstrated his rehabilitation by his exceptional developments and his deep sense of responsibility by his large remittances to his home.

The board feels that he has matured in every way and that if released he will not engage in any future criminal activities and will prove himself to be a worthwhile member of society, and therefore recommends that clemency be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
NOT SITTING,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George M. Ceresini, Jr., No. A-3216, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of George M. Ceresini, Jr., convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Dauphin County on February 28, 1955, computed from February 11, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 8 months 20 days expiring on October 31, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age, and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Dauphin County for from one to two years effective February 11, 1955, for the offense of robbery and receiving stolen goods. The applicant is confined in the Dauhin County Prison.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Walter Sohn, stated that it was his intention to reduce the sentence during term time, but the press of court business caused him to overlook this matter, and so he stated: "If the Pardon Board can see fit to extend clemency to this defendent, I will greatly appreciate it." The District Attorney of Dauphin County stated he did not oppose the commutation of the sentence.

Since this applicant has been incarcerated, he has been adjusting satisfactorily, and is a good worker.

The board feels that this applicant has been sufficiently punished, and, therefore, recommends that his sentence be reduced.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
NOT SITTING,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ray Czulewicz, No. A-3237, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Ray Czulewicz, convicted of bribery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 6, 1955, computed from January 25, 1955 be commuted from 1 year 3 months to 10 months 20 days expiring on December 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age and was sentenced for the crime of bribery by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County for from 1 year 3 months to 2 years 6 months, to the Allegheny County Prison. The applicant had been involved on two prior occasions for violation of the gambling ordinances of Erie for which he was fined. The applicant operated a newspaper store in Erie and sold numbers and paid sums of money to the police force of Erie in order to protect himself in this business.

The Allegheny County Workhouse reports that this applicant has conducted himself satisfactorily. There is no report from the trial judge. The district attorney stated he was opposed.

The applicant received an honorable discharge from the United States Army at the conclusion of World War II.

The Board believs that this young man has been sufficiently punished and recommends that his sentence be commuted to 10 months 5 days from the date of his commitment, to wit: December 15, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Alex Delpercio, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on September 22, 1939 be commuted from 18 years to 16 years, 1 month expiring on October 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 22, 1957.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence would remain on parole until March 17, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of Peter Dowley, No. A-3154, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Peter Dowley, convicted of Voluntary Manslaughter, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Sullivan County, on September 18, 1914, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-five years of age and was convicted for the crime of voluntary manslaughter by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Sullivan County and sentenced for from 9 to 12 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. His crime consisted of striking a man on the head with a stone and the victim died. There was a fight between the applicant and the victim.

The applicant was released on parole on the 17th of September, 1923. Since his release he has been employed as a coal miner by the Glen Alden Coal Company. He was released from parole supervision in 1936.

This applicant is a well-behaved individual and has never violated the law since his release. He is desirous of becoming a United States Citizen and feels that this offense prevents his being naturalized. Likewise, he would like to finish his days feeling that he has received the mercy of the Commonwealth.

The Board, in view of the above facts, recommends that a pardon be granted to this applicant.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas W. Flatley, 76529, No. A-3208, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Thomas W. Flatley, convicted of conspiracy and violating oath of office in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County, on January 6, 1955, computed from January 10, 1955, be commuted from 1½ year to 11 months, 5 days, expiring on December 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-five years of age and had no prior criminal record. The applicant was sentenced for conspiracy and violation of his oath of office. He was sentenced by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County for from 1½ to 3 years in the Allegheny County Workhouse, effective January 10, 1955. At the time of the applicant's conviction and sentence, he was Mayor of the City of Erie and he, together with two other conspirators put into operation the scheme of collecting protection money from the gambling fraternity of Erie. Until this conviction, the applicant had an unblemished record and was held in high esteem. His position in the Community was such that he had been elected to the Board of County Commissioners of Erie County on two occasions and then to the office of Mayor of that City. The applicant has been severely punished. The Board realizes that a man of his position in the community is severely punished by even one day in jail. The fact that he violated his oath of office will abide with him until his death. He will realize that every citizen of Erie knows that he has been found guilty and served a jail sentence for this offense. The Board feels that further imprisonment will serve no further good purpose. He has been punished and his punishment will continue long after he is released from the Workhouse.

The trial judge, the Honorable Elmer L. Evans, stated to the parole agent that he would rely upon the Board, and the District Attorney stated that he would make no recommendation pro or con with respect to a commutation. The District Attorney stated that as a friend he would urge immediate release, but raised the question as to his debt to society. However, the District Attorney did believe some of the applicant's sentence should be commuted. The applicant is suffering from a chronic gallbladder condition. Many citizens of Erie have signed petitions praying for his release. The Board, therefore, recommends his minimum sentence be commuted at the expiration of 11 months, five days.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Floyd, D-2500, No. 6920, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Floyd, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions, of Philadelphia County, on October 6, 1937, computed from December 31, 1936, be commuted from life imprisonment to 18 years, 10 months, expiring on October 31, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is forty-nine years old, and was sentenced for the offense of murder in the first degree to a term of life imprisonment effective Decmbr 31, 1936. He was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Philadelphia County. The crime arose over a girl in a street quarrel.

Since his incarceration, the applicant has established and maintained an unblemished disciplinary record, and has made a successful attempt of self-improvement and rehabilitation. He has demonstrated his stability by his large savings account.

The sentencing Judge, Honorable James C. Crumlish, recommends favorable consideration of this application. Likewise, the District Attorney of Philadelphia County, recommends the release, feeling that this applicant has an excellent chance for establishing himself in society. The board, threfore, recommends commutation of his life sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 23, 1959.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Forline, 3511-D, No. 7699, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Frank Forline, convicted of assault, being armed with an offensive weapon with intent to rob, etc. in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 29, 1941, computed from April 16, 1941 be commuted from 20 years to 14 years, 6 months expiring on October 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 16, 1961.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER.
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Franks, 7572-C, No. 5657, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentenec of Robert Franks, convicted of being armed in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 26, 1939, computed from May 6, 1939, be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, 5 months, expiring on October 6, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until May 6, 1959.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Frazier, D 9558, No. A 1675, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Frazier, convicted of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 31, 1947, computed from March 10, 1947 be commuted from 15 years to 8 years, 7 months, 20 days, expiring on October 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-seven years old and was sentenced for the offense of burglary for a term of not less than 15 years, nor more than 30 years, on three separate indictments, effective March 10, 1947.

During the applicant's incarceration, he has maintained an unblemished discliplinary record, and demonstrated his attempt of self-improvement by his application to work in the printing shops, and the courses of study that he has undertaken. The prison authorities speak of evidence of his self-improvement. The prior record of this man was confined largely to minor offenses, and the crime for which he was found guilty was a series of buglaries in Philadelphia. It is to be noted that many of his offenses were committed while he was a juvenile. The prison authorities report that he is a mature individual with a low crime threshold. The sentencing judge is deceased, and the present District Attorney of Philadelphia was not in favor of commutation.

The Board, however, believes that this man is ready for release to society, and that he will conduct himself in a satisfactory manner, and that he will no longer violate the law. The Board is advised that he has a satisfactory parole plan, and an opportunity for employment that will give him an adequate income. The Board, therefore, recommends that his minimum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ginsburg, Samuel, 1387-A, No. 7180, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Samuel Ginsburg, convicted of robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 1, 1938, computed from December 8, 1941, be commuted from 20 years to 13 years, 10 months, expiring on October 8, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 8, 1961.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Herbert Ray Hollander, 6998-D, No. 8300. September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Herbert Ray Hollander, convicted of burglary and possession of burglar tools, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on February 21, 1941, computed from October 22, 1940, be commuted from 22 years to 15 years, expiring on October 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until October 22, 1962.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Holmes, E-2710, No. A-3162, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Holmes, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 21, 1951, computed from September 28, 1951, be commuted from 6 years to 4 years, 1 month, expiring on October 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age and was sentenced for the crime of armed robbery by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County and was sentenced for from 6 to 12 years effective September 28, 1951.

During his incarceration this applicant has maintained an unblemished diciplinary record and has occupied a position of trust in the penitentiary. He has made attempts to improve himself and is a rational and mature person. His crime consisted of a holdup on the streets of Philadelphia armed with a revolver.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun relies upon the Board as to their consideration of this application. The district attorney's office stated that they were not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The Board recommends that this applicant receive the clemency of the State believing that he has been sufficiently punished and has learned a salutary lesson, having served more than 2/3 of his minimum sentence.

Respectfully submitted:

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert P. Hoopes, No. A-3139, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Robert P. Hoopes, convicted of assault with intent to maim, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County, on March 21, 1947, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age and was sentenced for the crime of assault with intent to maim by the Quarter Sessions Court of Delaware County on March 21, 1947, for from 6 months to 3 years in the Delaware County Prison.

The offense arose from an altercation with the police officer who stopped the automobile in which the applicant and his accomplice were riding. During the altercation the policeman was assaulted.

The applicant served his 6 months prison sentence and was released from parole in March 1950. The applicant had a most distinguished war record and is now receiving disability pension arising from wounds received in battle. He is employed as a foreman of construction for the concern of Arter Brothers, Lima, Pa.

The applicant is desirous of entering the construction business on his own responsibility, but the fact of his sentence and imprisonment prevents him from securing a surety bond.

The Board believes that this man, who has not become involved in any criminal offense since 1950, and who has shown by his conduct that he is determined to live a law-abiding life, and further that his ambition to become a contractor is a worthwhile goal, recommends that the mercy of the Commonwealth be extended to him and a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted:

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Jeff Howell, D-9725, No. A-2036, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Jeff Howell, convicted of robbery, etc. in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on June 27, 1947, computed from June 18, 1947 be commuted from 10 years to 8 years 4 months 10 days expiring on October 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of robbery by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on the 27th day of June 1947, for from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant plead guilty to the crime of holding up a pedestrian and stealing his wallet. The applicant was guilty of two offenses prior to this arrest, as a juvenile.

The applicant has demonstrated during his incarceration, satisfactory conduct and his institutional record is "very good." The training he received in the institution has made him more capable of avoiding anti-social behaviour.

The trial judge did not reply to our inquiry as to the merits of this application, but the district attorney stated that he would not oppose the application, provided there was a satisfactory parole plan worked out if he be released. The parole plan contemplates his residing with the Salvation Army in Philadelphia and he will be under their guidance and direction. He has been assured that the Salvation Army will look after his employment and maintain him until he does find employment.

The offense for which this applicant is serving sentence was his first offense as an adult and there is every indication from the parole and penitentiary authorities that he will conduct himself in a satisfactory manner. The Board, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor,
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In re application of John Joseph Iskric, E-4624, No. A-3235, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Joseph Iskric, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on June 1, 1954 be commuted from 2½ years to 20 months expiring on February 1, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-one years of age and was sentenced for the crime of robbery in the O. & T. court of Dauphin County for from 2½ to 5 years effective June 1, 1954. This applicant together with two accomplices committed a number of robberies in the Dauphin County area. This applicant had no previous criminal record and this was his first known offense. The prison authorities state that the man's institutional adjustment has been consistently satisfactory and he has proved himself to be dependable and willing. The sentencing judge, the Honorable Walter R. Sohn stated that he neither opposes nor recommends clemency, depending upon the judgment of the Board of Pardons. Likewise the district attorney at the hearing stated that he relied upon the good judgment of the board. The Board of Pardons is recommending commutation of this sentence for the reason that they believe that this crime to be his first and has he been sufficiently punished to make him aware that violations of the rules of society always carries a penalty. We believe this young man if returned to society will conduct himself properly and will not become involved in further criminal activities.

Lieutenant Governor.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In re application of Floyd Jackson, D-9919, No. A-1091½, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Floyd Jackson, convicted of robbery, assault and battery; aggravated assault and battery; assault and battery with intent to kill in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 29, 1947, computed from September 22, 1947 be commuted from 13½ years to 8 years 1 month expiring on October 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. He was sentenced for the offense of armed robbery by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County for from 13½ to 27 years, effective September 22, 1947. The applicant and two accomplices held up an office of a contractor in Philadelphia. The district attorney stated that he was not opposed to clemency.

This applicant had no previous criminal record and during his incarceration at the Eastern State Penitentiary the authorities report he has made every effort to improve himself. He appears to be a confident, well-meaning and rational individual. The authorities report that his 8 years in prison has served its purpose in maturing this individual.

The board believes that this applicant has been sufficiently punished and that if released he will no longer engage in any criminal activities and, therefore, the board recommends that clemency be granted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Johnson, 832-D, No. A-3173, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Robert Johnson, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions, of Philadelphia County, on April 11, 1944, computed from April 1, 1944, be commuted from 40 years to 11 years, 6 months, expiring on October 1, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 1, 1984.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Rollin Jones, Jr., No. A-3138, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Rollin Jones, Jr., convicted of Assault with intent to maim, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County, on March 21, 1947, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of assault with intent to maim, by the Quarter Sessions Court of Delaware County, on March 21, 1947, for from 6 months to 3 years in the Delaware County Prison.

This offense arose from an altercation with the police officer who stopped the automobile in which the applicant and his accomplice were riding. During the altercation the policeman was assaulted.

The applicant was released from prison in September 1947 and released from parole in September 1950.

The applicant had a distinguished record in World War II. Following his release from prison he took a course in agriculture at Pennsylvania State College and equipped himself to become a farm manager. He served his apprenticeship at the Polk Farm School for one year and for the past three years he has been employed as manager of the Dairy Farm of James A. Cochrane, of Chester, Pa.

Inquiry made by the parole officer indicates that he has established himself in the community in which he lives and is held in high regard by the owner of these farms, James A. Cochrane. The applicant is married and has a family. He occupies a very comfortable home on the farm.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harold L. Ervin, stated to the Board that this application for pardon should be granted. Likewise, the district attorney's office stated at the hearing of the Board that he was not opposed to the granting of this pardon.

The applicant is desirous of his pardon so that he may advance himself in his chosen profession and therefore recommendation of the Board is that a pardon be granted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Leo R. Kaminski, 76495, No. A-3209, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Leo R. Kaminski, convicted of bribery and conspiracy, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County, on January 6, 1955, be commuted from 1 year 3 months to 11 mouths, expiring on December 6, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty years of age and was sentenced for the crime of bribery and conspiracy by the court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County for from 1¼ years to 2½ years effective January 6, 1955. The applicant operated a newspaper and tobacco store in Erie wherein he sold numbers. In order to protect himself in the operation of this business, he regularly paid protection money to the city police of Erie.

The trial judge, the Honorable Elmer L. Evans, stated to the parole agent that he would rely upon the decision of the Board of Pardons. The district attorney stated that he was opposed because the applicant did not plead guilty at the trial but stated later on that he had no objection if the minimum sentence would be reduced. The applicant holds an honorable discharge from the U. S. Navy.

The Board of Pardons believes that this applicant has been sufficiently punished and, therefore, recommends that his minimum sentence be reduced to 11 months effective December 6, 1955.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Marion Stanley Kapelski, D-4811, No. A-293, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Marion Stanley Kapelski, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Berks County on March 26, 1940, be commuted from life imprisonment to 15 years, 7 months, expiring on October 26, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age and was sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime of murder in the first degree. This applicant was convicted, together with several accomplices, for the crime of murder in connection with a holdup of a gasoline station and the killing of an attendant. His previous arrests were juvenile offenses.

Since this applicant's incarceration, he has made probably the most remarkable record of any prisoner confined in our penitentiaries. From a young man with average schooling, he has developed himself to such an extent as to be a recognized scientist in the field of atomic missiles. The Bartol Research Foundation of Franklin Institute of Philadelphia spoke of his advancement in scientific matters most flatteringly. The Fairchild Aircraft Corporation in Hagerstown, Maryland, writes that he is so far advanced that they were sending his material to the directors of Guided Missiles in Long Island. The aircraft division of the Hughes Tool Company states that his design of a folding aircraft blade shows considerable merit. The Board has on file letters from various aircraft concerns in this country indicating their interest in his developments. The Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D. C., states that they were happy to have their technical staff evaluate his theories.

The trial judge, the Honorable Paul M. Schaeffer, personally appeared before the Board and strongly recommended clemency. Likewise, the district attorney's office of Berks County stated they were not opposed.

The Board recommends that clemency be extended to this remarkable individual who has developed into an atomic technologist while confined in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The Board has no hesitation in believing that he will find employment upon his release and they further believe that this man will conduct himself in the future in such a manner that he will be a credit to society. The Board, therefore, recommends that his life sentence be commuted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James G. Kehoe, D-9665, No. A-423, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James G. Kehoe, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on June 9, 1947, computed from March 27, 1947, be computed from life imprisonment to 8 years, 7 months, expiring on October 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is forty-four years of age, and was sentenced for a crime of murder and life imprisonment effective the 27th day of March, 1947. The offense for which this man was sentenced to life imprisonment involved the killing of his wife, and the injury to his little boy during a period of intoxication. Since his incarceration, the applicant has matured and has held responsible positions in the penitentiary. He has been commended for his work and adjustment while confined. The judges, Honorable James C. Crumlish and Honorable L. Stauffer Oliver, both recommend favorable consideration of this application. Particularly, Judge Oliver stated, "In this crime there was no evidence of brutality or criminal disposition. I think this defendant has been fully punished and is entitled to be released." The District Attorneys' office at the open hearing stated that they were now in favor of the release of this applicant, and were not opposed to clemency at this time.

The board, therefore, recommends that this applicant be released, believing that he has demonstrated his ability to conduct himself in a law abiding manner, and that he will not in the future become involved in any further criminal activity.

Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Eugene Milton Kennedy, E-3190, No. A-3227, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Eugene Milton Kennedy, convicted of robbery armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on August 27, 1952, computed from April 25, 1952, be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, 6 months, expiring on October 25, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is twenty-seven years of age, and was sentenced for the crime of armed robbery in Philadelphia County for a term from not less than 5 years, nor more than 20 years, effective April 25, 1952. This applicant had practically no prior record, and this offense for which he was sentenced did not involve brutality. The District Attorney's office in Philadelphia County stated that they were not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter.

There was a serious question that one of the accomplices in this crime, Joseph Brown, had perjured himself by involving the applicant in these offienses. When the matter of perjury was brought recently to the attention of the court, it was suggested that probably the Board of Pardons could act more efficienty and quickly than the processes of legal procedure in the court.

One of the most remarkable phases of this applicant's rehabilitation is his study of Braille in which he has assisted the Blind Society in making available standard English in Braille. The board believes that this young man will no longer become involved in criminal activities, and will adjust himself to society, and therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

In re application of Floyd Knapp, 4977-C, No. 8666, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Floyd Knapp, convicted of statutory rape, the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bradford County on January 22, 1943, be commuted from 15 years to 12 years, 9 months, expiring on October 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 22, 1958.

For the reason that his applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Alphonso Larue, No. 9867, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, and in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons, recommend that the death of Alphonso Larue, who was tried upon a certain indictment and convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery of Philadelphia County on April 15, 1954, be commuted from death to life imprisonment.

Our reason for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant, twenty-eight years of age, was convicted of murdering Mildred Walker on the night of July 30, 1952, in Philadelphia. The victim was stabbed to death following a violent quarrel. Applicant was arrested a few days later and confessed to the commission of the crime, but at the trial he changed his plea to not guilty.

The full facts following the background of this crime never were revealed at the trial. However, the evidence indicates that this murder clearly occurred in an atmosphere of passion. Inflamed by jealousy, the applicant lost all sense of reason and caution. This evidence is supported by testimony indicating that applicant was in a good humor when he entered the victim's home and was not intent upon harming Mildred Walker. The weapon used was not found, but circumstances point to a kitchen knife which the victim had in her bedroom. This also indicates a lack of premeditation on applicant's part.

Furthermore, there appears to have been a serious clash of personalities at the trial which prevented all the issues from being explored fully. In such an atmosphere the jury well may have been adversely affected. The Assistant District Attorney of Philadelphia, who tried the case on behalf of the Commonwealth, stated that this atmosphere and the applicant's failure to reveal all the facts may well have caused the jury to decide on the death penalty rather than life imprisonment.

Considering that the evidence shows a lack of malice and premediation in the commission of this murder and that the jury may have been influenced by considerations adjunct to the crime itself, the Board feels that the exercise of clemency is justified and recommends commutation of the sentence from death to life imprisonment.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Andrew Dixon Lawrence, D 1147, No. 6773, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Andrew Dixon Lawrence, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County on February 21, 1936 be commuted from life imprisonment to 19 years, 8 months expiring on October 21, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age and was sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime of murder in the first degree by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Montgomery County. This applicant was guilty of killing his wife by poisoning.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable W. F. Dannehower, states: "I have no objection whatever if the Board sees fit to commute this sentence as the conduct record of this defendant has been good while in prison." The district attorney's office of Montgomery County stated before the Board that the applicant is a good parole risk and that they do not oppose clemency at this time. The penitentiary authorities state that he is a very good inmate. He has made serious attempts to self-improvement and is enrolled in the academic school. It appears that this applicant's ability to conform and avoid anti-social acts in the future is substantially increased. This applicant has spent many years in the penitentiary and the Board feels if he is to be released, now is the best time, while he is still young enough to find employment.

The Board is confident that this man has learned his lesson and that he will not again violate the law. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Raymond Leake, 957-D, No. 6521, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Raymond Leake, convicted of rape; sodomy; robbery and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on November 24, 1937, computed from November 15, 1937 be commuted from 45 years to 17 years, 11 months, expiring on October 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after receiving his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 15, 1982.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank S. Linkowski, No. A 1326, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Frank S. Linkowski, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Berks County on January 5, 1950 be commuted from 10 years to 5 years, 9 months, 20 days, expiring on October 25, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age, and was sentenced for the crime of voluntary manslaughter by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Berks County for from 5 to 10 years, effective January 5, 1950. This applicant became involved in a fight in a club, and as a result the victim died of a revolver wound.

The applicant was released on parole after commutation of his minimum sentence in July, 1952, and since that time he has been steadily employed, and is now working for the Carpenter Steel Company of Reading at a good salary.

The trial judge, the Honorable Forrest R. Shannaman, stated that he would rely upon the board for their best judgment in this matter. Likewise, the District Attorney's office relies upon the board for exercise of their best judgment.

Since the applicant has been on parole the Board of Parole says that he has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner, and that he has made payment to the court for the costs of trial. The board further states that he has made a very good adjustment, and they are not opposing clemency in this matter. The board, therefore, recommends that the applicant be extended the clemency of the Commonwealth.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Benjamin Meyers, 7091-C, No. 5747, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Benjamin Meyers, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 31, 1937, computed from December 22, 1937, be commuted from 20 years to 17 years, 10 months, expiring on October 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 22, 1957.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of maximum sentence of the applicant be communted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted:

(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank McGuigan, E-2679, No. A-2562, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank McGuigan, convicted of sodomy, robbery, assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Chester County on December 4, 1951, be commuted from 8 years to 4 years, expiring on December 4, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-seven years of age and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Chester County for the crime of robbery, aggravated assault and battery, and sodomy for not less than eight years or more than twenty-three years to the Eastern State Penitentiary effective December 4, 1951. The applicant had no prior criminal record.

This crime arose when the applicant and his accomplice stole a sum of money from the vitim who had also committed sodomy. The trial judge, the Honorable W. Butler Windle, had no recommendation to make. It was stated at the hearing that the district attorney's office was not opposed. The accomplice of this applicant has had his sentence commuted by the Board in December 1954.

The prison authorities report that the applicant is an above-average inmate and is now employed in the institution in a position of trust. The Board believes that this young man has been sufficiently punished due to the fact that he had no prior criminal record except one juvenile offense of a minor nature.

The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted effective four years from the date of his incarceration.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert McKnight, D-3224, No. A-1158, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Robert McKnight, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on June 29, 1938, be commuted from life imprisonment to 17 years 4 months, expiring on October 29, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age and was sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime of murder in the first degree by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Delaware County, effective June 29, 1938. The applicant together with two accomplices went to a disorderly house in Chester for the purpose of robbing and in the course thereof the victim was shot and killed. One of the accomplices was later killed by the police in resisting arrest. The other accomplice, Frank Pepi, had his sentence commuted in December 1954. The penitentiary authorities report that he has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner and that he appears to be now a normal mature individual. The sentencing judge, the Honorable W. R. Fronefield states that due to the fact that Frank Pepi who was involved with McKnight was paroled, "I would think that this applicant would be entitled to the same treatment accorded Pepi." The district attorney's office of Delaware County stated that they also believe hat the same treatment should be accorded McKnigh as was accorded Pepi.

The Board of Pardons, therefore, recommends that his life sentence be commuted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Arnold McNeeley, E-4643, No. A-3155, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Arnold McNeeley, convicted of voluntary manslaughter, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 23, 1954, computed from February 10, 1954, be commuted from 3 years to 1 year, 8 months, 20 days, expiring on October 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty years of age and was sentenced for the crime of voluntary manslaughter by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 3 to 12 years effective February 10, 1954. The crime arose from a fight in a restaurant in which the victim made gestures toward his back pocket as though he was drawing a revolver and the applicant shot him.

The district attorney's office does not oppose to clemency in this matter. However, the trial judge, the Honorable Eugene V. Alesandroni was not in favor of clemency.

The applicant had no prior criminal record. The institutional record of this applicant is reported to be satisfactory and he is proving to be cooperative in every way. The board in recommending clemency believes that this applicant has served a substantial portion of his minimum sentence and further believes that this man will conduct himself in the future in a satisfactory manner and if released will no longer become involved in criminal activities

The board, therefore, recommends that his minimum sentence be commuted.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Samuel Mitchell, convicted of felonious entry, robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County on April 12, 1933, computed from August 13, 1938 (date of parole) be commuted on Bill No. 51-1 from a maximum sentence of 20 years to a new maximum sentence of 7 years, 2 months, 2 days, expiring on October 15, 1955, and be commuted on Bill No. 51-6 from a maximum sentence of 10 years to a new maximum sentence of 1 day, expiring on October 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 24, 1958.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In the application of Phillip John Mollica, D-7667, No. A-1428, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Phillip John Mollica, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 22, 1944 be commuted from life imprisonment to 10 years 7 months expiring on October 22, 1954.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-three years of age, and was sentenced for a crime of murder in the first degree, with life imprisonment effective March 27, 1944, Court of Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer, Philadelphia. The applicant plead guilty to the offense. The crime arose when the applicant together with two accomplices raided a card game and in the course of the robbery the applicant shot one of his accomplices. Two of the accomplices of this offense, Joseph Maleno and Jessie DiGuglielmo, were sentenced to life imprisonment, have already received a commutation of their sentence. During applicant's imprisonment, prison authorities report, that he has shown increased stability and maturity and has demonstrated his good vocational work and has demonstrated his control over his emotions. The District Attorney is not in favor of this commutation. The board believes that this applicant will not become involved in any further criminal activity. His participation in the offense for which he was sentenced was not that of a ring-leader. At present, his mother is very ill and the release of this young man at this time will help considerably in the support of the family. The board, therefore, recommends that the sentence be commuted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James A. Moloney, 7, No. A-2954, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James A. Moloney, convicted of Forgery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on May 7, 1954, computed from April 6, 1954 be commuted from 3 years to 1 year 6 months 20 days expiring on October 26, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-five years of age and was sentenced for from 1 to 2 years by the Quarter Sessions Court of Lackawanna County for the crime of issuing fraudulent checks. He has a prior record of a similar offense. However, it would appear that his trouble usually arose following a drinking spree.

Patrick J. Manley, Warden of the Lackawanna County Prison, states it is his feeling that the imprisonment which applicant is undergoing is sufficient to make him sincerely determined to mend his ways. It would appear that the applicant has become a member of the Alcoholic Anonymous and if he continues with that group he will probably avoid future trouble. The prison physician, Dr. J. D. Benedict, recommends release on parole and states that this applicant has shown a genuine sense of responsibility and has placed himself under his guidance.

The trial judge, the Honorable T. L. Hoban, recommends to the Board that parole can well be given this man at the completion of one year's imprisonment. The district attorney states that restitution has been made to the various persons defrauded and that he is not opposed to commutation of sentence. A parole plan has been set up for this applicant which gives every appearance of being most satisfactory.

The Board, therefore, recommends that this applicant's sentence be commuted

In re application of Ben Monblatt 7608-C, No. 6823, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Ben Monblatt, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer & Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 13, 1938, computed from August 19, 1938 be commuted from 20 years to 17 years, 2 month expiring on October 19, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until August 19, 1958.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Mosley, D-977, No. 8609, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Joseph Mosley, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 6, 1935 be commuted from 20 years to 13 years 5 mos. 10 days expiring on October 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age, and was sentenced for the crime of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon by the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia for from 2½ to 20 years.

The applicant was released on parole on the second of June, 1938, and since that release he has been involved in minor violations of his parole arising from intoxication. At present he is in the penitentiary as a parole violator. His return was again the result of intoxication.

The district attorney of Philadelphia does not oppose the granting of clemency in this matter believing that this applicant has served enough time and that his return to the penitentiary has arisen from technical violations rather than for real criminal offenses, and as a result he has had a rather protracted imprisonment.

The applicant has served over twelve years of a maximum sentence of twenty years. The Board beleives that this applicant has certainly been punished sufficiently and has learned his lesson the hard way. The Board, therefore, recommends that his maximum sentence be commuted.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Bertha Murray, convicted of murder, in the second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 26, 1944, computed from March 27, 1944, be commuted from 20 years to 11 years, 7 months expiring on October 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of her adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 27, 1964.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Lewis F. Parrilla, No. A-3190, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Lewis F. Parrilla, convicted of operating a lottery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on November 23, 1948 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County to pay a fine and costs of prosecution for operating a lottery.

This applicant had no prior criminal record. He was selling lottery tickets and was raided by the police and received a fine of two hundred dollors and costs, but received no imprisonment.

Since his arrest in 1948, the applicant has been operating a barber shop in McKees Rocks, Pennsylvania and his conduct according to the parole agent, has been excellent. Likewise, the Chief of Police of Stowe Township states that he is considered to be a good citizen and his reputation in the community is excellent.

The applicant's request for pardon is based on the belief that his conduct merits the removal of this offense from his record, and further, that he will advance more rapidly in his profession if this stain on his record is removed.

The Board recommends that a pardon be granted to this applicant.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Casper A. Pepe, E-5048, No. 3207, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Casper A. Pepe, convicted of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 14, 1954, computed from September 28, 1954 be commuted from 1 year 6 months to 1 year 1 month expiring on October 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-one years of age and was sentenced for the crime of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods for a term of 1½ years to 3 years effective September 23, 1954 by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County. The applicant had no prior record previous to this conviction. The penitentiary authorities seem to believe that his present difficulty was the result of immaturity and that he does not possess criminal tendencies. The applicant's family has made restitution.

The district attorney's office stated that they were not opposed to the granting of this application, although the sentencing judge felt that he should serve out his minimum. The board believes that this man has been taught a salutary lesson and that he will not become involved in any further criminal activities if released.

The board, therefore, recommends that clemency be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Francis W. Piacentini, 586-D, No. 6451, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Francis W. Piacentini, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 27, 1939, computed from December 17, 1938 be commuted from 50 years to 16 years, 10 months expiring on October 17, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request form the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 17, 1988.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Emil Pleva, No. A-3135, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Emil Pleva, convicted of felonious entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bucks County, on February 20, 1928, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-four years of age and was sentenced for the crime of felonious entry, larceny and receiving stolen goods by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bucks County for from 4 to 8 years.

This applicant was parole in 1932 and was discharged from supervision of parole in 1936. Since that time the applicant has been in no trouble at all. At present, he owns and operates, together with a partner, the Universal Brick Pointing and Water Proofing Company of Philadelphia.

This applicant is married and lives in his own home. Since 1932 when the applicant served his sentence, he has been in absolutely no trouble and has developed into an active business man, employing a dozen men, and holds the respect of his business associates in the community.

The trial judge, the Honorable Hiram Keller, is deceased. The President Judge of Bucks County, Edward G. Biester, states to the Board he relies on the judgment of the Board as to the proper disposition of this application.

The Board believes that this man has proved himself to be a capable and responsible citizen and believes he is entitled to the mercy of the Commonwealth, and therefore, recommends a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General,
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Warren Andrew Ream, E-5055, No. A-3161, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Warren Andrew Ream, convicted of burglary and larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County, on October 15, 1954, computed from September 4, 1954, be commuted from 2 years to 18 months expiring on March 4, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age and was sentenced for the crime of burglary and larceny for from 2 to 6 years in the Penitentiary by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lancaster County. The applicant, together with an accomplice, broke into a number of business places and carried away merchandise and money.

The Penitentiary authorities report that he has adjusted himself very well and has been specially reliable, ambitious, and anxious to learn, and in general shows a positive attitude.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph P. Wissler, is opposed to leniency at this time. The district attorney, however, stated to our parole agent that the applicant should serve at least one year of his minimum sentence.

The applicant holds an honorable discharge from the United States Marines and is a wounded veteran of the Second World War. The applicant has no prior record and this offense appears to be his first violation of the law. The Board, therefore, recommends that this applicant's sentence be commuted when he has served 18 months.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General,
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Nick Ruggiero, 3121-D, No. 6327, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Nick Ruggiero, convicted of entering with intent to steal and larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on January 6, 1938, computed from December 30, 1937, be commuted from 20 years to 17 years, 10 months expiring on October 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 30, 1957.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Rocco Frank Rugnetta 8127-C, No. 5675, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Rocco Frank Rugnetta, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 17, 1938, computed from March 7, 1938 be commuted from 40 years to 17 years, 7 months expiring on October 7, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 7, 1978.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Elwood Russell, C-1449, No. A-1963, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of George Elwood Russell, convicted of forgery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Blair County on December 13, 1949, computed from November 18, 1949 be commuted from 7 years to 5 years, 11 months expiring on October 28, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommedation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-five years of age, and was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Blair County for from 7 to 20 years, for the crime of forgery, effective November 18, 1949. The applicant, and an accomplice, cashed five checks in and around Altoona. His accomplice was released on parole in 1953.

The District Attorney of Blair County states that as this man is to be under a long period of parole supervision they have no objections to his release and the commutation of his minimum sentence at this time. There was no report from the trial judge, the Honorable George Patterson.

The prison authorities state that he has proved himself to be dependable and capable of accepting responsibility. The board believes, although this man has had a record of passing bad checks, his present commitment has taught him a lesson which will serve as a deterrent to future criminal activities of this manner.

The board, therefore, recommends that this minimum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
NOT SITTING,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Sarhosis, No. A 3175, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William Sarhosis, convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on November 24, 1937, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age and for the crime of larceny he was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County to pay the costs of prosecution and was placed on probation for a period of one year.

This applicant had no previous criminal record and this offense arose because he and several of his accomplices siphoned gasoline from an automobile. The Chief Probation Officer of Allegheny County states that he has paid his court costs in full, and has maintained an excellent probation record. His probation expired in 1938.

The applicant is now the owner of the Shamrock Hotel in Pittsburgh and has a fine home and family. He states that in all the years since this offense he has been a law-abiding citizen and the stain of this arrest and conviction has had a considerable effect upon his mental well-being. The district attorney of Allegheny County stated that he would not oppose the application as this man has had an unblemished record since 1937.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony Joseph Scoleri, E-310, No. A-2595, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Anthony Joseph Scoleri, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 29, 1948, computed from March 24, 1948 be commuted from 20 years to 7 years, 7 months expiring on October 24, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-six years of age and was sentenced for the crime of armed robbery together with three accomplices for from 20 to 40 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County, effective March 24, 1948. The crime for which this applicant was sentenced involved a series of robberies with several accomplices. Two of the three accomplices have had their sentences commuted by the Board of Pardons. This applicant since his incarceration has shown much improvement in personality, has become more mature and has demonstrated a very fine adjustment. The prior records of this applicant were juvenile crimes and his sentence for this serious offense was severe.

The district attorney stated that the applicant was only 19 years of age when these offenses were committed and that from the improvement demonstrated in the penitentiary the applicant is worth a change and therefore they would not oppose clemency. The trial judge, Harry S. McDevitt is deceased.

The board, therefore, recommends that clemency be extended to this young man believing that he has learned his lesson and will not become involved in any further criminal activities.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Donald E. Seachrist, No. A-3191, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Donald E. Seachrist, convicted of Involuntary Manslaughter, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County, on March 15, 1955, be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year, expiring on March 15, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-three years of age and was sentenced for the crime of involuntary manslaughter for from 1½ to 3 years in the Lancaster County Prison, effective March 15, 1955. This offense was particularly tragic in that the applicant, in driving a party of young people from Denver to Lancaster, his car went out of control and five people were killed, the applicant being very seriously injured. There was no testimony at the trial that the applicant, who drove the automobile, was under the influence of alcoholic beverages, although he had been drinking.

Numerous letters have been received from citizens of Lancaster County stating that they believe that this young man has been sufficiently punished. The Board also has a petition signed by the parents of four of the victims setting forth their prayer for leniency and stating they had no objection to the release of the applicant.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph P. Wissler, states that all the circumstances were taken into consideration at the time of sentence and that he was opposed to granting of commutation at this time. However, the district attorney stated to the parole agent that he was not opposed to the granting of leniency.

The applicant has an honorable discharge from the United States Army and has always conducted himself in a very fine way in his home county. The Board recommends that his minimum sentence be commuted and that he be released at the expiration of one year.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,

Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of William E. Shands, 7605-C, No. 6363, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of William E. Shands, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 30, 1939, computed from March 23, 1939 be commuted from 40 years to 16 years, 7 months expiring on October 23, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 23, 1979.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until August 22, 1959.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 9, 1958.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Albert Joseph Vetrone, convicted of robbery and carrying concealed deadly weapons in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on July 26, 1929 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age and was sentenced for the crime of armed robbery and carrying concealed deadly weapons by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court and placed on probation for a period of two years.

Since his conviction in 1929, the applicant has been employed by the Stanley Warner Corporation of Philadelphia. He is an accountant and has advanced himself in that corporation to a rather responsible position.

This applicant is a veteran of the Second World War and was honorably discharged in January 1946. He is married and has one child.

The trial judge, the Honorable Raymond MacNeille recommends consideration of this application for pardon. Likewise, the district attorney's office states they are not opposed.

The Board, therefore, recommends that pardon be granted to this young man.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Raymond Wagner, convicted of robbery, in

The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 23, 1969.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Lawrence Wildermuth, 7604-D, No. 8427, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Lawrence Wildermuth, convicted of Robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on July 5, 1940, computed from June 8, 1940 be commuted from 20 years to 15 years, 4 months, expiring on October 8, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 8, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd.) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd.) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd.) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd.) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd.) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Erbor J. Worseck, C-526, No. A-1486, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Erbor J. Worseck, convicted of robbery, while armed; assault with intent to kill; burglary; larceny and receiving, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lehigh County on January 12, 1948, computed from September 30, 1947, be commuted from 16 years to 8 years, 1 month, expiring on October 30, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years of age and was sentenced for the crime of armed robbery, assault with intent to kill, burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods for from 16 years to 32 years by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lehigh County.

The applicant, together with a number of accomplices, were involved in a series of armed robberies and when the police officers came to arrest the applicant at his home, he held up the uniformed officer and took the Chief of Police with him as a shield and drove him off in a car. He later released the chief without harm to him.

Judge James F. Henninger, of Lehigh County, states that: "although his crime was most serious he was a wild young man and as his conduct in prison has been satisfactory he believes it might be a good experiment to release him on parole." The district attorney of Lehigh County, however, felt that the sentence was a lenient one and had no recommendation to make but relied upon the action of the Board.

The penitentiary authorities state that the applicant has served almost 8 years and has made a good institutional adjustment. He seems to have been sobered somewhat by the present imprisonment and he is apparently not a hard and vicious criminal. The applicant had a prior record consisting of juvenile offenses only.

The Board feels that the parole plan which has been set up for this young man appears to be a satisfactory arrangement and they are persuaded that under the circumstances it might be wise to give this young man an opportunity to prove his determination to live a law-abiding life. He would be under the supervision of the Board of Parole for many years. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be computed.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd.) ROY E. FURMAN—Dissents,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd.) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd.) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd.) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd.) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Zukovsky, D-2141, No. 8547, September Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due

public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Zukovsky, convicted of Murder in the First Degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 17, 1937 be commuted from life imprisonment to 18 years, 6 months, 10 days, expiring on October 27, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-five years of age and was born in Lithuania. He was sentenced for the crime of murder in the first degree and sentenced to life imprisonment by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia, effective November 1, 1933. The applicant with two accomplices held up the Allied Kid Company of Philadelphia. During the holdup, a police officer was shot and killed. During the incarceration of this applicant, the prison authorities report that he has earned the reputation of being a model prisoner. He has proved his stability by saving a considerable sum of money. In every respect this applicant has maintained an excellent prison record. He is a mature and rational individual and can accept responsibility. His accomplices are dead, one having committed suicide and the other having been murdered. The District Attorney of Philadelphia County stated that he was not opposed to clemency and that this man has served considerable length of time for the crime involved. The trial judge, Honorable Harry McDevitt, is deceased. The U. S. Immigration Service has filed a deportation warrant and the applicant will probably be deported to Lithuania. The board recommends that applicant be considered because of his excellent record in the penitentiary and his development in personality and maturity so that he will easily adjust himself to society and will no longer become involved in criminal activities and therefore recommends clemency.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd.) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd.) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
NOT SITTING,
Attorney General.
(Sgd.) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd.) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William C. Bell, D-9953, No. A-2125, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William C. Bell, convicted of robbery, etc., in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on October 7, 1947, computed from July 23, 1947 be commuted from 10 years to 8 years, 4 months, 20 days, expiring on December 13, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is forty-four years of age, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Delaware County for from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of robbery.

The applicant, together with three accomplices, participated in a crap game in Chester. They alleged that they were cheated out of about $200.00, and asked for the return of their money. Later they returned to the game and held up the participants and regained the funds, allegedly of which, they were cheated.

The accomplices have received lesser sentences, except one, and they are now on parole.

The trial judge, the Honorable Albert McDade, is deceased, and the President Judge of Delaware County did not express an opinion as to the merits of the application. The District Attorney of Delaware County states that he was not opposed to the granting of the application.

The Board has on file letters from citizens of the State of Delaware indicating that they are in favor of clemency. Among these letters is one from the Sheriff, Robert Pippin, of Kent County, Delaware; likewise from J. Wesley Walls, Register of Wills of that county.

The Board believes that this young man has demonstrated during the past eight years or more his determination to conduct himself as a law-abiding citizen. The institution reports that he has demonstrated improvement in his basic personality structure. His parole plan will be thoroughly investigated and there is every belief that he will conduct himself in the future as a respectable citizen. The Board, therefore recommends commutation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd.) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd.) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd.) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd.) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd.) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Elmer Boyd, E-3676, No. A-3244, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: the above application having been heard, upon due notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Elmer Boyd, convicted of assault with intent to rob, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Delaware County on April 24, 1953, computed from January 10, 1953, be commuted from 5 years to 2 years, 11 months, 9 days, expiring on December 19, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-five years of age, and was sentenced for from 5 to 10 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of assault with intent to rob.

The applicant, together with three accomplics, entered a tavern, and held up at the point of a gun three men found therein, and robbed them of approximately $300. The applicant drove the get-away car and did not enter the tavern.

One of the accomplices, John Bonner, was released from the Delaware County Prison in August of 1955. The other accomplice, Francis Hope, is still confined in the Delaware County Prison. The third accomplice, Warren Cooper, is confined at Farview State Mental Hospital.

The trial judge, the Honorable William R. Toal, states to the Board that if the applicant has a satisfactory parole plan which assures him of employment upon release, he has no objection to the Board favorably acting upon his application. Likewise, the district attorney of Delaware County stated that if the parole plan is satisfactory, he would not oppose clemency.

The Board is assured that the Board of Parole will carefully check the parole plan, and will see that proper employment will be made available upon his release.

This young man had been involved in prior offenses of a minor character, but this sentence is the most severe he has received. It is believed by the Board that he will conduct himself in the future in a satisfactory and law-abiding manner. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY D. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Troy Lee Christy, No. A-3241, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: the above application having been heard, upon due notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Troy Lee Christy, convicted of aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill; wantonly pointing firearms, etc., in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County, on March 19, 1954, be commuted from 2 years to 1 year, 9 months, expiring on December 19, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Montgomery County for the offense of aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill and wantonly pointing firearms on the nineteenth day of March 1954 for from two to five years in the Montgomery County Prison.

The applicant's offense was the result of intoxication wherein there was a fight between the applicant and the victim. In the scuffle the revolver held by the applicant exploded and injured the victim.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harold G. Knight, states that as his minimum sentence expires in March 1955 he has no objection to any leniency that the Board may extend to him. The district attorney likewise stated that he had no objection to the granting of clemency at this time and felt that if he would restrain from drinking he would avoid any further trouble.

The Warden of the Montgomery County Prison states that this applicant is a frank, pleasant person and his institutional adjustment has been satisfactory. The Board believes that this applicant, with no prior criminal record has been sufficiently punished and that he has been taught a lesson which has been a severe but a salutary one. The Board believes that this man will conduct himself as a law-abiding citizen in the future, and recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY D. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Russell David Fettrow, now Russell David Harris, No. A-3263, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Russell David Fettrow, now Russell David Harris, convicted of attempted sodomy and sodomy in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Cumberland County, on March 30, 1948 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Cumberland County for the offense of sodomy and attempted sodomy. This sentence was suspended provided he would take treatments in the state hospital. The applicant was so treated and was discharged.

During World War II this applicant had a most distinguished record in the Air Corps being awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by the government of United States and Great Britain. After the war, this applicant enrolled as a student in Dickinson College and became interested in youth work. It was during this period of youth activities that he engaged in improper sexual act with three boys.

The applicant moved to the West coast and became a student in the College of the Pacific, from which he graduated. A letter from Robert E. Burns, President of the College of the Pacific, is in our file stating that this applicant was not only a student but was very outstanding during his college life. The applicant then matriculated at Southern Methodist University in Texas, and received his Bachelor of Divinity degree. He then returned to California and was ordained a minister of the Methodist Church. The applicant made a full disclosure of his record to the officials of the Methodist Church but because of his excellent adjustment, the church authorities ordained him a minister and placed him in charge of a church at Pittsburgh, California.

The Board has no hesitancy in recommending the mercy of the Commonwealth to this applicant. If ever a person has been rehabilitated certainly this applicant is that person. The minister of the largest Methodist Church in San Francisco, California, writes the Board of the fine, able, intelligent mind and the excellent progress the applicant is making in his service to God and humanity. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Flaville, E-4472, No. A-3255, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles Flaville, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 22, 1954 be commuted from 3 years to 1 year, 8 months expiring on December 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age and was sentenced for the crime of robbery on April 22, 1954.

The applicant, and his accomplices, one of whom was his brother, Raymond, held up and robbed the Abbott Dairies and the Steamfitters' Union Headquarters. The sum of approximately $3500.00 was realized from these two robberies. The robbery of the Union Headquarters was assisted by a Betty Beidell, a secretary employed by the Union.

The trial judge, the Honorable Curtis Bok, recommends that clemency be extended to the applicant. The judge expresses the thought that the prompt action of the police and Court had a most salutary effect upon the applicant. The district attorney's office, however, was opposed to granting the application.

The prison authorities report that this applicant has made an excellent institutional adjustment, and has applied himself to trade training. The applicant has no prior criminal record. This young man likewise had a distinguished record in World War II.

The thought was expressed that the excursion into crime by this applicant, and his brother Raymond, was caused by marital discord in the home of each of them.

The applicant has served more than one-half of this minimum sentence. The Board, therefore, recommends that the sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

In re application of Raymond Flaville, T-4473, No. 3256, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Raymond Flaville, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 22, 1954 be commuted from 3 years to 1 year, 8 months expiring on December 22, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of age and was sentenced for the crime of robbery on April 22, 1954.

The applicant, together with his brother Charles, and a girl by the name of Betty Beidell, burglarized the Abbott Dairies and the Headquarters of the Steamfitters' Union. The loot amounted to about $3500.00. The burglarizing of the Union Headquarters was aided and abetted by the said Betty Beidell, who was an employee of the Union.

The trial judge, the Honorable Curtis Bok, recommends clemency on behalf of this applicant. The district attorney is opposed.

This young man was honorably discharged from the Army at the conclusion of World War II. It was felt that this excursion into crime by the applicant and his brother was caused by marital difficulties.

The applicant, according to the prison Chaplain, has rehabilitated himself in a remarkable fashion, and it is believed that he will, if released, lead a law-abiding life.

The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward Fox, E-270, No. 2700, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Edward Fox, convicted of robbery, etc. in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 14, 1948, computed from March 5, 1948 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 9 months, 10 days expiring on December 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-seven years of age. He was sentenced by the Philadelphia Court for from ten to thirty years, on the fourteenth day of April, 1948.

The applicant, together with two accomplices, engaged in a series of robberies in Philadelphia and Bucks Counties and in one robbery a revolver was used as a threat.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, stated that he would rely upon the Board for its determination. The district attorney's office stated that it was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

During this applicant's imprisonment he has conducted himself in a favorable manner and has become a more mature and stable individual.

The prior record of this applicant consisted of two juvenile offenses. The Board believes that the future of this young man would be that of a law-abiding citizen; that he has learned his lesson; and that there is every evidence that he will conduct himself properly in the future. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Sidney Graves, 7908-C, No. 6916, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Sidney Graves, convicted of armed robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 12, 1933 be commuted from 40 years to 23 years expiring on January 12, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 12, 1973.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of David Green, D-5823, No. 9767, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of David Green, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 10, 1941, computed from December 3, 1940 be commuted from life imprisonment to 15 years, 10 days expiring on December 13, 1965.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-eight years of age. He was sentenced in Philadelphia County to a term of life imprisonment for murder in the first degree on June 10, 1941. The offense arose from a dispute with his girl friend after a drinking bout.

The trial judge, the Honorable Byron A. Milner, stated that if the Board is satisfied that society would be protected he would have no objection to a commutation of sentence. The district attorney of Philadelphia County stated that he had seen the applicant in the penitentiary and he was highly impressed by him. He felt that the applicant, a person completely rehabilitated, was an outstanding inmate and, therefore, he did not oppose the granting of clemency.

The institutional authorities state that the applicant's conduct has been very good and that when admitted he was illiterate and by courses of training and study he has become skilled as a machinist and welder. The Board believes that this applicant will become a law-abiding citizen and a credit to himself and his community. His entire attitude while in training has been that of a person who was planning for his release so that he could fill a useful place in society. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas Hicks, E-3972, No. A-3253, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Thomas Hicks, convicted of assault and battery; aggravated assault and battery; rape, etc. in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on October 15, 1953 be commuted from 6 years to 2 years, 2 months expiring on December 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is twenty-three years of age, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 6 to 12 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant, together with two accomplices, had dates with two girls, minors, and in the course of association together, intercourse was had. All the parties concerned were juveniles at the time of the commission of offense.

The trial judge, the Honorable George G. Parry, did not express his opinion as to the merits of this application. The district attorney stated that under the circumstances he felt the sentence was excessive, although he is generally opposed to the granting of clemency in the matter.

The applicant has a minor record of three arrests and no convictions. During his incarceration, the institution reports that he has maintained an unblemished record, and has demonstrated his desire for self-improvement by his enrollment in educational courses.

The Board is in receipt of several letters from acquaintances of the applicant who, in these letters, speak most highly of the young man.

Therefore, the Board believes that if this young man is released he will have learned a salutary lesson, and he will no longer become involved in any criminal offense. The Board therefore, recommends commutation of this sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter A. Hilsbos, Sr., No. A-3298, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Walter A. Hilsbos, convicted of Arson in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Bucks County, on September 26, 1933, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-seven years of age. He was sentenced by the Court of Oyer and Terminer for the crime of arson for from 1 to 5 years in the Bucks County Prison on September 26, 1933.

The applicant was released on parole on September 21. 1934, after serving his minimum sentence. The applicant was released from parole September 21, 1938, when his maximum sentence expired.

The offense for which this applicant was sentenced. was that of burning a small building seven feet by twelve feet, which was damaged by the fire to an extent of Fifty Dollars. The applicant carried no insurance on this building. The applicant denies that he set the building on fire because of a dispute with the owners of the premises. The applicant had been a real estate agent for the owner of the premises. The circumstances of the fire and the reason for it are conflicting.

The trial judge is deceased. However, the Honorable Edward G. Biester, expressed his opinion that the evidence justified the verdict. He further states that the conduct of the applicant since release from prison is without criticism. No opinion was expressed by the district attorneys' office of Bucks County.

Since the applicant's release he has resided in Bensalem Township, Bucks County. His wife is the Township Tax Collector and the applicant is the Deputy Collector, under Bond.

The applicant has been very active in local civic affairs and is a successful business man and law-abiding citizen. The Board believes that the mercy of the Commonwealth can well be extended and recommends a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Roddie Jones, 74625, No. A-2491, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Roddie Jones, convicted of rape and sodomy in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on October 23, 1953, computed from February 25, 1955 be commuted from 2 years to 9 months, 20 days expiring on December 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is twenty-three years of age and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County for rape and sodomy on October 27, 1952, and was placed on five years probation by the said Court.

In September, 1953, the applicant was arrested for rape, fornication and indecent assault, by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Beaver County for from 1½ to 15 years, whereupon the sentence of Allegheny County was revoked, and a sentence of 2 to 4 years, to commence at the conclusion of the Beaver County sentence, was imposed by the Allegheny County Court. On the 25th day of February 1955, the sentence of the Beaver County Court was commuted by the Board of Pardons, and the applicant is now serving the Allegheny County sentence, effective February 25, 1955, in the Allegheny County Workhouse.

The applicant, together with three accomplices, had a date with a 20 year old girl at which time these offenses took place.

The Allegheny County Workhouse Superintendent states to the Board that the applicant has conducted himself in a most satisfactory manner and has complied with all the rules and regulations, and that any consideration that the Board is inclined to bestow will meet with the full approval of the authorities of the Allegheny County Workhouse.

The Board is in receipt of a letter from the Honorable Ralph T. Bell, stating: "I am advised that his institutional record is good, and that he has a proper parole plan. If that is so, considering the length of time served by the applicant, I have no objections to your exercise of clemency in this matter." The district attorney's office believes the application premature. The Board, however, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Thomas Kane, E-4672, No. A-3095, September Session, 1955.

(Recommended October Session 1955.)

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Thomas Kane, convicted of sodomy in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Northumberland County on April 27, 1954 (credit or 7 days by order of court) be commuted from 3½ years to 1 year, 7 months, 20 days expiring on December 17, 1955 provided he be admitted to the Danville State Hospital for treatment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age, and was sentenced for 3½ to 7 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of sodomy. The applicant plead guilty to the charge, which involved two boys who had burglarized the applicant's home, and they, in turn, implicated the applicant in this offense.

The applicant had no prior criminal record, and the trial judge stated that he had no objection to the granting of clemency, but felt that the applicant should be committed to the Danville State Hospital and undergo psychiatric treatment. The Board has in its file a letter from the Danville State Hospital stating that they will treat the applicant as a patient upon his release.

The district attorney of Northumberland County, informed the parole agent that he had no objection to a commutation of the sentence.

The Board, in view of the fact that this applicant is to receive psychiatric treatment, recommends that the sentence be commuted so that he can receive the treatments.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Reubin A. Kaplan, No. A-3375, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Borad of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Reubin A. Kaplan, convicted of false pretenses in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 28, 1953, computed from October 25, 1955 be commuted from 2½ years to 1 month, 20 days expiring on December 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County for from 2½ to 5 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on charges of forgery, and for from 2½ to 5 years in the Philadelphia County Prison on charges of false pretenses, to be served consecutively. The applicant was transferred to the Philadelphia County Prison on October 25, 1955, upon expiration of his minimum sentence on charges of forgery.

This applicant opened a checking account in Philadelphia by depositing a check drawn on a New York Bank. The following day he withdrew a substantial sum from the Philadelphia bank. The check on the New York bank was worthless.

The applicant was dishonorably discharged from the United States Army because of absence without leave.

The district attorney of Philadelphia states that he is not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter. The trial judge, the Honorable A. A. Nelson, expressed no opinion as to the merits of the application. The prison authorities tell us that he has maintained an unblemished record, and has taken educational work at the institution.

The Board is in receipt of a letter from a relative of the applicant who assures the Board that he will not only supervise the young man as to his conduct but will see that he has employment.

The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Lako, C-3695, No. A-3295, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Lako, convicted of larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Westmoreland County on February 14, 1955 be commuted from 2 years to 10 months expiring on December 14, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is twenty-eight years of age, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court for from 2 to 4 years in the Western State Penitentiary for the crime of larceny. He was sentenced on February 14, 1955.

The applicant, together with several accomplices, broke into a storage shed of nearby mines and stole copper, and sold it in order to get money to finance a trip to Cleveland to get a job.

The trial judge, the Honorable Edward G. Bauer, stated to the Board that he had no objection to the commutation of the sentence of the applicant. Likewise, the District Attorney stated to the parole agent that he had no objection.

The applicant has no prior criminal record. He became involved with this group of young men in a series of larcenies. Only one of his accomplices, John Thomas, is in the penitentiary. The other four accomplices have all been released.

The Board believes that this young man has received a lesson which will prove a salutary one. During his imprisonment he has proved to be steady, cooperative, and profiting from his experience. The Board is of the opinion that, if released, with a proper parole plan which will be supervised by the Board of Parole, he will conduct himself in a proper manner. The Board, therefore, recommends that the sentence of the applicant be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter Lane, 4177-B, No. A-3264, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Walter Lane, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bradford County on July 18,

1949, computed from May 22, 1949 be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 8 months expiring on January 22, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 6, 1950.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application Joseph Lowrie, E-2712, No. A-3243, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Lowrie, convicted of armed robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 21, 1951, computed from September 26, 1951 to commuted from 6 years to 4 years, 2 months, 20 days expiring on December 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of robbery armed with an offensive weapon for a term of six to twelve years. This applicant and three accomplices were arrested for robbing a pedestrian. He plead not guilty, but the Court rendered a verdict of guilty.

The district attorney of Philadelphia County stated he was not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter. Likewise, the trial judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, has stated he has no objection to the granting of commutation, provided he has served a sufficient portion of his minimum term.

During the applicant's confinement, he has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner and is rated as very good. The penitentiary authorities report that they believe his criminal behaviour was the result of his antagonism to authority, induced by martial friction.

The applicant has served over two-thirds of his minimum sentence and the Board believes that further incarceration would not improve his behaviour, or attitude, and they, therefore, recommend that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Fred Lundy, E-521, No. A-2669, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Fred Lundy, convicted of assault, being armed with offensive weapon with intent to rob; carrying concealed deadly weapons in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 20, 1948, computed from August 19, 1948 be commuted from 8 years, 8 months to 7 years, 4 months expiring on December 19, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of ago. He was sentenced, on September 20, 1948 to not less than eight and one-half years nor more than seventeen years. His offense was that he, and an accomplice, robbed taxicab drivers at the point of a gun.

The trial judge, the Honorable Byron A. Milner, stated that the applicant should serve his minimum sentence. The district attorney's office of Philadelphia County, however, stated it was not opposed to the granting of clemency. The assistant district attorney states that this applicant has an excellent prison record and he felt that it may be worthwhile to extend clemency at this time.

The prison authorities state that this applicant's rating is good. Most of his criminal behaviour appears to be the result of suggestions, by others. His accomplice, who received a lesser sentence, was paroled in February 1953.

The Board believes that this young man has been sufficiently punished and that the prospects for his future conduct as a law-abiding citizen are excellent, and, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Theodore Maleschuk, E-5010, No. A-3281, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Theodore Maleschuk, convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 1, 1954 be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year, 10 days expiring on December 1, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-three years of age. He was sentenced to not less than eighteen months nor more than three years for the crime of larceny and receiving stolen goods. His offense consisted of sending from Gimbel's Department Store, where he was employed, various items of merchandise to his co-workers, without paying for them.

The trial judge, the Honorable Edward J. Griffiths, stated to the Board that the present rehabilitation of the applicant would justify the exercise of clemency and he accordingly so recommends. The district attorney's office likewise is not opposed to the granting of clemency.

This was the applicant's first criminal offense. During his incarceration the authorities report that he has proved to be extremely capable and dependable, and shows ready acceptance of responsibility.

The Board believes that this young man, in order to make an impression upon his co-workers, overreached his goal of impressing his friends, and committed these offenses. The Board believes that the applicant has learned his lesson and that his future conduct will be free from any criminal activities. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John J. Martin, No. A-3103, June Session, 1955. (Recommended October Session, 1955).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John J. Martin, convicted of Bribery, Acceptance of a Bribe and Conspiracy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 6, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 11 months, 9 days, expiring on December 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Erie County for from 1 to 2½ years for the crimes of conspiracy, bribery and the acceptance of bribes, in the Erie County Prison, on January 6, 1955.

The applicant was inspector of police in Erie and conspired with Stanley Swartz and Mayor Thomas Flatley to collect money from those persons operating gambling establishments in the City of Erie. This applicant, together with the two accomplices mentioned, set up a plan whereby gambling became a big business in the City of Erie. The applicant, and his accomplices, greatly benefited from this operation.

The trial judge, the Honorable Elmer L. Evans, states that the applicant is the only one of those convicted who seems to show any remorse with respect to any phase of the matter. Further, if the Board contemplates releasing him at the expiration of his minimum term, he would see no reason to not allow two weeks further reduction in order that he might be home for Christmas.

The district attorney, at the hearing, stated to the Board that he would recommend clemency. The Board has on file a petition from a large number of citizens of Erie, recommending that the Board extend their clemency. The present Inspector of Police of Erie, Frank G. Hoetzel, recommends that the Board extend clemency and states that the disgrace already incurred by this man, as well as the stain upon his reputation and standing in the community, is so obvious a lesson that the additional months of his sentence yet to be served cannot add to the lesson already learned by this individual. Letters are also on file from the Fraternal Order of Police of Erie County and other citizens.

The Board is informed that the applicant's wife is in a serious condition. The Board believes that this applicant will never overcome the disgrace which he brought upon himself, his family, his community and the police department. The fact that he knows, and all his friends and neighbors know, that he violated his oath of office and was punished, is a sentence far more severe than any court could impose. Up to the time of his incarceration he had the respect and regard of the community. He no longer holds that.

Further incarceration would serve no useful purpose. This applicant had no previous criminal record and this one serious offense has placed a stigma upon his otherwise impressive record. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted, effective December 15, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Michael Norton, 7347-A, No. 1655, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Michael Norton, convicted of murder in the second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 23, 1924, computed from January 15, 1940 be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, expiring on January 15, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until July 17, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter B. Riley, E-1089, No. A-2391, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Walter B. Riley, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 19, 1949, computed from April 16, 1949 be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 8 months, expiring on December 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of robbery by the Philadelphia Court for from ten to twenty years on the nineteenth day of May, 1949.

His offense consisted of the holding up of two taxicab drivers, without the use of an offensive weapon. The district attorney's office states that they interviewed the applicant in the penitentiary and the interview was most favorable. That office felt that the applicant had rehabilitated himself and the district attorney, therefore, was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The trial judge, the Honorable Eugene V. Alessandroni, expressed no opinion but relied upon the discretion of the Board.

The prison authorities state that this applicant has maintained a good record and that he has become a mature person showing a control of behaviour and emotions. The Board believes that this young man, who had no prior record, has learned his lesson the hard way and that in the future he will conduct himself as a law-abiding citizen and, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Schratzmeier, B-4480, No. 8380, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Schratzmeier, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Blair County on March 14, 1935 be commuted from life imprisonment to 20 years, 9 months expiring December 14, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-nine years of age. He was sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime of murder in the first degree on March 14, 1935. He was convicted of shooting a neighbor over a stolen piece of lumber. The victim accused him of theft and over that accusation the fatal dispute and shooting culminated in the killing of the victim.

The trial judge is deceased and the present judge, the Honorable John M. Klepser, offered no comments. The district attorney's office reiterated its position taken in December 1952 that they have no reason to oppose this application if the applicant has a satisfactory parole plan, and that his institutional record indicates that he is ready to be returned to society.

The penitentiary authorities report that the applicant in over twenty years of incarceration has never had a misconduct report against him, and that he does not appear to be embittered by his long incarceration.

The applicant is an expert repairman in radio and radio equipment, and it is reported that he is one of the best workers in that field.

The board believes that this applicant, with the training in the electrical work and his generally fine outlook, is ready for return to society, his crime being one of passion with no background of criminal record, and therefore recommends his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Leon Taylor, C-9485, No. 8360, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Leon Taylor, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 29, 1934 be commuted from life imprisonment to 21 years, 10 months, 20 days expiring on December 19, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-six years of age. He was sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime of murder on the twenty-ninth day of January, 1934. His crime was that of shooting his girl friend over the possession of a ring which he had given to her and now wanted returned.

The trial judge, the Honorable Eugene V. Alessandroni, states that he has no opinion to express as to the merits of the case but relies upon the discretion of the Board.

The office of the district attorney of Philadelphia County stated that it was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The penitentiary authorities report that this applicant has an excellent record and has demonstrated thrift by saving a considerable sum of money. His conduct has been excellent and he has held a position of trust in the institution for over twelve years. They further state that the applicant is a mature person and shows good control of his emotions and who readily accepts responsibility.

The Board believes that this applicant, who committed a crime of passion, has rehabilitated himself and that if released he will live a law-abiding life for the rest of his years. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN.
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of LeRoy Treible, E-4556, No. A-2970, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of LeRoy Treible, convicted of burglary of railroad cars in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Monroe County on May 3, 1954, computed from March 20, 1954 be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year, 9 months expiring on December 20, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-nine years of age. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Monroe County for the offense of burglary of railroad cars on May 3, 1954 for from 2½ to 5 years.

The applicant plead guilty to robbing railroad cars of merchandise. The applicant claims that his offense was caused by lack of work and the starving condition of his family.

The trial judge, the Honorable Fred W. Davis, stated to the parole agent that he would rely upon the discretion of the Board. Likewise, the district attorney's office, when interviewed by the parole agent, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

This applicant's accomplice, Caleb Martin, was given a short jail sentence and has been released. The applicant had no previous record and during this imprisonment has maintained an unblemished disciplinary record. He is now in a position of trust on the prison farm and is doing an outstanding job.

The pentitentiary authorities report that he has demonstrated excellent ability to make adequate adjustments. The Board believes that this young man, who committed an offense for his starving children, has been sufficiently punished and further incarceration would serve no useful purpose. His family, on account of the flood in the area in which they live, is in dire need of his help. The Board, believing that this young man will not again offend the rules of society, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas Wildermuth, 573-D, No. 6372, October Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Thomas Wildermuth, convicted of armed robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on July 5, 1940, computed from June 8, 1940 be commuted from 20 years to 15 years, 7 months expiring on January 8, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 8, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Willie Wilson, E-1267, No. A-578, September Session, 1955. (Recommended October Session, 1955).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Willie Wilson, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 20, 1949, computed from June 25, 1949 be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 5 months, 20 days expiring on December 15, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age. He was sentenced for from 10 to 20 years for the crime of robbery.

The applicant, together with an accomplice, was found guilding of holding up taxicabs in the City of Philadelphia. The history of these offenses involves several taxicabs in which the driver was threatened with bodily injury if he made an outcry.

The applicant was subsequently confined at the State Penitentiary at Rockview, and at the time of the riots he cooperated to the fullest extent with he prison officials. On three different occasions, he gave to the officials valuable information which prevented serious trouble in the institution. As a result of his cooperation, he has had his life threatened by the inmates, and has been under the surveillance of the guards in order to prevent any bodily injury to him. He was placed as a guard on the main gate of the institution where he would be removed from the prison population during the day, and at nighttime he was placed in a maximum security cell—all for his protection.

The instituion states that his conduct has been exemplary. The applicant was transferred recently to Pennsylvanina State Institution at Huntingdon for his protection. The trial judge, the Honorable L. Stauffer Oliver recommends commutation. Likewise, the district attorney states he was not opposed to commutation. A proper parole plan will be provided, and the Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Christopher F. Brennen, No. 3331, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Christopher F. Brennen, convicted of establishing and maintaining gambling establishment in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County, on January 18, 1952, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is sixty-four years of age, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Montgomery County for the crime of establishing and maintaining a gambling establishment, and was sentenced on the 18th day of January 1952 to a fine of $300.00, and ten days in the Montgomery County Prison.

The applicant was an official in the Caates-Wafer Post Home Association, V.F.W. 840. A raid was made by the police officials on the home, and they found in storage, on the premises of Post Association a number of slot machines.

The applicant, together with three other officers of the Association, was arrested and sentenced.

The applicant had no prior criminal record, and was and is now employed by the James Lees and Sons Mills, Bridgeport, Pa. Upon the release of the applicant, he resumed his work where he had been employed for over thirty-five years.

The applicant is still the Secretary of the Home Association. The applicant is requesting a pardon for the reason that he was arrested and sentenced only as an official of the Association, and had nothing to do with the operation, nor received any of the profits from these gambling machines. The applicant is anxious to have his name cleared, and the blemish of this offense removed from his record.

The Board believes that this applicant, together with the other members of the official staff of the Home Association, should have their records cleared and, therefore, recommends that the clemency of the Commonwealth be extended to them, and a pardon granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Richard J. Briney, C-2792, No. A-2760, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Richard J. Briney, convicted of larceny, receiving stolen property; burglary of motor vehicle, larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Westmoreland County on August 25, 1952, computed from July 12, 1952 be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, 5 months, expiring on December 12, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is twenty-four years of age and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Westmoreland County for the crime of larceny, receiving stolen property, and burglary of a motor vehicle for from 5 to 10 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The applicant, together with two accomplices, stole equipment and tools from a state highway garage and also broke into business places throughout Westmoreland-Allegheny Counties.

The applicant was sentenced for his crimes in Allegheny County for from 2½ to 5 years, to run concurrent with the Westmoreland County sentence.

One of his accomplices received a suspended sentence; another was sent to Morganza; the third is still imprisoned in the Western State Penitentiary. The applicant has no prior record except a minor case of disorderly conduct.

The trial judge, the Honorable Richard D. Laird, recommends that he serve his minimum sentence. The district attorney of Westmoreland County states he has no objecion to the commutation of the minimum sentence.

The applicant has already served the minimum sentence of Allegheny County, and is now serving on the Westmoreland County sentence.

The applicant had no prior record and his institutional conduct has been excellent. He is now learning the barbering trade and printing trade, and if released will be qualified to follow these trades. Therefore, the Board recommends commutation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Willie Brown, E-2709, No. A-2779, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Willie Brown, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on December 21, 1951, computed from September 28, 1951 be commuted from 6 years to 4 years, 2 months, 20 days, expiring on December 18, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 6 to 12 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of robbery.

The applicant, together with three accomplices, was involved in an armed robbery of a pedestrian on the streets of Philadelphia. They compelled the victim to accompany them to a rooming house where on the third floor of said house there was tied to a bed, a woman.

The district attorney stated that the story as given by the victim was a fantastic one, and there is a serious question as to the trust of the facts which were presented to the trial court. The applicant has steadily denied his participation in this holdup, and plead not guilty, but was found guilty by the jury. The three accomplices each received a sentence of 6 to 12 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, states that he is relying upon the Board for the exercise of their best judgment in the matter.

The accomplice, James D. Holmes, has been recommended for commutation by the Board. The other accomplice, Joseph Lourie, has been recommended for commutation, and the third accomplice, Joel T. Johnson, had his sentence commuted in February, 1955.

The applicant's prior record was for minor offenses. The Board believes that if released this applicant will conduct himself in a proper and law-abiding manner, and, therefore, recommends commutation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Michael Caserta, 100125, No. A-3272, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Michael Caserta, convicted of lottery and conspiracy, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on July 14, 1954, computed from March 25, 1955 be commuted from 17 months to 11 months expiring on February 25, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is forty-one years of age, and was sentenced to pay a fine of One Thousand Dollars and for from 17 months to 35 months in the Delaware County Prison.

The applicant and his accomplice operated a business of selling numbers, and the facts as brought out at the trial supported the indictments. The accomplices received minor sentences, and are now on parole under the Delaware County Probation Department.

The Warden of the Delaware County Prison states that the applicant has made a good adjustment, and is now a trusty in the institution.

The trail judge, the Honorable William R. Toal, felt that the applicant should serve his minimum sentence. Likewise, the district attorney's office recommended service of his minimum sentence. However, the Board felt that he has served quite a substantial portion of his sentence for this type of offense, and took into consideration the fact that his accomplices, who were equally guilty, received lesser sentences and have been released from the Delaware County Prison.

The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted to a minimum of 11 months, effective from the date of imprisonment, to wit: March 25, 1955.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Alvin Gaines, E-5116, No. 3312, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Alvin Gaines, convicted of assault and robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 6, 1955, computed from November 20, 1954 be commuted from 2 years to 1 year, 1 month expiring December 20, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-seven years of age, and was sentenced by the Court for from 2 to 5 years for the crime of robbery and assault.

This applicant maintains he was in a tavern when the victim came into the barroom waving a revolver, and he, after some argument, took the gun from the victim, his purpose being to avoid any shooting affray.

The trail judge, Honorable Gerald F. Flood, stated that justice would be served if the minimum sentence of the defendent were commuted and he were released. The judge expressed the thought that the after-discovered-evidence raised some doubt as to the guilt of the applicant.

The district attorney stated that the after-discovered evidence could not be used for a new trail as the term had expired, and so he felt that the mercy of the Commonwealth could well be granted in this instance. The district attorney was not opposed to the granting of commutation.

The Board, in view of all the facts, recommend that the minimum sentence of this applicant be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph L. Goodman, No. A-3334, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph L. Goodman, convicted of establishing and maintaining gambling establishment in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County, on January 18, 1952, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is fifty-eight years of age, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Montgomery County for the crime of establishing and maintaining a gambling establishment and sentenced on the 18th day of January, 1952 to a fine of $300.00 and ten days in the Montgomery County Prison.

The applicant was an official in the Caates-Wafer Post Home Association, V.F.W. 840. A raid was made by the police officers on the home, and they found in storage on the premises of Post Association a number of slot machines. The applicant, together with three other officers of the Association, was arrested and sentenced.

The applicant had no prior criminal record. The applicant is still an officer of the Home Association.

The applicant is requesting a pardon for the reason that he was arrested and sentenced only as an official of the Association, and had nothing to do with the operation, nor received any of the profits from these gambling devices. The applicant is anxious to have his name cleared, and the blemish of this offense removed from his record.

The applicant operates his own business of erecting and constructing buildings.

The Board believe that this applicant, together with other members of the official staff of the Home Association, should have their records cleared and, therefore, recommends that the clemency of the Commonwealth be extended to them, and a pardon granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Elmer Jackson, D-3264, No. 9702, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of George Elmer Jackson, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Lackawanna County on July 8, 1938, computed from November 16, 1937 be commuted from life imprisonment to 18 years, 1 month expiring on December 16, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age, and was sentenced by the Court to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of murder in the first degree.

The applicant struck his victim over the head with a club, and robbed him of $2.00. The victim subsequently died.

The trial judge, the Honorable T. L. Hoban, stated to the Board that the applicant was only seventeen years of age when he committed this offense. The Judge stated: "However, due to the youth of the boy, and his background experience, I was of the opinion at the time sentence was imposed that a life sentence was justified, with the hope that at some future time he might be restored to society." The question now is: "Has the applicant become sufficiently stable and emotionally well-balanced to be considered a responsible individual?" The Board believes that he has.

The district attorney did not give us the benefit of his recommendation.

The prison authorities state that he has made an excellent institutional record for adjustment and attitude. His vocational report indicates an outstanding work record, and success in a job of trust and responsibility. He comes highly recommended by the institutional staff.

The Board has been assured by the Parole Board that his parole plan upon release will be given close attention, and he will be under the supervision of the Board of Parole for life. The Board, therefore, recommends commutation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Lattanzio, E-4706, No. A-3319, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Lattanzio, convicted of larceny, burglary, receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on August 3, 1954, computed from July 14, 1954 be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year, 5 months expiring on December 14, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant, together with an accomplice, entered the home of the victim. The victim was assaulted, whereupon the applicant and his accomplice, fled the scene. They were later arrested for the possession of burglary tools.

The trial judge, the Honorable Edward J. Griffiths, stated that he had no recommendation to make with respect to the application. The district attorney stated at the hearing that he had interviewed the applicant in the penitentiary, and that he was favorably impressed, as he had improved himself very much, and he was, therefore, not opposed to the granting of the commutation.

The institution authorities report that he has maintained an unblemished record, and there has been a substantial increase in his ability to resist anti-social impulses. The parole plan of this applicant will be carefully supervised by the Board of Parole.

The Board, therefore, recommends that this applicant's sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Russel N. Lukens, Sr., No. A-3332, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Russell N. Lukens, Sr., convicted of establishing and maintaining gambling establishment in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County, on January 18, 1952 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-three years of age, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Montgomery County for the crime of establishing and maintaining a gambling establishment, and was sentenced on the 18th day of January 1952 to a fine of $300.00 and ten days in the Montgomery County Prison.

The applicant was an official of the Caates-Wafer Post Home Association, VFW 840. A raid was made by the police officials on the home, and they found in storage, on the premises of Post Association, a number of slot machines. The applicant, together with three other officers of the Association, was arrested and sentenced.

The applicant had no prior criminal record.

The applicant is requesting a pardon for the reason that he was arrested and sentenced only as an official of the Association. He had nothing to do with the operation, nor received any of the profits, from these gambling devices. The applicant is anxious to have his name cleared, and the blemish of this offense removed from his record.

The applicant was a cost-clerk with the Lanston Mono-Type Machine Company but retired in 1953. He resides in New Jersey, and bears an excellent reputation in his community.

The Board believes that this applicant, together with other members of the official staff of the Home Association, should have their records cleared and, therefore, recommends that the clemency of the Commonwealth be extended to them, and a pardon granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Theodore McClendon, D-7154, No. A-1173, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Theodore McClendon, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 13, 1943, computed from April 19, 1943 be commuted from 25 years to 12 years, 8 months expiring on December 19, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age, and was sentenced for from 25 to 50 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of robbery.

This applicant and a number of accomplices were involved and participated in a series of robberies. Their procedure seemed to be holding up pedestrians and stealing money. The accomplices have all been paroled and their sentences commuted, in some instances, by the Board. Only one of the accomplices is now in the penitentiary, and he is serving a life sentence for a separate crime.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry S. McDevitt, is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, said that he would rely upon the Board for the exercise of their best judgment. The district attorney stated that he was not opposed, because he felt the sentence was most severe for this type of crime of which this applicant was guilty.

The applicant has a prior criminal record of minor nature, and this sentence is the most severe, by far, that he has ever served.

The penitentiary authorities report that he has maintained a splendid disciplinary record, and that he has increased in his ability to avoid anti-social impulses. It was stated to the Board that this man has rehabilitated himself, and has at last reached a stage of maturity. He has been assured of employment, if released, and the Board of Parole will supervise his plan. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Powell, D-7471, No. 9691, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Powell, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on October 19, 1943 be commuted from life imprisonment to 12 years, 2 months expiring on December 19, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is thirty-seven years of age, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of murder.

The applicant came home on a furlough from the Army. The wife was absent from the home at a party. The applicant went to that home and requested her to return to their home so he could pack his clothing to return to camp. The applicant had discovered that during his absence his wife became acquainted with a number of men, the photographs of which were on her bureau. An argument ensued during which a revolver found in the bureau drawer of his wife was used by the applicant, resulting in her being shot and killed. The applicant plead guilty to the crime, and was sentenced as stated.

One of the trial judges, the Honorable Gerald F. Flood, had no recommendation to make. However, the Honorable Raymond MacNeille stated to the Board that he relied upon the Board's best judgment in this matter. He stated in a letter to the Board in February 1955 that if they believe the man would not menace society, he would would have no objection if the sentence was commuted.

The district attorney stated that he was not opposed, as, under the facts, this crime was no higher than murder in the second degree, it being a crime of passion, and the applicant has now served more than the minimum for murder in the second degree. The Board, therefore, recommends commutation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

In re application of Walter Shaffer, No. A-3333, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Walter Shaffer, convicted of establishing and maintaining gambling establishment in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County, on January 18, 1952 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-two years of age, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Montgomery County for the crime of establishing and maintaining a gambling establishment, and was sentenced on the 18th day of January 1952 to a fine of $300.00 and ten days in the Montgomery County Prison.

The applicant was an official in the Caates-Wafer Post Home Association, VFW 840. A raid was made by the police officials on the home, and they found, in storage, on the premises of Post Association, a number of slot machines. The applicant, tgoether with three other officers of the Association, was arrested and sentenced.

The applicant had no prior criminal record.

The applicant is requesting a pardon for the reason that he was arrested and sentenced only as an official of the Association, and that he had nothing to do with the operation, nor received any of the profits, from these gambling devices. The applicant is anxious to have his name cleared, and the blemish of this offense removed from his record.

The applicant has been Steward of the Post Home since 1938 and still continues in that office.

The Board believes that this applicant, together with other members of the official staff of the Home Association, should have their records cleared and, therefore, recommends that the clemency of the Commonwealth be extended to them, and a pardon granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Wilkins, C-2868, No. A-3371, November Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Wilkins, convicted of murder, second degree in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 15, 1946, computed from August 18, 1946 be commuted from 10 years to 9 years, 4 months expiring on December 18, 1955.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is thirty-eight years of age, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia for from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of murder in the second degree.

The applicant had been drinking, and returned to his home late in the afternoon. During the evening they entertained another couple. This applicant and his wife went to the kitchen to prepare sandwiches late in the evening. An argument took place between the applicant and his wife over the attention which the applicant's wife was paying to one of the guests. The applicant grabbed a kitchen knife, and stabbed his wife to death.

The trial judge, the Honorable Lewis E. Levinthal, expressed no opinion as to the merit of this application. The district attorney is not opposed to the granting of this application, stating before the Board that this offense was not premediated.

The applicant has served almost ten years of his minimum sentence, and has had an excellent institutional record. This applicant had no prior arrests or convictions.

The Board is persuaded that he will conduct himself in a proper and law-abiding manner upon release, and that he will be under the supervision of the Board of Parole for many years in the future.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Matthew Altomare, 3451, No. A-2638, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Matthew Altomare, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 23, 1950, computed from December 28, 1952 be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, 20 days expiring on January 18, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

Matthew Altomare is thirty-seven years of age, and was sentenced for from 5 to 10 years on charges of burglary.

This applicant was convicted of entering a business place in Germantown, with an accomplice, and burglarizing that establishment of a quantity of merchandise. The merchandise was found in the home of the accomplice. The applicant denied that he was involved in this offense, and stated that the accomplice perpetrated the crime and then accused him of complicity.

The trial judge, the Honorable Byron A. Milner, recommends clemency, stating that the applicant has served sufficient time in prison, and that he believes that it is safe to release him to society. Likewise, the District Attorney recommends clemency, and stated that there was every possibility that the applicant was not guilty of this offense.

The institutional record of this applicant has been satisfactory, and from every indication it appears to the Board that the applicant has been rehabilitated, and that it is safe to return him to society. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert W. Behl, E-5247, No. A-3364, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Robert W. Behl, convicted of robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 28, 1954, computed from December 9, 1954 be commuted from 2 years to 1 year, 1 month, 10 days expring on January 19, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is nineteen years of age, and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County for from 2 to 5 years for the crime of robbery.

This applicant's offense was holding up a driver of an automobile and attempting to take the driver's wallet. The victim had offered to drive the applicant home. The applicant, who was intoxicated, attempted this holdup.

The applicant has no prior record and it is felt that the circumstances of the whole unfortunate crime were induced more by alcohol than by a desire to obtain money.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, is not in favor of releasing the applicant. However, the district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of clemency as the applicant has an excellent record in the institution, and appears to be very contrite, and resolves to lead a good life upon release to society.

Since this was applicant's only offense the Board believes that this young man will behave himself in the future and, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Corliss Blondheim, E-3371, No. A-3356, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Corliss Blondheim, convicted of burglary and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Susquehanna County on November 17, 1952, computed from September 17, 1952 be commuted from 4 years to 3 years, 4 months expiring on January 17, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant, who is fifty-nine years of age, was sentenced for from 4 to 12 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of burglary and larceny.

The offense consisted of entering a dwelling and stealing some of the personal and household furnishings contained therein. The applicant was accompanied by two accomplices; one was sent to Pennsylvania Industrial School and other to the County Jail.

The trial judge, the Honorable Edward P. Little, is opposed to clemency. However, the district attorney stated that he was relying on the discretion of the Board and interposes no objection.

The applicant has no prior record, and this is his first offense.

The penitentiary reports that the applicant has a satisfactory record, and states that as he is a first offender he is not likely to profit from further incarceration.

At present, he is employed in a position of trust at Graterford.

The Board, therefore, recommends that the sentence of this man be commuted, believing that he will no longer be an offender, and will live a law-abiding life.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph T. Buranits, Jr., No. A-580, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Joseph T. Buranits, convicted of larceny, armed robbery, carrying concealed deadly weapons and pointing deadly weapon in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Schuylkill County on September 6, 1949 be commuted from 12 years to 6 years, 4 months expiring on January 6, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant, who is twenty-seven years of age, was sentenced for from 6 to 12 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crimes of armed robbery, larceny, and carrying concealed deadly weapons and pointing deadly weapon.

The applicant's offense consisted of holding up a garage attendant, stealing an automobile, and subsequently stopping another automobile and robbing the occupants thereof.

The sentence of the applicant was commuted by the Board of Pardons at their September Session 1951, and he was released from the penitentiary on the 20th day of December, 1951.

The applicant returned to New York City, where he is employed as a machinist by Plastic-Ware, Inc., where his average salary is $127.00 a week. Since his release he has led a law-abiding life, and has married and resides with his wife in New York City.

The Board of Parole of Pennsylvania reports that they have no objection to the commutation of his sentence. The New York State Parole Board reports that his conduct and behaviour has been satisfactory.

The applicant has demonstrated that he is a hard-working and reliable person, and has been prompt in his obligations regarding his parole supervision and that he is certainly ready for release from supervision.

The trial judge has no obligation. The Board recommends his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Chandler, 9371-C, No. 7126, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of James Chandler, convicted of murder, second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on October 3, 1939, computed from June 27, 1939 be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, 7 months expiring on January 27, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 27, 1959.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Samuel A. Cohan, No. A-3352, September Sessions, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session. the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Samuel A. Cohan, convicted of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on February 25, 1954 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is sixty years of age, and was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County to pay a fine of $500.00, and was placed on probation for a period of two years, as of February 25, 1954.

The applicant conducted a business in the City of Philadelphia known as the Empire Smelting Company which purchased old gold and jewelry. This applicant had been in business for many years, and always conducted himself and his business according to the highest standards of conduct. The facts of this case are fantastic, in that the applicant was accused of buying stolen old gold and jewelry from a stranger, and that was specifically the business in which this applicant was engaged.

The applicant kept accurate records of all purchases, with descriptions of the goods purchased, and the name and address of the sellers. This record was open to police inspection at all times, and his records substantiated his plea of not guilty.

The applicant holds a well-regarded position in the jewelry business, and is anxious that this only blot on his personal and business record be removed.

The district attorney of Philadelphia County states that he did not believe that this was a proper conviction, and that the defendant suffered during the trial by a personality conflict between his counsel and trial district attorney. Therefore, he did not oppose the granting of pardon, which the Board recommends.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES E. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony Dimento, 6695-C, No. 5989, December Sessions, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Anthony Dimento, convicted of being armed to rob; burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 2, 1939, computed from April 18, 1939 be commuted from 30 years to 16 years, 9 months, expiring on Janaury 18, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Pardons has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 18, 1969.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES E. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Louis Feingold, No. A-3257, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Louis Feingold, convicted of bookmaking and poolselling in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 30, 1948 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-one years of age and was sentenced for the offense of bookmaking and pool selling. He plead guilty and received a sentence of $200.00 fine and costs.

The applicant's offense was that of receiving bets on horse races. Since his sentence of 1948, he has not become involved in any gambling operation.

At present, he owns and operates a business of cashing checks in the City of Philadelphia, and has three branches in various parts of the City.

Our parole agent reports that his business reputation is most excellent, and that he is a very stable and reliable individual.

The trial judge, the Honorable Francis Shunk Brown, Jr., and the district attorney are not opposed to the granting of a pardon in this case.

The Board believes that this business man, who is now conducting himself in a most satisfactory manner, is deserving of the clemency of the Commonwealth, and, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Peter Gallas, 5868-D, No. 8981, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Peter Gallas, convicted of armed robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 8, 1945, computed from April 30, 1945 be commuted from 16 years to 10 years, 9 months expiring on January 30, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 30, 1961.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Melvin Lynn Gress, No. A-3361, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Melvin Lynn Gress, convicted of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancaster County on February 4, 1955 be commuted from 1½ years to 11 months, 10 days expiring on January 14, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant, who is thirty-one years of age, was sentenced to pay a fine of One Hundred Dollars and to serve a term of not less than 18 months nor more than 36 months in the Lancaster County Prison for the offense of receiving stolen goods.

The applicant had been a carpenter, then decided to open a restaurant, and was induced to purchase a large quantity of cigarettes by two strangers. The opinion was expressed by the district attorney of Lancaster County that the applicant was ignorant of business practices, and became an easy prey of the two men who sold him cigarettes.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph Wissler, is opposed to the granting of clemency. The district attorney, William Storb, stated to the Parole Agent that he felt the applicant received a heavy sentence, and, therefore, he did not oppose the granting of clemency.

The Warden of the Lancaster County Prison said: "I am satisfied that this man be given another chance."

The applicant has a satisfactory sponsor, and has assurance of employment that will support his wife and three small children, who are now on public assistance.

The applicant has served a substantial portion of his minimum sentence, and the Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Raymond Gumby, E-247, No. A-3369, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles Raymond Gumby, convicted of burglary and robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Dauphin County on March 31, 1948, computed from March 2, 1948 be commuted from 20 years to 7 years, 10 months, 20 days expiring on January 22, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant, who is thirty-one years of age, was sentenced for the crime of burglary for from 20 to 40 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The offense consisted of entering three apartments in the City of Harrisburg, occupied by women and burglarizing the apartments. His presence in these apartments was discovered by the occupants. These individuals were badly frightened, but no harm nor threats were made against them by the applicant.

The trial judge, the Honorable Paul Rupp, is no longer on the bench, and the acting president judge, the Honorable William H. Neely, states that under the circumstances the matter of clemency should be left to the discretion of the Pardon Board.

The district attorney, Huette F. Dowling, stated that he did not oppose commutation of the sentence as the applicant has an outstanding record in the penal institution, and in view of the fine record he has made, clemency should be granted.

The penitentiary authorities report that this applicant has made every effort to rehabilitate himself. The Board believes that, if released to society, he will not again become an offender.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward John Kijewski, No. A-3354, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Edward John Kijewski, convicted of entering with intent to steal-larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on April 22, 1935, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This man is thirty-seven years of age, and was sentenced for the crime of larceny and attempted larceny to a probation term of five years on the 22nd day of April, 1935.

The applicant, together with three accomplices, all of whom were boys in their early teens, crawled over a roof to the Keebler Baking Company, and took cans of tape. They entered the Baking Company through an open winodw, and were searching for baked goods.

Since this offense, the applicant has never been involved in any further criminal activity. The last twenty years he has led an exemplary life, has married and has a family of three children.

Since this applicant's discharge from the United States Army he has been steadily employed as a truck driver, steel worker and a welder.

The parole agent reports that the applicant enjoys an excellent reputation in the community, and that he is a good husband, and an adequate provider for his family. His work history indicates that he is a stable individual.

The Honorable Joseph L. Kun, president of the Court, stated that he had no knowledge of the facts of the case, as the trial judge, now deceased, was the Honorable Otto R. Heiligman.

The applicant has an application with the Philadelphia Police Department, and is desirous of having his record cleared so that he may become eligible for an appointment to the Police Force.

The Board has no objection and, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVEV BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John A. Kocevar, E-4620, No. A-3123, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John A. Kocevar, convicted of burglary, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Dauphin County on June 1, 1954, computed from April 13, 1954, be commuted from 2½ years to 1 year 9 months, expiring on January 13, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant, who is twenty-one years of age, was sentenced for from 2½ to 5 years for the offense of burglary.

The applicant and two accomplices were involved in a series of burglaries in and about Harrisburg. The total loot of all these eight or ten burglaries amounted to less than One Thousand Dollars.

The applicant had no prior record and at the commission of these offenses was a young man of about nineteen years of age.

The trial judge, the Honorable Walter Sohn, felt the applicant should serve his minimum sentence. However, district attorney Huette F. Dowling stated that he was not opposed to clemency for this applicant, as he believes he has been sufficiently punished.

The penitentiary record of this young man is satisfactory. He has made a marked improvement and appears to be a mature person, satisfactory for release to society.

This was applicant's first offense against society. One of his accomplices, John Iskric, who received a similar sentence, was recommended for a commutation of his sentence by the Board and it was granted by the Governor, effective February 1, 1956.

Since this applicant has a satisfactory record in the institution, and since one of his accomplices has been released, the Board recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES A. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of Ben McClendon, 795-D, No. 6525, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Ben McClendon, convicted of murder, in the second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Washington County on November 18, 1940, computed from May 25, 1940 be commuted from 20 years to 15 years 8 months expiring on January 25, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until May 25, 1960.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until end of life.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age and was sentenced for the crime of robbery for from 8 to 16 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The offense consisted of holding up a grocery store in Philadelphia, together with several accomplices, and stealing a sum of money from the proprietor.

The trial judge, the Honorable Edward P. Little, stated that if the Board felt it advisable to grant clemency as requested, he had no objection.

The district attorney of Philadelphia County stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The institution states that this applicant has had a satisfactory record, and is not a hardened criminal in any way.

The applicant had no prior record, and the Board believes that he has been sufficiently punished. Therefore, it recommends that his sentence be commuted.

In re application of Rocco Trallo, 5425-D, No. 7927, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Rocco Trallo, convicted of robbery; with intent to rob in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 13, 1939, computed from December 11, 1939 be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, 1 month, expiring on January 11, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence would remain on parole until December 11, 1959.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES E. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony Trolene, E-5471-209, No. A-3120, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Anthony Trolene, convicted of robbery in the Court of Philadelphia County on February 17, 1955 be commuted from 16 months to 11 months expiring on January 17, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-one years of age, and was sentenced for from 16 months to 3 years in the Philadelphia County Prison for the offense of robbery.

The applicant was sentenced for the crime of robbery, the facts disclosing that he was in a card game with victim and there was a dispute over a sum of money. The applicant tried to collect the money from the victim, and was successful in his attempt. There were no threats or weapons used.

The district attorney of Philadelphia County does not oppose this application, nor does the sentencing judge, the Honorable Byron A. Milner. Under date of May 19, 1955, the Judge states: "I see no objection to commuting his sentence because of the conduct of the prisoner."

The conduct of the applicant in the Philadelphia County Prison has been satisfactory.

The Board, therefore, recommends that the minimum sentence of this applicant be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES E. FINNEGAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Paul Marcellous Wachtler, E-331, No. A-1889, December Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Paul Marcellous Watchtler, convicted of robbery and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on May 3, 1948, computed from March 27, 1948 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 9 months, 20 days, expiring January 17, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant, who is forty-one years of age, was sentenced for from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crimes of robbery and larceny.

The offense for which this man was sentenced was for robbery of a store in Harrisburg, and the stealing of a sum of money from the proprietor, whereupon the applicant fled the state, and was subsequently arrested and returned to Pennsylvania for trial

The trial judge, the Honorable J. Paul Rupp, did not reply to our inquiry as to the merits of the application. However, the district attorney, Huette Dowling, stated he was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The applicant has made a satisfactory record in the institution, and as an indication of his regard for his family, he has sent home over fifteen hundred dollars during the years of his incarceration. The institution reports that he is considered an outstanding inmate who has profited from his institutional experience.

The applicant has a good parole plan and will be supervised by the Parole Board upon his release. The Board believes that this young man is rehabilitated, and if returned to society will conduct himself as a law-abiding citizen. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) JAMES E. FINNEGAN.
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER.
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Amendus Andreine, 7176-D, No. 6443, January Session, 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Amendus Andreine, convicted of entering a building, escape, robbery, felonious assault and battery and pointing firearms in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on September 15, 1930, computed from Nov. 23, 1946 be commuted from 20 years to 9 years, 3 months, expiring on February 23, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 24, 1966.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Jesse Bargas, No. A-3376, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Jesse Bargas, convicted of attempted larceny of an automobile in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on September 22, 1950 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-four years of age. This applicant was convicted of attempted larceny of an automobile and received a suspended sentence on September 22, 1950.

The applicant, with an accomplice, attempted to steal an automobile but the presence of a policeman in the vicinity caused them to flee before the theft was accomplished. Later in the day both the applicant and his accomplice were arrested. Both applicant and acccomplice were found guilty, but received suspended sentences.

Since this offense the applicant has married and has established his own home. The Chief Probation Officer of Allegheny County, J. C. Coulter, states that there is no record of this applicant owing the County any costs and inferred that they had been paid to the Clerk of the Courts.

The trial judge, the Honorable Henry X. O'Brien, states that he sees no reason why the Board should not extend leniency to the applicant. Likewise, the district attorney's office of Allegheny County stated that it had no objection to the granting of pardon.

The applicant has been employed by the Acme Tire Service of Pittsburgh and that company speaks of him as being a "good, loyal employee, and completely honest."

The applicant is desirous of receiving a pardon as he has an offer of employment which he believes cannot be accepted by him with this suspended sentence on the record.

In view of the fact that this applicant for the past five years has lead an exemplary life and the further fact that his offense, for which he received a suspended sentence, was attempted when he was a young man of nineteen, the Board recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Theodore Baron, 243-D, No. 5302, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the sentence of imprisonment imposed on Theodore Baron, convicted of rape, robbery in the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Delaware County on January 6, 1937 to be computed from March 17, 1947, be commuted on Bill No. 224 December Sessions, 1936 from a maximum term of 10 years to a maximum term of 8 years, 11 months, expiring on February 17, 1956; and on Bill No. 223 from a maximum term of 10 years to a new maximum term of 1 day, expiring on February 18, 1956. (Applicant's sentence on Bill No. 222 has expired).

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 17, 1957.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Secretary of the Commonwealth,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph L. Beck, C-2496, No. 2803, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is 53 years of age. He was sentenced for from 8 to 16 years in the Western State Penitentiary for the crime of murder in the second degree. The offense involved a shooting of his second wife, who had nagged and threatened him during the eleven weeks of their marriage. The victim was the sister of his first wife, and prior to, and after the marriage, the victim gave the applicant no peace of mind and, indeed, but a short time after their marriage she refused to live with him as his wife. The three children of his first marriage are now being cared for by the St. Paul's Orphanage.

The applicant had no previous criminal record and his reputation prior to this offense was very good in the community. He held a good job with the Monongahela Railroad Company.

The institution reports that he has conducted himself in a most satisfactory manner since his incarceration, and has made an excellent inmate. The resident physician states that this applicant has a vericose ulcer in the right leg, which is giving him some trouble.

The district attorney of Allegheny County says that this man deserves special consideration and they do not oppose the application. Likewise, the sentencing Judge, the Honorable Russell H. Adams, is not opposed to the granting of clemency. The family of the victim has written a letter to the Board advising the Board to grant a commutation of sentence as they still have great confidence in the applicant.

The Board believes that this applicant, under the emotional stress that he experienced, will not again offend against the laws of this Commonwealth and will conduct himself as a law-abiding citizen and will take his place in society. The Board, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles B. Butler, No. A-3420, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Charles B. Butler, convicted of bigamy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on April 22, 1946 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant was sentenced on the 22d day of April 1946 for the crime of bigamy and sentenced to the Allegheny County Workhouse for from 1 year, less 1 day, to 2 years, less 2 days.

The applicant was in the World War II and while stationed in Georgia he married a woman in 1945 and without procuring a divorce he married another woman in Allegheny County in 1947. When he was arrested he plead guilty and received a short jail sentence.

Following his release from the Allegheny County Workhouse, this applicant became reconciled to his first wife and they have been living together as man and wife for the past nine years. They now have three children.

The applicant is now a member of the United States Army and has been connected with the Army since the second world war. He holds the rank of sergeant.

The district attorney's office of Allegheny County states they are not opposed to the granting of a pardon. Likewise, the sentencing judge, the Honorable Henry Ellenbogen, stated he was not opposed to the granting of pardon.

This applicant, as stated, has been in the Army for some years and is at present connected with Headquarters Battery of the 701st AAA Battalion. The Captain of his Company states that he displays outstanding leadership and technical ability. The applicant is scheduled for advancement to the grade of warrant officer and in order to qualify for this advancement it is part of the requirement that there be no record of a criminal offense. We have the word of the Captain that there is a vacancy in the grade of warrant officer and that the captain has recommended the applicant for this vacancy. The applicant had two month's service in Korea and is now scheduled to go to Germany in the very near future. He has arranged for his family to go to Germany.

The Board has no hesitation in recommending a pardon for this applicant in view of his excellent war record and fine family life.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In re application of William Henry Chambers, C-895, No. A-60, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Henry Chambers, convicted of burglary, larceny, receiving stolen goods, violation of the firearms act in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Fayette County on October 25, 1948, computed from August 14, 1948, be commuted from 12 years to 7 years, 6 months, 10 days, expiring on February 24, 1956; and further convicted of burglary, larceny, receiving stolen property in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Westmoreland County on March 1, 1949, computed from October 25, 1948, be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 4 months, expiring on February 25, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age. He was sentenced to for from 12 to 60 years in the County of Fayette on charges of burglary, larceny, receiving stolen goods and violation of the firearms act. He was sentenced to for from 10 to 20 years, to be served concurrently, in Westmoreland County on charges of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen property.

The trial judge of Fayette County, the Honorable H V. Cottom, is deceased, and the President Judge, the Honorable W. Russell Carr, stated he saw no reason for clemency. Likewise, the district attorney of Fayette County expressed opposition to the granting of clemency. The Westmoreland County Court, and district attorney, did not express their opinion as to the merits of this application.

Three of the four accomplices of this applicant have been released: Earl Fuller's sentence was commuted in 1954; Louis Brenchi's sentence was commuted in 1954; James Russell was released from the County Prison years ago. The only remaining accomplice, Ernest E. Humbertson, who received a 17 to 68 year sentence, is still confined.

The reports from the institution indicate that this applicant has a very excellent record; that he is a man who is pentient and recognizes that the sentence was a justifiable one; that he does not possess a criminal mind; and that there is every possibility he will never again break the laws.

The Board believes this applicant is worthy of the mercy of the Commonwealth and therefore recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN (Dissents)
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Arthur Clisby, D-5469, No. A-1755, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Arthur Clisby, convicted of armed to rob, etc., in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 3, 1941, computed from December 31, 1940, be commuted from 40 years, to 15 years, 1 month, 21 days, expiring on February 22, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-eight years of age. He was sentenced for the offense of being armed to rob, etc., for from 40 to 80 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant was involved with several accomplices in a series of robberies in and about Philadelphia. This was his first major offense. The applicant was only eighteen years of age at the time of commission of these crimes and received from the late Judge McDevitt this severe sentence.

The district attorney's office of Philadelphia County stated that he had no objection to the commutation of sentence, basing the opinion on the severity of the sentence, the age of the applicant at the time of the commission of the crime and his excellent record made in the penitentiary.

The report from the institution indicates that this applicant has made an excellent adjustment and his general attitude is such that the authorities believe he has rehabilitated himself sufficiently to take his place in society.

The applicant has served a considerable period of time and the Board believes that he has been sufficiently punished for the offenses which he committed as a young man. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,

In re application of Frank Danatucci, No. 1192-A, No. 3428, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Frank Danatucci, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 15, 1941, computed from January 24, 1947, be commuted from 10 years to 9 years, 1 month, expiring on February 24, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 24, 1957.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph D'Antonio, No. A-3177, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Joseph D'Antonio, convicted of riot; conspiracy to assault, riot and destroy property, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on April 10, 1953, computed from October 13, 1955, be commuted from 2 years to 6 months expiring on April 13, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-five years of age. He, and four accomplices, were involved in a riot charge; conspiracy assault, riot and destroy property.

In July 1952, at the site of the former county prison in Media, Delaware County, where demolition was in progress, the applicant, together with his accomplices, who were members of the Operating Engineers, Local No. 542, A. F. of L. came down from Philadelphia to do picket duty. There was a labor dispute in Media at the time and an unruly group of men, numbering from 30 to 60, rushed onto the property and damaged some of the property and assaulted several of the workers. The applicant and his accomplices state that they arrived at the scene of the riot after the riot had taken place, whereupon they promptly got into a car and drove away. They were arrested a short distance from the scene of the riot. They have denied stoutly, at all proceedings, their involvement in the riot and destruction of property.

In April 1953 the applicant and his accomplices were found guilty by a Jury and were sentenced to two years in the Delaware County Prison. They started to serve their sentences on October 13, 1955.

The district attorney of Delaware County and one of the sentencing judges, the Honorable William R. Toal, are opposed to the commutation of these sentences. All letters coming to the Board, however, are most favorable as to the character and reputation of these men. At the time of the trial the feeling of the citizens of Delaware County was such that the Court and Jury were undoubtedly influenced by the attitude of the general public. As this applicant and his accomplices were the only persons arrested they bore the burden of the resentment of the community despite their vigorous denial of any implication in the riot.

The Board believes that this applicant, who has no prior record, has been sufficiently punished and, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted when he has served six months, effective April 13, 1956.

In re application of Edward Dorian, 2630-D, No. 5900, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Edward Dorian, convicted of armed robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 15, 1940, computed from February 27, 1940 be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, expiring on February 27, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 27, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Carmella Giacobbe, 1712, No. 5596. January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Carmella Giacobbe, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on November 1, 1940 be commuted from life imprisonment to 15 years, 4 months, expiring on March 1, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-two years of age. She was sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime of murder in the first degree in November 1940.

This applicant was involved in the famous arsenic ring in Philadelphia where individuals were given poison so that upon their death the insurance money could be collected by certan individuals. The husband of the applicant was disinterred after death and found to have a large quantity of arsenic in his body.

The applicant maintained her innocence but the jury found her guilty on the testimony of one Paul Petrillo, who was subsequently executed.

The district attorney of Philadelphia County stated that this applicant's conviction was based on circumstantial evidence and at no time were they able to show that she had bought arsenic or served arsenic to her husband. The district attorney also stated that because of her age, the time she had served, her guilt being based on circumstantial evidence, their office was not objecting to the commutation of her life sentence.

The trial judge, the Honorable Louis F. Levinthal, had no comment to make to this request for commutation.

The institution physician states that this applicant is suffering from organic changes which accompany advances in age, but mentally she is still in possession of all her faculties. Her institutional record in Muncy is excellent, and the Board, believing that if released she will never again commit any offenses and knowing that she will be taken care of by her family, recommend commutation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of Theodore Washington Hipple, 7550-D, No. 8412, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due notice, in open session, the undersigned members, of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Theodore Washington Hipple, convicted of burglary, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Sullivan County on June 8, 1942, computed from June 4, 1942, be commuted from 20 years to 13 years 8 months 10 days expiring on February 14, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 4, 1962.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Leonard Hunter, 959-D, No. 2891, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due notice, in open session, the undersigned members, of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Leonard Hunter, convicted of murder, first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Washington County on March 2, 1931 be commuted from life to 24 years 11 months 10 days expiring on February 12, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until end of life.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Jones, D-7643, No. A-245, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Jones, convicted of robbery; assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 3, 1944, computed from February 29, 1944, be commuted from 23½ years to 12 years expiring on February 29, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of robbery; assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill, for from 23½ to 47 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary. He subsequently was sentenced by the Courts of Montgomery Court for from 1 to 3 years, to be served consecutively, making a total of 24½ to 50 years.

The accomplice, Harrison Wormack, received a similar sentence of 23½ to 47 years, but was commuted upon the recommendation of the Board of Pardons, effective June 15, 1954.

The applicant's offense involved the hold-up of a pedestrian at which time a revolver was used. The victim was shot but not severely injured. The Montgomery County offense involved the assault by the applicant upon an inmate at State Penitentiary at Graterford.

The applicant received a very severe sentence for this Philadelphia offense in view of the circumstances of the case. He has served a period of time longer than the minimum sentence for a second degree murder.

The Board believes that the severe sentence this applicant received, in excess of a second degree murder sentence with no killing involved, entitles the applicant to a commutation of sentence. The Board, therefore, recommends that the Philadelphia County sentence be commuted so that he can start to serve the Montgomery County sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN—Dissents,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Krok, E-1208, No. A-3266, December Session, 1955. (Recommended January Session, 1956.)

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Krok, convicted of burglary, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on August 10, 1949, computed from June 30, 1949 be commuted from 30 years to 10 years expiring on June 30, 1959.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of burglary for from 30 to 60 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The offenses consisted of a series of robberies of various business places and residences, accompanied by three accomplices. They stole a total in cash and merchandise of $11,000. The applicant had no prior criminal record except an arrest as a juvenile.

The applicant's three accomplices had criminal records and they also received severe sentences. The severe sentence received by this applicant, who never was involved in a prior major offense, was probably due to the fact that all the gang were sentenced at the same time.

The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of clemency, and the trial judge, the Honorable Charles L. Guerin stated: "I shall be in accord with any action taken thereon by the Board."

The penitentiary reports that this applicant has maintained an unblemished disciplinary record and has demonstrated habits and conduct that would prove of benefit to him upon release.

The Board believes that this young man has learned a good lesson in the institution and that, if released, he will not return to a life of crime. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted to expire on June 30, 1959, when he has served 10 years of his minimum sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of Nicholas Malen, 588-D, No. 4897, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Nicholas Malen, convicted of robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 25, 1938, computed from January 1, 1938 be commuted from 30 years to 18 years 1 month 10 days expiring on February 16, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 6, 1968.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Steve Masternak, convicted of breaking and escaping penitentiary, larceny of auto and robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Centre County on October 9, 1837, computed from January 11, 1942 be commuted from 6 years to 4 years 1 month expiring on February 11, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 11, 1958.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John E. Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 17, 1957.

In re application of Francis J. McMenamin, No. 2512-C, No. 8955, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Francis J. McMenamin, convicted of assault, being armed with offensive weapon with intent to kill, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 30, 1941, computed from September 25, 1941, be commuted from 36 years to 14 years, 5 months, expiring on February 25, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 15, 1977.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph McSorley, No. A-3176, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Joseph McSorley, convicted of riot, conspiracy to assault, riot and destroy property in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on April 10, 1953, computed from October 13, 1955, be commuted from 2 years to 6 months, expiring on April 13, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-three years of age. He, and four accomplices, were involved in a riot charge; conspiracy to assault, riot and to destroy property.

In July 1952, at the site of the former county prison in Media, Delaware County, where demolition was in progress, the applicant, together with his accomplices, who were members of the Operating Engineers, Local No. 542, A. F. of L. came down from Philadelphia to do picket duty. There was a labor dispute in Media at the time and an unruly group of men, numbering from 30 to 60, rushed onto the property and damaged some of the property and assaulted several of the workers. The applicant and his accomplices state that they arrived at the scene of the riot after the riot had taken place, whereupon they promptly got into a car and drove away. They were arrested a short distance from the scene of the riot. They have denied stoutly, at all proceedings, their involvement in the riot and destruction of property.

In April 1953 the applicant and his accomplices were found guilty by a Jury and were sentenced to two years in the Delaware County Prison. They started to serve their sentences on October 13, 1955.

The district attorney of Delaware County and one of the sentencing judges, the Honorable William R. Toal, are opposed to the commutation of these sentences. All letters coming to the Board, however, are most favorable as to the character and reputation of these men. At the time of the trial the feeling of the citizens of Delaware County was such that the Court and Jury were undoubtedly influenced by the attitude of the general public. As this applicant and his accomplices were the only persons arrested they bore the burden of the resentment of the community despite their vigorous denial of any implication in the riot.

The Board believes that this applicant, who has no prior record, has been sufficiently punished, and, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted when he has served six months, effective April 13, 1956.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.

In re application of Charles Rainier, No. A-3180, January Session 1955.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Charles Rainier, convicted of riot, conspiracy to assault, riot and destroy property in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on April 10, 1953, computed from October 13, 1955, be commuted from 2 years to 6 months, expiring on April 13, 1956.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Stanley Sheftick, C-3038, No. A-3395, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Stanley Sheftick, convicted of armed assault with intent to rob, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, of Allegheny County, on March 27, 1953, computed from February 7, 1953, be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, 10 days, expiring on February 17, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-seven years of age. He was sentenced for from 5 to 10 years in the Western State Penitentiary on charges of armed assault with intent to rob.

The applicant, and an accomplice, were found guilty of attempted robbery and having in their possession a revolver, a stolen license plate, burglary tools and other items. The applicant received the sentence of 5 to 10 years, which was to be reduced during the term to a 3 to 6 year sentence. The sentencing Judge, Ex-Judge Ralph T. Bell, advises the Board: "it was my intention to change his sentence to be in line with the others (to wit: from 3 to 6 years) * * * The heavier sentence imposed on Sheftick was by reason of some criminal activities which occurred about ten years prior to the incidents mentioned in the indictments. * * * I have no objection to any clemency your board wishes to exercise."

The district attorney of Allegheny County stated that the trial judge intended to change the sentence into a 3 to 6 year term, and, therefore, he had no objection to the granting of commutation based on his sentence of 3 to 6 years. The accomplice of the applicant received a 3 to 6 year term.

In view of the fact that the trial judge intended to give this applicant a 3 to 6 year sentence and overlooked it due to the press of business, the Board recommends that this applicant have his minimum sentence reduced to 3 years, 10 days, effective February 17, 1956.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Arthur Sutherland, D-9920, No. A-1937, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Arthur Southerland, convicted of robbery; assault and battery; aggravated assault and battery, assault and battery with intent to kill in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, September 29, 1947, computed from September 22, 1947, be commuted from 13½ years to 8 years, 5 months, expiring on February 22, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-years of age. He was sentenced for the crimes of robbery; assault and battery; aggravated assault and battery, assault and battery with intent to kill for from 13½ to 27 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant, and two accomplices, were involved in the robbery of an office in Philadelphia. The applicant drove the "get away" car while his accomplices conducted the robbery. This was the first offense of the applicant and the district attorney stated that for the offense he was too severally punished. One of his accomplices, Floyd Jackson, who received a similar sentence, was commuted by the Board of Pardons on September 14, 1955. The other accomplice is insane and in the Farview State Hospital.

The applicant's adjustment in the institution has been excellent and his entire manner of behaviour has undergone a radical change. The institution authorities speak of his excellent disciplinary record and his efforts for self-improvement during the past eight years.

The Board believes that this young man has an insight into his behaviour problem and that if released he will no longer offend against the laws of this Commonwealth. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Stanley Williams, E-3189, No. A-3410, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Stanley Williams, convicted of robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on August 27, 1952, computed from April 25, 1952, be commuted from 5 years to 3 years 6 months, expiring on February 27, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of age. He was sentenced for from 5 to 20 years for the offense of robbery, in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant and two accomplices, were involved in several hold-ups of American Stores, and several Pawn Shops, in the City of Philadelphia. Although the accomplice carried a gun, no violence was used in the perpetration of these hold-ups.

The applicant has no prior criminal record. One of his accomplices, Eugene Kennedy, who received a similar sentence, had his sentence commuted by the Board of Pardons in October 1955.

The district attorney of Philadelphia County stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency in this case, as this applicant has made a fine adjustment in the penitentiary. His entire personality has changed for the better, and the district attorney, when he interviewed the applicant prior to the meeting of the Board, stated that the applicant made a most favorable impression upon him.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph Sloane, did not reply to our inquiry as to the merits of this application.

The applicant has a good parole plan and the Board believes that if released he will not offend against the laws of this Commonwealth in the future, and will properly adjust himself in society. The Board, therefore, recommends commutation be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Abraham Wolk 2918-D, No. 7664, January Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Abraham Wolk, convicted of Robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on January 8, 1940, computed from December 29, 1939, be commuted from 40 years to 16 years, 2 months, expiring on February 29, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 29, 1979.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William J. Allison, C-2791, No. A-2894, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William J. Allison, convicted of larceny, receiving stolen property; burglary of motor vehicle in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Westmoreland County on August 25, 1952, computed from July 12, 1952 be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, 8 months, 10 days expiring on March 22, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant was sentenced in Westmoreland County for from five to ten years in the Western State Penitentiary. He had been sentenced previously in Allegheny County for the crime of larceny and sentenced to two and one-half to five years, concurrent with Westmoreland County sentence. He completed the minimum of his Allegheny County sentence on January 12, 1955.

This applicant is twenty-four years of age. He, with a group of boys, embarked on a series of burglaries and larcenies in Westmoreland and Allegheny Counties, in which they stole automobiles, automobile accessories, and tools from the Pennsylvania Department of Highways. The accomplice of this applicant has been released.

This young man during his incarceration holds a trusted position as a clerk in the deputy warden's office in the Western State Penitentiary.

The district attorney of Westmoreland County states that his office is not opposed to the granting of commutation in view of the fact that his accomplice had his sentence commuted; that he has served a very substantial portion of his minimum sentence; and further that the applicant had no former criminal record except a minor violation of the motor code.

The Board believes that this young man has learned a severe lesson to the extent that there is every reason to believe that he will not again offend and will adjust himself satisfactorily to the standards of citizenship. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
NOT SITTING,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Mattie Mae Andrews, A-3482, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Mattie Mae Andrews, convicted of frequenter of a bawdy house in the Court of Municipal of Philadelphia County, on June 27, 1935 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. She was sentenced to an indefinite term in the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy, Penna., for the offense of being an inmate of a bawdy house.

This woman was only seventeen years of age at the time of her arrest for this offense and she had been reported to the police by her father, as both a run-away and an incorrigible. The applicant was released from the Home in April 1937 and returned to Philadelphia. Since 1937 she has been employed in various capacities in Philadelphia and has conducted herself in a very satisfactory manner. Recently she has been working for the United States Post Office Department.

The sentencing judge is deceased, but the President Judge, the Honorable Hazel H. Brown, states as far as her information concerning the applicant extends, she has no objection to the granting of her application.

Likewise, the representative of the District Attorney of Philadelphia County stated to the Board that he was not opposed to the granting of this applican's plea because the applicant was a juvenile offender, and too, since her release in 1937, she appears to have been completely rehabilitated and is conducting herself in a very satisfactory manner in Philadelphia.

From all information received by the Board, this applicant is living an exemplary life and the Board believes a pardon would be of material value to her in her advancement in her employment. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Brown No. 1070-D, No. 7424, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Frank Brown, convicted of robbery, armed with offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 31, 1939, computed from February 23, 1956 be commuted from 35 years to 17 years 1 month expiring on March 23, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 23, 1974.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

In re application of William B. Burks, No. 1181-C, No. 8764, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due

public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of William B. Burks, convicted of voluntary manslaughter, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Session of Delaware County on June 26, 1946, computed from June 18, 1946, be commuted from 12 years to 9 years 9 months 10 days expiring on March 28, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 18, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Dais, D-146, No. 8579, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Dais, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County of November 23, 1934, be commuted from life imprisonment to 21 years 4 months expiring on March 23, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-one years of age. He plead guilty to the crime of murder generally and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The offense consisted of the fatal shooting of a friend at a card game. The dispute arose primarily as to whether or not the money wagered on the cards belonged to the applicant or the decedent. The decedent escorted the applicant to the front door and thereupon a scuffle ensued and the decedent was fatally shot. There were no witnesses to the fatal shooting as the rest of the members of the card game were in another room and could not see what happened. There was some question as to whether or not this crime rose higher than second degree murder.

The President Judge, the Honorable Edwin O. Lewis, wrote to the Board that he had no recommendation to make, but would be satisfied to leave the disposition to the good judgment of the Board of Pardons.

The assistant district attorney of Philadelphia County stated to the Board that he was not opposed.

During the applicant's incarceration he has had a very good institutional record and shows a definite improvement in his personality. Prior to this major offense the applicant was involved in only minor misdemeanors.

The applicant has served over twenty-one years of a life sentence. The Board, believing that he has been sufficiently punished, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of William Emanuel, D-2646, No. 9744, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Emanuel, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 3, 1937 be commuted from life imprisonment to 18 years 4 months expiring on April 3, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of murder to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The offense involved the fatal shooting of a woman with whom he was living in Philadelphia. It appeared that he had showered many gifts upon this woman, but just prior to the day of the killing the woman informed the applicant that she was no longer interested in him. Later in the evening of the same day, the applicant entered the sitting-room of their home and, using a shot gun, shot and killed the decedent. Prior to this offense, the applicant had no criminal record.

One of the trial judges, the Honorable Gerald F. Flood, stated he was "entirely satisfied to leave the matter up to the Board."

The assistant district attorney of Philadelphia County stated that his office was not opposed to granting of clemency as he had seen the applicant in the penitentiary and was much impressed by him. He believes that the applicant will make a good adjustment if released to society.

During his incarceration the applicant has maintained an unblemished disciplinary record. He has shown improvement in both his attitude and his adjustment. The reports from all the departments in the penitentiary are most favorable as to his behaviour.

The applicant has served over eighteen years of his sentence. The Board, believing that this applicant will not again offend and will conduct himself satisfactorily in society, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-one years of age He was sentenced to a term of ten to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of armed robbery.

The offense consisted of holding up a taxi-driver and relieving him of the sum of $4.75. Prior to this sentence, his offenses were minor misdemeanors.

The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, relies upon the Board for their judgment.

The assistant district attorney of Philadelphia County stated to the Board that he would not oppose this application as he was impressed with the sincerity of the applicant upon his visit to the prison. He sincerely believes that the applicant will adjust himself to society upon release.

During his incarceration the applicant has been acting as a supervisor of farm work at the State Penitentiary at Graterford and is considered one of the better prisoners in the institution. His attitude is most favorable. His adjustment of personality is greatly improved and he holds a position in the institution, of trust. There has been set up for him a satisfactory parole program.

This applicant has served over eight years of his ten year minimum sentence. The Board feels that he has been sufficiently punished and recommends that his sentence be commuted.

In re application of James Patrick Gavin, E-3186, No. A-3443, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Patrick Gavin, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on August 27, 1952, computed from July 28, 1952 be commuted from 5 years to 4 years, expiring on July 28, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-five years of age. He was sentenced for from five to twenty years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of robbery. This offense consisted of robbing a paint manufacturing company in Philadelphia and the taking of a two thousand dollar payroll at the point of a gun. The applicant was the look-out man while his two accomplices did the actual robbing. Prior to this offense the applicant had no criminal record.

Since his incarceration the applicant's conduct has been exemplary and he has developed the ability to think for himself. The change in his attitude and behavior is significant.

The assistant district attorney of Philadelphia County stated that his office was not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph Sloane, did not reply to our inquiry as to the merits of the appliction.

At present this applicant is assistant to the chief clerk at the State Penitentiary at Graterford and is classified as a trusted inmate.

The applicant has a good parole program and the Board believes that this young man will not again offend against society and will conduct himself as a respectable citizen. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentnce be commuted when he has served four years, which will be July 28, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. In re application of Francis Rodman Hope, 95606, No. A-2514, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Francis Rodman Hope, convicted of robbery, and assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on April 24, 1953, computed from January 10, 1953 be commuted from 5 years to 3 years, 2 months, 14 days, expiring on March 24, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant was sentenced for the offense of robbery and assault and battery for from five to ten years to the Delaware County Prison on April 24, 1953, effective January 10, 1953.

This applicant is twenty-five years of age. His offense occurred when he and a group of young men held up a tavern in Delaware County and stole about three hundred dollars worth of loot. Two of the accomplices are no longer in prison and the third is confined to Farview State Hospital.

The trial judge, the Honorable William R. Toal, wrote the Board as follows: "His partners in crime have all been commuted and I do not see any reason why he should be treated any differently." The district attorney, however, opposed the granting of commutation.

This applicant had no prior criminal record and this was his first offense.

The Warden of the Delaware County Prison states that the applicant has made a fine adjustment. He has been made an assistant in the operation of the prison hospital and he is classified as a trusty. He works without a guard and has shown every indication of rehabilitation.

The Board believe that this young man has learned a severe lesson and that he will not, if released, again offend the rules of society. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 20, 1962.

Our reasons from making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John J. Mellek, No. 81, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons from making this recommendation are as follows:

The applicant is forty-three years of age. He was sentenced for the offense of hold-up while armed and sentenced for from 4 to 8 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, effective May 3, 1928.

The applicant was released from supervision of the Board of Parole in May 1936, when his maximum sentence expired. He served his minimum sentence.

The applicant, accompanied by his brother-in-law, held up a taxi-driver and robbed him of $12.50. The applicant was only sixteen years old at the time of his offense.

Since his release, the applicant has been employed by the Harry M. Stevens Company, which company operates restaurants at race tracks in New Jersey. At present the applicant is a waiter with this company and has the opportunity of being a head-waiter, provided he is pardoned of this offense. The New Jersey Racing Commission's regulations require that employes of race tracks and those associated with racing must be free of crime, or pardoned for offenses committed by them.

For the past twenty-four years this applicant has been a law-abiding citizen and has not been involved in any offenses.

The sentencing judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Eugene V. Alessandroni, relies upon the discretion of the Board. The assistant district attorney of Philadelphia County stated to the Board that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The Board believes that this applicant, who has proved to be a law-abiding and respectable citizen for the past quarter of a century is deserving of the mercy of the Commonwealth and further that since this pardon would improve his economic status the Board recommends a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Mullen, No. 3731-D, No. 8430, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the maximum sentence of George Mullen, convicted of robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 13, 1944, computed November 6, 1944 be commuted from 20 years to 11 years, 4 months, 20 days, expiring on March 26, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 1964.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 11, 1971.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 21, 1959.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Stanley M. Schwartz, 77434, No. A-3457, February Session, 1956.

To his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Stanley M. Schwartz, convicted of bribery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on January 6, 1955, computed from August 8, 1955 be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year, expiring on August 8, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant plead not guilty and was found guilty and sentenced to serve for from 1½ to 3 years in the Allegheny County Workhouse, effective August 8, 1955, for the crime of bribery.

This applicant is thirty-nine years of age. He was involved with Thomas W. Flatley, Mayor of the City of Erie, Policeman John Martin and Henry Soscia in collecting contributions from persons engaged in gambling activities in Erie County. The testimony indicated that considerable sums of money were collected and divided among this group. This applicant held a prominent position in the civil and political life of the County of Erie.

During the applicant's incarceration he has conducted himself in a most satisfactory manner and he is at present a clerk in the hospital of the Allegheny County Workhouse.

The trial judge, the Hononable Elmer L. Evans, stated that this applicant should serve as long a time as one of his accomplices, to wit: Thomas W. Flatley. The district attorney of Erie County stated to the Board that he was strongly opposed to the granting of commutation.

The Board has on file innumerable letters from individuals and organizations of Erie County, recommending that the applicant be released.

The Board is recommending that this applicant's minimum sentence be commuted to expire when he has served 1 year from the effective date of his imprisonment, to wit: August 8, 1956.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
NOT SITTING,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph James Sellers, D-9256, No. A-3484, February Session, 1956.

To his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph James Sellers, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Session of Philadelphia County on November 27, 1946 be commuted from life imprisonment to 10 years, expiring on November 27, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-six years of age. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of murder in the first degree.

At the time of this offense this applicant was but fifteen years old and, in company with an older man, attacked the victim and took his money. No weapons were used but the victim was severely beaten. There is every belief that if the victim had been given medical attention he would have survived.

The trial judge, the Honorable Gerald F. Flood, wrote to the Board that this applicant's sentence should be commuted, stating: "* * * since none of us felt there was an intent to kill, no weapon was used and the defendant at the time was less than sixteen years of age." The court sentenced this boy, because under the law, a life sentence was mandatory as the killing was in the course of a robbery.

The assistant district attorney stated to the Board he was not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter as the applicant was barely sixteen years of age at the time of the offense.

The institution reports that this applicant has an unblemished disciplinary record. The reports from all departments are favorable. He has shown much improvement both in his attitude and adjustment.

The applicant has a good parole plan. The Board believes that this young man has learned a lesson in society conduct that will be a deterent for any offenses he may think of committing in the future. The Board, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted when he has served ten years.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Adolph Strockbine, No. 645-B, No. 5064, February Session, 1956.

To his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Adolph Strockbine, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Schuylkill County on May 17, 1926 be commuted from life to 29 years, 10 months, 10 days, expiring on March 27, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until end of life.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Ecellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Dominick Teny, No. A-3310, February Session, 1956.

To his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank Dominick Teny, convicted of rape, fornication, assault and battery, indecent assault in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Beaver County on October 21, 1953, computed from October 14, 1953 be commuted from 3 years to 2 years, 5 months, 10 days, expiring on March 24, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant plead not guilty in Beaver County for the crimes of rape, fornication, assault and battery and indecent assault, and in Allegheny County for the crime of sodomy. He was sentenced for from 3 to 15 years for the Beaver County offense and later sentenced by the Allegheny County Court for from 2 to 4 years, to follow the Beaver County sentence, for the Allegheny County offense.

This offense consisted to having illegal carnal relations with a girl in Beaver County, accompanied by a friend. Then later on having intercourse with the same girl in the vicinity of Ambridge, Allegheny County.

The applicant raises the question that these offenses were not the result of any assault upon the girl, but rather committed with her consent. His companion, Roddy Jones, has had both the Beaver and the Allegheny County sentences commuted by the Board of Pardons, the Allegheny County sentence being effective December 15, 1955.

The sentencing judge in Beaver County, the Honorable Morgan H. Sohn, stated to the Parole Investigator that he would leave the matter up to the Board, but the district attorney of that county expressed opposition.

The Board recommends that the Beaver County sentence be commuted, effective March 24, 1956, so that the applicant can commence service of the Allegheny County sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
NOT SITTING,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Thacker, B-5834, No. 8375, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due

public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Thacker, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on September 22, 1936 be commuted from life imprisonment to 19 years, 6 months expiring on March 22, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Western State Penitentiary for the crime of murder in the first degree.

This applicant is fifty-seven years of age. The history of his offense has its foundation in the actions of the victim toward the applicant and other persons living in the Hill District of Pittsburgh, Pa. The victim was known as a bully and, on two occasions immediately prior to the killing, had stabbed one man and shot another in the leg. On the night of the fatal shooting the applicant with a friend, was standing on the corner of a street in the Hill District when the victim approached the group and the fatal shot was fired. There were no witnesses to the altercation which preceded the shooting. The victim made a death bed statement, which involved the applicant as the wielder of the revolver.

There was much conflicting testimony at the trial but the jury brought in a verdict of guilty. The decision was appealed to the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth and the lower courts' judgment was affirmed.

A letter of inquiry to the President Judge, the Honorable William H. McNaugher, brings the reply that since the Judge who sat is no longer on the bench, he, the President Judge, had no recommendation to make.

The assistant district attorney of Allegheny County stated to the Board that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

This applicant had a prior record of one robbery offense.

During his incarceration the applicant has maintained an unblemished disciplinary record. At present he is assistant to the clerk of the penitentiary store room and the authorities report that he has been a steady and dependable worker. The prison staff considers him to be a very good prospect for release.

This applicant, having spent nearly twenty years in confinement, has thoroughly adjusted himself and has learned to respect authority and to control his aggressive impulsives.

The Board believes that if this man is released he will not offend against society in the future and the Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
NOT SITTING,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In re application of Robert Williams, 4786-A, No. 4122, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Robert Williams, convicted of robbery, armed with an offensive weapon, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions on July 30, 1928, be commuted from a maximum term of 3 years on Bill No. 1234 to a new maximum term of 2 years, 10 days, expiring on May 30, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until July 30, 1958.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Willie Gentry Wynegar, E-4219, No. A-2878, February Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Willie Gentry Wynecar, convicted of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of York County on January 18, 1954, computed from December 15, 1953 be commuted from 2½ years to 2 years, 3 months, 10 days expiring on March 25, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant was sentenced for the crime of larceny and receiving stolen goods. He was sentenced for from 2½ to 5 years, effective December 15, 1953, and is now confined in the State Penitentiary at Rockview.

The applicant's offense consisted of entering a number of business places in York County and stealing money and merchandise.

The sentencing Judge, the Honorable Walter I. Anderson, expressed his opposition to the commutation of this sentence, but the District Attorney of York County, however, stated that he was not opposed to the commutation of his minimum sentence.

During the applicant's incarceration the applicant has made a satisfactory institutional adjustment. He is a first offender and his progress in the institution has been most favorable.

The applicant is married and has nine children, the oldest being nineteen years of age and the youngest being three years of age. From reports received by the Board this family is in straitened circumstances, depending entirely upon the assistance received from the State and from private charities. The family is undergoing extreme hardship.

The Board believes that this man, who has only a prior juvenile record of one offense, and has served almost his entire minimum sentence, should be released because no good purpose can be achieved by having him remain in the custody of the State for a period of less than four months. The Board, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted.

Lieutenant Governor.

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 19, 1962.

In re application of Albert Bobnic, 5125-D, No. A-3521, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Albert Bobnic, convicted of armed robbery; robbery with accomplice and burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Fayette County on September 5, 1940, computed from July 27, 1940 be commuted from 20 years to 15 years, 10 months expiring on May 27, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until July 27, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Joseph Breslin, No. A-3389, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William Joseph Breslin, convicted of aiding and abetting a lottery in the Court of Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer of Montgomery County, on February 20, 1948 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-six years of age. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Montgomery County on February 20, 1948, for the crime of aiding and abetting a lottery and was placed on six months probation.

It appeared that the applicant, who was employed by the Autocar Company in Ardmore, Pennsylvania, carried in a sealed envelope the bets made by the employees in the plant to a person located outside the plant. The police picked him up when he was engaged in that activity. The applicant maintains that this was the only time he acted as a messenger for his fellow employees.

The trial judge, the Honorable George C. Corson, states: "If you feel that this man should receive a pardon and that he is being handicapped in his business because of the record against him, I would be perfectly satisfied to have such pardon granted." The district attorney of Montgomery County stated to the Parole Agent that he was opposed.

The investigation relative to this application discloses that the applicant is buying his own home, where he resides with his wife and two children. At present he is a real estate broker, having been licensed by the Commonwealth. The applicant states that the record of this offense is interferring in the development of his real estate and insurance brokerage business. This applicant has demonstrated his ability to take his place in society and conduct himself in a very satisfactory manner. His activity in business, his interest in a home and family, all indicate that he will not again offend the laws of this Commonwealth in the future.

The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT—Dissents,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Margie Butler, 5581-D, No. A-323, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Margie Butler, convicted of murder, in the second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 26, 1942, computed from August 21, 1942 be commuted from 20 years to 13 years, 9 months, expiring on May 21, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of her adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing her record. But for this action the applicant, because of her sentence, would remain on parole until August 21, 1962.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends her for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that she be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter J. Carterwright, A-14413, No. ———, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Walter J. Carterwright, convicted of burglary and receiving stolen goods on December 3, 1925, be commuted from a maximum term of 6 years to a new maximum term of 5 months, expiring on May 3, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

Under the practice following in Noveber 1925 the sentences of this applicant were compiled and entered on the records as a minimum of 18 years and a maximum of 36 years. Under the ruling of the Supreme Court in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, ex rel., Thomas

Lynch v. Stanley P. Ashe, Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, the practice of lumping sentences was declared to be without legal justification. The Pardon Board in 1936 agreed to a formula which provided, in effect, that those prisoners sentenced before the opinion was handed down in the Lynch case would not be adversely affected. However, the applicant had been transferred to Farview State Hospital on December 20, 1943 and was only returned from Farview State Hospital on February 10, 1956, and, therefore, was not given the right to apply for parole at the expiration of his minimum sentences.

Under the ruling of the Supreme Court as set forth, this applicant will be compelled to serve more time than the combined total of his minimum sentences before he will be eligible for release on parole.

Therefore, the Warden of the Western State Penitentiary, prepared and forwarded to us forms as used in all previous cases under this ruling of the Supreme Court, which form is attached herewith.

This applicant is 56 years of age. He was confined in the Farview State Hospital for 12 years and 2 months, and has been continuously imprisoned for more than 30 years. He has no prior criminal record.

The Board, in view of the decision of the Supreme Court, and in view of the fact that this applicant had no prior record, and has served more than 30 years, and the further fact that the authorities at the institution consider the applicant a suitable subject for parole, recommend that his maximum sentence on Bill No. 101, November Sessions, 1925, be commuted to a maximum of 5 months, to expire on May 3, 1956.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

In re application of Walter Clark, 467, No. A-1456, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Walter Clark, convicted of assault with intent to commit robbery; felonious assault in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on May 19, 1939, computed from April 25, 1939 be commuted from 18 years to 17 years, 1 month, expiring on May 25, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 25, 1957.

In re application of Samuel D'Amore, 2120-D, No. 6308, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Samuel D'Amore, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 5, 1940, computed from December 11, 1939 be commuted from 20 years to 16 years 5 months, expiring on May 11, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 11, 1959.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Harry Doern, convicted of assault with intent to commit armed robbery; felonious assault in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 19, 1939, computed from April 25, 1939 be commuted from 20 years to 17 years, 1 month, expiring on May 25, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 25, 1959.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Dostellio, No. 3493, February Session, 1956. (Recommended March 1956 Session).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William Dostellio convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County, on June 18, 1935 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-three years of age. He was born in Italy. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Delaware County for the crime of robbery for from 10 to 20 years, effective June 18, 1935. His minimum sentence was commuted and he was released on parole on January 14, 1944. Since his release the applicant has been employed by various concerns and at present he is employed by the Yellow Taxicab Company of Chester, Pa.

It appears that recently this applicant was involved in a raid on a gambling house in 1953, in Chester, Pa. However, a letter from Captain Tossoni, of the Chester Police Department, states that the applicant was directed by the Police Department to enter these premises as a "spotter" and helped the police effect an entrance into the gambling establishment. Captain Tossoni states: "I further wish to inform the Board that since Dostellio has been released from prison in 1944, I see him on the streets daily and I can truthfully state that he has conducted himself in a proper manner, has been in no trouble whatsoever, and appears to me to have become fully rehabilitated." The President Judge, the Honorable Henry G. Sweney, states: "I see no reason why this man should not be granted a pardon."

The Board of Immigration has detained this applicant for deportation on the basis of his not being a citizen and becoming involved in a criminal offense.

The Board of Pardons beleves that this applicant, who for the past ten years or more, has conducted himself in a proper manner, and was received the commendation of his fellow citizens, is deserving of the mercy of this Commonwealth. The Board, therefore, recommends a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas R. Ficklin, No. A-3518, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Thomas R. Ficklin, convicted of Conducting a Lottery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on January 12, 1943 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-six years of age. He was sentenced for from 5 days to 6 months in the Allegheny County Prison, on January 12, 1943. On January 18, 1943 he was paroled.

Since this applicant's release he has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner. At the present time he is active in church work, Bible School and the Men's Brotherhood, and Y.M.C.A. work.

This applicant attended the University of Pittsburgh taking a course in real estate. He successfully passed the examination of the State Realtor's Board for a salesman's and broker's license and is now doing his own real estate business known as the "Paulson Realty Company." It is located in Pittsburgh, Pa.

This applicant is married and resides with his wife and three children in the City of Pittsburgh.

The trial judge, the Honorable J. Frank Graff, states: "As far as my connection with the case is concerned, I have no objection to any action which the Board may see fit to take." The district attorney of Allegheny County likewise stated that he has no objection to the granting of this request.

The Board, in view of the excellent record that this applicant has made since his offense in 1943, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Nicholas Forlano, B-7608, No. A-2265, February Session, 1956. (Recommended March 1956 Session).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Nicholas Forlano, convicted of robbery, etc.

in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on February 9, 1944, computed from January 15, 1944 be commuted from 20 years to 12 years, 4 months expiring on May 15, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of robbery by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia for from 20 to 40 years, effective January 15, 1944.

The applicant, with several accomplices, burglarized business establishments in Philadelphia. Cash in the sum of One Thousand Dollars was secured and about nine automobiles were stolen.

The President Judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, stated that since he had no first hand information on this case he would rely on the Board. The district attorney of Philadelphia states: "Forlano has been punished, at this time, more than the other two men, and I think that that is as it should be. While my position at the hearing was one of opposition, I did not intend for it to be a barrier to this man's release at the present time. If the Board is inclined to grant this defendant clemency, this office would modify its position to one of no opposition at this time."

The prison authorities state that since 1948 the applicant has had an unblemished disciplinary record and has developed insight and control of his behaviour and impulses. The applicant has served over twelve years of his twenty year minimum sentence while his two accomplices were granted commutation,—Simmonette in December 1954 and Calucci in March 1955.

The Board believes that this man has been sufficiently punished and they are of the opinion that if the applicant is released he will conduct himself in a satisfactory manner. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 10, 1958.

In re application of Stanley I. Martin, 6443-D, No. 2582, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Stanley I. Martin, convicted of rape, robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 19, 1928 be commuted from 15 years to 7 years, 11 months, expiring on May 19, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 19, 1963.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles E. Miller, D-7927, No. A-1602, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles E. Miller, convicted of burglary; larceny; assault and battery; aggravated assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on October 11, 1944, computed from August 2, 1944 be commuted from 16½ years to 11 years, 9 months, 20 days, expiring on May 22, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Delaware County for from 16½ to 33 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary on August 2, 1944.

This applicant, together with four accomplices, burglarized several gasoline stations and, while awaiting trial, they were incarcerated in the Delaware County Prison, where they attempted a prison break. The accomplices, with the exception of one, all received light sentences. This applicant received a severe sentence from the late Judge McDade.

The President Judge, the Honorable Henry G. Sweney, states to the Board: "If the prison authorities feel that this man has made a real adjustment I would have no objection to his being released at this time." The district attorney of Delaware County stated that he had no objection to the granting of commutation provided he would be released in another year.

The prison authorities state that this applicant's attitude has been favorable and he has established and maintained an unblemished disciplinary record. There is every indication that this applicant, while incarcerated, has made a very satisfactory adjustment.

The Board believes that this applicant, having served almost twelve years of a sixteen and one-half year minimum sentence, has probably reached the peak of his rehabilitation and since there is every indication that if released to society he will conduct himself in a satisfactory manner, the Board recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George E. Mills, No. A-3519, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that George E. Mills, convicted of violation of the State Liquor Law in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on December 1, 1944 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age. He received suspended sentences from the Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County for a violation of the State Liquor Law, on December 1, 1944.

The applicant was conducting a rooming house in Pittsburgh and on the premises they were selling alcoholic beverages without a license.

Since the offense in 1944, the applicant has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner. However, it is to be noted that he was accused of a violation of the Firearms Act in 1954, but was found not guilty of the offense.

At the present time this applicant is a manager of the Casa Blanca Bar and Grill in Pittsburgh. This real estate is owned by his wife, who is the proprietor although he acts as the manager.

The applicant has had a liquor license since 1951, which was granted by the State Liquor Control Board, and the record indicates that he has conducted this bar and grill in a satisfactory manner. The applicant, and his wife, own the building in which the bar and grill are located.

President Judge William H. McNaugher states: "Apparently he has no other criminal record and I would have no objection to the granting of a pardon if the Board is in agreement with such action." The district attorney of Allegheny County stated to the Board that he had no objection.

The applicant has two daughters, ages eighteen and nineteen.

The Board believes this applicant will continue to conduct himself in a satisfactory manner, and for his future progress in business, recommends a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Thomas Newman, 6975-D, No. A-3520, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Thomas Newman, convicted of robbery; felonious breaking and entry and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Washington County on April 2, 1938, computed from March 26, 1938 be commuted from 20 years to 18 years, 2 months, expiring on May 26, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until Juy 7, 1961.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Barney Wacht, convicted of robbery, being armed with an offensive weapon, felonious entry in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County on April 12, 1933, computed from February 24 ,1933 be commuted from 20 years to 13 years, 3 months, expiring on May 24, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 24, 1963.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Webb, 77477, No. A-3511, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Robert Webb, convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Butler County on August 31, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 9 months expiring on May 31, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as as follows:

This applicant is twenty-seven years of age. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Butler County for the crime of larceny for from 1 to 3 years, in the Allegheny County Workhouse, effective August 31, 1955.

The applicant, with two accomplices, were building a cottage in Slippery Rock Park area and they were helping themselves to various items to be used in the construction of the cottage from surrounding neighbors.

The trial judge, the Honorable Clyde S. Shumaker, stated to the Parole Agent that he did not object to the commutation of sentence. Likewise, the district attorney of Butler County also stated to the agent he would not object to the commutation of sentence.

The applicant's former employer, Raymond Brass and Manufacturing Company, states that his work record was satisfactory and they will offer him employment upon his release.

The applicant had no prior criminal record except motor violations for which he received a small fine. He was honorably discharged from the United States Navy and his reputation in his community is good.

The Board believes that this young man has been taught a lesson in not taking property of other persons and that he will conduct himself in the future in a satisfactory manner. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted when he has served nine months, effective May 31, 1956.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George S. White, Jr., E-5694, No. A-2095, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as as follows:

This applicant is twenty-six years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for from 10 to 20 years for the offense of burglary, to the Philadelphia County Prison, effective June 29, 1948. He is presently confined in the State Penitentiary at Graterford.

The applicant, together with a group of about eighteen other boys were involved in a series of robberies and burglaries and were sentenced by the late Judge McDevitt. Thirteen of these boys were minors and were sent to the Pennsylvania Industrial School. This young man, who had no previous record, received a severe sentence in view of his age.

Since his incarceration the authorities report that he has improved very much and the overall picture from the institutional authorities is most favorable. The staff of the pentitentiary reports that he seems to have acquired a good insight into his behavior and toward his future adjustment.

The president judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, states that he would rely upon the Board. Likewise, the district attorney of Philadelphia County stated he would not oppose the granting of clemency.

The Board believes that this young man, if released, will conduct himself in a satisfactory manner and from all indications he has reached the peak of his rehabilitation. The Board, feeling that this young man should be given an opportunity to prove his ability to conduct himself in society in a proper manner, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Williams, 6978-D, No. A-3487, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of James Williams, convicted of armed robbery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Washington County on March 26, 1938, be commuted from 20 years to a new maximum of 18 years, 2 months, expiring on May 26, 1956; and further recommend that the maximum sentence of James Williams, convicted of robbery and holdup, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Westmoreland County on June 2, 1939, be commuted from 18 years to a new maximum of 16 years, 11 months, 20 days, expiring on May 26, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 26, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Marshall R. Wittman, D-7855, No. 9745, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Marshall R. Wittman, convicted of burglary and robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer of Berks County on August 30, 1944 be commuted from 15 years to 11 years, 9 months expiring on May 30, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of robbery and burglary for from 15 to 30 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Berks County, effective August 30, 1944.

The applicant was arrested as a juvenile and later returned to the Berks County Prison. He escaped from the Berks County Prison at which time he, and his accomplice, took possession of a dwelling and hid from the police. Later, they were surrounded in this dwelling and were captured.

This applicant has a most unfortunate boyhood, as his father was a brutal and unfeeling person, causing this applicant to sleep in sheds on the farm and preventing him from entering the home even to obtain water. The applicant was being beaten by his father with an axe handle and to prevent a brutal beating he shot his father. The applicant then was only 15 years of age. His subsequent conduct is understandable in view of his boyhood experiences.

The trial judge is no longer on the bench. The President Judge, H. Robert Mays, advised the Parole Agent that he will make no recommendation to the application but leaves the matter to the discretion of the Board. Likewise, the district attorney of Berks County stated that he relied entirely on the Board.

The staff in the State Penitentiary at Graterford stated that his overall attitude is favorable and that he has profited a great deal from his incarceration and they believe he is now a good parole risk, and further incarceration will probably have little value. The Board believes that this young man, who suffered so thoroughly as a youth, will conduct himself in a satisfactory manner if released. The Board, therefore, recommends commutation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of Lee Yanero, 7916-C, No. 5067, March Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Lee Yanero, convicted of murder, second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Carbon County on Ocotber 17, 1938, computed from September 5, 1938 be communted from 20 years to 17 years, 8 months expiring on May 5, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 5, 1958.

In re application of Joseph Angelo, No. A-3532, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph Angelo, convicted of robbery and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on January 17, 1930 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as as follows:

This applicant is forty-one years of age. He plead guilty ot the offense of robbery, larceny of automobile and larceny in the Courts of Allegheny County and was sentenced for from five to ten years in the Allegheny County Workhouse.

The applicant was paroled on October 17, 1932, and since that time he has conducted himself in an exemplary manner. He has been employed in various steel mills throughout the Western part of Pennsylvania.

The applicant is active in the United Steel Workers of America and has risen to the position of Sub-district Director in the State of California. The applicant is now a resident of the City of Richmond, California. The California Board of Parole submitted to us a report in which they state: "From all indications subject has made a very satisfactory adjustment and the recommendation for clemency would be in order."

The trial judge is deceased. The Assistant District Attorney of Allegheny County stated to the Board that his office was not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The Board believes that this applicant, who has conducted himself so admirably for the past twenty-four years is deserving of the mercy of the Commonwealth and, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,

In re application of Charles Berydas, 3822-C, No. 9070, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due

public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Charles Berydas, convicted of being armed to rob in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 13, 1940, computed from March 2, 1940 be commuted from 50 years to 16 years, 3 months expiring on June 2, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 2, 1990.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Max Asherman, No. A-3564, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Max Asherman, cnovicted of receiving stolen goods and conspiracy in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County, on December 18, 1940 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-nine years of age. He plead guilty to the offense of receiving stolen goods and conspiracy on the eighteenth day of December 1940 and was sentenced for from two months to two years in the Philadelphia County Prison.

The offense consisted of purchasing about one dozen watches for the old gold. It appeared that this merchandise had been stolen by the seller and there is some question as to whether or not the applicant was aware of the character of the merchandise. The applicant plead guilty, however, to the charge and made restitution to all concerned.

Since the release of the applicant from the County Prison in 1941, he has been steadily employed. He is associated with a business known as the Quakertown Cooperative.

The applicant is married and the report the Board received indicates that he has conducted himself in an exemplary manner since his release from the County Prison fifteen years ago.

The District Attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of this pardon and the sentencing judge, the Honorable Francis Shunk Brown, Jr., likewise states he is not opposed.

The applicant desires this pardon so that he may be able to obtain business credit, which he is prevented from so doing by reason of his prior record.

The Board recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

In re application of William Berman, No. A-3569, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that William Berman, convicted of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County, on May 26, 1924 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is now fifty-six years of age and was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court for the crime of receiving stolen goods. The applicant plead guilty to the offense and on the same day received a suspended sentence.

The offense consisted in purchasing a diamond ring from a thief. The thief was later apprehended and in that manner the applicant became involved in the offense. The applicant returned the ring to the real owner making complete restitution.

The applicant is now involved in a deportation action and the Board is informed that if this offense is pardoned he will be able to avoid deportation.

The applicant is married and resides with his wife and family. The investigation reveals that he is presently employed by the Sterling Metalware Company, and that his earnings are substantial.

The trial judge, the Honorable Hazel H. Brown, states: "I know of no reason why the pardon should not be granted." The district attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The Board recommends that this offense be pardoned so that the applicant need not be deported.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until October 8, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of Alexander P. Capp, 6717-D, No. 8218, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Alexander P. Capp, convicted of murder, in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on April 2, 1940, computed from October 25, 1939 be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, 8 months expiring on June 25, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Philip C. Checchia, No. A-3545, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Philip C. Checchia, convicted of possession of burglary tools and setting up an illegal lottery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on January 31, 1927 and May 10, 1933 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age. The applicant was found guilty of the offense of possession of burglary tools in Jauary 1927 and was placed on probation for three years; and in May 1933 he plead guilty to an offense of setting up an illegal lottery and was placed on probation for a period of one year. The applicant, in fact, has never served any time in prison, or any penal institution.

The applicant has, since 1933, been steadily employed in various business places in Philadelphia. At present the applicant is engaged in manufacturing and marketing fishing lures and tackle. In order to expand his business, which thus far has proved rather successful, it is necessary for him to obtain credit, and he states the record of these two offenses some twenty-five years ago, has interfered with his advancement.

The District Attorney of Philadelphia County stated to the Board that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter. The trial judge is deceased.

During the years the applicant has conducted himself in an exemplary manner and he served in the United States Armed Forces in 1945 and received an honorable discharge.

The Board believes that this man is deserving of the mercy of the Commonwealth and, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Harold E. Doriot, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Westmoreland

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until August 29, 1966.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Henry Linn, No. 2446, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John Henry Linn, convicted of arson and accessory to arson in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Columbia County, on March 29, 1953 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Columbia County for from five to ten years in the Eastern State Penitentiary for the crime of Arson, and Accessory to Arson, in March 1933.

The applicant plead guilty, together with accomplices, to setting fire to two buildings in Columbia County. These young men were all members of a volunteer fire company and set these unoccupied buildings afire for the purpose of fighting the fires and the resulting excitement.

The minimum sentence of this applicant was commuted in November 1953 and since that date he has lead a law-abiding life.

The District Attorney of Columbia County, the Honorable Howard R. Berninger, states that his office is not opposed to the granting of clemency. Likewise, the Chief Probation Officer of Columbia County states: "After discussing the matter with Judge Kreisher, after my investigation, he has asked me to inform you that this Court will not oppose this petition for clemency."

The applicant is married, has four children and resides in his own home in Berwick, Pa. At present he is employed as a die-maker in the American Car and Foundry Company of Berwick, Penna.

The Board believes that this man, who has lead an exemplary life for the past twenty years, is entitled to the mercy of the Commonwealth, and, therefore, recommend that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Miller, No. A-3550, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph Miller, convicted of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on January 31, 1947 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age. He plead guilty to the offense of receiving stolen goods on January 31, 1947, received a suspended sentence, and was placed under probation for five years. His offense consisted of purchasing a quantity of cigarettes from a truck driver employed by the Enright Cigar Company. The truck driver had evidently stolen this merchandise from his employer and then sold it, at a reduced figure, to the applicant.

The applicant made complete restitution and he was released from probation in about one year following the sentence. Since that time the applicant has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner.

The applicant resides in Pittsburgh in a good residential area with his wife and two children. At present he is employed as Manager of a business known as Miller's Cafe, Pittsburgh, Pa. The report indicates that the place is well furnished, and gives the appearance of a well-organized and well-operated business. It might be said that this business is owned by his father and he is acting as the manager.

The trial judge, the Honorable Samuel A. Weiss, states that "I have no objection to whatever action the Board may take." The Assistant District Attorney of Allegheny County stated to the Board that all reports indicate the applicant is a law-abiding citizen and he has no objection to the granting of clemency. The Board, therefore, recommends a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

In re application of Marion Miller, 6330-C, No. 8949, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Marion Miller, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 13, 1943, computed from April 19, 1943 be commuted from 40 years to 13 years, 2 months expiring on June 19, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 19, 1983.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 18, 1969.

In re application of John Henry Reed, 5124-C, No. 7765, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John Henry Reed, convicted of burglary and armed robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on January 13, 1943, computed from November 28, 1942 be commuted from 20 years to 13 years, 7 months expiring on June 28, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 28, 1962.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Agabito Rocchi, No. A-3566, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Agabito Rocchi, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Northampton County, on June 26, 1922 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-five years of age. He was sentenced for the offense of voluntary manslaughter for from six to eleven years in 1922.

The facts of his offense appeared to be that he was invited to the home of the victim and upon entering, the victim made a gesture toward his coat pocket whereupon the applicant shot the victim. It appeared that there had been ill-feeling between the applicant and victim for sometime prior to the fatal shooting.

The applicant was discharged from the Eastern State Penitentiary at the expiration of his minimum sentence, and since that time has conducted himself as a law-abiding citizen.

The Board has a letter from the District Attorney of Northampton County in which he states: "This office recommends that the pardon be granted to him." Likewise, the President Judge, the Honorable William C. Barthold, states that the propriety of the granting of a pardon is left to the discretion of the Board.

Inquiry by the Board of Parole reveals that the applicant enjoys an excellent reputation in Easton and that he is now residing in his own home with his son and son's wife. The applicant is a widower.

The applicant is employed as a painter doing interiors and exteriors of homes in the Easton area. The Board has in its file numerous letters from individuals and associations in Easton speaking of the fine character and reputation of the applicant.

The applicant, due to a visit to Italy several years ago, has run into difficulty with the United States Department of Immigration and he is in danger of being deported. It would appear that a pardon is required in order to avoid deportation.

In view of the excellent reputation that the applicant bears and the law-abiding life he has lived for the past twenty-five years, the Board has no hesitancy in extending the mercy of the Commonwealth, and, therefore, recommends a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony P. Russo, No. 8660, April Session 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Anthony P. Russo, convicted of highway robbery; entering a building and larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on June 27, 1938, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions Courts of Allegheny County for the crimes of armed robbery; breaking and entering and larceny, and received a sentence of for from six to twelve years in the Allegheny County Workhouse in June 1938.

His offenses consisted in the breaking and entering of several business places and also holding up a motorist on the highway. In all these offenses the applicant, or his accomplices, were armed. The applicant plead guilty.

The Board of Pardons, on the tenth day of March 1948 commuted the maximum sentence of the applicant from twelve years to nine years ten months, effective on the twenty-seventh day of March 1948.

Since 1948 the applicant has not been under supervision of the Board of Parole and has proved to be a law-abiding citien. For the past five years he has been engaged in the real estate business and at present conducts his own business known as the Russo Realty Company, in Pittsburgh. He has demonstrated his ability in that field of business.

The applicant is married, has three children and owns his own home. He states it is necessary for him to be bonded in order to carry on his business affairs and he finds that his record interferes with his obtaining a fidelity bond, which he requires from time to time.

The trial judge is deceased. The Assistant District Attorney of Allegheny County stated to the Board that the applicant has proved to be law-abiding and, therefore, there is no objection to a pardon being granted. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY N. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT S. COHEN,
Attorney General.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 3, 1964.

In re application of Clifford Clair Shoener, No. A-3549, April Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Clifford Clair Shoener, convicted of breaking and entering and larceny, in the Court of Quarter Session of Schuylkill County, on January 5, 1937 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-five years of age. He, together with four other young boys, averaging sixteen years of age, were engaged in a series of breaking and entering in Orwigsburg, Schuylkill County, Pa. He plead guilty to the offenses and was sentenced for from five to fifteen years but the sentence was immediately suspended and he was placed on probation in custody of the Probation Officer.

The applicant has married since the offenses took place. He owns his own home and is the father of six children. He is employed by Rau Brothers of Hamburg, Pa., dealers in electrical appliances, as a repairman.

The applicant is very much interested in the United States Army Reserve and is at present a Master Sergeant in the 310th Transportation Company. His Commanding Officer personally appeared and spoke very highly of the character and ability of the applicant.

The Honorable Cyrus M. Palmer writes the Board as follows: "I am in favor of granting a pardon." The District Attorney advised the Board of Parole he would leave the matter entirely to the discretion of the Board.

The Board believes that this young man, who has proved his ability as a citizen, as a skilled workman, as a non-commissioned officer in the United States Reserve, is entitled to the mercy of the Commonwealth, and the Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Raymond Barkowski, 6572-C, No. A-3596, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Raymond Barkowski, convicted of burglary in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on June 8, 1943, computed from that date be commuted from 15 years to 3 years, 1 month, 10 days expiring on July 18, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 8, 1968.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Cecil Barton, 5130-E, No. A-3636, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Cecil Barton, convicted of killing a human being by mistake in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bradford County on February 10, 1956, computed from March 1, 1956 be commuted from 2 years to 3 months, 10 days, expiring on June 11, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Bradford County for the crime of killing a human being by mistake under the game laws of this Commonwealth. He was sentenced to two years in the Bradford County Prison, plus a fine of $500.00, effective March 1, 1956.

It appears that the applicant, his wife and a friend of many years standing, went out on their annual hunting trip for deer in the Fall of 1955. They had made two drives prior to the accident and on the third drive the applicant was going along the upper ridge when he saw a movement in the bushes about twenty-five yards in front of him. He believed he saw the tail of a deer. The victim heard the applicant shout that he was going to shoot and replied: "Go ahead and shoot." When the applicant did shoot he had shot his friend in the right side of the face and he was dead.

The applicant and the victim were both friends of many years standing and there was no indication that any feeling of unfriendliness, malice or hatred had existed between them. The tragedy was a pure accident although under the game laws the applicant was properly indicted and sentenced.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable William M. Rosenfield, stated that the "killing was inexcusable and seemed to disturb a great many of the careful hunters who have expressed their approval of this sentence." The district attorney of Bradford County stated he had no objection to clemency.

The applicant is an employee of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, and the sentencing judge permits the applicant to leave the County Prison one day a month to make a run on the railroad in order to preserve his seniority rights.

The Board received a letter from the wife of the victim, under oath, stating that she believes the applicant has been sufficiently punished for this unforunate tragedy. The Board also received word from the present Burgess and past Burgesses of Sayre Borough, Bradford County, requesting a commutation of this sentence. There is also in the file petitions signed by many persons from the Borough of Sayre and County of Bradford, requesting leniency.

The Board believes that this applicant has been sufficiently punished for the unfortunate accident in which his friend was killed and therefore recommends that his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Fred Fiore, 4384E, No. A-3413, December Session, 1955. (Recommended May, 1956 Session).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Fred Fiore, convicted of bribery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on April 2, 1954, computed from October 10, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 8 months, expiring on June 10, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Allegheny County for from one to two years in the Allegheny County Prison for the offense of bribery, effective October 10, 1955.

It appeared that the applicant, in order to influence the Borough Council of Clairton, gave a bribe of one thousand dollars to the Mayor and two Councilmen of that city, for the purpose of influencing their official action in connection with the awarding of a strip mine contract on City-owned property.

The applicant likewise is connected with the construction company which has made a bid for clearing and grading the land on which a large housing development is to be erected in Homestead, Penna. This housing development is a very important project in the Pittsburgh area by reason of the expansion of the Jones-McLaughlin Steel Company. Because of this expansion the City of Pittsburgh will lose over five hundred homes which would be a serious loss to that community. The applicant has undertaken to clear the area for the development project at such a figure that if his company is unable to proceed, the development would be seriously affected.

The Board is in receipt of letters from the Urban Development Authority of Pittsburgh urging clemency. Also before the Board appeared a personal representative of the 15th Ward Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh, and personal representatives of the United Steel Workers. These men all stated that Mr. Fiore's management and supervision of this work is vital to the progress and success of this undertaking. The Board understands that the contract has been awarded and that the work is ready to start. It is stated that it is very necessary that this applicant be released so that he can give the job his personal attention.

The Board believes that the general welfare and prosperity of the citizens of the 15th Ward of Pittsburgh should be promoted and that nothing should be done to interfere or delay the progress of this development. Therefore, the Board recommends that clemency be extended to the applicant and that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
NOT SITTING,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Deward B. Flynn, 8261-C, No. 6953, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Deward B. Flynn, convicted of breaking and entering, larceny of auto in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on March 25, 1941, computed from January 4, 1941 be commuted from 10 years to 5 years, 7 months, expiring on August 4, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 4, 1961.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of David A. Geier, 75163, No. A-3678, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of David A. Geier, convicted of sodomy in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on March 5, 1954, computed from February 11, 1954 be commuted from 3 years to 2 years, 4 months expiring on June 11, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age. He was convicted of the crime of sodomy and sentenced to the Allegheny County Workhouse for from 3 to 10 years, effective February 11, 1954.

The offense consisted of his acts of perversion with young boys in their teens. The applicant is a veteran of the World War II and can be admitted to the Veterans' Hospital in accordance to a letter received from the hospital. Unquestionably, the applicant needs psychiatric treatment which is not available in the Allegheny County Workhouse.

Dr. Lee G. Sewall, a psychiatrist of Pittsburgh, recommends that this applicant be given treatment which would include medication and extensive psychiatric treatment.

At the hearing the assistant district attorney of Allegheny County, Louis Abromson, requested that he be permitted to study the case and write his report to us. The Board is in receipt of a letter in which the assistant district attorney states he has no objection to the granting of commutation in view of the urgent need for psychiatric treatment.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Harry M. Montgomery, wrote the Board as follows: "I oppose commutation unless medical testimony makes necessary a release prior to the expiration of the minimum sentence."

The Board has, as stated, the opioion of competent medical testimony urging the special treatment for the rehabilitation of this applicant. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of Floyd Goodwin, 4013-A, No. 5778, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Floyd Goodwin, convicted of armed robbery, robbery with accomplice, robbery with violence, larceny of automobile, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Fayette County on February 6, 1940, computed from December 24, 1939, be commuted from 25 years to 16 years, 7 months, expiring on July 24, 1956; and further recommend that the maximum sentence of Floyd Goodwin, convicted of breaking and escaping prison and larceny of automobile, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Centre County on August 9, 1944, computed from January 19, 1947, be commuted from 20 years to 9 years 6 months, 5 days, expiring on July 24, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 19, 1967.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of Nicholas Goshy, 2197-C, No. 8874, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Nicholas Goshy, convicted of murder, in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on May 20, 1940, computed from March 29, 1940, be commuted from 18 years to 16 years, 4 months expiring on July 29, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 29, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Irene Green, 3012, No. A-3615, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Irene Green, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 30, 1953, computed from December 29, 1953 be commuted from 20 years to 2 years, 6 months expiring on June 29, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-three years of age. She was convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to an indefinite sentence in the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy, Penna., on December 29, 1953.

The applicant was an employee in a small basement restaurant and the victim, who was a woman weighing over two hundred pounds, came into the restaurant and caused such a disturbance that the applicant, to save herself from injury, ran out of her place of employment. A short time later, the applicant met the victim on the street and this large woman attacked the applicant. In self-defense the applicant picked up a piece of broken glass, or a broken bottle, and stabbed the victim in the neck, causing her death. The applicant plead not guilty but was found by the jury and sentenced for from an indefinite term to a maximum of 20 years in the State Industrial Home for Women.

The trial judge, the Honorable Theodore L. Reimel, stated "I have come to the conclusion now as I did at the close of the trial, that if I were to impose a minimum and maximum sentence upon this defendant, I would have imposed a sentence of not less than two nor more than ten years. I recommend that the application be granted." The district attorney's office stated in writing that there was no opposition to the granting of commutation.

During her incarceration she has conducted herself properly and is mentally and physically able to assume family responsibilities. The applicant had no previous criminal record. The Board believes this killing was in self-defense, and therefore recommends her sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of Luther Holden, 1703-C, No 5155, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Luther Holden, convicted of robbery, felonious breaking and entry, larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Washington County on April 2, 1938, computed from March 26, 1938 be commuted from 20 years to 18 years, 4 months expiring on July 26, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 26, 1958.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ernest E. Humberston, C-897, No. A-1750, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

1949, computed from October 25, 1948, be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 7 months, 20 days, expiring on June 15, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-five years of age. He was sentenced by the Court of Fayette, Somerset and Westmoreland Counties as he, together with accomplices, was involved in a series of robberies in all three counties. He received a suspended sentence in Somerset County. The sentences were in many instances concurrent so that his total time to be served is 17 to 85 years. The accomplices have all been released by commutation of their sentences. This applicant is the last of the group involved in these robberies.

The sentencing judges in the three counties have expressed no opposition to the extension of clemency. The district attorney of Westmoreland County expressed no opposition to the commutation of sentence.

During his incarceration the applicant has conducted himself in an exemplary manner and the prison staff reports that he has made progress during his confinement and is at present holding an important job in the tag plant. The entire staff believes that he has been rehabilitated and recommends a commutation of sentence

The Board has been advised that this applicant will be under proper supervision and will have a job and a home that will be satisfactory. The Board, therefore, recommends that clemency be extended to this applicant by the Commonwealth, and that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of James R. Jackson, No. A-3595, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that James R. Jackson, convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Tioga County, on April 20, 1938 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty years of age. He received a suspended sentence and was placed on probation for a period of three years for the offense of larceny in April 1938. The offense for which he was sentenced was a youthful indiscrimination of the applicant wherein he and his friend, returning home, saw an overturned automobile on the highway. They removed from this overturned automobile some of its equipment.

The applicant, since this offense in 1938, has conducted himself in a most exemplary manner. He is married, resides with his wife and family in Wellsboro, Penna. During World War II he had a distinguished military record and following the closing of the war he continued his military activities with the Pennsylvania National Guard. At present he is employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as an Administrative Assistant for Headquarters Detachment 83d Medical Group, Pennsylvania National Guard, Wellsboro, Penna. The applicant is desirous of improving his rank and requires a pardon in order to qualify for advancement.

The Board is in receipt of a letter from the President Judge, the Honorable Charles G. Webb, recommending that a pardon should be granted by the Board. The present district attorney of Tioga County states: "In my opinion, this is a proper case for a pardon since a pardon would serve to clear the record of a responsible citizen.'

Numerous letters are in the file from persons in all walks of life recommending very highly this application for clemency. The Commanding Officer, as well as the First Lieutenant of his Division likewise writes, recommending clemency. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth,
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Joseph Kaminsky, No. A-3456, January Session, 1956. (Recommended May 1956 Session).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that John Joseph Kaminsky, convicted of breaking and entering and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Fayette County, on December 30, 1931 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-three years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Fayette County for the crime of breaking and entering and larceny for from 3 to 6 years, in the Western State Penitentiary.

His offense consisted of breaking into a business place, accompanied by three men and stealing merchandise of the value of about $35.00.

Since his release in 1934 the applicant has conducted himself in a fairly satisfactory manner. He has been employed for the last twenty years by the Republic Steel Corporation.

In November 1955 the applicant was elected Constable of Redstone Township, Fayette County. The Board understands that he is ineligible to act in the office of Constable to which he was elected unless he receives a pardon for the offense committed when he was nineteen years old.

The Board has carefully investigated this applicant and has made numerous inquiries throughout Fayette County as to his character and reputation. The Board is satisfied that his conduct has been satisfactory and as proof of his reputation in his community he was elected the Constable in November 1955.

The Board also has numerous letters from citizens of every walk of life in Fayette County and from the Borough of Republic, setting forth in a very simple way their opinion as to the character and reputation of this applicant.

The Board, therefore, has no hesitancy in recommending that a pardon be granted, and so recommends.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

The above recommendation is approved:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Steve Lozer, convicted of armed robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on November 19, 1946, computed from November 19, 1946, be commuted from 15 years, to 9 years, 8 months, expiring on July 19, 1956

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 19, 1961.

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until October 24, 1959.

In re application of Beatrice Pavusek, No. A-3637, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Beatrice Pavusek, convicted of receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County, on February 24, 1953 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-six years of age. She was sentenced for the offense of receiving stolen goods and was placed on probation for a period of twenty-three months, commencing February 24, 1953. She was obliged to make restitution in the amount of $779.00.

This applicant was born in Europe and met her husband in Belgium and married him during World War II. The son of the applicant by her first marriage, came to the United States in 1952 and obtained employment in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, in Pomeroy's Department Store. The son stole a quantity of merchandise and brought it home. The applicant realized that her son was unable to acquire all this merchandise on the small salary he was receiving, but received it. Upon the arrest of the son, the applicant and her husband became involved as receivers.

Because of this offense the applicant is to be deported and is requesting this pardon so that she may leave the country and re-enter as a permanent resident. The immigration law would prevent her from re-admittance if she did not receive the clemency of the Commonwealth.

The applicant has had no previous record and from all reports she has conducted herself in a very satisfactory manner.

The District Attorney, Huette F. Dowling, stated to the Board that he had no objection to the granting of clemency. The trial judge, the Honorable Paul G. Smith, is not sitting on the Bench on account of ill health, but the President Judge, the Honorable William H. Neely, stated that any action the Board would take would be satisfactory to him. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER—Dissents
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Gregory C. Peterson, No. A-3634, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Gregory C. Peterson, convicted of burglary and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Washington County, on June 7, 1946 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age. He was sentenced by the Quarter Sessions Court of Washington County for from 1 to 10 years for the crimes of burglary and larceny, effective February 1946.

The applicant was released in 1947 and since his release he has gone to School and taken a civil engineering course and is at the present time employed as a surveyor for the City of Erie, Pennsylvania. Likewise, he is at present continuing his studies at Cannon College, Erie, Penna.

Since his release in 1947 the applicant has lead an exemplary life, has married and has a family and is, in every respect, a law-abiding citizen.

The applicant is desirous of obtaining a pardon in order to take a civil service examination for a better position. He believes that this record would interfere with the successful result of such an examination, as a clear record is a requisite.

The Board is in receipt of many fine letters from citizens of Erie and Washington Counties.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Roy I. Carson, states that he believes this applicant merits every consideration by the Board.

The Board believes tat this young man has paid bitterly for a youthful offense and has proved, to the satisfaction of his friends and employers, his rehabilitation. Therefore, the Board recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT—Dissents

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph William Purka, No. A-3639, May Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph William Purka, convicted of manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County, on January 31, 1933 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-six years of age. He was convicted of the crime of manslaughter and sentenced for from 2 to 4 years in the Luzerne County Prison on January 31, 1933 effective September 29, 1932. The applicant was a resident of New York and visited his uncle in Luzerne County. On August 13, 1932 he was invited to attend a party at which there was some drinking. The applicant was delegated to be the "bouncer." During the evening the victim grabbed one of the girls who made an outcry and the applicant went to the aid of the young woman, whereby the applicant was struck in the face by blows from the victim. The applicant knocked the victim to the ground and was set upon by three of the victim's friends. A general fight ensued and in the course of the melee the victim was stabbed and subsequently died from the wounds.

Since his release he returned to his home in Brooklyn, New York.

The President Judge, the Honorable W. Alfred Valentine, wrote the Board as follows: "I have gone over the record and make no objection to the granting of clemency." Likewise, the district attorney states: "I do not have any objections to the granting of a pardon under the facts I have studied."

The New York State Board of Parole writes us that their investigation discloses that since his release in September 1934 the applicant has maintained an unblemished record, appears to have made a very satisfactory adjustment. At present the applicant is employed by the Grace Line as a longshoreman. He is married and has two sons.

The applicant is desirous of taking his civil service examination to become a Sanitary Health Officer and it is necessary that his record be unblemished. The Board believes that this applicant is deserving of the clemency of the Commonwealth and recommends a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Caesar Ricci, No. A-3460, March Session, 1956. (Recommended May 1956 Session).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Caesar Ricci, convicted of bribery, misdemeanor in office, and conspiracy in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on April 2, 1954, computed from October 10, 1955 be commuted from 1 year to 9 months expiring on July 10, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-one years of age. He was sentenced for the offense of bribery, misdemeanor in office and conspiracy to pay a fine of $2,000 and to imprisonment in the Allegheny County Prison for from 1 to 2 years.

His offense consisted in accepting a bribe in the amount of One Thousand Dollars from Fred Fiore to influence his vote as a member of the City Council of Clairton to award a contract for coal stripping on city-owned land. The applicant denied his guilt and alleged that the whole matter arose from factional politics. However, the jury believed the sole witenss against him, to wit, the Mayor of the City of Clairton. The applicant appealed his conviction to the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, to wit: 177 Sup. 556, which Court substantiated the judgment of the lower court. Undoubtedly the political disputes in Clairton had a great bearing on this case and was probably the influencing feature in the conviction.

The applicant has conducted himself very well in the County Prison and is employed in the jail bakery. The Board has numerable letters from citizens of Clairton, urging that clemency be extended to the applicant. There is on file a strong letter from the present Mayor of Clairton, the Honorable Kenneth L. Stilley. Likewise, a letter from the General Superintendent of the United States Steel Corporation. Also letters from lawyers, doctors, businessmen, who hold prominent places in the life of the community urging the Board to extend clemency to the applicant. Certainly, a person who held a prominent position in life is severely punished by having been confined for even one day in prison. The Board believes he has been punished, and recommends commutation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 11, 1961.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Vincenzo Cosentino, D-5304, No. A-950, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Vincenzo Cosentino, convicted of murder, first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Luzerne County on July 12, 1940, computed from April 4, 1940 be commuted from life imprisonment to 16 years, 7 months, 10 days, expiring on November 14, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is seventy-one years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court to life imprisonment for the crime of murder in the first degree.

It appears from the record that the applicant was purchasing a home from the victim. He was unable to keep up the mortgage payments and transferred the property back to the owner who, in turn, gave him a lease on the premises with an option to re-purchase. The owner came to the house one day and was attempting to move a stairway from the property when an altercation between the applicant and the victim arose. The applicant procured his own pistol and shot the victim.

The applicant had no previous criminal record and this was his first offense and his first violation of the law in any way.

The trial judge, the Honorable W. Alfred Valentine, stated to the parole agent that he will not oppose the application but will rely on the Board. The district attorneys' office stated that his office recommends commutation.

The Board very seriously considered this application, involving as it did, the murder of a man but the Board has no reason to believe that this applicant, now well up in years, will again offend against society. He has an excellent record in the penitentiary. He has performed very adequately within the limits of his advanced age and intellectual level. He is the prison barber.

The Board, therefore, recommends commutation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Melvin Curry, E-858, No. A-2909, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Melvin Curry, convicted of being armed to rob; robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on February 2, 1949, computed from January 13, 1949 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 10 months, expiring on November 13, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-five years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court for from 10 to 20 years for the crime of armed robbery, effective January 13, 1949.

The applicant, with three accomplices, attempted a hold-up on the streets of Philadelphia. The victim happened to be a police officer off duty. As a result, shots were fired and one of the accomplices was wounded. Upon the arrest of the wounded accomplice the other participants, including the applicant, were arrested.

The applicant was later sentenced for another crime of armed robbery for from 12½ to 25 years, to be served consecutively.

The trial judge is no longer on the bench and the President Judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, had no comment to make as to the merits of the application. The district attorney stated he was not opposed to the granting of commutation of the first offense of 10 to 20 years, provided the second sentence of 12½ to 25 years was not disturbed.

The applicant had a minor juvenile criminal record and this offense was in effect his first major crime.

The Board recommends that his first sentence of 10 to 20 years be commuted so that he may enter upon the serving of his second sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

In re application of Louis A. Cutillo, D-9802, No. A-1366, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Louis A. Cutillo, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on July 31, 1947, computed from July 23, 1947 be commuted from 10 years to 9 years, 4 months, expiring on November 23, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court for the crime of robbery for from 10 to 20 years, effective July 22, 1947.

The applicant, together with two accomplices, took the sum of $150.00 from the victim. The group was holding a drinking party in the apartment of the applicant when this offense occurred. Two of the accomplices received lesser sentences, have been released and are now on parole.

The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, had no comments to make as to the merits of the application. The district attorney also stated that his office was not opposed to the commutation of the sentence.

The applicant has an excellent prison record and has made some attempt of self-improvement during his incarceration. It is understood by the Board that he is assured of employment upon his release and will reside in a good home. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

In re application of Henning O. Danielson, 454-C, No. 9149, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Henning O. Danielson, convicted of sodomy, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Fayette County on October 16, 1946, to be computed from September 27, 1946, be commuted from 10 years to 9 years 10 months, expiring on July 27, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until September 27, 1956.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

In re application of Raymond Robert Dickson, No. A-3722, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Raymond Robert Dickson, convicted of receiving stolen goods and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on July 13, 1939 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age. He was placed on probation for a period of two years, effective July 13, 1939.

This applicant had no prior criminal record and since 1939 has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner. Indeed, the circumstances of the offense would appear that the applicant in receiving stolen goods from a friend was without knowledge of the fact that it had been stolen, and was holding the merchandise as a favor for the friend.

The Chief Probation Officer of Allegheny County states that the applicant's conduct while on probation was satisfactory and that he has paid all the court costs.

It is to be noted that the applicant was only seventeen years of age at the time of the offense.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable William H. McNaugher, stated that he had no objection to the granting of the pardon. Likewise, the district attorney stated that he had no objection to the granting of a pardon.

Since his release the applicant has been employed by the Monongahela Railroad Company. He resides with his wife and three daughters in his own home in Pittsburgh. He is desirous of obtaining a better position with the railroad and feels that his minor criminal offense of seventeen years ago interferes with his progress. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Mathew J. Fekete, convicted of assault and battery with intent to rob, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Fayette County on April 1, 1948, to be computed from March 5, 1948, be commuted from 10 years to 8 years, 4 months, 10 days, expiring on July 15, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 3, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of George Felice, C-3367, No. A-3098, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of George Felice, convicted of robbery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Westmoreland Cunty on February 26, 1954, computed from January 30, 1954, be commuted from 3 years to 2 years 10 months, expiring on November 30, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of robbery for from three to six years, effective January 30, 1954.

The applicant robbed the Acme Super Market and was subsequently arrested, admitting his guilt. No dangerous weapon was used, although he did have a toy pistol, the vicitm probably believing it to be a genuine weapon.

The trial judge, the Honorable Edward G. Bauer, stated that: "I have no objection to any action the Board may wish to take in the application of the above named petitioner." Likewise, the district attorney states that any action that this Board cares to take in this case will be satisfactory to his office.

The applicant is essentially a first offender and has made a good institutional adjustment. He has taken advantage of the institution's educational advantages and has earned a high school diploma. He is now used by the institution as a teacher of their classes.

The Board believes that this young man has learned a salutary lesson and if released he will not violate the law and will become a good member of society. He is fortunate in having one of his brother's give him employment. His brother is a contractor in Westmoreland County.

The Board, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until July 27, 1960.

In re application of William Giamoni, 7897-D, No. A-262, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of William Giamoni, convicted of murder, second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Northampton County on December 9, 1940, to be computed from October 22, 1940 be commuted from 20 years to 15 years, 9 months, expiring on July 22, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Lawrence L. Gruber, D-9738, No. A-3652, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

to 9 years, 5 months, 10 days, expiring on November 7, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age. He was sentenced for the offenses of robbery and burglary and sentenced for from 1 to 10 years, effective June 7, 1947.

The offense consisted of entering a private home and holding up the occupants at the point of a revolver taking their money. This was the applicant's first offense.

The applicant was released at the expiration of his minimum sentence and his maximum expires in June 1957. The applicant is requesting that his maximum sentence be commuted for the reason that he desires release from parole supervision so he may take a better job at a higher salary.

The applicant is presently residing with his wife and five children in the home which he is purchasing in Harrisburg, Penna. The Board of Parole states that he has complied with the rules of the Board and they have no objection to the commutation of the maximum sentence to release the parolee from further supervision.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Robert E. Woodside, recommends the commutation, believing that the applicant has developed into a reliable citizen. The district attorney of Dauphin County has no objection.

The Board, therefore, has no hesitancy in recommending commutation of the maximum sentence for this applicant, who has demonstrated his rehabilitation over the past nine years.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 8, 1963.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Vernon Richard Johnson, D-8811, No. A-3082, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Vernon Richard Johnson, convicted of robbery, etc., in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on March 25, 1946, computed from February 7, 1946 be commuted from 50 years to 10 years, 9 months, 10 days, expiring on November 17, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. He was sentenced for the crimes of burglary and robbery by the Oyer and Terminer Court for from 50 to 100 years, effective February 7, 1946, and later sentenced for from 1 to 2 years for conspiracy to break prison and escape by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia County on July 12, 1951, which sentence is to follow the Delaware County sentence.

The applicant plead guilty to a number of robberies and burglaries in Delaware County, together with two accomplices. The accomplices received similar sentences and both have been released on commutation of their sentences. This young man is still confined.

The sentencing judge of Delaware County is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Henry G. Sweeney, states: "If the authorities at the Eastern State Penitentiary are satisfied to have this man released I would also be satisfied." Likewise, the district attorney of Delaware County advised the Board that he has no objection to a release of this applicant.

The record indicates that this applicant is a first offender and received a rather severe sentence. During his incarceration he has a good conduct record, and there is every reason to believe he has learned his lesson.

The Board recommends that his Delaware County sentence be commuted so that he may begin to serve his Philadelphia County sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Henry Katarzynski, D-4812, No. A-2235, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Henry Katarzynski, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Berks County on March 26, 1940 be commuted from life imprisonment to 16 years, 8 months, expiring on November 26, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-four years of age. He was sentenced to life imprisonment, effective March 26, 1940.

This applicant, together with four accomplices entered a gasoline station and held up the attendant, demanding his money. The attendant refused and was fatally shot. The entire group of five persons were subsequently arrested and sentenced. Three of the group received sentences of life inmprisonment, and the other two members were sentenced to short terms and were subsequently paroled at the expiration of their minimums.

It is to be noted that one of the accomplices was Marion S. Kapelski, whose sentence of life imprisonment was commuted by the Board in 1955. This Kapelski made a distinguished record in the Eastern State Penitentiary as a self-trained atomic technician.

The applicant here has earned an outstanding institutional record which includes no disciplinary infractions of the rules. He holds a position of responsibility and trust as a clerk in the Deputy Warden's Office. He is mature and stable. He has been quite an efficient clerk and bookkeeper thru self-training and study.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Paul N. Schaeffer, is no longer on the bench but appeared before the Board and made a plea on behalf of this applicant, emphasizing the rehabilitation that has taken place in this man's life. The President Judge, the Honorable H. Robert Mays, advised the Board through the Parole Agent, he will not formally oppose the application. The district attorney states that he has no recommendation and leaves it to the discretion of the Board.

The Board recommends that this sentence be commuted, believing that although a life was taken in the commission of this crime, the offender has demonstrated by his ability, maturity and stability that he is ready to take his place in society and become a law-abiding citizen.

The Board notes that the punishment which he endured has not embittered him but he has used this grievous mistake as a stepping stone to improvement. The Board, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony Perpiglia, D-9870, No. A-2707, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Anthony Perpiglia, convicted of burglary, etc. in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 4, 1947, computed from July 17, 1947 be commuted from 50 years to 9 years, 4 months, expiring on November 17, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of burglary, robbery, aggravated assault and battery for from 50 to 100 years, effective July 17, 1947.

The applicant, at the age of seventeen, became involved with a group of young men and committed a series of robberies and burglaries in the City. Some of his accomplices, who received lesser sentences, had their sentences commuted over the years so that the applicant is one of the last of this group of fifteen, who were involved in these offenses. He received a more severe sentence than the others.

The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, stated that he had no information upon which to express his opinion as to the merits of the application. The district attorney stated he was not opposed to the granting of commutation.

During the past years in which the applicant has been incarcerated he has a good prison record. He also had a satisfactory work record and has some skill as a wood carver. He has also acquired the habit of thrift and has saved nearly $1500.00 during his period of incarceration.

The Board, believing that this applicant has been sufficiently punished, and feeling that he will not again offend against society, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Armedio Petolicchio, No. A-3701, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Armedio Petolicchio, convicted of armed robbery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on November 16, 1934 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. He was placed on a ten year probation for the crime of armed robbery by the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia on November 16, 1934.

His crime consisted of entering a meat plant in Philadelphia, together with two accomplices. One of the accomplices carried a gun and they held up the night watchman of the plant and took about Twenty Dollars.

This applicant had no previous record. The probation period of the applicant expired in 1944 and during the period of probation, and following, the aplicant has conducted himself in a law-abiding manner.

The applicant has been employed by the City of Philadelphia in the Department of Weights and Measures for the past four years. The applicant is married and lives with his wife and daughter in his own home.

The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, advised the Board that he had no information upon which to express an opinion. The district attorney stated that his office was not opposed to the granting of this application.

The Board believes that this applicant, who has demonstrated his reliability as a worthwhile citizen for the past twenty or more years and has been law-abiding in every way, is deserving of a pardon. In the last few years the applicant has suffered from a heart condition aggravated somewhata by the memory of this offense of twenty-two years ago. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER.
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Petrolo, B-7452, No. A-1587, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Petrolo, convicted of murder, first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Fayette County on Oyer and Terminer be commuted from life imprisonment to 15 years, 11 months, 10 days, expiring on November 22, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-five years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Fayette County to life imprisonment for murder in the first degree. The crime consisted of his shooting his friend, following a drinking bout. It appeared that the applicant was living with a woman in a common-law relationship and he learned that she was intimate with his friend. This information caused him to fly into a jealous rage and being under the influence of alcohol, he went to the bedroom of his friend and fired three shots into his friend's body causing immediate death.

During incarceration, the applicant has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner. He has learned the shoe repair trade and is an excellent worker. When he was admitted to the institution he was illiteriate but he has now educated himself to the sixth grade level. The report from the institution states that he evidences no basic criminal or anti-social inclinations.

The trial judge, the Honorable S. John Morrow, states: "His application indicates that for the fifteen years and upwards of his imprisonment his conduct has been very good. Assuming that to be true and likewise as concerns his other representations it would seem that his application merits perhaps more favorable consideration than very many of them do." The district attorney stated to the Parole Agent that his office is not opposed to the granting of clemency.

The applicant had no prior criminal record and from all reports before the Board the applicant has improved his mental ability, learned a trade and has become stable and mature.

The Board believes that if this applicant is released after eighteen years spent in the penitentiary he will not offend the laws of society. The Board further believes that he has been sufficiently rehabilitated and that he has equipped himself to earn his own living, if released, and there is very little chance that he will revert to a life of crime. Therefore, the Board recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT—Dissents
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Phrommer, D-4863, No. A-2816, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of John Phrommer, convicted of burglary and larceny, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 12, 1947, be commuted from 15 years to 9 years, 2 months, expiring on November 22, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-seven years of age. He was sentenced for the crimes of burglary, robbery and larceny for from 15 to 30 years, effective September 12, 1947.

This applicant was a member of a group that held up and robbed business places and apartments.

The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Joseph L. Kun, has no information on which to base his opinion. The office of the district attorney states that they were not opposed to the granting of clemency in this matter.

The applicant holds a responsible position in the carpenter shop of the Philadelphia County Prison and performs his duties with outstanding ability and has a very good conduct record.

The Board believes that this applicant, who has conducted himself so well in prison, and who has, in addition to his duties as a carpenter, learned the trade of watch repairing, has fitted himself to take his place in society. Many of his accomplices have been commuted by the Board and others have been paroled, at expiration of their minimum sentences.

It is to be noted that this applicant assisted the police very materially in rounding up this group and without his assistance the Commonwealth would have been under great difficulty in gaining a conviction. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN—Dissents
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry Ramsey, 630-D, No. 8705, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Harry Ramsay, convicted of aggravated assault & battery, assault to raivsh, solicitation to commit sodomy, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Greene County on March 4, 1944 to be computed from Feb. 27, 1944, be commuted from 13 years to 12 years, 5 months, expiring on July 27, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 27, 1957.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Enio Regna, D-3577, No. 7076, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Enio Regna, convicted of murder, second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on November 7, 1938, to be computed from April 28, 1938, be commuted from 20 years to 18 years, 3 months, expiring on July 28, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 28, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Senauskas, B-6513, No. 3615, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph Senauskas, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Warren County on June 23, 1936, computed from December 23, 1938, be commuted from life imprisonment to 17 years, 11 months, expiring on November 23, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. He was convicted by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of murder in the first degree and sentenced to death by electrocution. This sentence was commuted by the Board of Pardons on the twenty-third day of December, 1938 to life imprisonment. The applicant was confined to prison since 1936 and has been incarcerated for twenty years.

His crime consisted in killing the husband of a woman who was having an affair with one John Polens. Polens employed this applicant, who was then only eighteen years of age, to shoot the husband of his paramour. This act was accomplished and subsequently all parties were arrested and tried and sentenced. The woman received a sentence of 1½ to 3 years in Muncy; Polens was sentenced to death, which sentence was commuted to life in December 1938, and subsequently paroled by a commutation of his sentence in 1952.

Prior to this crime the applicant was arrested, but never convicted, of two offenses. This was his first major offense. During the years of his incarceration the institution reports he has made a consistently excellent prison record. His penitentiary confinement has completely changed him for the better and he has demonstrated his ability to assume responsibility and positions of trust. The prison staff thoroughly recommends his release.

The district attorney of Warren County expresses his opposition, likewise the President Judge, the Honorable Alexander C. Flick, Jr., stated he does not approve of clemency.

The Board, however, is of the opinion that this applicant, who started out in a life of crime, has, over these past twenty years, demonstrated such a change of personality and character that he is fit for society.

The accomplice and the instigator of this whole tragedy have been released these many years. This applicant, then a young man, has borne the brunt of the punishment which all should have received.

The Board gave very serious consideration to this recommendation realizing that this man should receive punishment for his offense, but feeling that the punishment which he has sueffred also carries with it the efforts of the authorities to restore a life to society that will be productive and responsible. The Board believes that the punishment has been deserved, but, this man has risen above it and has demonstrated qualities that fit him for a place in society. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re aplication of Thaddeus John Skalski, E-1659, No. A-1160, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Thaddeus John Skalski, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on May 4, 1950, be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 6 months, 10 days, expiring on November 14, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-six years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for the offense of robbery for from 2½ to 10 years, effective May 4, 1950. The applicant was released on parole at the expiration of his minimum sentence.

The applicant is now the owner of a large carrier truck and drives between Philadelphia and Michigan and Ohio. Information was given to the Board that he is planning to extend his business operations. The Board was informed that supervision of the Parole Board causes inconvenience to his business activities when he is compelled to leave the State on short notice. The Board of Parole has informed the Board of Pardons that they have no objection to the commutation of maximum sentence in order to relieve the parolee from further supervision.

The applicant, together with his accomplices, had held up and robbed several business places. There was no prior record for this applicant and this appears to be his first major offense.

The trial judge, the Honorable Gerald F. Flood, stated that he was not opposed to the commutation of maximum sentence. Likewise, the district attorney's office stated they had no opposition to the commutation of maximum sentence.

The Board, therefore, recommends that the maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Walter Smith, 8272-A, No. A-3663, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Walter Smith, convicted of burglary, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 23, 1940, to be computed from April 10, 1940, be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, 3 months, expiring on July 10, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 10, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William L. Stokes, Jr., 77376, No. A-3461, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William L. Stokes, Jr., convicted of burglary, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on August 11, 1955, computed from July 22, 1955, be commuted from 18 months to 16 months, expiring on November 22, 1956, provided he is admitted to a veterans hospital for the mentally ill.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of burglary by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Allegheny County for from 18 to 36 months, effective July 22, 1955.

The applicant, together with accomplice, broke into the New Era Club and stole a quantity of merchandise and took cash.

Since his incarceration the applicant has been under treatment for a mental condition brought on from the disability he received while in the service of the United States Army.

The trial judge, the Honorable John T. Duff, Jr., states: "I am of the opinion petitioner is mentally ill and that he should receive favorable action to the end that he may enter the said hospital for proper treatment." The district attorney of Allegheny County stated to the Board that he had no opposition to the granting of communtation provided he is admitted to a veterans' hospital for the mentally ill. The Board has been informed that the family of the applicant is much in favor of his admittance to a veterans hospital for the mentally ill and that they will cooperate with the authorities in the admittance of this applicant.

Representations have been made to the Board as to the mental condition of this applicant, and the Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted, provided he is admitted to a veterans hospital for the mentally ill.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Donald M. Stoner, E-1733, No. A-1869, June Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Donald M. Stoner, convicted of burglary and larceny, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lancaster County on June 13, 1950, be commuted from 7½ years to 6 years 5 months, expiring on November 13, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-seven years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Lancaster County for from 7½ to 15 years for the crime of burglary and larceny, on June 13, 1950.

The offense consisted of entering several business places in Lancaster County and stealing money and merchandise.

The trial judge, the Honorable Joseph B. Wissler, stated that he is opposed to the applicant's release. Likewise, the district attorney of Lancaster County expressed his opposition. However, it was pointed out to the Board that this applicant, since his incarceration, has developed into a Laboratory Technician and is so serving in the penitentiary infirmary. His record while confined has been exceptional and he is qualified, upon his release, to accept a job as an X-Ray Technician.

The Board has on file a letter from the Lancaster Osteopathic Hospital stating that upon his release he will be given employment as a Technician in the X-Ray Department of the hospital.

This young man, who entered the penitentiary without a trade, has developed himself to such a degree that upon the recommendation of the Penitentiary physician, he was offered a place on the staff of a well-known Hospital. The Board, therefore, has no hesitancy in recommending the commutation of a man who has demonstrated his rehabilitation during the past six years of his incarceration.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph Yablonski, No. 5638, April Session, 1956. (Recommended June 1956 Session.)

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph Yablonski, convicted of felonious breaking and entry and larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Washington County, on February 2, 1931 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age. He plead guilty to the offense of felonious breaking and entry and larceny, and was sentenced by the Court in February 1931 to pay the costs and undergo imprisonment for from 2 to 4 years in the Allegheny County Workhouse.

The applicant was released at the end of his minimum term and since January 1933 he has conducted himself in a law-abiding manner. Undoubtedly, the applicant was a victim of the depression days and being an unemployed youth he drifted into this type of criminal offense.

Most fortunately the applicant changed his mode of living and rose in the trade in which he was engaged, to wit: coal mining, to become an Executive Board Member of the United Mine Workers of America, District No. 5. There is no question but that this applicant has become a force in his community, having been President of the California Board of Trade, Chairman of the Labors Celebration of the 150th Celebration of the Bill of Rights, member of the Board of National Youth Administration at California State Teacher's College, and a member of other community groups. This applicant is married and the father of three children.

The President Judge, the Honorable Roy I. Carson, states that he has no objection to the granting of pardon as the applicant "should be entitled to the benefit of having his ancient offense obliterated from his civil record." Likewise, the Honorable George T. Cummins, and the Honorable David H. Weiner, Judges of the Common Pleas Court of Washington County, state that they are unanimously in favor of a pardon. The District Attorney states that he was not opposed as the applicant is a well-known and respected citizen of this community. The Board recommends a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph W. Zarowski, No. A-2885, June Session, 1956.

To is Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Joseph W. Zarowski, convicted of burglary and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County, on February 2, 1940 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-three years old. He was sentenced for the crime of burglary and receiving stolen goods for from five days to five years, effective February 2, 1940.

The applicant, with two accomplices, entered the apartment of the victim and stole money and personal property. The applicant served just one day of his five day minimum and was released. Likewise, his accomplices were released.

This was the applicant's first offense and following his release he was under probation for a short time. The Philadelphia authorities report that he was a satisfactory probationer.

Following his release the applicant entered the armed services and was honorably discharged in 1945. Since his release he has been employed by the Board of Revision and Taxes for the County of Philadelphia as a deputy real estate assessor. The supervisor of the office reports that the applicant is a very excellent worker, reliable and trustworthy.

For the past fifteen years the applicant has conducted himself as a law-abiding citizen and holds a position that is a responsible one.

The Board recommends that a pardon be granted this applicant believing that he has demonstrated, without question, his rehabilitation and that he will continue to be a respected and law-abiding citizen of the Commonwealth.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Adam Billings, No. A-3752, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Adam Billings, convicted of Larceny, R.S.G., Conspiracy and Burglary, Possession Burglar Tools, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, August 18, 1921, and on May 17, 1928, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is 56 years of age. He plead guilty to the crime of larceny of a motor vehicle, conspiracy and rsg in Philadelphia County in August, 1921, and in May, 1928. He received a sentence of from 1½ to 2 years on May 1928. Both sentences were served in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The applicant was released at the expiration of his minimum sentence in May 1933 and his maximum sentence expired in May 1938. Since his release this applicant has for the past 17 years conducted himself as a law-abiding citizen. He is now employed by an automobile agency as a mechanic. He owns his own home wherein he resides with his wife and 3 children. The applicant enjoys a very fine reputation among his co-workers and has the reputation of being a good family man and a reliable person.

The Board was informed by the District Attorney's office there was no opposition to the granting of clemency. The sentencing judge is deceased and the present judge made no comment as to the merits of the application. The Board is informed that deportation proceedings have been instituted because of the felony committed in his youth. This applicant, who has conducted himself so admirably for the last 17 years, has proved himself to be a responsible citizen and the Board believes that a pardon should be granted in order to avoid deportation. The Board, therefore, so recommends.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Billman, D-5086, No. A-3713, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Charles Bilman, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Northumberland County on May 3, 1939 be commuted from life imprisonment to 18 years, expiring on May 3, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-six years of age. He was found guilty of murder in the first degree and was sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary for life.

The applicant alleges that he was keeping company with the victim, a widow, whom he was supplying with money from time to time. Frequent arguments arose between them over the amount of money he was giving her and finally ended in a violent argument wherein he pulled a revolver from his shirt and shot the victim. At the same time he attempted suicide

The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Robert M. Fortney, states that since he was the prosecuting attorney at the time of the trial he is familiar with the circumstances of the case and he is of the belief that the applicant has paid his debt to society and should be released. The present district attorney states to the Parole investigator that he had no objection to the granting of commutation.

The prison staff states that over a long period of time the applicant has earned an excellent institutional record. He is temporarily confined in the Tuberculosis Ward, and the staff's opinion is that this is a meritorious case.

The Board, in reviewing his record, noted that he had one prior arrest for a motor violation back in 1932 and every indication would point to the fact that he is not a hardened criminal. The Board is of the opinion that if released he will not resort to any criminal activities, and the board, therefore recommends his sentence be commuted when he has served eighteen years.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

In re application of James Blackwell, 5354-D, No. 945, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of James Blackwell, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Fayette County on September 17, 1926 be commuted from life to 30 years, 10 days, expiring on September 27, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until end of life.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Francis J. Clayton, Sr., No. A-3766, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Francis J. Clayton, Sr., convicted of Assault and playfully and wantonly pointing a firearm in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on January 25, 1922 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is 56 years of age. He was found guilty of assault and wantonly pointing a firearm in 1921, and received a suspended sentence.

In 1926 the applicant was arrested but found not guilty. Since 1926 the applicant has been involved in no criminal offenses whatsoever. The circumstances of the assault and battery charge arose from his employment as a private detective in the apprehension of thieves in a factory.

The applicant has, since his youth, been engaged in various forms of police work and at present is a deputy constable in the 15th Ward of the City of Philadelphia.

The sentencing Judge is deceased and his successor, the Honorable Herbert A. Mook, stated that he had no comment to make as he was unfamiliar with the facts. The District Attorney's office of Philadelphia County stated that there was no opposition to the granting of clemency.

The applicant is married and has one child. The investigator for the Board of Parole reports that the applicant's reputation is excellent among the friends and associates. The Board, believing that this applicant will not again offend against society and feeling that the applicant is worthy of a pardon, so recommends.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of David Darcy, No. A-306, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the death sentence of David Darcy, who was convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery of Bucks County on February 16, 1949, be commuted from death to life imprisonment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

Although opinion is divided among the members of the Board of Pardons as to whether or not David Darcy received a fair trial and as to whether or not the sentence imposed by the jury was within the law and proper, the Board is of the opinion that under the circumstances of this case executive clemency is required.

The Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Pennsylvania guarantee that every accused person shall have a speedy and fair trial. Under the American system of constitutional and common law, conviction even of an admittedly guilty person is invalid unless that person has received the full measure of protection accorded by the Constitution.

Included in the guarantee of a fair trial is not only the right of appeal but the right to representation by competent and diligent counsel. So important are these rights that in Pennsylvania counsel is even appointed by the Court to represent the indigent accused.

Darcy's counsel has attempted to protect his client's rights with all diligence and fidelity, which is the sworn duty of all lawyers. The extraordinary circumstances which have caused such a lengthy delay and multiplicity of appeals should not, and cannot, militate against the right of Darcy or any accused person to receive that full measure of consideration which the Constitution affords him. The numerous appeals and petitions filed on behalf of Darcy indicate that counsel was convinced that a legitimate and substantial question of constitutional right was involved.

Furthermore, many of the judges who heard the various appeals were similarly convinced. Darcy's counsel in petitioning for a new trial raised a number of questions going into the fairness of the trial, the conduct of the Judge and the atmosphere of hysteria and prejudice surrounding the court room. Twenty-three Judges of the highest courts of this country (seven Justices of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, seven Judges of the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit and nine Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States), have examined the record of the Darcy trial. Eight of these Judges found that the petitioner had raised substantial and meritorious questions of deprivation of consitutional rights. Seven of these Judges held that not only had Darcy raised such questions but that he had in fact been denied his constitutional right to a fair and impartial trial, and that the verdict and sentence of death are violative of the Constitution of the United States.

It cannot, therefore, be said that the numerous appeals and petitions in this case, which have consumed eight years, were frivolous or without merit.

Darcy has, throughout the eight years during which he has been imprisoned under sentence of death, sought in vain a new trial. The Board of Pardons cannot grant a new trial, and is limited in its powers to making recommendations to the Governor. Since so substantial a doubt as to the fairness of the trial exists, however, and since the certainty that justice has been done should prevail, especially when the life of a human being is at issue, this Board cannot with clear conscience fail to recommend the exercise of executive clemency. With such a sharp and substantial division of judicial opinion upon basic constitutional rights, no other course to us seems proper.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Clement T. Flis, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Clinton County on February 11, 1952, computed from December 5, 1951 be commuted from 7 years to 5 years, 10 days, expiring on December 15, 1956.

This applicant is thirty-four years of age. He was sentenced for from 1½ to 7 years in the Western State Penitentiary for the offense of burglary.

The applicant states that under the influence of liquor he broke into several business places in and about Lock Haven. The applicant alleges he was not in need of money and could only attribute his offenses to intoxication. The applicant was released on September 5, 1952 when his minimum sentence was commuted by the Governor on July 15, 1952.

While on parole this applicant has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner and both the parole officers and the Police Department of St. Marys, Pennsylvania, state they have nothing derogatory to report concerning his conduct.

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Vincent Gaetano, convicted of receiving stolen goods in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, on December 10, 1942 be pardoned.

Since this offense the applicant has conducted himself in a most satisfactory manner and has not been involved in any criminal activities whatsoever. The applicant, and his wife, own their own home and reside therein as his four children are all married and own their own homes. The Probation Officer of Allegheny County stated that the applicant while on probation reported regularly, paid his fine and costs and made full restitution. The trial judge advised the parole investigator that he saw no reason to oppose clemency. The District Attorney of Allegheny County stated to the Board in open hearing that there was no opposition to the granting of the application.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Goga, 4714, No. 9844, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John Goga, convicted of rape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Washington County on Quarter Sessions be commuted from 15 years, to 8 years, 7 months, 15 days expiring on September 28, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 13, 1963.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Salvador Gomez, a-k-a Raymond Gomez, No. A-3734, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Salvador Gomez a-k-a Raymond Gomez, convicted of breaking and entering in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Westmoreland County, on December 24, 1921 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is 54 years of age. He was sentenced for larceny and the breaking and entering into a business place to the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory in Huntingdon on the 24th day of December 1921. The applicant was 19 years old at the time of his offense and was unable to speak English. A stranger asked him to enter a tailor shop and take a coat which the stranger said belonged to him. The applicant did so, entering the shop and was arrested. Since this arrest he has not been involved for the past 35 years in any criminal activity. The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Richard D. Laird, stated to the parole agent that he had no comment to make and would rely upon the decision of the Board. The district attorney stated that any action the Board cared to take upon this applicant would be satisfactory to his office. The applicant is subject to deportation to Mexico and a pardon is necessary in order for him to remain in this country. The applicant has been gainfully employed for the past 33 years. He is married and has 3 children. At present he is employed in a restaurant as a chef, the Pan Bar Luncheonette in New York City. The report from both the Pennsylvania Board of Parole and the New York State Board of Parole indicate that this applicant has conducted himself as a law-abiding citizen since 1921 and the Board believes he has demonstrated his rehabilitation in every way. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 8, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until July 14, 1957.

In re application of William Henry, 545-B, No. 7459, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of William Henry, convicted of robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on September 6, 1938, computed from August 18, 1938 be commuted from 20 years to 18 years, 1 month, 10 days expiring on September 28, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until August 18, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry Hlohinec, C-2157, No. A-1437, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harry Hlohinec, convicted of statutory rape in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on April 4, 1951, computed from March 29, 1951 be commuted from 7½ years to 5 years, 8 months, 20 days expiring on December 19, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty-five years of age. He was convicted for the offense of statuory rape and was sentenced to for from 7½ to 15 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

The applicant denied that he molested and attempted to rape a child about eight years of age. However, after the testimony was heard by the Court, before a jury, the applicant was adjudged guilty. The applicant had no prior record and the investigation disclosed that the community was taken by surprise when the applicant had been arrested for this offense. He had been employed for many years by the Pressed Steel Car Company and bore an excellent reputation.

The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable William H. McNaugher, stated that he had no recommendation to submit to the Board. The District Attorney of Allegheny County stated to the Board that he was opposed to the granting of clemency.

The staff of the Penitentiary states that the applicant has made an excellent adjustment considering his age and physical condition. The applicant has served well over half of his sentence and the Board believes that he has been sufficiently punished due to the fact that this was his first offense and that he has made every effort in the penitentiary to adjust himself. The Board, therefore, recommends commutation of his sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN—Dissents,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved,

Governor.

In re application of Frank Louis Kacin, 3086-D, No. 9656, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Frank Louis Kacin, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 9, 1941, computed from February 28, 1941, be commuted from 20 years to a new maximum of 15 years, 7 months, expiring on September 28, 1956; and that the maximum sentence of Frank Louis Kacin, convicted of burglary, larceny, receiving stolen goods on October 13, 1944, computed from February 28, 1941, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Westmoreland County be computed from 20 years to a new maximum of 15 years, 7 months expiring on September 28, 1956; and that the maximum sentence of Frank Louis Kacin, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Cambria County on February 19, 1945, computed from February 28, 1941, be commuted from 20 years to 15 years, 7 months expiring on September 28, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 28, 1961.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Joseph J. Karlovich, E-1040, No. A-2471, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Joseph J. Karlovich, convicted of armed robbery; burglary; robbery by violence in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Northumberland County on April 25, 1949, computed from April 4. 1949 be commuted from 18½ years to 7 years, 8 months, 10 days expiring on December 14, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age, and was sentenced for the crime of armed robbery, burglary, robbery by violence for from 18½ to 37 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, effective April 4, 1949.

The applicant, and several accomplices, were involved in a holdup of business places in Northumberland and Schuylkill Counties. The offenses were in some instances accompanied by violence. The sentence for the offense committed in Schuylkill County was made to run concurrent with the Northumberland County sentence and has expired.

The trial judge, the Honorable William I. Troutman, stated that he was in favor of granting the applicant's request for clemency as he was of the opinion the applicant has served sufficient time to cause him to repent of his past mistakes and he is now in a position to become a useful member of society. The district attorney stated to the parole agent that he had no objection to the extension of clemency to this applicant.

The prison staff states that the applicant has an excellent work record and has become quite skilled in the carpentry trade. They state he has an outstanding adjustment record in the prison.

The applicant had a minor criminal record consisting of a violation of the motor laws, and there is every belief that this applicant will not offend against the laws of society in the future. The Board, therefore, recommends that this sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved,

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Kerestes, 5882-C, No. A-3706, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Robert Kerestes, convicted of armed robbery, robbery, receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Beaver County on March 17th, computed from December 1, 1942, be commuted from 20 years to 13 years, 9 months, 27 days, expiring on September 28, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 1, 1962.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved,

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Henry John Lapinski, No. 7291, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Henry John Lapinski, convicted in the Courts of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on February 2, 1935 of Larceny, on January 30, 1936 of Aggravated Assault and Battery, on January 30, 1936 of Robbery, on July 9, 1941 of Receiving Stolen Goods, on January 15, 1942 of Robbery and Receiving Stolen Goods; and further convicted in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Clearfield County on August 30, 1938 of Larceny, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-nine years of age. He was sentenced for from five to ten years in the Western State Penitentiary on December 16, 1941, for the crime of robbery and receiving stolen goods. It is to be noted that for other offenses he received generally suspended sentence except a term in the Pennsylvania Industrial School of Huntingdon.

The crime for which he was sentenced arose from the fact that he, together with a female accomplice, were convicted of assaulting and robbing a man on the streets of Pittsburgh. They plead not guilty but were adjudged guilty. The applicant was released from the prison on December 16, 1946, after serving his minimum sentence. His maximum sentence for this offense was commuted on January 19, 1950.

The Board of Parole advises that the applicant has maintained a good work record and that he has not become involved in any criminal offenses since his release. He is presently employed by the Plaza Building, Inc., of Youngstown, Ohio, and is presently working in Pittsburgh for this Company.

The applicant is married and has one child. The applicant is desirous of cleaning his record of the stigma of criminal offenses for the sake of himself and his family. The applicant personally appeared before the Board to plead his case and his appearance and manner made a distinct impression upon us.

Neither the Trial Judge, nor the District Attorney of Clearfield County made any comment to the Board. The Allegheny County Judges are deceased, and the Allegheny County Court made no recommendation. The District Attorney of Allegheny County, however, stated to the Board that he had no objection to the exercise of clemency.

The Board is of the opinion that this man has completely rehabilitated himself and is deserving of the clemency of the Commonwealth. The Board, therefore, recommends a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN—Dissents,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 30, 1959.

In re application of William Edward McGinty, E-1584, No. A-1976, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Edward McGinty, convicted of burglary and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Luzerne County on March 17, 1950, computed from March 15, 1950 be commuted from 7½

years to 6 years, 9 months, 5 days, expiring on December 20, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age. He was sentenced for the offenses of burglary and larceny for from 7½ to 15 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, effective March 17, 1950

The applicant's offense consisted of an accomplice and himself entering a service station and holding up the owner and taking cash and goods to the value of sixty dollars. Likewise, they held up two other establishments several weeks later and robbed these business places of small sums of money. In the last crime the victim was injured by a shot from applicant's gun. The accomplice also received an eye injury. Then when the accomplice went to the hopital for treatment the police were able to apprehend both the applicant and the accomplice.

During his incarceration the staff reports that this applicant has had a good record, both from disciplinary and work basis, and the staff believes that the application is worthy of consideration. The applicant has been employed in the pentitentiary hospital for the past six years and has done an excellent job. The Board has been informed that the detainers which were lodged against him by the City of Wilkes-Barre have been lifted.

The trial judge, the Honorable William A. Valentine, states that any action of the Board relative to this application will meet with his approval The district attorney's office did not make any comments.

The Board is of the opinion that this applicant will not again offend against society and recommends that his sentence be commuted.

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. In re application of Daniel G. McNamara, No. A-3721, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Daniel C. McNamara, convicted of statutory rape in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on February 10, 1948 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is 28 years of age. He was convicted of the offense of Statutory Rape in February. 1948, and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs. The applicant, together with three accomplices, invited a young lady to take a ride in an automobile in which they were seated. The young lady accompanied them and in the course of the drive the applicant and his accomplices had intercourse with her. The victim was younger than her appearance would lead one to believe. At the hearing it was disclosed that she was only fourteen years of age.

The applicant, since his involvement in this offense, has lead an exemplary life. He is now employed as a machinist for a concern in Philadelphia. The applicant is married and resides with his wife in their own home. The applicant's reputation in the neighborhood where he resides is most excellent and he is desirous of obtaining a pardon so that he may apply to the Philadelphia Police Department for a position as a police officer.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Donald Aaron Moore, C-3930, No. A-3750, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Donald Aaron Moore, convicted of assault by prisoner in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Centre County on October 27, 1954, computed from November 10, 1955 be commuted from 2 years (less 4 days credit jail time) to 1 year, 1 month, 6 days, expiring on December 16, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty years of age. He was sentenced for the offense of assaulting a prison guard for from 2 to 6 years in the Western State Penitentiary effective November 10, 1955 (less 4 days credit jail time). The applicant was then in the Rockview Penitentiary on a sentence from Bradford County.

The applicant alleges that while serving his sentence at Rockview he received information that his wife was unfaithful and that, in addition, she had obtained all the funds which were on deposit in his name in the bank. This news upset him so that he threatened a prison guard to drive him to Lock Haven, where he believed she and the children were then living. The prison guard was not injured and his only experience was that of having a pocket knife used as a weapon to compel his compliance to the prisoner's orders.

During his stay at the State Penitentiary at Rockview this applicant has conducted himself so well that he has been declared to be an outstanding prisoner as to his work, his cooperation and that the present offense, which he committed during a period of emotional stress, is not consistent with his normal character. He appears to be neither hardened or basically anti-social.

The trial judge, the Honorable Ivan Walker, has stated to the Parole Investigator that he will not oppose this application, and the District Attorney advised the Board that he had no comments to make as to the merits of the request.

The Board is of the opinion that this man, who, from all reports has adjusted himself, will not again offend against society, and recommends that his sentence be commuted when he has served one year.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN.
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN.
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Theodore Morrow, 160-D, No. 9916, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Theodore Morrow, convicted of murder in the second degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 7, 1944, computed from January 19, 1944 be commuted from 14 years to 12 years, 8 months, 10 days, expiring on September 29, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 19, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN.
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles H. Nichols, C-2098, No. A-3717, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Charles H. Nichols, convicted of Incestuous Rape and Fornication in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Potter County on March 12, 1951, computed from February 20, 1951 be commuted from 7½ years to 5 years, 10 months, expiring on December 20, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-seven years of age. He was sentenced for from 7½ to 15 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

This applicant plead guilty to the charge of having incestuous relationship with his sister, aged fourteen. The applicant was then twenty-two years of age. From this relationship a child was born.

The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge. the Honorable Walter P. Wells, states he has no objection to this application being granted. The district attorney's office stated to our parole agent that they were not opposed to the extension of clemency.

The applicant has conducted himself admirably in the institution and he recently earned the highest honor rating granted by the penitentiary in recognition of his over-all adjustment. It is the unanimous opinion of the prison staff that this man is worthy of special consideration.

The applicant had no prior criminal record and the Board is of the opinion that the splendid adjustment he has made will auger well for his adjustment in society. The Board is of the further opinion that he will not again offend against the laws of society. The Board, therefore, recommends the commutation of his minimum sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN.
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN.
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Joseph Schultz, convicted of robbery, etc., in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 12, 1938, computed from April 7, 1938 be commuted from 25 years to 18 years, 5 months, 20 days, expiring on September 27, 1956.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Shelton C. Sharpe, No. A-3765, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Shelton C. Sharpe, convicted of selling liquor to intoxcated persons in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County, on April 18, 1950, be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is 34 years of age. He was sentenced in April, 1950, for the offense of selling liquor to intoxicated persons and fined $100. He paid the fine and costs. The applicant at the time of his arrest was employed as a bartender. The police raided the establishment and the applicant was arrested.

Since 1949 the applicant has not become involved in any criminal offense. He is at present employed as the manager of the Cylipso Bar and the proprietor states that the applicant is a very good worker and a most reliable indivdual. The applicant resides with his wife in his own home and has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner.

The trial judge, the Honorable Charles L. Guerin, stated that any action taken by the Board would receive his full approval. Likewise, the District Attorney's office of Philadelphia County advised the Board that there was no opposition to the granting of clemency in this case.

The Board, believing that this applicant will not again offend against the law, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ben Kaufman, No. A-3344, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Ben Kaufman, convicted of receiving stolen goods, and conspiracy to do an unlawful act of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Erie County on February 9, 1956, computed from January 10, 1956 be commuted from 1½ years to 1 year expiring on January 10, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty years of age. He was sentenced for from 1½ to 3 years for conspiracy and for from 1 to 2 years, concurrently for receiving stolen property to the Western Correctional Diagnostic and Classification Center, and later transferred to the Allegheny County Workhouse.

The applicant was found guilty, with two employes of the Marx Toy Company in the stealing of virgin plastic material from that company. The applicant, in turn, sold this material to a Cleveland concern. The applicant denied these allegations. However, the jury adjudged him guilty. The verdict was appealed to the Superior Court, which Court sustained the lower Court.

The applicant had no previous record and his business reputation in the City of Erie, from all accounts, was excellent. The Board has on file letters from several citizens of Erie attesting to his character and reputation.

The trial judge, the Honorable Elmer L. Evans, is opposed to any consideration of clemency at this time. Likewise, the District Attorney's office indicated their objection to a Parole Board investigator.

The Board, however, believes this applicant has been sufficiently punished. The fact that his fellow conspirators, Orsini and Colonna, received only a sentence for from four months to eight months in the Erie County Prison, and were released after serving two and one-half months, persuades the Board that the applicant should have his sentence commuted. The Board believes that a year of imprisonment is sufficient punishment for a man of his standing in the community and that this experience, which he is undergoing, will prove to be so vivid that he will not offend against the rules of society, and, therefore, so recommends.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER—dissents,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until November 28, 1981.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward Simko, C-3745, No. A-3715,

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Edward Simko, convicted of rape, assault and battery with intent to ravish, and assault and battery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Fayette County on April 1, 1955 be commuted from 2 years to 1 year, 8 months, 17 days, expiring on December 18, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-two years of age. He was sentenced for from 2 to 6 years for the offenses of assault and battery, and assault and battery with intent to ravish and rape, in the Western State Penitentiary, in 1955.

The applicant was found guilty of picking up in his automobile a young woman, age twenty-three and on the way to her home he criminally assaulted her. The applicant denied the offense and alleged that assent was given to the intercourse.

The trial judge, the Honorable J. Russell Carr, did not express his opinion as to the merits of the application, nor did the District Attorneys' office reply to our inquiry.

The applicant had two trials, the jury being unable to reach a verdict at the first trial.

The applicant had no previous criminal record and the prison staff reports that he has adjusted himself satisfactorily and has been guilty of no infractions of the rules of the prison. His general rehabilitation is of such a quality that the recommendation of clemency is suggested by the staff.

The Board believed that this man will not be guilty of this nor any other offense against society if released, and, therefore, recommends that his minimum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,

In re application of Robert J. Barker, E-2106, No. A-3234, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Robert J. Barker, convicted of burglary, in the Court f Quarter Sessins of Luzerne County on January 8, 1951, computed from December 26, 1950, be commuted from 7½ years to 5 years 11 months 20 days, expiring on December 16, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years of age. He was sentenced for the crime of burglary for from 7½ to 15 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

The applicant plead guilty to breaking and entering a restaurant in Wilkes-Barre, likewise seven or eight other business places in that area. The applicant has a prior record but his chief trouble has been that he violates the law when under the influence of alcholic beverages.

The trial judge, the Honorable W. Alfred Valentine, expressed his opinion to the Parole investigator as unfavorable to release. The District Attorney of Luzerne County states that he is content to leave the matter to the discretion of the Board.

The staff of the penitentiary states that this applicant has an excellent work record and a very good conduct record and that they consider him deserving of consideration at this time, as he has shown marked improvement and over-all adjustment.

The Board is of the opinion that this young man will prove to be a credit to his family and to himself; and that he will no longer violate the law if released, and, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-six year of age. He was sentenced for from 1 to 2 years in the Erie County Prison for the offense of bribery.

The applicant was found guilty by the Jury in 1955, but appealed his case to the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, which Court sustained the judgment of the lower court. The applicant was then committed to the prison on May 21, 1956.

The applicant was one of a large group that was involved in the Erie bribery cases and who received various sentences by the Court of Erie County. The Board of Pardons has reviewed the applications of practically all the persons sentenced by the Court and have recommended a commutation of their sentences, averaging from nine months to one year.

The applicant's offense consisted of making payment to members of the Vice Squad to protect him in his gambling activities. The applicant, however, stated that his payments were made as political contributions.

The applicant had an arrest for lottery in 1950 and was fined but received no sentence.

The trial judge, the Honorable Elmer L. Evans, states that inasmuch as the others have received favorable consideration from this Board in the reduction of their terms he felt this application should be likewise favored. The District Attorney states he would recommend his release at this time. The Board believes that this applicant has been sufficiently punished and recommends that his sentence be reduced to a period of nine months from the effective date.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Robert Wade, 5728-D, No. 9614, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Robert Wade, convicted of larceny, burglary, prison breach, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Monroe County on May 7, 1945, computed from April 5, 1945, be commuted from 25 years to 11 years 5 months 23 days, expiring on September 28, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 5, 1970.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Kenneth Wagner, 76260, No. A-3797, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Kenneth Wagner, convicted of armed robbery and receiving stolen goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on November 17, 1954, computed from September 28, 1954 be commuted from 2½ years to 2 years 2 months 20 days, expiring on December 18, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-four years of age. He was sentenced for from 2½ to 5 years in the Allegheny County Workhouse for the crimes of armed robbery and receiving stolen goods.

The offenses consisted of holding up a taxicab driver in the City of Pittsburgh, from whom he secured about twelve dollars, and again, on the same night, holding up another taxicab driver and getting a similar sum of money. The applicant denied that he was armed. However, the jury adjudged him guilty of robbery and armed robbery.

Since his incarceration in September 1954 the applicant has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner in the Workhouse. He has not violated any rules and has never been reprimanded. The staff at the Allegheny County Workhouse believes he is worthy of release.

The trial judge, the Honorable Loran Lewis, did not supply the Board with his opinion as to the merits of the case. However, the Assistant District Attorney of Allegheny County stated to the Board that there was no objection to the exercise of clemency.

The accomplice of the applicant was committed to Thorn Hill School and has been released on probation.

The applicant has served over two years of his minimum sentence and the Board recommends commutation of his sentence.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William C. Ward, E-7113, No. A-3782, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William C. Ward, convicted of assault and battery and aggravated assault and battery in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 19, 1956, computed from December 26, 1955 be commuted from 1½ years to 11 months, 20 days expiring on December 16, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of age. He was sentenced for from eighteen months to three years in the Philadelphia County Prison for the offense of aggravated assault and battery.

This offense originated on Christmas Day of 1955 when the applicant became in volved in a family argument wherein blows were struck by all concerned, and, particularly, the mother-in-law received a cut over the right eye in the scuffle. The basis for this altercation was overindulgence of all concerned in alcoholic beverages.

The record indicated that this was the applicant's first offense, and prior to his incarceration, he was regularly employed.

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Vincent A. Carroll states: The applicant is quick-tempered and loses control of himself very readily. This is the sort of case where the Board of Pardons might exercise executive clemency  I would, therefore, recommend that the application be granted." The District Attorney's office did likewise state that there is no opposition to the granting of clemency.

The staff of the Holmesburg prinson states that this applicant has been extremely proficient in the Weave Shop and has not incurred any infractions of conduct and and is cooperative in every way.

The applicant has served over ten months and the Board believes that he has been sufficiently punished and recommends, therefore, that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. In re application of Jerry L. Yeager, 8904-C, No. A-3769, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Jerry L. Yeager, convicted of statutory rape and adultery, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Clarion County on September 17, 1943, computed September 4, 1943, be commuted from 15 years to 13 years, 24 days, expiring on September 28, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. In re application of Harry Robert Zietz, No. A-351, September Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the death sentence of Harry Robert Zietz, who was convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery of Bucks County on September 7, 1949, be commuted from death to life imprisonment.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

In view of the recommendations of the Board of Pardons in the David Darcy application, and which is in part applicable to the Harry Robert Zietz trial, and in view of the fact that the Trial Court, in considering the plea of Felix Capone, imposed a life sentence rather than a death sentence, the Board of Pardons recommends that the sentence of Harry Robert Zietz be commuted from death to life imprisonment.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Sam Zavarelli, B-6412, No. 6671, October Session, 1956. (Recommended at November 1956 Session)

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Sam Zavarelli, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Beaver County on November 10, 1938 be commuted from life imprisonment to 18 years, 2 months, expiring on January 10, 1957, so that he can be deported.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-six years of age. The applicant, in December 1928, was a member of a party of friends, who were having an extended Christmas celebration. The applicant became extremely intoxicated, left the club, and upon returning to Pittsburgh he was informed that one of his friends had been shot to death on that night of December 28th and that he was being accused of the crime. The applicant fled the jurisdiction and was not arrested until ten years later in West Virginia. He voluntarily returned to Pennsylvania and plead guilty to the crime.

During his incarceration he has, from all reports, conducted himself in a most satisfactory manner. He has removed his illiteracy. He has been saving his money and at the present time has a substantial sum saved.

The trial judge is deceased. However, the present judge, the Honorable Robert E. McCreary, has stated that he was not opposed to the commutation provided the deportation detainer now lodged against him would be enforced. The penitentiary has a detainer on file from the Immigration and Naturalization Department to deport this applicant to Italy. The Board also has a letter on file that Italy will receive this applicant when deported. The District Attorney of Beaver County likewise offered no opposition provided the applicant is deported. Due notice will be given the authorities so that he may be deported.

The Board recommends that the sentence of this applicant be commuted so that he can be deported.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Clint Buntin, C-2538, No. 7465, October Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Clint Buntin, convicted of robbery, assault with intent to rob, larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Beaver County on March 28, 1952, computed from February 6, 1952 be commuted from 5 years to 4 years, 10 months, 10 days expiring on December 16, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-three years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Beaver County for the crime of robbery, assault with intent to rob and larceny for from 5 to 10 years in the Western State Penitentiary, effective February 6, 1952.

The offense was that of entering a clothing store in Ambridge, Pennsylvania, with an accomplice, under the pretense of making a purchase. They attacked the proprietor of the store and robbed him of about $65.00 in cash and merchandise to the value of $20.00.

The trial judge, the Honorable Robert E. McCreary, stated that he had no objection to a release of this applicant on parole. Likewise, the District Attorney of Beaver County stated to the parole investigator that he would rely upon the decision of the Board.

While confined in the penitentiary, the applicant has conducted himself very well and the staff reports that he has a fine institutional record. He is a dependable worker and accepts responsibilities. He has learned the barbering trade during his incarceration and has acquired considerable skill as a barber.

It appears to the Board that if released this applicant will enter the trade in which he has become proficient and that he will conduct himself in a satisfactory manner and not violate the laws of society again. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of William Francis Dagge, E-1309, No. A-2688, October Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of William Francis Dagge, convicted of robbery and assault in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on October 6, 1949, computed from September 9, 1949 be commuted from 10 years to 7 years, 3 months, 10 days expiring in December 19, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty years old. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Delaware County for the crime of robbery and assault for from 10 to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, effective September 9, 1949.

The offense consisted of the fact that he and his accomplice hired a taxi in Philadelphia and requested that they be driven into Delaware County. On the way, they held up the driver and took thirty dollars from his purse.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harold L. Ervin, did not reply to our inquiry. However, the President Judge, the Honorable Henry G. Sweney, stated he saw no reason why the sentence should be commuted. The District Attorney, likewise, was opposed.

Since his incarceration the applicant has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner. He has made definite attempts to self-improvement and is a qualified typist. The entire staff of the penitentiary recommends consideration of this application for clemency.

The Board is of the opinion that this young man has learned a lesson that will abide with him and that he will, if released, not again violate the law.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John Oscar Delarge, 7486-C, No. 6769, October Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John Oscar Delarge, convicted of Murder in the First Degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on November 20, 1930 be commuted from Life Imprisonment to 26 years, 2 months, expiring on January 20, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until end of life.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Rose Getz, No. 1564, October Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Rose Getz, convicted of Arson, Conspiracy to Commit Arson in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County, on September 23, 1932 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-one years of age. She was found guilty of the crime of arson and conspiracy to commit arson and sentenced for from 10 to 20 years in the Western State Penitentiary on September 23, 1932. The Board of Pardons, on October 7, 1938, commuted the applicant's minimum sentence and she was released, and the Board later in December 1945 commuted her maximum sentence and she was released from parole supervision.

Since her release the applicant has resided in Detroit, Michigan, and the Parole Board of the State of Michigan advises us that she has conducted herself in an exemplary manner. They report that the applicant has purchased a number of valuable pieces of property in the Detroit area and has not only made a profit on the resale, but her income from the rental of properties that she now owns is substantial. They end their report by stating they would recommend favorable consideration, as they feel that since her release from the institution she has lived above average in every way and has certainly amounted to something not only materially but in a spiritual way. They further state: "Community-wise, we believe that she has made a contribution to the community in a small way and is not a threat to the security of the citizens of this community at this time nor is she likely to become one in the future."

The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable William H. McNaugher leaves the matter up to the Board and the District Attorney of Allegheny County advised the Board he had no objection to clemency.

The applicant expresses the desire that she be granted a pardon so that she may have an opportunity to run for public office in the near future. The Board, believing that this applicant will not again offend against the laws of society, and believing that she has been completely rehabilitated, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of John C. Gilmour, 6774, No. A-3808, October Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of John C. Gilmour, convicted of felonious entry, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County on June 1, 1948, be commuted from 10 years to 8 years, 7 months, expiring on January 1, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until May 15, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Shirley W. Jones, C-2948, No. A-2875, October Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Shirley W. Jones, convicted of burglary, larceny, receiving stolen property, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Westmoreland County on December 4, 1952, be commuted from 20 years to 4 years, 10 days, expiring on December 14, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-six years of age. He was sentenced by the Court for from 20 to 40 years in the Western State Penitentiary.

This applicant, together with a group of young men, were involved in a series of burglaries of business places in and about Westmoreland County. The applicant, following his marriage, separated himself from this gang and no longer was a party to their offenses. However, two years after his separation from the gang, the gang held up a paymaster, robbing and shooting him fatally. Subsequent investigation of this killing, indicated that the applicant had been a member of the group and was, therefore, indicted for offenses committed while a member of this gang. During the days that he was a member of the group he was involved in two offenses. Since his marriage and separation from the gang he has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner.

The trial judge, the Honorable Richard D. Laird, believes that the applicant's release at this time would be premature. Likewise, the District Attorney expressed a similar opinion.

The prison staff states that since his incarceration he has a fine institutional record and has conducted himself in the penitentiary in an exceptional way for a first offender.

The Board believes that the applicant, having divorced himself from associations that were leading him into difficulty, is deserving of consideration of the Board, and, therefore, recommends commutation.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
NOT SITTING,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Winfield Jones, 7197-D, No. 8346, October Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Winfield Jones, convicted of murder in the second degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on January 22, 1942, be commuted from 20 years to 15 years, 1 month, expiring on January 18, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until December 18, 1961.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry Phillips 2884-D, No. 7642, October Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Harry Phillips, convicted of assault, being armed with offensive weapon with intent to kill, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on April 2, 1941, be commuted from 20 years to 15 years, 10 months, expiring on January 26, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until March 20, 1961.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Michael Sarzynski, No. A-3815, October Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Michael Sarzynski, convicted of voluntary manslaughter, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Schuylkill County, on May 14, 1917 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is sixty years of age. He was sentenced by the Court of Schuylkill County to seven years in the Schuylkill County Prison.

The applicant's offense consisted in engaging in a fight in a barroom wherein he struck his friend a blow with his fist, and the victim, in falling, struck his head and died about thirty days later. The applicant, an immigrant at the time, was in this country about two years.

After serving about four years, eleven months of his seven year sentence, the applicant was released from the prison. Since his release the applicant has not been involved in any violation of the law. The applicant is a coal miner and is now retired. His sons and daughters are married and he is applying for a full pardon so that he may become a United States Citizen.

The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Cyrus M. Palmer, states to the Board that he is not familiar with the case and, therefore, unable to make any recommendation. Likewise, the District Attorney of Schuylkill County made no comment.

This applicant, since his release in 1924, over thirty years ago, has lead an exemplary life and all reports indicate that he is well liked in the community in which he lives. The Board, therefore, believing that this applicant is deserving of executive clemency in order for him to attain a life-time ambition of becoming an American citizen, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
NOT SITTING,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Samuel Stewart, E-2077, No. A-1604, October Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Samuel Stewart, convicted of assault to rob; and armed robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on December 21, 1950, computed from December 5, 1950 be commuted from 7 years to 6 years 10 days expiring on December 15, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-three years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Philadelphia County for the crime of armed robbery. and assault to rob, from from 7 to 14 years to the Eastern State Penitentiary, effective December 5, 1950.

The applicant's offense was that he and his accomplice entered a taxicab and robbed the taxi driver. The details of the crime do not reveal that a revolver was used in the commission of this offense, although it was definitely stated that when the accomplice, or the applicant, stated to the driver that this was a hold-up and a hard object was thrust into the back of the taxi driver.

During his incarceration, the applicant has had a good prison record and the report from the prison states that the entire staff recommends clemency. He has a good institutional record and has made definite efforts of self-improvement.

The trial judge is deceased but the President Judge, the Honorable Eugene V. Alessandroni, stated that he would rely upon the decision of the Board. The District Attorney stated to the Board that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency. The applicant has served almost his entire minimum sentence and there is reason to believe that if released he will not again offend the laws of society. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Richard L. Whitesell, C-3755, No. A-3803, October Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having ben heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Richard L. Whitesell, convicted of rape and assault with intent to ravish in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Butler County on April 6, 1955 be commuted from 4½ years to 1 year, 8 months, 10 days, expiring on December 16, 1956.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-nine years of age. He was sentenced by the Oyer and Terminer Court of Butler County for the crime of rape and assault with intent to ravish and sentenced for from 4½ to 9 years in the Western State Penitentiary, effective April 5, 1955.

His offense consisted in having intercourse with a girl about fourteen years of age, who had come to his home to "baby sit" while his wife went to the movies.

The trial judge, the Honorable Clyde S. Shumaker stated: "I have no objection if the Board should give this matter favorable consideration." The district attorney of Butler County stated he had no objections to a commutation of sentence. The former district attorney, who prosecuted the case for the Commonwealth, stated: "In the opinion of the writer the penal servitude already endured by this applicant is greatly out of proportion to the gravity of the offense committed, and I, therefore, would heartily recommend sympathetic consideration on the part of the Board . . ."

The institution staff states that the applicant has an excellent institutional record and that he has profited considerably from his incarceration. The applicant had no prior criminal record, and there is every reason to believe that he will conduct himself in the future in a satisfactory manner. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Nelson Ira Andrews, 1678-E, No. A-3880, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylavnia:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Nelson Ira Andrews, convicted of burglary, larceny and receiving in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Lehigh County on December 7, 1954, computed from February 24, 1956 be commuted from 1 year to 11 months expiring on January 24, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. He had, prior thereto, been sentenced by the Northamption County Court for from two to four years, effective in May, 1954, The Northampton County sentence has been served and the the applicant was paroled on February 24, 1956 to enter upon the above sentence.

The warden of the Lehigh County Prison, where the applicant is presently incarcerated, states: "Based on my observation of him it is my belief that . . . he would not likely to become a parole violator. . . ."

The sentencing judge, the Honorable James F. Henninger, states: "I have no objection to his obtaining a commutation that would release him a few months ahead of the expiration of his minimum sentence." The sentencing judge of Northampton County, the Honorable William G. Barthold, although the applicant has served his minimum sentence imposed by that County, stated that he would rely on the Board's decision. The Board is also in receipt of a letter from the Honorable Carleton T. Woodring, who was on the Bench when the applicant was sentenced in Northampton County, stating that he knew the applicant's father, and that: "I am certain that an order of commutation in this case will meet with widespread approval and acceptance."

The applicant had no prior criminal record and the Board is of the opinion that this applicant has been sufficiently punished for his offenses and believes that, if released, he will not revert to a life of crime. The Board, therefore, recommends that the Lehigh County sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of James Barnett, B-6722, No. A-3473, September Session, 1956, (Recommended at November, 1956 Session).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of James Barnett, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on May 15, 1939, be commuted from life imprisonment to 17 years 8 months expiring on January 15, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-nine years of age. He and two accomplices, all youths, indulged in alcoholic beverages, and entered a store in Turtle Creek, Penna. One of the accomplices pulled a gun, a scuffle ensued, the gun was discharged, and the proprietor of the store was fatally injured. The applicant, and his accomplices, all received life sentences. This group had been engaged in a series of armed robberies, holding up pedestrians and small stores late in the evening.

Besides the life sentence this applicant has four indictments for robbery and receiving stolen goods.

This was the first offense of this applicant and he has been continuously confined for over seventeen years. The penitentiary staff reports that his work and conduct records have been excellent, there has never been a misconduct report against him. He has carried out a program of self-improvement, has attended the prison school and has completed many courses in farming.

The trail judge, the Honorable W. Walter Braham, writes the Board that he feels the time has come for trying this applicant on parole. He feels that this applicant, if released, will go straight and give the law no more trouble. The District Attorney expressed no opposition to the granting of this application.

The Board has on file a petition, containing hundreds of names, of citizens requesting that the Board give this applicant consideration as they feel he has paid his debt and should get a new start in life.

The Board, taking into consideration all the facts that have been presented, especially the recommendation of the prison staff and the trail judge, and believing that this applicant will not again offend against society, recommends that commutation be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Felix Bitner, 3687-B, No. A-3845, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Felix Bitner, convicted of sodomy, statutory rape and incest in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Fayette County October 25, 1948, be commuted from 10 years to 8 years 9 months expiring on January 3, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 3, 1958.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harold R. Bradley, C-1004, No. A-3287. November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harold R. Bradley, convicted of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Blair County on February 2, 1949, computed from January 25, 1949, be commuted from 12 years to 8 years expiring on January 25, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-seven years of age. The applicant committed a series of offenses in Blair County from November 1948 to January 1949. He carried out these offenses without accomplices.

During the applicant's incarceration the prison staff believes that this young man, who was twenty years of age at the time of the commission of those offenses, has shown an excellent adjustment and efforts at self-improvement. He has completed courses in sign painting, typing and agriculture. The staff further states that he has shown adjustment and maturity and they recommend the consideration of this application.

The District Attorney, Park H. Loose, Esquire, states to the Board that they have no objection to favorable action being taken on this application. The trail judge is deceased and the Board did not receive any expression of opinion as to merits of this case from the present judge.

The Board, having received so favorable a report as to the improvement of this young man while confined, believes that he is ready for release and will not return to a life of crime. The Board further noted that he has qualified as an operator of printing presses and has learned a trade that will fit him for society. The Board, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward S. Christe, No. 5344, October Session 1956, (Recommended November 1956 Session)

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

This applicant is fifty-five years of age. The offense, committed in 1935, consisted of breaking into stores and taverns, where articles of value were stolen. The applicant was accompanied by accomplices. For these offenses the applicant received a supended sentence. In 1937 the applicant was sentenced for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and was given a sentence of thirty days. He served this sentence in the Allegheny County Workhouse. He was also found not guilty in 1944 of an offense, and in 1948, of selling liquor to intoxicated persons, to which a demurrer was filed.

Since 1948 the applicant has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner and has not been involved in any major criminal offense. At present he is an employe of the Moose Lodge in Pittsburgh and he is in line for election to an office in the Lodge. This honor, which his fellow-lodge members wish to bestow upon him is an indication of the esteem to which he is held by the club members. The Board is in receipt of letters from various public persons in the City of Pittsburgh attesting to the standing of the applicant in his community.

The trial judge, the Honorable Thomas Marshall, stated he does not remember the case and has no information about it. The other judge is deceased. The present District Attorney offers no objection to granting of this pardon.

The Board believes that this man, who has demonstrated for the past number of years his good conduct and is now deemed worthy of election to an office in the Moose Club can well receive the mercy of the Commonwealth, and the Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re applicaion of Charles Darnell. No. A-3874, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Charles Darnell, convicted of larceny and involuntary manslaughter in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County, on October 19, 1928 and March 3, 1937 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age. When this applicant was seventeen years of age be committed his first offense. Later in 1937 he took a truck and in its operation it jumped a curb, struck a pedestrian, who later died.

The applicant was released from the Allegheny County Workhouse in August 1937. Since his release he has been profitably employed as a plumber and steamfitter. This applicant has been active in community and union labor affairs and he is desirous of becoming an officer in his union. It was stated to the Board that it was necessary for an officer of the union to be free of any criminal record.

During the past twenty years the applicant has not violated the law and has become a law-abiding citizen.

The President Judge, the Honorable William H. McNaugher, states that "Since Judge John Drew is no longer in commission and Judge John P. Eagen is deceased, I have no information on the case and have no recommendation to make." The district attorney's represensentative, from Allegheny County, stated to the Board that he had no opposition to the granting of the prayer of this applicant.

The Board believes that this applicant, who has demonstrated for the past twenty years that he will live a law-abiding life, and who is desirous of advancing himself both in his community and in union labor circles, is worthy of a pardon. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor,
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Albert Louis Ferretti, No. A-3246, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Albert Louis Ferretti, convicted of armed robbery in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 10, 1953 be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 7 months, expiring on January 19, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-one years of age. He, together with two accomplices, held up a taxi-driver and robbed him of a sum of money. The applicant did have a prior record involving larceny of automobile in 1945 and 1948.

The applicant was released from the Allegheny County Workhouse in June 1953 and he is now out on parole until the expiration of his maximum sentence.

Since his release the applicant has been employed by the Kaufman's Parking Lot in Pittsburgh.

The trial judge, the Honorable Harry M. Montgomery, states that he has no objection to commutation of the maximum sentence of the applicant. Likewise, the district attorney's representative stated he was not opposed.

The applicant is now married, has one child, and resides in Pittsburgh. He is earning around thre hundred dollars a month and the Board of Parole states that he is conducting himself in a satisfactory manner. A further report that contacts with employer and the neighbors, indicate that the applicant has made a satisfactory adjustment since his release. The applicant, in order to advance himself, connected as he is with a parking garage, requires a motor operator's license, and the only way he may obtain this license is by a commutation of his maximum sentence.

The Board recommends, in view of the fact that he has been in no further trouble and in order to permit him to advance himself in his work, that his maximum sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor,
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Alfonso M. Fuglio, E-1830, No. 4577, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Alfonso M. Fuglio, who plead guilty to burglary and larceny. and conspiracy, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware County on October 10th and 11th, 1944, computed from August 21, 1950, be commuted from 21 years to 6 years, 5 months, expiring on January 21, 1957, and further recommend that the minimum sentence of Alfonso M. Fuglio, who plead guilty to burglary, etc., in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montgonmery County on October 27, 1945, computed from August 21, 1950, be commuted from 10 years to 6 years, 5 months, expiring on January 21, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty six years of age. He, together with seven accomplices, were involved in about eighteen burglaries, during the summer and fall of 1944, of unoccupied homes. Their activities ranged in both Delaware and Montgomery Counties. These offenses resulted in the theft of money, jewelry and household items from many homes in that area.

Upon the arrest of the applicant by the State police, the arresting officer, who was present at the hearing, stated to the Board that the cooperation and help of the applicant was most valuable and that the applicant cooperated fully with the police in cleaning up these series of offienses and resulted in the arrest of the accomplices.

The prison staff stated that this applicant has an excellent institutional record and has shown marked improvement in his personality.

The President Judge, the Honorable Henry G. Sweney, of Delaware County, expressed his objection to clemency. However, the district atorney of Delaware County stated that the application merits consideration in view of the progress that this applicant has made in the penitentiary. The Montgomery County Court, through the Honorable Geore C. Corson, stated to the Parole Agent, that he favored communtation if the facts in the case and the conduct of the applicant justified it. The district attorney of Montgomery County did not reply to our inquiry.

The Board is of the opinion that this applicant, if released, will live a law-abiding life and recommends that both his Delaware and Montgomery County sentences be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor,
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Richard J. Groter, B-6724, No. 8944, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sectence of Richard J. Groter, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on May 15, 1939, be commuted from life imprisonment to 17 years, 8 months, expiring on January 15, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. He was barely twenty years of age when he, together with two accomplices, also youths, after indulging in some alcoholic beverages, entered a store in Turtle Creek, Pennsylvania. While in the store, one of the accomplices pulled a gun, and in the ensuing scuffle with the proprietor, the gun was discharged and the proprietor of this store was fatally injured. The applicant, together with his two accomplices, received sentences of life imprisonment.

During his confinement in the penitentiary it is reported that he has conducted himself in a very satisfactory manner. He is employed as the Head Laboratory Technician in the prison hospital and from reports received he is qualified to take a similar position in any hospital.

The trial judge, the Honorable W. Walter Braham, did not reply to our letter of inquiry as to whether or not he was opposed to release. The District Attorney's representative, of Allegheny County, stated before the Board that he had no objection to the release of this man as he had made a excellent adjustment.

The Board has a letter from the Superintendent of North Braddock Public Schools stating that he believes this applicant will be an excellent citizen and will adjust himself very rapidly to the society of which he would be a part. He has offered to act as his sponsor.

The Board also has a letter signed by the members of the victim's family, the wife and children, stating: "We wish it to be known that we have no objection to his being paroled if the Board seems fit to do so."

In view of the fact that this applicant has spent nearly eighteen years of his young life in the penitentiary and has shown such excellent improvement in his personality, and with the assistance from all those who are interested in his welfare, on the prison staff, friends and relatives, the Board believes that he will, if released, conduct himself as a law-abiding citizen. The Board, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Anthony Guillano, 6989, No. 8581, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Anthony Guillano, convicted of robbery, receiving stolen goods, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on June 10, 1931 computed from January 10, 1951, be commuted from 10 years to 5 years, 7 months, expiring on January 10, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until June 10, 1961.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Daniel Hilferty, 5674-D, No. 8732, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Daniel Hilferty, convicted of armed to rob, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 5, 1940, be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, 9 months, expiring on January 15, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until April 15, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.

(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Harry W. Johnston, D-6881, No. A-1871, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Harry W. Johnson, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on December 18, 1942, be commuted from life imprisonment to 14 years, 1 month, expiring on January 18, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty years of age. He was engaged to be married to a young lady and their engagement had been announced and the rings purchased. He left the city of Philadelphia for a few days and when he returned he found that the young lady had left the apartment where she had been living. Several days later he found the girl living with another man and as a result of this knowledge he started to drink. While in an intoxicated condition he went to the apartment where this young lady was living and following a violent argument he shot and killed her.

He has been incarcerated about fourteen years and the penitentiary authorities report that he has a fine institutional record and his efforts at self-improvement are splendid.

The trial judge, the Honorable Vincent A. Carroll, stated that he had previously written the Board in 1954, expressing the opinion that this case merited favorable consideration, and he was still of that opinion and would recommend favorable action by the Board. The prison chaplain, Rev. Alfred M. Smith, writes to the Board that he knows of no man who has shown deeper regret, than the applicant for the crime he committed and who wants to make up, in every way, for his wrongs. Rev. Smith writes: "I recommend him most sincerely to the Board for favorable consideration." The District Attorney's office, stated that this application was unusually meritorious and therefore, recommends favorable consideration. The Board believes that this applicant will adjust quickly. The Board recommends his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,
Attorney General.
(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

(Sgd) GEORGE M. LEADER,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Milton H. Kaye, No. 9305, September Session, 1956. (Recommended November 1956 Session).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that Milton H. Kaye, convicted of Receiving Stolen Goods in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Montgomery County, on December 5, 1947 be pardoned.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty years of age. It appears that the applicant had opened a nylon hosiery mill and bought a quantity of unseamed nylon hose. This hose had been stolen. The applicant, through his father-in-law, innocently purchased this hosiery. Later it was shown to have been stolen hosiery. It developed that the father-in-law had influenced the applicant in purchasing this hosiery and talked this young man into making the purchase, knowing of its stolen character.

The applicant was sentenced and served six months in the Montgomery County Prison. Following his release, he moved to Florida and is now emplyed by the Pan American Airways. He has an opportunity to become the dental examiner for the employes of that organization, and he can receive a license to practice dentistry in the State of Florida, provided he receives a pardon. The applicant is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, School of Dentistry, and the Board has been informed that this is one of the finest opportunities this man has had in his lifetime.

The applicant is married and has two children. Inquiry was made as to the martial relationship and the Board learned that he is divorced from his wife although he is maintaining support of the two children. The Board is in receipt of a letter from his ex-wife urging that clemency be shown to him.

The Board is of the opinion that this man, who is conducting himself properly and who had no prior criminal record, and whose involvement in this crime was an innocent one having been urged by his father-in-law to buy this hosiery, is deserving of a pardon so that he may have an opportunity to further himself and better his job. The Board, therefore, recommends that a pardon be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

(Sgd) GENEVIEVE BLATT,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Charles Leach, 2101-D, No. 6090, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Charles Leach, convicted of Burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on March 28, 1939 be commuted from 40 years to 17 years 11 months expiring on January 15, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until February 15, 1979.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,

The above recommendation is approved:

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of David Long, D-9492, No. 9359, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of David Long, convicted of Burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on February 27, 1947, computed from February 24, 1947 be commuted from 10 years to 9 months 11 days expiring on January 24, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant, together with an accomplice, was found near a Pennsylvania Liquor Control Store and arrested on the charge of burglary. The report indicates that the applicant was found sleeping near the elevator shaft. There was no robbery of liquor reported.

The applicant received a severe sentence based on his prior record. An investigation of this record indicates that he was only incarcerated for from one to three years on a charge of larceny back in 1938. He had numerous arrests on suspicion.

The sentencing Judge, the Honorable Vincent A. Carroll, stated that he was not opposed to the granting of clemency, and the District Attorney of Philadelphia County likewise expressed to the Board his feeling that clemency could well be granted to this applicant.

During his incarceration, his institutional record has been excellent and he has learned the trade of butcher in the penitentiary. The applicant has served almost his minimum sentence and the Board believes that this applicant, having undergone a lengthy imprisonment, together with the fact that he has learned a profitable trade, will not be inclined to again violate the law, and, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

NOT SITTING,
Lieutenant Governor.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Ralph Mastermonico, C-635, No. A-636, October Session, 1956. (Recommended November 1956 Session).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Ralph Mastermonico, convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on April 30, 1948, computed from April 26, 1948 be commuted from 10 years to 9 years expiring on April 26, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-five years of age. He, with a group of accomplices, participated in a series of burglaries of private homes in and around the City of Pittsburgh. Money, jewelry and clothing were stolen, although no fire-arms were ever carried, or physical violence committed in the perpetration of these crimes. All of the ten accomplices have been released on parole at the expiration of their minimum sentences, except two, DiPofi and Wilson, both confined at the Western State Penitentiary.

This applicant has been confined over eight years. The penitentiary authorities report that he has conducted himself in a satisfactory manner. The last few years he has become quite matured and has demonstrated his increased stability. His institutional record has been quite favorable and he has shown a favorable attitude which coincides with his successful attempts at rehabilitation. This applicant had a prior criminal record.

The trial judge, the Honorable Henry X. O'Brien, has not written us as to the merits of this application. However, the District Attorney did not oppose a commutation.

The applicant comes from a good family in the City of Pittsburgh and he appears to have misbehaved himself when other members of the family have conducted themselves so favorable and well. The pastor of his church writes the Board that he will act as his sponsor and will help him in every way possible. The Board believes that under this sponsorship, and with the help of his family, he will make a worthwhile life for himself, and the Board, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted, when he has served nine years.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd) ROY E. FURMAN,
Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.
(Sgd) HERBERT B. COHEN,

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Francis A. Murphy, E-2632, No. A-2192, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Francis A. Murphy, convicted of armed robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Philadelphia County on December 9, 1948, computed from November 15, 1951, be commuted from 6 years to 5 years, 2 months, expiring on January 15, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-three years of age. He, together with an accomplice, after some heavy drinking, entered an office in Philadelphia and held up the manager, together with four other persons present, at the point of a gun, and relieved them of over two hundred dollars.

The applicant has spent over five years in the penitentiary and the prison staff reports that he has a good institutional adjustment and has endeavored to improve himself. During his incarceration his wife has been most loyal and it was stated that not a week has passed that she does not visit, or write, the applicant. He has learned typing and printing and is well qualified to handle a job, if released.

The trial judge, the Honorable Louis E. Levinthal, did not write the Board as to his opinion of the merits of the case. However, the District Attorney of Philadelphia County is not opposed to the granting of clemency. Mr. Reed stated to the Board that when he interviewed the applicant he was unusually impressed with this man. He expressed the further opinion that the man has become adjusted and stable.

The Board is of the opinion that despite the fact that he has a previous criminal record he will not again violate the laws of society. Confidence was expressed that this applicant has by his sincere efforts of adjustment within the prison demonstrated the fact that he is determined to live a law-abiding life. The Board, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted.

Respectfully submitted,

Lieutenant Governor.
(Sgd) HENRY E. HARNER,

In re application of Artis Myrick, 7396-C, No. 6748, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the maximum sentence of Artis Myrick, convicted of robbery, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on October 31, 1940, be commuted from 20 years to 16 years, 3 months, expiring on January 9, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until October 9, 1960.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Marion Scott D-1668, No. 8653, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is forty-five years of age. He was separated from his wife by reason of the gossip being circulated that he was "running around" with other women. In an effort to become reconciled he called upon his wife and in the discussion which was preceeded by some drinking on the part of each, the wife threatened the applicant with a kitchen knife while the applicant grabbed a stove shaker. The applicant struck the victim over the head with the stove shaker, grabbed the knife and stabbed the victim to death. Immediately following the tragedy the applicant voluntarily went to the police and gave himself up.

For the past twenty years the applicant has been incarcerated. The Penitentiary staff reports that he has an excellent institutional record and has become a mature man. During his confinement he has been employed in several activities, of which is that of watch repairer. He has acquired the habit of industry and thrift and appears to be more mature and has an excellent outlook on life.

The trial judge is deceased and the President Judge, the Honorable Henry G. Sweney, states that he is opposed to clemency. The District Attorney, Raymond R. Start, writes the Board that consideration should be given as to whether or not this applicant has been rehabilitated and if so, "we would leave the matter in the hands of the Pardon Board to make a decision."

The prior criminal record of the applicant is negligible The Board believes that this applicant, having spent over twenty years in the penitentiary, is now ready for release. The crime could well have been a second degree murder and the sentence only from ten to twenty years. The elements of second degree murder are stronger than that of first degree, in this case, and such being the fact, the applicant has spent the maximum sentence for second degree murder in the penitentiary. The Board believes that this applicant, who has demonstrated maturity and stability, will not again offend the laws of society, and recommends his sentence be commuted.

In re application of Wilmer Shankle, 3864-C, No. 8605, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommended that the maximum sentence of Wilmer Shankle, convicted of burglary, larceny, aiding an attempted prison break, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Indiana County on October 9, 1944, be commuted from 18½ years to 12 years, 3 months, expiring on January 9, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

The Board of Parole has received a request from the applicant to be relieved of further parole supervision on the basis of his adjustment and progress on parole. The Board of Parole has favorably recommended this action to the Board of Pardons after reviewing his record. But for this action the applicant, because of his sentence, would remain on parole until January 25, 1963.

For the reason that this applicant has served a long time on parole, and the further reason, that the Board of Parole recommends him for release, the Board of Pardons recommends to your Excellency that the term of the maximum sentence of the applicant be commuted and that he be freed from further parole supervision.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Paul L. Sheaffer, C-3798, No. 8397, September Session, 1956. (Recommended November 1956 Session).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Paul L. Sheaffer, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Perry County on February 7, 1927 be commuted from life imprisonment to 29 years 11 months expiring on January 7, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is fifty-nine years of age. He was sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime of murder arising in Perry County in December 1926.

The applicant was employed by the victim on his farm and was on the place only a few days prior to the murder. The applicant struck George B. Shull with a club and beat him so severely that he died. Then, on the same day, he attacked the wife, Ella Shull, and beat her to death. After that, he kidnapped the daughter. Fortunately he left her out of the automobile in which he was transporting her without harm, but threatened her life.

The applicant pleaded guilty to the murder of both George B. Shull and Ella Shull and was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Ella Shull. The Perry County authorities have not brought him to trial for the murder of George B. Shull, although they have lodged a detainer against him.

The applicant has been incarcerated for over twenty-nine years. The prison authorities state that during that period of time he has established an outstanding institutional record. This includes an unblemished disciplinary record. He has been working as a clerk in the office of the penitentiary and the prison staff are in accord in recommending leniency for this applicant.

The applicant has made arrangements to reside in Philadelphia and employment has been promised him. Likewise, he will not be entirely without income for under the will of the late Mary Rieck, of Pittsburgh, he receives a $50.00 monthly annunity as long as he lives.

The applicant assures the Board that he will not return to Perry County, although the Perry County authorities have lodged a detainer against him, for the murder of George B. Shull to No. 2 January Term 1927.

The sentencing Judge is deceased. However, the President Judge, the Honorable Harry B. Crytzer, the Associate Judges, and the District Attorney of Perry County, are opposed to the granting of clemency on behalf of this applicant. Although time has not entirely erased the memory of this crime from the minds of the citizens of Perry County, it must be considered that if any man has been punished for an offense, this applicant has been so punished.

However, the Board believes that this man, having been incarcerated for nearly thirty years, and having demonstrated stability and maturity while incarcerated, and who has won the approval of every member of the prison staff for his exemplary conduct and ability, is deserving of clemency. Further incarceration would prove of no benefit to the applicant, to the Commonwealth, or to society. The Board further believes that if this applicant is released he will never again offend against the laws of society. The Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Frank Dominick Teny, 78584, No. A-3310, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimum sentence of Frank Dominick Teny, convicted of sodomy in the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Allegheny County on October 23, 1953, computed from April 17, 1956 be commuted from 2 years to 9 months expiring on January 17, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is twenty-eight years of age. He was arrested in September 1951 for sodomy in Allegheny County and placed on probation for a period of five years. Later, in 1953, he committed an offense of rape in Beaver County and because of this offense, for which he received a sentence of 1½ to 15 years, the Courts of Allegheny County revoked the probation and sentenced him to a term of 2 to 4 years, to follow the Beaver County sentence. He was paroled at the expiration of his minimum sentence of Beaver County and in April of this year started to serve his sentence of 2 to 4 years imposed by the Allegheny County Court.

The offense consisted of having illegal carnal relations with a girl in the vicinity of Ambridge, Allegheny County, following the offense in Beaver County.

The Board of Pardons, in February 1956, commuted the applicant's Beaver County sentence.

The sentencing judge is no longer on the Bench and the President Judge, the Honorable William H. McNaugher, has not made any comment. The District Attorney of Allegheny County, expressed opposition, through his representative. However, the Board, believing that this applicant has learned his lesson recommends that his Allegheny County sentence be commuted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Claude Toney, C-1751, No. A-1701, June Session, 1956. (Recommended November 1956 Session).

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minimun sentence of Claude Toney, convicted of armed robbery; assault with intent to kill and larceny in the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County on June 23, 1950, computed from August 3, 1949 be commuted from 15 years to 7 years, 5 months, expiring on January 3, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-two years of age. He, together with several accomplices, were involved in a series of crimes in Allegheny County. In one of the crimes, the applicant was accused of driving the get-way car. In this escape a running gun fire took place. The subsequent arrest of all involved resulted in severe punishment of all members of the gang. Several, however, were acquitted so that the net result was that the applicant received a heavy sentence.

The applicant is the brother of the notorious Virgil Toney, who, from all reports, appeared to be the leader of this group. The applicant had no prior criminal record although he was arrested one time, but not convicted.

During his incarceration the applicant has made a very satisfactory adjustment. Of his assignments of work he has assumed responsibility and has been placed in a position of trust. The prison staff speaks highly of his efforts of adjustment and change of personality

The sentencing judge, the Honorable Harry M. Montgomery, in a letter of November 1954, and re-affirmed since then, states that he views with favor the commutation of sentence. However, another sentencing judge, the Honorable F. Cortz Bell, now retired from the bench, is opposed. The district attorney of Allegheny County stated to the board in writing, that this application merits consideration.

The Board has a letter from B. Lynn Harriman, psychologist, stating he considers the applicant to be a highly intelligent person, and recommending clemency.

The applicant, who is stabilized and readjusted has spent over seven years in the penitentiary. The Board feels that he will not again offend against the laws of society and will make a successful life in the future becoming a credit to society and his family. The Board, therefore, recommends his sentence be commuted.

BOARD OF PARDONS

In re application of Edward Wheeler, D-2298, No. 8534, November Session, 1956.

To His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Sir: The above application having been heard, upon due public notice, in open session, the undersigned members of the Board of Pardons recommend that the minium sentence of Edward Wheeler, convicted of murder in the first degree in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Philadelphia County on June 29, 1937 be commuted from life imprisonment to 19 years 7 months, expiring on January 29, 1957.

Our reasons for making this recommendation are as follows:

This applicant is thirty-eight years of age. He, together with accomplices, entered a restaurant and in the course of a robbery, a man working in a garage next door, caught them in the act. The applicant tried to release himself from the grasp of the victim, but was unable to do so until his accomplice struck the victim over the head with a hammer. This severe blow caused the death of the victim.

The applicant was sentenced to life imprisonment. The accomplice was likewise sentenced to life imprisonment, but died in prison in July 1945.

During his incarceration the aplicant has shown marked self-improvement and has adjusted himself very well.

The trial judge is deceased, but President Judge, the Honorable Eugene V. Alessandroni, stated to the Board that he relied upon the discretion of the Board in this matter. The district attorney's representative, stated that he was not opposed to the extension of clemency.

It was reported to the Board that this man, during the nineteen years he has been incarcerated, has been remarkably free from any fmisconduct reports, and has taken many courses of study from the I. C. S. and has made good progress in all of them. Certainly the applicant has improved himself mentally during these years.

The Board believes that this applicant, if released, will not return to a life of crime, and the Board, therefore, recommends that his sentence be commuted.

To the Chief Clerk of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Sirs:

As specifically provided in Clause XXIV, Item 3, of the Will of the late Stephen Girard, the Board of Directors of City Trusts acting for the City of Philadelphia renders herewith to the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a detailed account for the year 1955 of the Estate devised to the City of Philadelphia, in trust, and the investment and application of the same, and a report in like manner of the state of Girard College, a duplicate copy of which has been rendered to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Very respectfully yours,

W. H. GILLAM, JR.,

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF CITY TRUSTS

TO THE LEGISLATURE OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA FOR 1955

June 18, 1956.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:

In accordance with Clause XXIV, Item 3, of the Will of Stephen Girard, the City of Philadelphia, acting by the Board of Directors of City Trusts, herewith submits a detailed account concerning the devised and bequeathed estate of Stephen Girard, deceased, with the investments and application of the same, together with a report of the state of Girard College, for the year 1955.

The principal of the Residuary Fund for the maintenance of Girard College amounted on December 31, 1955 to $71,005,663.02, exclusive of the value of real estate devised and still held, or $442,184.19 more than at the end of the year 1954.

The total ordinary expenditures for the support and maintenance of Girard College amounted to $2,056,478.29, or $87,834.53 less than for the year 1954. The average number of students maintained was 1,094 and the cost of maintenance per capita $1,879.78, or $26.44 more than for the year 1954.

Total student enrollment, January 1, 1955 ..	1,140
Student admitted during the year	75	1,215
Indentures cancelled	134
Students leaving at eighteen years of age	28	162
Total student enrollment, December 31, 1955		1,053

The year 1955 was marked by a considerable change in the administration of Girard College. In addition to a new President, Dr. E. Newbold Cooper, and Vice-President, Mr. Karl R. Friedmann, who also acts as Director of Secondary Education, Mr. Malcolm J. Nicholson was appointed Director of Elementary Education and Mr. Ernest L. Ogden, Jr., Assistant Director on May 1, 1955.

Mr. John C. Hayward, Director of the Office of Admissions and Student Relations, resigned September 1, 1955 to accept a position as Dean of Student Affairs at Bucknell University. He was succeeded by Mr. Emil Zarella, an alumnus, who was graduated in 1924, and who had been serving as Associate Director of Secondary Education. Two resident masters, Mr. Charles T. Cunningham and Mr. Lauris R. Wilson, were assigned part-time administrative duties to handle the work formerly carried by Mr. Zarella.

Under this reorganized leadership, Girard College continued to function smoothly. There was incresed emphasis on scholarship and a pleasing growth in the length of the honor roll. Forty percent of the Class of 1955 are enrolled in some institution of higher learning. The Social program, Student Center, the Student Councils, and intra and extramural athletics operated effectively. The last mentioned included 163 games played with neighboring public, parochial, and private schools, of which contests the College won 64%.

Physical improvements were largely of a maintenance nature. A new public address system, for instance, was installed in the Chapel, and the front portion of Lafayette Hall was completely rewired. The compressor for the water cooling system in the House Group was overhauled and a new drinking water system installed in the Junior School. Extensive repairs to the campus lighting system were necessary, which included replacing some of the original cables and a number of worn parts. The roadway to the north of the Infirmary was widened to improve parking facilities there.

During the year death removed Mr. Frank D. Witherbee, retired Superintendent of Admission and Discharge. Three teachers with long terms of service retired, Mr. John F. Barrett, 37 years, Miss Sara J. Ramsay, 41 years, and Miss Mary L. Smythe. 28 years.

The year might be characterized as one of quiet progress both in the academic field and in the area of physical improvements. The morale of all members of the Girard family continued at a satisfactory level.

The receipts from the property of the Girard Estate within the City of Philadelphia were as follows:

	Gross	Net
For the year 1955	$1,603,601.06	$464,873.40

The transactions for the year 1955 from the property of the Girard Esate Without the City of Philadelphia were as follows:

Gross receipts	$467,649.54
Taxes and other expenses	333,569.95
	$134,079.59
Extraordinary expenditures	65,913.58
Net receipts	$ 68,166.01

During the year 1955 the sum of $60,544.78 was set aside for possible permanent improvements and capital investments by colliery lessees, but it is not expected that any part thereof will be expended.

The amount invested on December 31, 1955 in bonds, preferred and common stocks, and mortgages for the Residuary Fund totaled $62,525,839.63, or $1,507,568.53 less than in 1954, and the income therefrom amounted to $2,030,132.88.

The Fire Insurance Fund has assets amounting to $335,701.16. The risks being carried amount to $761,347, of which $89,250 has been re-insured. The fund suffered losses amounting to $61.15 during the year 1955.

From the Fund for the Improvement of the Eastern Front of the City, the expense of lighting the district lying between Vine and South Streets, Front Street and the Delaware River, together with minor items incident thereto, has been paid in the amount of $5,499.23.

The shipment of coal from the Girard Estate during the year 1955 was 680,560.65 gross tons, a decrease as compared with 1954 of 82,434.10 gross tons, or 10.80%. The shipment was made up as follows:

	Tons
Shipped to market—Fresh mined ..	601,538.95
Bank coal	79,021.70
	680,560.65

The total shipment from the region for the year 1955 as reported by the Pennsylvania Department of Mines was 22,434,250 gross tons, a decrease of 1,326,742 gross tons, or 5.58% as compared with 23,760,992 gross tons for 1954. The Girard Estate's proportion of the regional shipments was 3.03% as compared with 3.21% in 1954.

During the ninety-three years of active mining on the Girard Estate, there have been marketed from it 141,-675,986.30 tons.

The coal leases at the end of the year were seventeen in number, six more than at the end of 1954.

Under the provisions of Clause IV of the Will, the sum of $235.56 was expended in the purchase of books for schools in the first section of the first school district of Pennsylvania.

The sum of $120.96 was expended in the purchase and distribution of fuel (coal) in accordance with the provisions of Clause V of the Will.

On behalf of the Board of Directors of City Trusts

JOHN REINARD,
President.

REPORT

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE METHODS USED BY THE STATE BOARD OF MEDICAL EDUCATION AND LICENSURE WITH RESPECT TO THE ACCEPTANCE FOR INTERNSHIP OF GRADUATES OF FOREIGN MEDICAL SCHOOLS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Pursuant to

RESOLUTION NO. 131

This report of the House Committee to investigate the method of the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure with respect to the acceptance for internship for graduates of foreign medical schools sets forth the findings and recommendations of the Committee acting under House Resolution No. 131, adopted by the House of Representatives on March 26, 1956.

Resolution Number 131 empowers this Committee to conduct a thorough inquiry into the manner in which the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure grants or denies certificates of internship to applicants who are graduates of foreign medical schools. Since interneship within an approved hospital of this Commonwealth is a pre-requisite to admission to the Board's licensing examinations, this investigation in effect encompasses fundamental procedures employed by the Board in processing applications for medical licensure submitted by graduates of foreign medical schools. Recognizing that a denial of a certificate of interneship is tantamount to total exclusion from medical practice within this State, this Committee was obliged to study the total policies of the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure as they pertain to the licensing of these graduates. The Committee was authorized to hold hearings and to inspect records and documents in carrying out this investigation.

At the organization meeting of the Committee on June 7, 1956, the existing situation was reviewed and because of the controversial nature of the issues involved, the Committee decided to conduct two full-scale hearings, the first dealing soley with the presentation of the complaints by the individuals aggrieved by the present policies of the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure, and the second to afford the Board of Medical Education and Licensure a full opportunity to explain those policies and state its views of the problem.

Both hearings were conducted in the new House Caucus Room; full stenographic notes were kept and are attached to this report.

The first hearing was held on July 26, 1956 At this time the Committee invited the Justinian Society of Philadelphia, a legal organization whose members had offered their services to any individuals presenting issues involving the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure, to attend together with those doctors whom it represented. At this hearing the Chairman and three Committee members were present, attorneys for the Justinian Society, and their respective clients.

Both doctors appearing at this hearing are American citizens, residents of Pennsylvania and had completed their entire pre-medical studies within local educational institutions. Each had, for varying reasons, pursued a full course of medical studies at the University of Rome. Upon their return to this State, they encountered an intransigent refusal on the part of the Board of Medical Education and Licensure to permit them to intern within Pennsylvania hospitals, to compete in the Board's medical licensure examinations, and, of course, to practice medicine lawfully within this Commonwealth. Counsel for the applicants stated of record that three other individuals with similar experiences were unable to appear before the Committee on that date. In addition, the Chairman received a communication from a former Member of the House that another similarly aggrieved doctor of his acquaintance could not be presented for the reason that he was being inducted into military service.

Both doctors described the course of study pursued at the University of Rome. The curriculum extends throughout six years, divided into two-year units termed "biennials." They testified that in the middle of the second biennial, i.e., after three years of study, they participate fully in the various clinics and hospitals affiliated with the University of Rome. The doctors stated that the hospital wards with which they were affiliated contained about eighty patients who were seen daily. The method of study was described as that carried throughout the Continent, known as the "scholastic method of study" where the individual, instead of being compelled to take required examinations at the end of the year, may instead to place himself under examination at one of three examining sessions.

One of the complaintants who graduated from the University of Rome in 1955 stated that four of his classmates were residents of Pennsylvania, and that, to his knowledge, none of these had been permitted to intern in Pennsylvania. In addition, he informed the Committee that about 17 or 18 students from Luzerne, Philadelphia, Delaware and Allegheny counties will be graduating this year, and, under the present ruling of the Board, will of course be ineligible to interneships in Pennsylvania.

The entire curriculum presented at the University of Rome was read into the record, and is affixed separately (Vide, Exhibit A) to this report. One of the petitioners had attended Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia prior to his attendance at the University of Rome, and was presently participating in a three-year-post-graduate course at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School. In his opinion, the course of studies pursued at the University of Rome was comparable to that followed in American medical schools, and, in some instances, more emphasis was placed upon certain basic sciences, these courses extending for two years instead of one.

One petitioner testified that he was presently serving a rotating interneship in a Camden hospital. He stated that the New Jersey Board of Medical Licensure accords full recognition to the diploma granted by the University of Rome, and regularly permits these graduates to intern within New Jersey hospitals. Ultimately he will take the medical examinations in New Jersey, but added that if he is successful, the New Jersey license will not permit him to receive reciprocal certificate from the Pennsylvania Board of Medical Education and Licensure, despite the fact that the interneship which he is presently serving meets all the requirements set down by the Pennsylvania Board. He explained that despite his status in New Jersey, the Pennsylvania Board will maintain its present ostracism of the University of Rome graduates, and cited several instances where this situation presently obtained. Thus, despite the fact that he is a resident of Pennsylvania, if he wishes to engage in medical practice, he must change his domicile to New Jersey. This doctor also stated that he may intern in New York, since the New York Board of Medical Education and Licensure. after a tour of inspection of the Italian schools in 1949, admits to practice all qualified graduates of the University of Rome.

Counsel read into the record a letter received by one of the petitioners who applied in November, 1954 for a certificate of interneship by the Pennsylvania Board of Medical Education and Licensure. This letter, signed by Charles L. Shafer, M. D., Chairman, State Board of Medical Education and Licensure, informed the applicant that he was in error about his right to serve an internship in a Pennsylvania hospital and his eligibility for a Pennsylvania license. Without elucidating any of the grounds for the Board's position, the letter stated flatly that "no graduates of the University of Rome Medical School who matriculated after 1941 have the right to be serving an interneship in any Pennsylvania hospital. Such a graduate is not eligible for Pennsylvania examinations." (Vide, Notes, July 26, 1956, pp. 17-18.)

After considering this testimony, the Committee was of the opinion that the bedrock issue emerging was that of ascertaining precisely why the Pennsylvania Board of Medical Education and Licensure has not seen fit to recognize the qualifications of the University of Rome medical school.

Before closing this hearing, the Committe invited counsel for the applicants to summarize the entire situation and to present further argument on behalf of the petitioners.

In summing up, counsel stated that the Board of Medical Education and Licensure, as one of fifteen such administrative bodies within the Department of Public Instruction, is charged by law with the duty of determining the professional status of the various medical schools whose graduates seek licenses to engage in the practice of medicine within this Commonwealth. In carrying out this task, the Board may not act according to caprice, but is governed by the practices and procedures defined by the Legislature in the Medical Practice Act of 1911. This Act states that it shall be the duty of the Board, "by inspection and otherwise, to ascertain the facilities and qualifications of medical institutions, colleges, or hospitals outside this Comomnwealth, whose gradutes or internes desire to obtain medical licensure in this state." Despite the fact that the Board of Medical Education and Licensue has neither inspected this school nor issued any statement of findings concerning its merit, it has characterized the school as "substandard" and refused licenses to all its graduates since 1941. Its responses to repeated queries have been couched in broad and vague generalization, composed in the main of hearsay statements, whose sources remain obscure.

Counsel stressed the point that at no time had the American Medical Association issued a clear-cut rejection of the professional status of the medical school of the University of Rome. Despite the fact that the American Medical Association's Council on Medical Education did not include any Italian medical schools on its list of recommended foreign institutions, it noted clearly that this document was offered "as an advisory list for the use of any agency or organization that finds it helpful. The position of the Council with respect to schools not named in this list is that they neither approve nor disapprove of them. The credentials of graduates of schools not listed must be evaluated by those other agencies, organizations or institutions to who graduates of the institution apply for recognition."

Twenty-four of the thirty-six State Boards regulating medical licensure in accordance with standards acceptable to the American Medical Association have followed the specific mandate not to be bound by this list and routinely qualify graduates of foreign medical schools not included therein. These states comprise the strongest and most progressive administrations and represent large population aggregates throughout the Union. Pennsylvania's nearest neighbors, Delaware, Ohio, New Jersey, and New York do not deem the University of Rome a "substandard" medical institution; the Boards of Medical Education and Licensure in these States have not embraced the unofficial A.M.A. listing as a final and irrevocable judgment which precludes any furthr fact-finding on their part. Thus, the petitioners appearing before the Committee find themselves in a situation which demands that they change their legal residence if they wish to engage in the profession to which they have dedicated their lives, their fortunes, and their manifest destinies.

On September 13, 1956, in the new House Caucus Room, the Committee met with members of the Pennsylvania Board of Medical Education and Licensure. Present also at this time were counsel for the doctors aggrieved by the present stand of the Board. Dr. Charles L. Shafer, Chairman of the Board, introduced to the Committee Drs. Elmer Hess, Leslie Richards, and Raymond Leopold, and Elmer T. Bolla, Esq., Deputy Attorney-General assigned to advise the Board. Not present but listed for the record were Dr. C. L. Wilbar, Deputy Secretary of Heatlh who represents Dr. Mattison, Secretary of Health on the Board, and Mr. D. E. Crosley, Deputy Secretary of Public Instruction, the representative of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

In introducing the members of the Board of Medical Education and Licensure to the Committee Dr. Shafer described their long terms of appointment, in all cases extending over twelve or fourteen years. As Chairman, Dr. Shafer was the first witness to speak before the Committee on the issue of the Board's rejection of foreign medical graduates. Dr. Shafer viewed the duties of the Board as primarily those of maintaining high educational standards for medical graduates; he described the changing medical education scene in the United States throughout the first half the twentieth century. With respect to foreign medical schools he stated initially that the Board recognizes only those foreign schools listed by the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association, but in direct reply to a querry of the Committee admitted that the Board is "not wholly" guided by the policies set down by the American Medical Association.

Dr. Shafer stated that prior to 1941 graduates of the University of Rome were freely admitted to licensure in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and that there are many such medical practitioners throughout the State today. When asked by the Committee to explain the basis for the changed policies of the Board in the postwar era, Dr. Shafer replied in general terms that "there has been a deterioration," and that the medical education is "not up to our standard." Dr. Shafer stated that he had never personally inspected the shools, nor had the Board done so, but that he considered them, nevertheless, inferior and incapable of satisfying the Board's requirements. This latter judgment, he declared, was based in part on the American Medical Association's list, and on the opinion of "private individual's." Dr. Shafer stated that one member of the Board. Rr. Raymond Leopold, had visited recently in Italy, but upon interrogation by the Committee, Dr. Leopold stated that he had last visited the University of Rome Medical School in 1938. (Vide, Notes of Testimony, September 13, 1956, p. 52).

The next member of the Board to testify was Dr. Elmer Hess who stated that he felt the foremost concern of the Board should be for American citizens. When the Committee informed him that their concern was solely with the case of the American citizen who had completed his medical education abroad, Dr. Hess stated that he felt that any student who did not gain admission into an American medical school was deficient in some area which he could not define. He stated, "There's something lacking in the boy if he doesn't get into an American medical school. There isn't any question about it. Now what is lacking, I don't know." (Notes of Testimony, p. 16).

Replying to the Committee's interrogation concerning the Board's pre-1941 policy of complete recognition of these schools, Dr. Hess stated that he was not familiar with the techniques then employed by the Board for ascertaining the professional status of these foreign medical schools.

Both Drs. Hess and Shafer stated that graduates of such foreign medical schools, despite their admission to medical licensure in other states, would not be granted reciprocal endorsement by the Pennsylvania Board of Medical Education and Licensure. When questioned by the Committee as to their view of the fairness of this situation, both doctors expressed the position that their stand was in compliance with "the law."

The Committee called upon the Deputy Attorney-General, Mr. Bolla, for elucidation of the relevant provisions of the Medical Practice Act, requiring that the Board shall "by inspection and otherwise" ascertain the facilities and qualifications of these schools. Mr. Bolla stated that he knew of no decision, no written opinion by the Attorney-General, nor of any informal memorandum upon this point. It was pointed out that no funds were provided by the statute for purposes of inspection. However, the State Bureau of Accounts showed that the surplus of over $50,000.00 was returned to the State Treasury by the Board as excess of receipts over expenditures.

The Committee was informed by Dr. Hess that the Board of Medical Education and Licensure regularly issues post-graduate certificates to non-citizens who have graduated from these schools, but who intend to return to their native countries after completing their necessary training period. This procedure is in fulfillment of the cultural exchange educational program established by the Congress and administered by the State Department. The Board does not, however, consider this limited acceptance of foreign graduates as a ground for admission of American citizen graduates to medical licensure. In effect, the Board displays greater latitude toward visiting alien physicians than it does toward those graduates who are American citizens and residents of this Commonwealth.

The Committee attempted to learn from Dr. Leopold, described by Dr. Shafer as the Board member most expert in this area, the quality and nature of foreign medical training centers. Although Dr. Leopold's last visit to Italian medical school was in 1938, he believed that there had been little improvement or change. He characterized the educational methods and concepts of European schools as static and definitely inferior to the present educational program of American Institutions, In particular he gave a detailed account of the practices he encountered in Switzerland, but, in view of the fact that Swiss graduates are recognized by the Board, his testimony did not provide great assistance to the Committee. Furthermore, the schools he visited in 1938 were then regularly approved by the Board who did not then deem Italian faculties to be "sub-standard." His remarks were of historical, or, at best, anecdotal interest.Dr. Leopold, together with every other member of the board present, manifested a definite judgment of the superiority of American medical schools and the inferior standing of the European in general, but could not justify to the Committee the Board's continuing denigration of Italian medical faculties.

The Committe sought to ascertain what solution the Board could offer in connection with the problem. Dr. Leslie Richards, a Board member who had been in attendance at meetings of the Federation of State Board of Medical Licensure, a national Group, described plans now in evolution for establishing a definite system for evaluating foreign medical gradutes, both citizens and non-citizens. At the June, 1956 meeting, an eight-man committee, consisting of two representatives from the American Council of Medical Education, two from the American Hospital Association, two from the Federation of State Boards of the United States, and two from the Association of American Medical Colleges, was appointed and designated as the "Evaluating Committee," charged with the responsibility of evaluating all applicants seeking medical licensure who are graduates of foreign medical schools.

This Evaluating Committee is seeking necessary funds from private foundations to carry out this charge. Dr. Richards could not present a definite commitment to the Committee concerning the time-schedule under which such evaluation would operate, but hinted that some step would be taken by February, 1957, with respect to those graduates presently in the United States. These men would have the opportunity to appear before the Evaluating Committee and be examined as to their credentials. Therefore, the Evaluating Committee, in the event of approval, will issue certificates which may then be presented to the various State Boards.

The legal status of recommendations made by such an Evaluating Committee was raised by several members of the committee through queries both to Dr. Richards and Mr. Bolla. Apparently, Mr. Bolla prepared a report for the Governor's office on this matter, but stated no definite or official opinion upon this question could be made until the Evaluating Committee issued a complete program of its operations and procedures. Mr. Bolla further stated that he was not prepared to state whether the inspection requirements of the Medical Practice Act of 1911 would be met by this proposed arrangement.

Dr. Richards further stated that the list of recommended foreign medical schools published by the American Medical Association in 1954 has been rejected by the Federation of State Boards, and that the Evaluating Committee would not consider itself bound by that declaration.

In response to an observation by the Chairman of the Committee, Mrs. Varallo, that the idea of an Evaluating Committee is of recent origin, Dr. Richards stated that this project has been in progress for two years, and that the present organizational proposal was the result of those labours.

Much testimony was presented to the Committee concerning examination results in those states who admit foreign graduates to licensure. It was pointed out that a large percentage of these candidates fail to pass the examinations established by these Boards. These statistics, however, do not distinguish between applicants whose pre-medical training was undertaken in American schools and those who are immigrants. The figures offered do not disclose the percentage of successful or failing applicants who are American citizens who have medicine abroad, the sole category of applicant considered by this Committee. Furthermore, extra-medical factors such as language, familiarity with the style of answer required, and general adeptness in examination-taking are completely ignored by this method of evaluation.

Counsel for the applicant stated that the fact that foreign medical graduates licensed before 1941 were, in the opinion of the Board of Medical Education and Licensure, competent physicians was as significant as any set of statistics which could be conjured up. Furthermore, it was pointed out that the standards utilized by the Board in its present evaluation of foreign medical schools were yet unclear, despite Dr. Shafer's statement that the Board based its policies on the American Medical Association's recommended list. For example, several Asiatic schools were approved, despite the fact that they were excluded from the list. The Board replied that these schools in China and Japan were under the aegis of American educational foundations, and hence met their requirements, but again did not explicate their position, and did not set forth before the Committee these specific requirements. Counsel for the applicants stressed that the present system ignored the individual human right of American citizens to pursue their chosen profession, under the law, and gave these foreign graduates no recourse or consideration upon their individual merits. The Board acknowleged that the present situation did not accord the individual full recognition, but considered that the Evaluating Committee would provide a more humanitarian solution.

Counsel also stressed that the evaluation of individual applicants was one of the responsibilities legally imposed upon the Board of Medical Education and Licensure, and one which could not be delegated to a national, extra-legal voluntary organization not subject to legislative or judicial inquiry within this Commonwealth.

Moreover, the opinon of the Board that the Continental techniques of educational administration were generally inferior, and their broad indictment of all European medical schools were inconsistent with their acceptance of some European graduates, and did not justify their flat rejection of the Italian medical faculties. Despite the fact that this anomalous situation had existed in the Commonwealth for the past ten years, the Board of Medical Education and Licensure had not formulated any interim solution, but had only recently associated itself with the proposal for the establishment of a national evaluation program, which in itself, was yet in a planning stage of development. A further problem arose because there was no assurance, either in law or in reality, that the Board would admit to licensure a foreign medical graduate certified by the Evaluating Committee. In view of the Board's rejection of the standards maintained at these foreign faculties, it would not be inconceivable that despite the necessary certificate, applicants would in the future be disqualified merely on the basis of their medical school affiliation. Thus, counsel pointed out to the Committee that the proposal for an Evaluating Committee did not squarely confront the issue of any possible future continuation by the Board of its present policy.

This Committee was concerned primarily with the issue of any possible discrimination evidenced by the manner in which the Board discharges its legal duty of evaluating and qualifying for licensure graduates of foreign medical schools who are American citizens and bona fide resident of this Commonwealth. Recognizing the complexity and difference in governmental policy involved in the problem of those graduates who are not American citizens, the Committee made no inquiry into either their status or the standards and policies employed in evaluating their applications. The focus was oriented solely to the pattern characterized by the applicant who testified at the first hearing: the American boy, a resident of Pennsylvania, rooted by ties of family and association in this Commonwealth, who for varying reasons completed his medical education abroad, received a diploma and perhaps a license in that European country, who, upon returning to Pennsylvania, encounters a door irrevocably closed to him as he seeks to enter the medical fraternity of Pennsylvania.

What forces closed this door, and for what reason, rational or otherwise, and for what motives? These were the queries which beset the Committee and which it sought to answer throughout the course of its work.

Until the outbreak of World War II, up to 1941 precisely, graduates of foreign medical schools, and specifically, the University of Rome, were freely admitted to internship and examination in Pennsylvania. The committee took notice of the fact that a large number of registered physicians in this Commonwealth are graduates of foreign medical schools, and that some of them occupy significant hospital and community positions. After this mark-off date for the duration of the war, no problem existed with respect to the termination of recognition of these schools, for the obvious reason that in a world at war intercourse and cultural exchange were non-existent. After 1946, however, and particularly in the later postwar period, the situation became more acute. The practice of studying abroad again became part of the privilege of American youth, and indeed, the American government undertook vast and costly programs to promote closer intercultural ties and to foster this intellectual cross fertilization. During this period in the early and mid-fifties, a small but increasing number of Pennsylvanians undertook a full course of medical studies abroad, graduated, and returned to Pennsylvania with necessary and proper credentials. The Board of Medical Education and Licensure informed them that under Pennsylvania law no graduate of the University of Rome Medical School who had received his diploma after 1941 was eligible to intern in Pennsylvania hospitals or compete in the licensure examination.

During this period the Board did not inspect these foreign medical schools as required by the Medical Practice Act of 1911. Their alternative techniques of fact-finding were vague and uncertain. They igored the report issued by the New York State Board of Medical Licensure after a complete inspection tour in 1949, recommending the approval upon sound grounds of some of the Italian Medical Schools, including the University of Rome, and preferred to continue their method based on reports of private individuals, unidentified to the Committee, who are characterized as "educators." They could offer no satisfactory explanation for this stand against the New York Report.

Although the Chairman stated that he considered the American Medical Association's List of Recommended Foreign Medical Schools as binding upon him (despite the A.M.A.'s injunction that the list was merely advisory, and that it was the responsibility of local administrative agencies to ascertain the qualifications of these schools not approved and to consider the applicants of these schools on their individual merits), the Board nevertheless accepted applications of graduates of unlisted medical schools in China and Japan, because they knew that American educators "backed" them. Furthemore, any graduates of these foreign schools who became licensed in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, or in any of the twenty-four states who made independent evaluations approving these schools, were not, and are not, granted reciprocal certificates of licensure.

The Board apparently considers the entire European system of medical education inferior, basing its opinion in some part on the report of one member who testified that he inspected these schools in 1938.

The Committee again and again pressed for a factual explanation of what had occured in these schools in the postwar period, but did not receive information more specific that that of a general "deterioration." In view of the foregoing attitudes, it would appear that the Board of Medical Education and Licensure has arbitrarily rated these institutions as sub-standard.

The concern, however, of this Committee is neither with the abstract philosophical issues of educational methodology, nor with the discussion of value-judgments concerning the merits of one system over another. It is interested in the manner in which the Board has processed applications put to it by residents of this Commonwealth who are graduates of these schools. Beyond a letter of flat rejection, the Board made no attempt to interview the applicant, to determine his qualifications and skill on an individual basis, to do, in short, what a proposed national group presently in the organizational stages wishes to do on a voluntary basis—to evaluate the applicant as such.

There is a question whether the proposed Evaluating Committee is a satisfactory solution to this problem. There can be no assurance that the Board will cooperate with this Committee, but more basically, the opinion of the Attorney-General's office as to the legality of this procedure has not yet been rendered. Counsel for the applicants stated that they believed this to be an unlawful delegation of power by an administrative agency, and contrary to the provisions of the Medical Practice Act of 1911.

The Committee questions the manner in which the Board of Medical Education and Licensure has discharged its obligations under the law. In view of the great medical shortage throughout this Commonwealth, and in the entire nation, it would appear that an enlightened view would tend in the direction of a more liberal policy. Throughout the entire hearing, it did not appear that the Board, other than to endorse the Evaluating Committee, was prepared to revise or modify its present policies.

In view of these considerations, and with due respect to the memebrs of the Board all of whom have served for more than a decade in this capacity, the Committee wishes to conclude its Report with these recommendations to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

RECOMMENDATION No. 1

This Committee recommends that legislation be enacted requiring the Board to evaluate personally all applicants for medical licensure who are American citizens and residents of this Comonwealth. This Committee further recommends that legislation require the Board, or the Educational Council for the foreign graduates, to admit freely to internship and licensure examinations all applicants who are graduates of medical schools following the terms and policies in states with comparable high standards; and maintain a public list of approved schools in the United States and abroad.

RECOMMENDATION No. 2

This Committee believes that every qualified individual should be granted the opportunity to compete freely and fairly, and recommends legislation requiring the Board to use the examination as the point of disqualification, as is the technique employed in the examination and certification of attorneys.

RECOMMENDATION No 3

This Committee recommends that legislation require the Board to issue reciprocal certificates to those physicians who are licensed to practice in sister-states, and who are graduates of foreign medical schools.

RECOMMENDATION No. 4

This Committee recommends that legislation require the Department of Public Instruction to inspect and evaluate foreign schools whose graduates apply for licenses issued by Pennsylvania professional boards and to furnish said Boards with the reports of such inspection and evaluation.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, Pa., March 12, 1957.

To the Honorable the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Inasmuch as education plays such an important part in our budget thinking, it occurred to me that the attached copy of a Report from the Governor's Commission on Higher Education may be of extreme interest to you.

As you probably know, the Commission has been conducting its research for well over a year and has come up with important findings and recommendations. In order that you might study them for yourself, I have asked that a copy be made available to each member of the Legislature.

At the present time these recommendations are receiving full consideration by this Administration. I have said that I think the report can be the basis for meeting the anticipated expanded need for higher education in the Commonwealth.

It is my hope that you will find in the pages of this report a basis for legislatvie action in this field.

Sincerely yours,

GEORGE M. LEADER.

GOVERNOR'S COMMISSION ON HIGHER EDUCATION
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

February 15, 1957

The Honorable George M. Leader
Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
Dear Governor Leader:

In October, 1955, you requested the undersigned to to serve as a Commission on Higher Education "to survey, analyze and appraise existing or proposed programs of instruction (in Pennsylvania colleges and universities) and State assistance to such programs." Your charge to us reflected your conviction that the Commonwealth "has large although presently unmeasured responsibilites in assisting our colleges and universities to accomplish their mission," and you therefore urged that we exercise a "roving prerogative" in our deliberations.

Acting on that charge, the Commission has addressed itself during the past fifteen months to the basic question of whether and how the Commonwealth should provide opportunities for education beyond the high school for its increasing thousands of college-age men and women.

During the course of its inquiry, the Commission has been guided, first, by recent studies of problems facing higher education conducted on a national level and in a number of other States; second, by Pennsylvania population and enrollment data compiled under the auspices of the State Department of Public Instruction; and, third, by a set of basic principles which, in the Commission's judgment, must undergird the future development of higher education in the Commonwealth. All of the findings and recommendations contained in our Report flow from the confluence of fact and principle formed through intensive research and thorough discussion.

My associates and I deeply appreciate this opportunity to have been of service to the Commonwealth and we stand ready to render whatever additional assistance you believe may be needed in furthering the cause of higher education in Pennsylvania.

Sincerely,

PAUL R. ANDERSON,
For the Commission.

I. Introduction: The Task of the Commission

A. Basic Principles and Assumptions

From the national standpoint, the broad dimensions of the challenge facing American colleges and universities are already well known. Two fundamental factors—the steadily increasing birth rate and the growing proportion of college-age youth attending institutions of higher education—are contributing to ever-mounting enrollments.

In October, 1954, the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers issued a Report entitled "The Impending Tidal Wave of Students." In it the Association called attention to the fact that the population of the United States has doubled in the last fifty years, with the average number of births each year for the past decade more than a million above the average for the ten years immediately preceding.

"The tidal wave of students is sweeping through our elementary schools, approaching the secondary schools, and will engulf our colleges and universities in a few short years," said the Association. "The sheer impact of unprecedented numbers will force us to explore every resource and exert every effort to prepare for their coming . . . a time when we shall be confronted with at least twice our present number of (college and university) students . . . They are already born. We know the time of their coming—we can count them now . . . Educating (them) will be far greater than anything we have been called upon to bear thus far."

But although the tremendous increase in population will greatly swell college enrollments in the years immediately ahead, it is evident that something quite startling is already happening to the size of our collegiate student bodies.

For various economic and social reasons, more and more persons of college age are entering institutions of higher education. During the last fifty years the number of students enrolled in private colleges has multiplied more than seven times, and the number enrolled in public colleges has multiplied seventeen times, while the population has only doubled. Even though a relatively low number of young people reached college age during the past year (as a result of the low birth rate in the thirties), and even though veterans studying under the GI Bill have all but disappeared from college campuses, full-time and part-time enrollments in the fall of 1956, according to the United States Office of Education, reached on all-time high of 2,957,227, an 8.7 per cent increase over 1955—largely in the freshman class. In his most recent annual study of college enrollments, Dr. Raymond Walters, president emeritus of the University of Cincinnati, found that about four out of every ten high school graduates in June, 1956, went on to some type of advanced education, including junior colleges and community colleges.

What has happened to higher education in Pennsylvania since World War II is illustrative of what has happened nationally. Colleges and universities in the Commonwealth were challenged in the post-war period with the largest number of students in history. The peak year in the forties was 1948, when 18.6 per cent of the State's college-age population was enrolled in college. Although in the decade of the fifties there have been fewer persons of college age in Pennsylvania than at any time since World War I, college enrollment figures have not shown a corresponding decrease.

In fact quite the contrary appears to be taking place. In the fall of 1956, a total of 119,000 students—21 per cent of the Commonwealth's college-age population—were enrolled in institutions of higher education. This indicates that something extremely significant is happening in the realm of higher education in Pennsylvania, as well as in the country at large. A combination of economic and social factors has developed an increased interest among young people in attending college in 1954 at the very time the number of persons in the 18-21 age group has decreased to the lowest point in thirty years.

Thus both nationally and in Pennsylvania, irrespective of increased population trends, quite apart from the problem posed by "the rising tide," it appears that higher education is entering a period of unparalleled growth, comparable in scope and significance to the phenomenal expansion of secondary education in the period between the two world wars. For the Commonwealth, in the judgment of the Commission, this increased interest in higher education will mean likely enrollments in the colleges and universities of the State totaling 138,000 by 1960, 180,000 by 1965, and 242,000 by 1970.

To identify the fundamental causes of the contemporary growth of American colleges and universities is to point up the very essence of our democratic system, for expanding educational opportunities are indispensable to a free and dynamic society. An expanding economy requires productive citizens—men and women who possess the scientific, technical, and professional skills necessary to meet the demands of an industrial society. In an era when free institutions are under relentless global attack and the United States bears the responsibilities of world leadership, an enlightened and mature citizenry has become more essential than ever before. This nation has long since learned that economic productivity, social enlightenment, and a strengthened democracy are the fruits of sound education, and just as a high school education became "normal" throughout the United States in the period following World War I, so now is going to college rapidly becoming the "normal" thing to do.

Furthermore, it has long been the American dream that educational opportunities should be available to all citizens regardless of race, creed, or status who are able and desirous. This dream approached fulfillment in the expansion of the secondary schools in this country in the twenties, thirties, and forties; it began to be achieved on a limited scale in our colleges and universities during the period of the GI Bill; its inevitable realization in the form of opportunities for education beyond the high school for all who seek it and possess the capabilities to profit from it will characterize the America of the next two decades.

During recent years many States have studied the implications of explosive school enrollment trends for the colleges and universities within their respective boundaries. Agencies in New York, Maryland, New Jersey, and Ohio—to cite four states adjacent to Pennsylvania—each analyzed the national problem in State terms to determine such things as whether or not to offer a college education to all who are willing and able to take advantage of the opportunity, whose responsibility it is to provide these facilities in higher education, what sources of financial support should be utilized, what expansion of present colleges and universities is required, what new institutions need to be established, what modern society expects from its colleges, and so forth.

The range of questions facing the Pennsylvania Commission on Higher Education in its discussions over the past fifteen months was not unlike those explored by similar bodies in other states. But from its inception the Commission felt that, for a number of reasons which will be examined in detail later in its Report, the problems confronting the colleges and universities of the Commonwealth were in many ways unique, and that its findings should therefore be based on premises indigenous to Pennsylvania, and not on situations or conditions elsewhere.

In its deliberations, the Commission has been guided by the following principles:

Institutions of higher education have an obligation, consistent with their basic policies and aims, to help meet the needs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by:

(1) Contributing to the further development of the economic, political, cultural, and social assets of the Commonwealth.

(2) Providing, through facilities both private and public in character, post high school opportunities which are accessible and of varied types, in order that all who are able and desirous may develop their capacities to the fullest.

(3) Conserving resources through the maximum utilization of existing facilities wherever possible.

(4) Increasing or augmenting facilities, either independent or public in control, where need exists.

(5) Formulating, individually and cooperatively, plans and programs designed to meet future needs.

It is within this framework of principle and on the foregoing assumptions that the Governor's Commission on Higher Education has prepared its Report.

B. Fundamental Questions

In approaching its task, the Commission first sought factual answers to the following questions, all of which relate directly or indirectly to the past development and current status of higher education in the Commonwealth:

1. What is the past, present, and projected picture of college-age population for the United States, Pennsylvania, and adjacent states?

2. What is the picture—past, present, and projected—with regard to the number of high school graduates in the United States, Pennsylvania, and adjacent states?

3. What have been the college enrollment trends in the United States, Pennsylvania, and adjacent states, and what are they likely to be during the next fifteen years?

4. What resources does Pennsylvania have insofar as higher education is concerned?

5. What relationship do Pennsylvania's economic, financial, and natural resources bear to its colleges and universities?

Taken collectively, the answer to these questions tell the story of who goes to college in Pennsylvania, where the students come from, what institutions they attend, how much it costs them, and how their education is financed. This story, essentially quantitative in nature, is outlined in the second section of this Report.

The Commission turned its attention next to the future and to the qualitative aspects of higher education in Pennsylvania. Using the population and enrollment projections referred to above as a backdrop for its discussions, the Commission explored the following six basic policy problems, each of which are discussed in detail in the third section of this Report:

1. Identifying those who should go to college.

2. Enabling the best students to secure a college education.

3. Maintaining the quality of higher education in a time of expansion.

4. Recognizing fields of special need in higher education.

5. Planning for an increase of available institutions.

6. Administering higher education in the Commonwealth.

C. Summary of Recommendations

Interwoven with the Commission's analysis of each of the problem areas just stated are a series of recommendations which the Commission commends to the attention of the people of the Commonwealth. In summary they are:

1. That the Commonwealth develop a cohesive, sound, long-range policy concerning higher education.

2. That the Commonwealth establish a statewide system of achievement and aptitude testing for all seniors in Pennsylvania high schools.

3. That the Commonwealth institute a scholarship and loan program, with four-year scholarships to be awarded on the basis of merit as determined by the testing program mentioned above, available for use in any approved institution of higher education in Pennsylvania, and of the value of $300 or one-half the tuition cost, whichever is less; and a loan fund to provide further assistance, the amount of such assistance to be determined by the need in each case.

4. That the Commonwealth, in seeking to meet the demand for higher education by greatly increased numbers,

(a) look first to existing institutions, both private and public in character, to expand their facilities;

(b) encourage the establishment of new institutions with programs of less than four years—junior colleges, community colleges, technical institutes, and extension centers of colleges and universities—to meet the needs of the State beyond 1960, with the cost of such new facilities to be borne by a combination of funds from the local community, tuition, and the Commonwealth;

(c) give equal consideration to (1) the procurement of well-paid, qualified college teachers, (2) the development of adequate physical facilities for higher education, (3) the procurement of qualified, outstanding educational administrators, and (4) the improvement of teaching effectiveness through more efficient utilization of teaching resources and the development of new methods of instruction;

(d) give particular attention in its planning to the fields of general education in the arts and sciences, teacher education, engineering education, technical education, and graduate education.

5. That the Commonwealth establish within the immediate future an independent Commission on Higher Education with the following provisions:

(a) The Commission to be charged with the responsibility for coordination and planning in the field of higher education in the Commonwealth, including the supervision of the testing, scholarship, and loan programs recommended elsewhere and the chartering of the new institutions proposed.

(b) The Commission to be composed of seventeen members, appointed by the Governor, including the President of the Pennsylvania State University, the chief executive officers of the three large state-aided inititutions (The University of Pittsburgh, the University of Pennsylvania, Temple University), the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the presidents of two state teachers colleges, the presidents of five independent colleges or universities, and five persons not connected professionally with education. These members to serve without pay and all, except the first five mentioned, to be appointed for properly staggered five-year terms. One of the lay members should be designated as chairman.

(c) The Commission to asume the present responsibilities concerning higher education now exercised by the State Council of Education.

(d) The present Bureau of Higher Education, in the Department of Public Instruction, to be made directly responsible to the Commission, and the head of the Bureau to become the executive Secretary of the Commission.

(e) Budgetary requests made by the Commission to be considered for fiscal purposes as a part of the budget of the Department of Public Instruction.

II. Dimensions of the Problem

The characteristics of our quantitative problem in higher education in the United States and the Commonwealth are revealed by an analysis of the following (a) the size of the general population, the size of the population of college age (18-21), the proportion of the youth population that graduates from high school, the dates of change in the proportion of secondary school graduates attending institutions of higher learning; (b) the rate of natural increase in a population, the degree of migration experienced by the population, and (c) the resources and facilities available and expended for this education.

In 1956, the United States census estimated the nation's population (including members of the armed forces overseas) was 167,440,000. The birth rate per 1,000 population as of the end of 1955 was 24.9, a rate not significantly lower than any annual birth rate since 1947, and higher than any annual rate experienced in the two decades between 1926 and 1947. Meanwhile, the United States population was experiencing its lowest death rates. The 1955 birth rate of 24.9 per 1,000 was complemented by a death rate of 9.3 per 1,000, a rate typical of the nation's mortality experience since 1947. As a result of higher birth rates and lower death rates the United States has experienced a higher survival rate for its population. In the wake of surviving has arisen the nation's grave concern over whether or not it is going to be able to provide the services that this increase in population is going to require. Looking ahead, and using as a base the birth rates of 1950-1953, the United States Bureau of the Census has made three population projections which will indicate the quantitative dimensions of the problems ahead. Assuming that the United States birth rates of 1950-1953 will remain constant, we may expect the nation's population to approximate 204,620,000 by 1970. If these rates remain constant to 1965 and then decline, the 1970 population will be 202,984,000. If, however, the 1950-1953 rate declines rapidly to roughly the pre-war level, the nation's 1970 population will be 196,370,000.

If the nation's past experience has any meaning, we may reasonably conclude that present and future generations are going to seek more years of education. The size of this potential problem is revealed in the fact that in the United States in 1900, approximately 4 per cent of the population between 18-21 years of age was enrolled in some institution of higher learning. In 1954, the proportion in college had increased more than 600 per cent to 29.2 per cent of that age group.

The population growth of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does not follow that of the United States as a whole. In 1950, Pennsylvania's population was enumerated at 10,498,012. By mid-year 1955, it had increased to 11,159,000 according to the United States Bureau of the Census. By 1960 the Bureau estimates that Pennsylvania's population will range between 11,221,000 and 11,369,000. The State Planning Board of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, using a more conservative method of projection reaches the conclusion that "if present trends continue the State's total population as of April 1, 1960 will closely approximate 11,038,000, which is probably a minimum expectation." In order to compare Pennsylvania's statistics with those of other states, the United States census projections are being used here. They indicate that, though Pennsylvania's percentage of the nation's total population is decreasing, the Commonwealth has been maintaining a relatively constant rate of growth since 1930. Projecting a continuation of this rate, a 0.5 per cent additional increase in population during subsequent five-year periods, and an additional 1.0 per cent increase during these years, we have the following table of population possibilities in the State through 1970.

When Pennsylvania is compared with its bordering states, several observations seem to have relevance for an analysis of its population growth. First, it may be noted that the percentage increase in its population between 1940 and 1950 was lower than the increase in all other states except West Virginia and less than half the rate of increase for the total United States population. Second, the 1955 birth rate for Pennsylvania was approximately that of New York and New Jersey but lower than all other states. Third, in Pennsylvania the death rate and infant mortality rate are in the upper limits of rates recorded for neighboring states. These birth and death rate statistics do not explain the relatively slow rate of growth in the Commonwealth in the 1940-1950 decade. For this, there is but one explanation—Pennsylvania has been losing population through migration.

An interpretation of future population needs may be deduced from the projections of the number of births and college age populations in the Commonwealth.

Data on college age populations, 1940 and 1950, Reports of the United States Bureau of the Census; for all other years prepared by Commission staff.

These data indicate that on the basis of the 1950 rates the Commonwealth might experience a 0.7 per cent increase in its births by 1960 and 22 per cent increase by 1970. The college age population estimates from the 1950 base indicate that there will be 0.4 per cent decrease in births by 1960 but that its number will increase by 43 per cent over the 1950 figure by 1970. The degree of planning that must be exerted to care for this gross potential increase of students will be determined, in part, by the proportion of the population that elects to enter institutions of higher education.

Statistically, the size of the college-age population of Pennsylvania will begin to show significant increase from 1960 on. Some of the adjacent states—West Virginia, Delaware, Maryland and Ohio, may experience increases in the college-age population before that time. This suggests the possibility that Pennsylvania's enrollment in higher education may be further augmented, although the rate of migration (—2 percent) has changed relatively little in recent years. One of the major concerns in the planning of higher educational facilities in Pennsylvania is the probable increase in the proportion of college-age persons possessing the requisite secondary education who may elect to go to college. Between 1945 and 1952 the number of public high school graduates in the United States and states bordering on Pennsylvania increased as follows:

	1945	1952
United States	944,536	1,055,586
Delaware	1,682	2,150
Maryland	9,999	12,352
New Jersey	30,618	31,368
New York	86,847	94,033
Ohio	57,079	55,990
West Virginia	13,231	16,510

In Pennsylvania, during the period 1945-1953, the number of graduates ranged from 79,020 in the earlier year to peaks of 84,403 in 1949 and 1950, down to 80,552 in 1953. The Department of Public Instruction estimates that high school graduates will increase 49 per cent between 1955 and 1965. Public high school graduates are expected to increase 47 per cent, and graduates of nonpublic schools approximately 61 per cent during this period.

The increase of the number of high school graduates, a favorable economy and the demand for college-trained personnel have developed an increased interest on the part of young people to attend college.

There is no patent formula for determining how many of these graduates will enter colleges and universities. Educational administrators, however, believe that the upper 10-20 per cent of high school graduates are highly desirable human resources to be developed by further education. In Indiana, for example, it was found that only one-fourth of the upper 10 per cent of the high school graduates in the year 1954-1955 entered college. If one-fourth of the upper 10 per cent of the Pennsylvania gradates between 1955 and 1965 do not avail themselves of higher education, approximately 34,000 of the Commonwealth's able youth will not have reached their maximum potential.

Pennsylvania's enrollment in higher education has increased 63 per cent in the period 1930-1955 as indicated by the following table.

The Commission believes that enrollment in institutions of higher education will increase by approximately one-half of one per cent per year, due to increase of interest above and beyond birth rate. Projection of enrollment based on this per cent increase of interest along with college-age population increase indicates that enrollment in 1970 will be 112 per cent higher than in 1955. If projection is based solely on college-age population, enrollment by 1970 will increase by 55 per cent. If an increase of interest of 1 per cent is assumed, the enrollment increase is likely to be 168 per cent. The following table indicates the enrollment on all three of these bases.

The scarcity of specialized data on higher education in the Commonwealth motivated the Commission to solicit additional information through a questionaire submitted to the degree-granting institutions in the state. The questionaire data offer validation to conclusions reached from other materials previously mentioned.*

Approximately 135 in every 1000 persons of college age in Pennsylvania were attending some undergraduate institution in Pennsylvania in 1954. This is a relatively low proportion for the third largest state population in the nation. Even more significant, however, is the fact of the wide range of attendance indicated by a county analysis—Allegheny, Beaver, Centre, Clinton, Delaware, Lackawanna, Lycoming, Monroe, Montgomery, and Northampton counties are the only ones in which as many as 150 in every 1000 persons of college age are enrolled in undergraduate institutions. In 28 counties the proportion is less than 100 students in every 1000 of college age population. The wide variation from county to county of the high school graduates going to college reflects problems of locating of institutions and the financial status of the area concerned.

The sources of enrollment and choice of type of institution indicate a significant, and almost unique aspect of the pattern of higher education in the Commonwealth, the prevalence of private institutions and their availability for programs of every type. In 1930 state-aided colleges had 50 percent of the total enrollment, state colleges had 14 percent and private institutions 35 percent of the students. By 1954, these proportions had changed to 36 percent, 9 percent and 54 percent respectively.

The questionaire elicited information concerning admissions of first time students. This information indicated that 76 institutions in 1950 reported an average number of 5,123 students applying, of whom they admitted 2,824 or 55.1 percent. In 1955, the 80 reporting institutions averaged 7,988 applicants of whom 3,560 or 44.4 were admitted.

Fall	Number of Institutions Reporting	Number of Applying	Students Admitted	Percent of Applicants Admitted
1950	76	38,932	21,462	55.1
1951	76	36,075	18,141	50.3
1952	78	39,972	21,778	54.5
1953	78	47,007	23,686	50.4
1954	79	53,766	26,040	48.4
1955	80	63,901	28,482	44.4

(Professional schools such as seminaries, law schools, medical schools, etc. not included).

Replies to the questionaire reported degrees awarded in the academic years 1950-51 to 1955-56. The comparison of the two academic years is significant because the college age population was at the lowest number in twenty-five years during this period. The figures below indicate a trend of increased interest, but are not complete because some institutions failed to respond. In the five year period under observation significant changes were noted in two areas only—the percentage of Junior College degrees awarded and the increase in the highest earned academic degrees.

	Earned Degrees Awarded 1950-51	1955-56	Per cent of Change
Certificate	1,562	1,220	— 22 percent
Associate	300	742	+147 "
Baccalaureate	23,402	17,567	— 25 "
Masters	3,759	3,375	— 10 "
Doctorate	696	775	+ 12 "

The major significance of the enrollment portion of the questionaire was that enrollments anticipated by the institutions coincided rather closely with the projected estimates by the commission research staff. The research staff predicted a low of 123,352, a medium of 138,395 and a high of 153,438 for the academic year 1960-61 while the institutions in their questionaire returns reported 134,109 full-time students anticipated.

The facilities survey adds additional insight into the problem of caring for increased enrollments. The institutions reporting indicated that facilities, if those in process are completed, will be capable of meeting the minimum needs of the 1960-61 projected enrollments.

The faculty-student ratio in these institutions was 13 students to one faculty member in both 1950-51 and 1955-56. There were 8,289 faculty members in 1950-51 and 8,900 in 1955-56. The alarming feature—if a ratio of 13 to 1 is maintained—is the acute shortage that the future portends. If the low figure for 1960 or 123,352, which is more realistic, is used, 1,746 additional instructors will be needed and if the high figure of 153,438 students is true, 2,902 additional instructors will be neded by 1960. The following table illustrates this.

Faculty Needed to Maintain Ratio of 13 to 1

	Actual	Low	Medium	High
1950-51	8,289	.....	.....	.....
1955-56	8,900	.....	.....	.....
1960-61	....	9,488	10,646	11,802
1965-66	....	11,321	14,082	16,842
1970-71	....	13,662	18,659	23,658

The shortage of faculty will be a problem by 1960 and will become acute by 1965, more so by 1970.

The problem of securing administrative personnel is not so acute. The ratio of one administrative person to 47 students which existed in 1950-51 was lowered to 1 to 37 in 1955-56. Utilizing the 1955-56 ratio the following projection was made:

Administrative Personnel Using 1950-51 Ratio of 1 to 47

	Actual	Low	Medium	High
1950-51	2,325	.....	.....	.....
1955-56	3,141	.....	.....	.....
1960-61	....	2,620	2,944	3,265
1965-66	....	3,109	4,045	4,807
1970-71	....	3,780	5,161	6,543

A salary survey was also made. The results are summarized in the following table:

	Average High	Average Low	Average Medium	No. of Institutions Reporting
Professor	$6,791	$5,116	$3,798	76
Associate Professor	5,621	4,491	5,000	73
Assistant Professor	5,085	3,891	4,460	73
Instructor	4,190	3,269	3,701	78

Current salaries present a serious problem in securing and retaining adequate faculty. Considering the fact that most students graduating with science training receive starting offers ranging on the average of $3600 to $5000 per annum, faculty salaries are alarmingly low. Comparison with salaries in other professions, as with wages in industry, provide equally startling evidence of the need for higher professorial salaries.

A problem which will probably become acute beyond 1960 is that of classroom facilities. The questionnaire survey reported an average of 17 square feet per pupil in 1955 or 2,156,179 square feet for the state. (These figures are only approximations which were based upon reports submitted by seventy-nine institutions making up the bulk of the existing ones. The thirtyfive not reporting were professional schools and others with a relatively small full-time undergraduate enrollment.) The square feet actually utilized was 1,946,473 because enrollments totaled only 114,489 students, while capacity was estimated at 122,833 students.

The institutions reported an additional 142,163 square feet now in process or approximately 2,307,342 square feet of classrooms by 1960 with a capacity of 125,770 students, approximately 12,625 students short of the need. Many of these 12,625 may be absorbed by the thirty-five institutions not reporting. Better space utilization will also be a helpful factor, all of which indicates no serious lack of classroom space is likely to exist until after 1960.

By 1965 a sizeable problem is likely to exist. Institutions anticipate a possible addition of 650,949 square feet from 1960 to 1965—a total of 2,958,291 square feet by 1965 with a capacity of 164,061 students, which is approximately 19,000 students short. There is, of course, no guarantee that these facilities will be built and there is no consideration of replacement of outdated buildings in the above discussion (Appendix XI).

Laboratory facilities for science study present another concern. The laboratory facilities of the Commonwealth average 57 square feet per student. There are approximately 1,966,601 square feet available with a capacity of 34,428 students. (These figures represent reports from seventy-seven institutions.) The institutions anticipate an increase of 122,044 square feet with additional capacity for 2,158 students or a total of 2,088,045 square feet and a capacity of 36,586 students by 1960. It is anticipated that the demand for science graduates will increase at an even more rapid rate by 1965, yet by 1965 the institutions anticipate 2,558,461 square feet with a capacity of 44,831 students, which will be far from adequate if current demands for science and engineering graduates continue. The costs of laboratories are far in excess of the cost of classrooms.

Shops used for instructional purposes pose a similar problem. Currently, there are 146,925 square feet for this purpose with a capacity of 1,875 or 78 square feet per student. This will rise to 149,885 square feet with a capacity of 1,912 students by 1960. By 1965, there will be 191,619 square feet with a capacity of 2,447 students. (These figures represent 22 institutions.) This too appears to be inadequate because, as in the case of laboratories and class rooms, this does not take into account the need for replacements.

Another problem is residential capacity and space. There now exists in Pennsylvania 3,082,409 square feet of dormitory space with a capacity of 18,454 male students or an average of 167 square feet per male student. (These figures represent 59 institutions.) By 1960, there will be 3,716,087 square feet with a capacity of 22,017 male students as estimated by the institutions. There will be 5,189,-718 square feet with a capacity of 30,073 male students by 1965. This does not allow for replacements. (Appendix XII).

The women student requires more space—231 square feet per student. (Based on reports from 61 institutions.)

In 1956 there existed 3,955,812 square feet with a capacity of 17,123 students. There will be approximately 4,746,079 square feet by 1960 with a capacity of 20,166 women students and 7,050,335 square feet with a capacity of 29,116 students by 1965.

There are additional facilities such as fraternity houses, sorority houses and quarters for married students with families, and the demand for these is likely to grow as undergraduate and graduate student bodies increase in size. (Appendix XIII.)

This brief survey of facilities is at best only an approximation. Because no other survey exists, however, the Commission presents it to indicate the need for sound planning to meet the "tidal wave" of the 1960's.

On matters of finance the Commission relied upon the Council of State Governments publication Higher Education in the Forty Eight States. The most significant item of the income source table was that Pennsylvania received a smaller percentage of support from state and local governments than any of the adjacent states and the United States average. This is due to the fact that such a large percentage of students attend private institutions in the Commonwealth.

Commonwealth General Fund Appropriations for education have increased from $87,400,000 in 1933-35 to $496,-300,000 in the 1953-55 biennium. This increase of 470 percent represents a change from 38 percent of the total General Fund Appropriations in the earlier year to 49 percent of the total in 1953-55. It is significant, however, that the state's aid to universities, colleges, and other state-aided educational institutions has not kept pace with this change. Aid to colleges and universities which accounted for 10.0 percent of the budgetary allocations in 1933-35 decreased to 9.2 percent in 1953-55.

To further illustrate financial patterns of higher education in the Commonwealth the research staff encountered many complex problems. The institutions of higher education receive their financial support mainly from private sources. The Commonwealth supports 14 state colleges directly, and sugsidizes four (4) universities and seven (7) other institutions of limited nature. Considering the fact that the majority of the institutions are privately controlled, the staff prepared a table (Appendix XVI) illustrating the endowments, income and expenditures of all institutions except the 14 state teachers colleges.

The statistics on fiscal operation are difficult to obtain on a current basis. This fact motivated the staff to chose a year which seemed to offer a desirable balance of students, finances, etc. The year was 1950. The following table, using 1950 as the index number 100 illustrates the possible future demand on the Commonwealth's financial resources, both public and private.

Year	Students	Index	Income	Expenditures
1950	107,995	100	$121,821,742	$123,341,010
1955	114,489	106	129,131,046	130,741,470
1960*	138,395	128	143,495,394	157,876,492
1965*	183,062	160	194,914.091	197.345.616
1970*	242,576	206	250,952,788	254,082,480

* Based on medium projections of enrollments.

This table indicates the sums needed, if the same dollar value of 1950 is held, and if the income and expenditures per student remain constant.

Pennsylvania institutions receive the smallest percentage (15.4 percent) of support from state and local governments, and receives the largest percentage from tuition and fees (29.7 percent). Tuition increased 23 percent in the 1945-1949 period, and 22.2 percent in the 1950-1955 period. Appendix XV lists the costs of education at 63 selected private institutions. It is self-evident that tuitions will reach the point of diminishing return if this trend continues. An increase in benefactions, corporate giving, and a state scholarship program would relieve this problem.

The operating cost of the 14 State Teachers Colleges illustrates well the problems faced by the private institutions as well as the rising amount of cost borne by the Commonwealth. In the 1945-51 biennium the Commonwealth bore only 45 percent of the costs while institutional receipts covered 55 percent. While the Commonwealth assumed 60 percent of the cost in the 1953-55 biennium, a 15 percent increase, private institutions had either to raise tuition or to obtain more gifts.

This chapter has shown the likelihood of a greatly increased demand for higher education in the Commonwealth after 1960, a demand which will be beyond the capacity of existing facilities and plans to meet. It has pointed out problems of faculty recruitment, salaries, inadequacy of classrooms, laboratory and dormitory space, and what follows, namely, the cost of providing facilities in the quantity needed, particularly in view of the unique pattern of public and private higher education which exists in the Commonwealth. The Commission makes concrete recommendations in the following chapter, recommendations which it hopes may provide at least a sense of direction in facing the numerous issues which are involved.

III. Proposals

As was stated in an earlier section of this Report, the Commission believes that accessible and varied opportunities for education beyond the high school must be provided in Pennsylvania in order that all who are able and desirous may develop their capacities to the fullest. If this objective is to be accomplished during the years immediately ahead—the period between 1957 and 1970—the Commission recommends first, that the Commonwealth develop a cohesive, sound, long-range policy for higher education.

The formulation and adoption of such a policy, long since an accomplished fact in many States, is already long overdue in Pennsylvania. Further delay in its development will result, inevitably, in the denial to thousands of youth—the state's most precious asset—the chance to acquire the knowledge and skill they must possess to be productive, enlightened members of their communities.

The internal development of this country politically, socially, culturally, and economically has from its very beginning been inextricably bound up with its commitment to education. America's colleges and universities each year help immeasurably to supply the trained working force required to strengthen the national economy; to create in the minds of countless citizens the desire for the goods and services produced by society; and to broaden the perspectives and stimulate the ambitions of millions of young men and women so that they may take their places as mature, enlightened, productive members of the community. The Commission is convinced that the Commonwealth must immediately develop a policy for higher education geared to the economic and social needs of the United States in an interdependent world and designed to reflect the commitment of the people of Pennsylvania to the enduring values of higher education in a free society. It is the judgment of the Commission that a sound program for the development of higher education in Pennsylvania should be developed from a consideration of six basic areas:

1. Identifying those who should go to college.

2. Enabling the best students to secure a college education.

3. Maintaining the quality of higher education in a time of expansion.

4. Recognizing fields of special need in higher education.

5. Planning for an increase of available institutions.

6. Administering higher education in the Commonwealth.

A. Identifying Those Who Should Go To College

The only conscionable approach to this problem in mid-Twentieth Century America is that every qualified person who seeks a college education should have the opportunity to receive it, regardless of race, creed, sex, or economic or social status. To deny such opportunity, for whatever reason, to those who want a college education and are capable of profiting from it not only undermines the economy, but strikes at the core of the democratic tradition. The United States cannot long expect to wear the mantle of leadership of the free world unless it continuously expands educational opportunities at the post-secondary level. Any other policy would be fatally short-sighted.

During the past several years, a number of national commissions studying the manpower problem facing this country have called attention (1) to the continually increasing need for college-trained men and women in a number of critical fields, particularly science and engineering; (2) to the fact that for every individual enrolled in college there is at least one other person of college age, of equal capability who is not enrolled; (3) to the tremendous national wastage of human resources due to limited educational opportunities and lack of adequate testing facilities in high schools; (4) to the fact that large numbers of high-school graduates fail to go on to college because of economic hardship; and (5) that of the young men and women who do enter college, many fail to complete their educational programs because of personal discouragement, unwise vocational choices and lack of financial resources. Combined, these factors make for personal tragedy and social loss.

Turning to the positive side of the ledger, one of the most encouraging recent developments in American higher education has been the refinement of aptitude and achievement tests designed (1) to identify the students of superior ability; (2) to assist high school graduates and college students in making vocational choices suited to their potential; and (3) to enable educational institutions to acquire deeper insight into a student's potential so that a school or college in turn might help him to develop greater understanding of his own individual talents and interest.

A more widespread use of educational tests and the results they yield means a more effective utilization of our human resources. The Commission recommends that the Commonwealth establish a statewide system of achievement and aptitude testing for all seniors in Pennsylvania high schools. The need for such a system is, in the Commission's judgment, rooted in and justified by the basic principle that it is in the best interest of a free society continually to discover talent and to encourage its development to the highest educational level possible.

A statewide achievement and aptitude testing program would enable the Commonwealth to make the greatest possible use of its most valuable asset, its human resources, and to halt the wastage of talent by helping students to develop a surer insight into their abilities and interests. The administration of such a testing program should be conducted by a competent, qualified professional staff under the direction of the new Commission on Higher Education, later explained and defined.

B. Enabling the Best Students to Secure a College Education

The Commission recommends that the Commonwealth institute a scholarship and loan program. Scholarships should be awarded on the basis of merit as determined by the testing program described above. They should be available for use in any approved institution of higher education in the Commonwealth and should be of the value of $300 or one-half the tuition cost, whichever is less. The scholarships should be applicable only to the payment of tuition or instructional fees or both. They should continue through the four undergraduate years subject to the maintenance of satisfactory academic standing.

The loan fund should be used for further assistance to needy students, the amount of assistance to be determined by the need in each case. It should be available subject to such reasonable conditions as to interest and repayment as the administering agency may deem appropriate. Administration of the scholarship and loan program, including the development of criteria for determining financial need and procedures for selection of students, should rest with the new Commission on Higher Education.

In making this scholarship and loan recommendation, the Commission has been motivated by three principles. One is that no able young person should be denied an opportunity for college education on economic grounds alone. The second is that the student or his family or both should bear a reasonable proportion of the cost of higher education. The third is that the Commonwealth has an obligation to assist in providing higher education just as it has such an obligation with respect to primary and secondary education, although perhaps not to the same extent. This obligation is partially fulfilled through the existing pattern of State support and State aid, which in the Commission's opinion should be continued and expanded. But more assistance is required if the needs of the Commonwealth for college-trained men and women are to be met. The scholarship device supplies this assistance in a form which makes it possible for a student to attend any approved institution of his own choice in the Commonwealth.

The recommendation that scholarships be awarded on the basis of merit rather than need involves a consideration of all of these principles. Public schools are available to all children irrespective of the financial standing of their parents. By the same token partial assistance in obtaining a college education should be provided. Loans granted on the basis of need will give further assistance where necessary, but the total amount of aid will still be insufficient in most cases to provide total support. The efforts of the student and his family will continue to be needed.

The value of the scholarship recommended is intended to express a figure which will amount roughly to one-half tuition in most Pennsylvania colleges. The limitation to one-half tuition is to prevent a "low-cost" institution, which is probably receiving other types of public assistance, from benefiting disproportionately from this form of aid.

Although the Commission is fully aware of the importance of graduate and professional training, it does not recommend the immediate extension of the scholarship program to these fields.

If this recommendation of the Commission is adopted, it is hoped that it will ultimately replace the present system of senatorial scholarships. These scholarships originated as a result of an arrangement between the Senate of the Commonwealth and the State-aided institutions. Although originally conceived as a device to reflect, in part, the assistance granted the institutions by the Commonwealth, the scholarships serve no purpose which could not be better attained by the system outlined above.

The cost of carrying out this program will be substantial. The Commission suggests that at the inception scholarship funds be provided sufficient to cover an equivalent of 5 per cent of graduating high school students on the basis of the aptitude and achievement testing program recommended. This would cost $4,500,000 for the first biennium. In order to initiate the loan program it is suggested that $6,000,000 be appropriated as a revolving fund. As circumstances permit, the program should be expanded.

C. Maintaining the Quality of Education in a Time of Expansion

Equally important along with the problem of how to provide greater educational opportunities quantitatively is the problem of how to maintain and improve the quality of on-going programs and insuring the development of high standards in any new programs which may come into being.

In attempting to serve increased numbers of students, the temptation will be inevitable to handle the quantitative problem by impairing quality. Competent teachers and adequate facilities cannot be prepared quickly, so makeshift arrangemnets may seem unavoidable. The object of this Report is to encourage those charged with the formulation of policy to reconcile the quantitative and the qualitative problems facing the Commonwealth's colleges and universities before enrollments hit their peak. It is hoped that a Commonwealth conscious of the importance of higher education in its future will act to meet the needs of its colleges and universities as though the imperative were immediate.

What, therefore, are the qualitative factors in education which should be maintained?

1. The Commonwealth must have well-paid, qualified college teachers who have a sense of dedication. There are too few teachers and their pay is too low. Our young people are our most cherished resource. In these formative years it would be a short-sighted policy to place them in charge of inadequately qualified people or those whose morale is low because of inadequate pay. Such instructors not only cannot inspire, but worse, they can discourage and mislead our youth. Good teaching is essential and its cost is high if talented and responsible people are to be recruited.

2. The Commonwealth must have adequate physical facilities for higher education. Crowded and badly equipped classroom buildings defeat the aim of education. Buildings need not be ornamental, but they should be architecturally sound and serviceable. Care in providing adequate libraries and laboratories, offices and work rooms is essential. New inventions and improved equipment need to be constantly investigated and tested.

3. The Commonwealth must have qualified, outstanding educational administrators. The administration of higher education is more intricate than formerly, and plays an increasingly significant role in the welfare of students. Health services, counseling, social and athletic programs are all important for a well-rounded education. Educational administrators should be men and women of competence, of broad understanding, and of vision. These criteria require superior education and adequate renumeration.

4. The colleges and universities of the Commonwealth must offer carefully designed curricula in sufficient variety to meet the needs of the student and society. Life today is highly specialized and knowledge is tremendously increased. Effort must be made to preserve the values of well-rounded liberal education and to integrate and correlate with it vocational and professional programs. This means wise curriculum planning, effective distribution of time and effort, and the use of new teaching methods. The maintenance of quality can be achieved in the Commonwealth if able professors are given equipment and facilities under the leadership of high-minded administrators to instruct students in well-conceived curricula. Quality must be emphasized or the whole purpose of education is defeated.

D. Recognizing Fields of Special Need in Higher Education

It has been amply demonstrated earlier in this report that after 1960 the Commonwealth faces a major problem in how to provide for the greatly increased numbers who will be seeking entrance to our colleges and universities. Thus far in its recommendations the Commission has argued for a long-range policy concerning higher education, a testing program which will help select the able students, a scholarship and loan program to make it possible for the ablest to attend college, and a deep concern on the part of the Commonwealth to maintain the qualitative aspects of higher education.

In this entire process attention must be given to the types of higher education which will be most in demand, and to those areas in which there is likely to be greatest need. The commission, therefore, recommends that the Commonwealth give particular attention in its planning to the fields of general education in the arts and sciences, teacher education, engineering education, technical education, and graduate education.

1. General Education in the Arts and Sciences

Higher education in the United States from its very beginning has made one unique contribution to educational history, the liberal arts college, designed to develop men, and then later women, as enlightened persons capable of assuming roles of leadership in a democratic society. This pattern of education has served effectively since the seventeenth century in training young people for professional life and for managerial positions. Its purpose has been to provide rigorous mental discipline, learning in the basic fields of knowledge, and to develop the skills of communication and analysis which are necessary for judgment and decision-making. Campus life, with its continuous personal relationships between student and faculty member, and its extra-curricular program through which explorations are made into areas of responsible management and citizenship, has helped to develop the individual into a well-rounded person, capable of activities in many areas, professional and otherwise, and of judgment in civic and family matters. The purpose of liberal arts education has had wide acceptance and hence numerically this has traditionally been the most widely selected curriculum. This is likely to continue to be so and the Commission believes that it should be.

In the present century, America has been increasingly benefited by technical developments and the further expansion of these leads to greater demand for technically-trained personnel. At times this need has been so great as to permit some to argue that higher education is itself destined to become more and more technical in character. Two factors, however, have in rceent years made this position less tenable. First is the increasing demand on the part of business and industry for young people who have technical skill but who have broad backgrounds as well. Industry in many cases prefers to give its own specialized in-service training; it wants men and women who can do not one thing but many, whose knowledge and insight bring resourcefulness and judgment to the job. Secondly, the very rapidity with which technical needs change indicates that versatility on the part of the individual is more important than narrow specialization. The number of defined positions which go out of existence in a given year mounts into the thousands as does the number of new occupations available. These factors, combined with the normal needs of the individual for preparation for civic responsibility and for personal enrichment, argue that the greatest demand in higher education in the years ahead will be for general education in the arts and sciences.

This does not, however, argue that the answer to the problem of expansion comes solely, or even largely, in the multiplication of four-year residential liberal arts colleges. That some expansion in this direction is to be favored goes without question, but cost alone may prevent large-scale establishment of new four-year institutions. This is basic to the recommendation later made that consideration be given to the establishment of less than four-year institutions. It is the belief of the Commission, however, that in practically all new institutions emphasis should be placed on general education along with whatever technical or professional programs are initiated.

2. Teacher Education

The preparation of teachers for elementary and secondary schools is another area deserving of special attention, and immediately, for the greatly increased college enrollments about which this Report is concerned is already preceded by an equivalent increase in enrollment on both the elementary and secondary levels.

The disparity between the number of qualified teachers available and the number needed annually has assumed serious proportions. Approximately 4,500 persons eligible for certification to teach in the public schools are currently being graduated from Pennsylvania colleges. Conservative estimates indicate an annual need for 6,500 teachers through the next decade. This means then that approximately 12,000 to 16,000 additional teachers will be needed by 1965 to meet enrollment demands, exclusive of turnover.

During the ten-year period through 1967, approximately 23,000 replacements will be needed to meet turnover demands in the elementary division. The annual need will range from approximately 2,000 to 2,500. In the secondary division, turnover requirements for the ten-year period will likewise be about 23,000.

A study of the 1955 class of graduates (4446) from teacher education curricula in Pennsylvania Institutions indicates that 58.1 per cent of the class entered teaching in the Commonwealth, filling 48 per cent of existing vacancies (5379). Within this class of graduates there were 1600 elementary teachers and 2846 secondary teachers. Of these numbers 870 or 56 per cent of the elementary teachers and 1220 or 42 per cent of the secondary teachers were educated in the fourteeen State Teachers Collges. The remainder received their education in the other universities and colleges of the Commonwealth. There were 1132 graduates who did not enter the profession, and 729 hold teaching positions in other states. This class is typical of what is to be expected in subsequent years if the situation is not remedied.

The Commission has several proposals which it believes may be helpful in alleviating the teacher shortage. They are:

(a) Reconsideration by the State Council of Education of the qualitative and quantitative requirements for teacher certification with a view to recruiting into the profession the most able people possible.

(b) Experimentation in teacher education programs should be encouraged in the hope of discovering new methods for the improvement of the quality of teacher training.

(c) Institutions should be encouraged to provide opportunities for graduates who, with a moderate amount of further training, might be brought back into the profession.

(d) The State Council of Education should define the equivalent of the Master's Degree required by Section 1141 of the School Code for teacher salary increments or, failing this, should consider recommending the elimination of the term "equivalent" from the Code.

(e) The State Teachers Colleges should be encouraged to strengthen their undergraduate curricula and facilities since it is their function to provide teachers for the public schools, and other colleges and universities should also be encouraged to assume an even greater role than they have in the past in this field.

(f) Consideration should be given by the State Council of Education to increasing the number of institutions accredited for graduate training in the area of teacher education in view of the salary increment based on possession of an advanced degree. In doing this, however, care should be taken not to permit institutions to engage in this costly augmentation of program at the expense of the major task of securing more teachers through the availability of increased undergraduate facilities, to be certain that each institution has high quality of staff, library and other facilities already in existence and is properly accredited by the regional association.

3. Engineering Education

Engineering is a field which has developed enormously in the present century. There were only 40,000 engineers at the beginning of the century. By 1950 there were 543,000. Another 100,000 have graduated from engineering schools since 1950 and still the demand for engineers grows, as it is bound to do with every increase in automation.

Since 1950 industry has employed all the engineering graduates it could find and has sought more. The demand resulted partly from military activity, but plant expansion and other kinds of new construction, television, plastics, industrial chemistry and all the other requirements of a high level of civilian production accounted for most of the demand. The most thorough and significant statement of the problem nationally was prepared by the Commission on Human Resources and Advanced Training, directed by Dael Wolfle and issued under the title, "America's Resources of Specialized Talent" in 1954. This study indicates that without mobilization demands the normal requirement will be for 30,000 additional engineers a year for at least the remainder of this decade.

The problem is not entirely one of facilities. It is first and foremost one of recruitment. If the number of potential engineers are recruited which it is believed necessary to train in the years ahead then facilities do become an urgent problem.

To date, there has been no systematic compilation of data relating the present and foreseeable needs of Pennsylvania industry to the supply of engineers being trained in the Commonwealth's colleges and universities. It is known that there are far more job opportunities for engineers in the state than there are graduates to fill them. It is also recognized that opportunities are increasing at a phenomenal rate, in Pennsylvania as well as in other highly industrialized states. In view of the significance of the problem and the lack of data relating to the size of need such as is available in the case of teacher demand and supply, the Commission believes that (1) the Commonwealth should undertake, through one of its agencies, a study of the engineering needs of Pennsylvania industry for the forseeable future, this study to supplement the one now being made at the national level by the President's Committee on Scientists and Engineers and (2) give special attention to the development of technical and professional engineering education to the extent that this is needed to meet the economic and industrial needs of the state.

4. Technical and Professional Education

The Commission has not been able to study the need for trained personnel in all areas of professional competence. It did conduct an opinion survey of established and responsible individuals in various fields. This seemed to indicate a situation which ranged from no real need for expansion of facilities in certain fields such as law to a very great need for recruitment in such fields as nursing where present facilities are not being taxed to the full. In fields such as medicine, dentistry, and pharmacy, there was difference of opinion as to how much need there was or of what type. In general, it is the Commission's judgment that there is no critical need to be currently explored in other than the areas specifically treated in its recommendations. This judgment is subject to correction in the light of subsequent developments in the Commonwealth's economic and social picture.

The Commission did conclude that there is an area of technical education not adequately covered in the Commonwealth's varied educational program in higher education, an area which, if studied carefully and developed in the light of local need, might help to alleviate the more serious problem in engineering education. This area includes post-high school but less than baccaluareate degree status curricula designed to provide a significant amount of specialized training useful in areas such as aeronautical technology, refrigeration, automotive technology, and building construction. The Commission recommends later in the Report that curricula be established where local needs exist in the Commonwealth.

5. Graduate Education

The needs of higher education which the Commonwealth faces do not in any sense diminish in the various fields of instruction concerned with the postgraduate degrees, namely, Master of Arts, Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy.

The two great educational objectives of those directing the earning of these degrees are assuming ever increasing importance in American society. The first of these is research training, the second is the extension of man's knowledge by written and oral communication: in other words to discover new knowledge and to disseminate it.

In fulfilling these purposes, it is obvious that teaching plays a great role. One of the real achievements in 20th century education has been the setting of a high standard for college teachers indicated by the requirement in so many of our educational institutions that those holding high teaching positions should possess higher degrees. This means that we require not only that teachers have knowledge and can impart it, but that they shall have basic skill in creating it, that each in his own field shall have had some practice in extending the bounds of knowledge. However, the full significance of college teaching is much larger than this and growing increasingly so in an age of automation, science, technology, engineering, and highly complicated social analysis. Industry of all sorts is requiring research skill, not only in the technological but in the social fields as well. The great strides being made in medical research mean that the field of medicine needs not only M.D.'s but an increased number of Ph.D.'s trained in the basic sciences and prepared for careers of research therein.

In the years between now and 1970, we must provide facilities for greatly increased graduate instruction, not only to meet the demand for an augmented educational staff in universities, colleges and secondary schools, but also for skilled research personnel in industry, medicine and a multitude of social agencies. We must prepare more than double the number of those now being trained. The average number of Master's degrees awarded in the Commonwealth per year between 1941 and 1950 was 1,956 and Doctor's degrees, 195. This increased to 3,316 Master's degrees and 1,557 Doctor's degrees in 1955, which shows a trend that will necessarily continue, if not accelerated.

To prepare for the training of these additional numbers we must greatly strengthen the programs which we now have. The quality of training needed involves well-equipped facilities and a record of long-term successful operations. The guidance of those who are learning to do research can be carried on to best advantage only where there are experienced research units, where there are well-established laboratories and where there are great libraries. Staffs, laboratories and libraries, and particularly the skill that comes from long and coordinated practice cannot be created in a short space of time. even if huge sums of money are available. The personnel needed can be trained at minimum expense through augmented support to the institutions now offering such work in the Commonwealth.

In view of the greatly increased enrollments anticipated after 1960, the Commission wishes to re-emphasize the probably critical shortage of college teachers which will follow in the wake of high enrollment. The shortage will be made even more critical as attractive salaries in business and industry lure professors into other fields of activity. The Commission, therefore, believes it essential that

(1) higher faculty salaries be established in all public and private institutions;

(2) experimentation take place in programs preparing college teachers;

(3) a recruitment program be developed to encourage promising students to choose the profession of teaching;

(4) financial aid be established for gifted students who enter graduate school in preparation for college teaching.

E. Planning for an Increase of Available Institutions

Over the years, the Commonwealth has developed a unique system of higher education involving well-established public and private institutions. It preserves the freedom of educational enterprise; it enlists both public and private resources; and yet it can provide educational programs covering every field of instruction desired and supply leadership in developing the research necessary to advance the frontiers of knowledge. The system is economical and efficient.

This unique pattern includes one land-grant institution, fourteen state teachers colleges, three state-aided universities, nine state-aided colleges and technical schools, 61 privately-supported colleges and universities, 11 privately-supported junior colleges, and 19 privately-supported theological seminaries and independent professional schools—a total of 118 institutions of higher learning.

As the land-grant institution of the Commonwealth, The Pennsylvania State University, through facilities located on the main campus and at its undergraduate centers and technical institutes in other sections of the State, offers undergraduate, graduate, and professional education in nine colleges and a graduate school, plus a program of technical and adult education in General Extension.

The Commonwealth extends financial support to three state-aided universities—Temple University, the University of Pittsburgh, and the University of Pennsylvania —which provide undergraduate, graduate, and professional education in medicine, law, and other fields in populous areas. Without these institutions and the assistance that comes to them from endowment and tuition income a much greater expenditure would be required of the State. This system of public support of independent institutions on a non-contractual basis is unique to Pennsylvania.

The Commonwealth recognizes its obligations to make special provision for the education and certification of persons qualified to teach in the public schools. Standards have been formulated as a basis for the issuance of legal certificates for teachers, and institutions of higher education which prepare teachers obtain authorization to do so through the State Council of Education. Fourteen state-owned teachers colleges, the Pennsylvania State University, the state-aided universities, and more than fifty privately-supported colleges now offer accredited programs in teacher education.

The privately-supported colleges and universities are chartered to carry on the work of higher education according to the policies set down by their respective Boards of Trustees. They are independent in their existence and operation. They have, however, an allegiance to the citizens of the Commonwealth, which stems from the trust placed in them by the granting of a charter by the State, and they have been the bulwark of higher education in the Commonwealth from the beginning, saving millions of dollars of tax money every year.

This distinctive system of higher education has been in operation in part of in whole for some forty years. It is deserving in all of its facets of continued support by the Commonwealth, and it is capable of much of the development and expansion that will be necessary to meet the needs of the State in the fields of liberal, technical, professional, and adult education.

Even with every effort exerted to encourage existing institutions to expand their facilities to meet the educational needs of the Commonwealth beyond 1960, it is the opinion of the Commission that their resources will still fall short and hence the Commission recommends the Commonwealth consider the establishment of new institutions on a less than four year basis in the fields of general education in the arts and sciences and in technical education as need arises.

During the past quarter of a century there has been a rapid development of junior colleges, community colleges and technical institutes in many sections of the United States. The growth of these programs has been influenced by many social and economic factors as well as by the increased demand among youth of college age for educational opportunities beyond the high school.

The U. S. Office of Education report on resident enrollments in four-year colleges, professional, teacher and technological programs from 1941-42 to 1951-52 indicates a gain of 118.7 per cent. Junior college enrollments for the same period increased 190.9 per cent. The rapid increase of enrollment in junior college programs, exclusive of totals for institutes and colleges with other names, indicates the growing popularity of two and three-year post secondary school programs.

As the number of applicants for admission to college increases one should expect many four-year colleges to select those that have the greatest promise for academic success. Among the applicants for admission to four-year colleges have been many who, if properly advised, might well have sought a program more suitable to their needs. Two and three-year programs have developed throughout the country for students whose interests are not best served through a four-year program.

What, then, should the Commonwealth offer to these youths who do not wish to be admitted to four-year curricula? The answer given in many sections of the country appears to be a very proper one for a state as diversified industrially and with as many populous areas as Pennsylvania. Community colleges and technical institutes overcome many difficulties that confront individuals and populous areas.

One of the chief purposes of community colleges and technical institutes is to make limited programs in higher education available to larger numbers of people at low cost to the individual student. They are normally established near centers of population so that they are readily accessible to the commuting student and thereby eliminate the living cost which is required of the resident student. A higher percentage of college age youth go to college in those areas where colleges are accessible for commuting students. A 1949 Minnesota report stated that "one-fourth of our young people who live within ten miles of a college are attending college the first year after they graduate from high school. But among the youth who live more than 25 miles from a college, the ratio is one in seven." Accessibility for commuting students is desirable. This is one of the purposes of the community college and the technical institute.

Socio-economic forces in our society give strong support to the need for short-term general and technical education. The 1955 distribution of our labor forces indicates a trend toward semi-skilled, skilled, and clerical workers. During the last forty years the percentage of the total labor force in agricultural and unskilled pursuits dropped from 31.0 per cent and 21.5 per cent to 11.8 per cent and 12.9 per cent respectively. This shift reflects the growth of our industrial and technological life and dictates the need for educational programs which will direct many students into pursuits for which there is a growing demand.

Statistics indicate that the age of entry into industrial employment is gradually increasing. Therefore technical programs offer the greatest challenge to those who normally would prefer an early entry into industrial employment. When such programs are provided at a community level it is likely that they will be articulated with the local needs of industry.

Whatever type of educational offering is made available, the establishment of new institutions involves several considerations. It is the judgment of the Commission that the following propositions should be followed by the new Commission on Higher Education before encouraging an interested group to establish a new institution.

First, the possible duplication of service should be considered. The establishment of a new institution in a population area already served by an existing college or university may be justified provided:

(a) the proposed educational curriculum is not offered in the area

(b) there is a desire and need for such facilities

(c) financial support of an existing institution, whether public or private, will not be jeopardized by the presence of the new one.

Second, it is essential to determine the extent of the need in any area not now served. Two factors are involved here, the economic and social needs of the area and the likelihood of a sufficient and continuing enrollment.

The third consideration is that of available finances. In establishing a new institution, it is imperative that sufficient funds be guaranteed to assure continuing support, good faculty salaries, and an adequate plant. The question of who should assume this obligation is important.

The pattern developed in most states, and recommended here, is the administrative responsibility rest wherever possible with the local community and financial support come from a combination of tuition, local effort, and state support. The pattern of distribution of financial responsibility varies from state to state but the principles of local sponsorship and decentralized administration should be recognized. This sharing of responsibility insures careful and frugal development. To permit control of these community colleges by a highly centralized state authority would destroy the initiative that should come from the local community. The administration of the college should be local but be independent of those who are responsible for the public secondary schools in order to permit each, the secondary school and the college, the fullest opportunity for development. The college begins where the secondary school ends.

There is no dichotomy between living and making a living. The curricula should therefore include ample offerings in general education and in vocational courses useful in securing local employment. The desirability of general education in the arts and sciences has values in personal living and makes transfer to four-year institutions possible. Junior college graduates do quite acceptably upon transfer to four-year institutions. The time requirements for professional and graduate study are gradually increasing. The study of medicine, law, dentistry and graduate programs leading to advanced degrees are long and costly journeys. The recruitment for the professions will be enhanced by opportunities locally for those who because of economic reasons cannot spend the first years on a resident campus. With these possible outcomes in mind, each two-year college should develop the strongest possible program in general education.

It is difficult to define precisely for any community the technical curricula that are best suited to its youth. Geography and local industry do this. Many more youths remain for employment and lend their productive efforts to their home communities when they go to school there. This suggests that technical curricula are designed primarily for the geographical areas in which the colleges exist. All offerings in vocational areas should be on the post secondary school level and where possible they should be articulated with like curricula in four-year colleges.

The potential of the Commonwealth rests with its people. To enable them to use their skills and competencies they need opportunity for study and personal growth compatable to their interests and abilities. The community colleges and technical institutes as they are now evolving in America greatly supplement the four-year colleges and the universities in this task.

F. Administering Higher Education in the Commonwealth

One of the great advantages of the existing pattern of higher education in Pennsylvania is its diversity in curricular offerings, in size and type of institution and in form of control. While diversity is fundamentally good and to be preferred over highly centralized and formal control, its hazard is inadequate coordination.

The demand for higher education throughout the country has been on the increase for several decades. Higher education has become big business, its cost is great and the provision of new or enlarged facilities is a process requiring time as well as wise judgment. As the need for higher education has been increasing so also other social needs have come to the fore, and thus the purposes to which private and public funds are devoted have increased both in number and in size. Waste in the use of our resources, educational or otherwise, is not to be condoned. It must be avoided by statesmanlike cooperative planning and coordination.

Adequate instrumentalities for administration and planning have not been available in Pennsylvania. The Pennsylvania State University and the three other state-aided universities have dealt directly with the legislature in seeking funds. The teachers colleges have operated directly under the Superintendent of Public Instruction who in turn has had no significant part to play in the planning done by other institutions supported in whole or in part by state funds. The private institutions have had an association (The Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities) through which some cooperative activities have been carried on but without benefit of coordination with the institutions outside its membership. The State Council of Education has certain legal powers in the administration of higher education but its obligations in regard to other levels of education have grown so extensive that higher education has been necessarily a minor, rather than a major, concern. Only within the past few years has there even been a Bureau of Higher Education in the Department of Public Instruction and this bureau has been understaffed.

It is the judgment of the Commission that careful consideration should be given to the establishment of an organization capable of high level policy making for higher education in the Commonwealth, both in terms of coordination of existing programs and in terms of long-range planning to meet future needs. The Commission therefore, recommends that the Commonwealth establish a permanent independent Commission on Higher Education with the following provisions:

1. The Commission to be charged with the responsibility for coordination and planning in the field of higher education in the Commonwealth, including the supervision of the testing, scholarship, and loan programs recommended elsewhere, and the chartering of the new institutions proposed.

2. The Commission to be composed of seventeen members, appointed by the Governor, including the President of the Pennsylvania State University, the chief executive officers of the three large state-aided institutions (The University of Pittsburgh, The University of Pennsylvania, Temple University), the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the presidents of two state teachers colleges, the presidents of five independent colleges or universities, and five persons not connected professionally with education. These members to serve without pay and all, except the first five mentioned, to be appointed for properly staggered five-year terms. One of the lay members should be designated as chairman.

3. The Commission to assume the present responsibilities concerning higher education now exercised by the State Council of Education.

4. The present Bureau of Higher Education, in the Department of Public Instruction, to be made directly responsible to the Commission, and the head of the Bureau to become the Executive Secretary of the Commission.

5. Budgetary requests made by the Commission to be considered for fiscal purposes as a part of the budget of the Department of Public Instruction.

This proposal is in line with the movement in other states to consider higher education as of such public importance that its administration be made independent of other public authorities in the field of education.

In the judgment of the members of this Commission the establishment of such an agency is the most important single action that could be taken to further the interests of higher education in the Commonwealth. It is urged that immediate consideration be given to this recommendation.

APPENDIX XIX FINANCING HIGHER EDUCATION IN PENNSYLVANIA TECHNICAL COMMENTS

A. "Of all the functions provided for in Pennsylvania's Budget, education is the largest in terms of growth and in percentage of total expenditures, currently accounting for approximately one-third. Among seven other states comparable in terms of population and industrial character (California, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York and Ohio) only two spend a larger portion of their total budget for education than Pennsylvania; these are California and Michigan.

The total cost of education includes two principal items —state support of local public schools, and state support of higher educational institutions. In Pennsylvania education represents about 83 percent of total state payments to local governments. Pennsylvania state expenditures for the support of public schools through state aid to local governments has more than doubled in the post-war period of the past 10 years.

In Pennsylvania, the state currently assumes an approximate 43 percent share of the total state and local support of schools. In this respect, Pennsylvania ranks 19th among the 48 states and third among the eight leading large industrial states. In total current expenditures per pupil, state and local combined, Pennsylvania, with per pupil expenditure of $241 in the 1953-1954 school year, ranks 27 among the 48 states; in the eight largest states, Pennsylvania ranks seventh. Current trends and indications are that among all the functions provided for in Pennsylvania's state budget, education will continue to demand the greatest and fastest growing share of expenditures. By present legislation, this state is committed through 1960 to increase its subsidies to local governments by substantial amounts for costs of teacher salaries and other instructional expense. The present backlog and future needs for school buildings represent a major fiscal problem which undoubtedly will mean substantially increased demands on Pennsylvania's future state budgets.

In the field of the support of higher educational institutions Pennsylvania like most other states maintains a number of teachers colleges. Unlike most other states, the State of Pennsylvania rather than directly maintaining general institutions of higher education, except for Penn State, discharges this responsibility by providing direct subsidy payments to private colleges and universities. In total outlay for the support of higher education, Pennsylvania ranks 13th among the 48 states."

A more specific analysis of the problem was made by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Pittsburgh. In "How is Higher Education Financed in Pennsylvania and other States, 1951-52," the analysts report:

B. SUMMARY OF MAJOR FINDINGS

1. As among the 48 states and the District of Columbia, Pennsylvania's institutions of higher education in 1951-52 ranked 3rd in total resident student enrollment and 5th in total current income, but 41st in total current income per student.

2. This unfavorable position was due primarily to the low level of state government contributions to current income per student in Pennsylvania.

a. Pennsylvania ranked 7th in total current income per student derived from tuition and student fees, including payments on behalf of veterans.

b. Pennsylvania ranked 5th in total current income per student derived from endowments and private benefactions.

c. But Pennsylvania ranked only 44th in total current income per student derived from the state government.

d. Moreover, Pennsylvania's total current income per student fell short of the national average by $94, while the state government's contributions to current income per student fell short of the national average by $97.

3. State government contributions to the current income of institutions of higher education represented a far more meager allocation of the state's resources in Pennsylvania than prevailed in most other states.

Pennsylvania's state government contributions to the current income of its institutions of higher education ranked 43rd in terms of dollars per capita of the state population; 45th in terms of its percentage of the total income payments received by individuals in the state; and 46th in terms of its percentage of the state government's total expenditures.

4. But the most serious of the financial disadvantages borne by institutions of higher education in Pennsylvania in 1951-52, as compared with similar institutions in other states, were those suffered by our universities.

The total current income per student of all institutions of higher education other than universities in Pennsylvania actually exceeded the national average for such institutions by $129, and exceeded by a somewhat greater margin the average for such institutions in six leading midwestern states—Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. On the other hand, the total current income per student for universities in Pennsylvania fell short of the national average of universities by $332, and fell short of the university average for the above six states by $697.

5. In the case of Pennsylvania's universities as well, the most important source of income disadvantage as compared with similar institutions elsewhere was the low level of state government contributions to current income per student.

a. Pennsylvania's state government contributions to the current income of institutions of higher education other than universities fell short of the national average for such institutions by $61 per student. But similar state aid to Pennsylvania's universities fell short of the national average for universities by $146 per student.

b. The combined income from tuition and fees, endowments and gifts, local government aid and non-tuition Federal funds per university student in Pennsylvania compared reasonably well with the comparable totals in the six midwestern states cited above—surpassing two and falling short of the others by $70 per student or less. But state government contributions to the current income of universities approximated $500 per student in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, and exceeded $800 per student in Minnesota and Iowa—as compared with Pennsylvania's $223 per student.

6. The growing need for higher education together with its rising cost forces each community to determine whether to provide the increased support required by colleges and universities or to force curtailment of the extent and quality of their services as a result of inadequate financing.

Higher education provides one the basic means of developing the specialized knowledge, technical skills and cultural values which play a leading role in the development of all other resources. Hence, curtailing the contributions of higher education is quite likely to involve costly limitations on the progress of the community."

In conclusion, the study observed—

"Higher education constitutes one of the most fundamental means of developing the specialized knowledge, technical skills and cultural values which play a leading role in the development of all other resources. The cost of such services constitutes an investment which yields continuing returns of generous proportions to the community at large. Hence, limitations on the extent and quality of such educational contributions are likely to hinder the progress of the community.

Differences in the patterns of financing higher education seem to be due partly to the carryover effects of past conceptions of how such institutions should be supported. It is apparent, for example, that dependence on student fees and private benefactions is heaviest in the regions where colleges and universities were most widely established prior to the widespread acceptance of state government responsibility for contributing to the support of such institutions, i. e., in the New England and Middle Atlantic states.

But financing patterns have also been affected by the increasing need for higher education and by the increasing cost of providing it. Where student fees and private benefactions could not be increased sufficiently to meet the costs of providing desired levels of educational services to increasing numbers of students, it has been necessary either to limit the extent and quality of educational opportunities or to provide supplementary sources of financial support—generally through state governments, although Federal agencies and municipal governments have also provided some support.

In facing the problems of financing higher education, each community must develop workable compromises which accord with its own beliefs and resources. If the need for more and better higher education is accepted, the necessary support will be forthcoming—by whatever means seem to be most expedient to the particular community. If the needs of higher education are not understood, financial support is likely to be reluctant and inadequate. At any rate, both community resources and community beliefs, tend to change with time and, hence, one may expect continuing changes both in the level of support for higher education and in the patterns of financing it."

APPENDIX XX HIGHER EDUCATION IN PENNSYLVANIA—AN OVERVIEW

"American higher education is entering the most crucial period in its history. Within the next fifteen years we can expect at least a seventy percent increase in college enrollments, and we may have to provide for double the number of college students now enrolled.

It is probable that the colleges and universities in the State of Pennsylvania will be called upon to make provisions for an increased enrollment of from seventy-eight to one hundred percent by 1970. This probability, like all enrollment projections, is based on certain assumptions. To identify these assumptions, one must consider the trends of the past.

Between 1931 and 1949, Pennsylvania college enrollment doubled from 74,000 to 150,000. Since then it has declined from the post-war peak to a low of 121,000 in 1952 and since has risen to 139,000 (1954).

While enrollment has increased, the college-age population has decreased. In 1930, Pennsylvania had 690,000 residents of college age. By 1950, there were only 600,000 and by 1955, our researchers estimate the number had declined to about 580,000. This is the low point, and from now on the college-age population should rise rapidly.

In the twenty years before 1950, Pennsylvania had a net out-migration before college-age of about one out of every ten youth born in the state. If we assume that this rate of out-migration will continue, Pennsylvania will have about 585,000 eighteen-twenty-one year olds by 1960 and about 775,000 by 1970. If we assume there will be no out-migration, by 1960 Pennsylvania will have 620,000 and by 1970 about 870,000 youth eighteen-twenty-one. This is either a 34 percent increase or a 51 percent increase in the next fifteen years, depending on the assumption you make about migration.

What will these increases in college-age population mean for enrollment in Pennsylvania? In 1930 and in 1940, only about ten percent of Pennsylvania's youth attended college. By 1950, with enrollments accelerated by veterans, the number in college was about 25% of the 18-21 year olds. By 1955, even after the wave of veterans had subsided, this figure remained at 24%. This is slightly below the national average, and considerably below the average for some states. It seems a reasonable assumption that the percentage of college-age youth in college will increase at the same rate as the 1930-1955 increase in Pennsylvania. On this assumption college enrollment in Pennsylvania will increase 12 to 19% by 1960 and 78 to 100% by 1970. If we accept these assumptions, that the trend of the past 20 years in percentage of college-age youth in college will continue, Pennsylvania will have some 247,000 students in its colleges by 1970. The total enrollment in 1954 was 139,050.

In the past, four out of every five college students in Pennsylvania were enrolled in "independent" institutions. If this continues to be the case, the independent institutions of Pennsylvania can expect almost 200,000 students in 1970; a third again as many students as are now enrolled in all of Pennsylvania's higher institutions, both public and private."

Robert C. Anderson, Associate Director for Administration, The Southern Regional Education Board, addressing the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities, October 24, 1955.

INTRODUCTION

Act No 535 of the 1955 Session, signed by the Governor May 15, 1956, provided that the membership of the General Assembly should constitute the Joint State Government Commission and charged the executive committee with responsibility for conducting the business of the Commission. It was the consensus of the executive committee that the interest of the General Assembly would be best served by confining the application of available time and resources to those of critical importance in which studies could be effectively carried out in the time remaining before the convening of the 1957 Session of the General Assembly.

Accordingly, small task forces, whose members were designated by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives from the full membership of the Commission, were appointed and the following studies were undertaken:

1. Branch banking
2. Comparative study of business tax differentials
3. Court procedure and administration and domestic relations laws
4. Legislative and administrative printing
5. Pennsylvania state and local pension systems and their relationship to existing Social Security laws
6. Operations of the professional licensure boards
7. Continuing study on public schools
8. Sale of life insurance by mutual savings banks
9. Standards and specifications for nonhighway structures and equipment
10. Surface and underground water supply

It is the conduct of these studies which is covered by this biennial report.

A separate committee under the Joint State Government Commission was created by Act of 1956, May 31, P. L. (1955) 1931, to make a study and investigation relating to subsidence of surface soil in anthracite and bituminous coal mining regions. The operations of the Subsidence Committee are briefly described in this report, and a separate, more detailed report will be presented as directed by the act.

The Advisory Committee on Decedents' Estates Laws was reactivated by the executive committee for the purpose of screening amendments to the laws relating to decedents' estates proposed during the 1957 Session, and matters related thereto.

Reports of findings and recommendations of the task forces, together with such supplemental recommendations as the executive committee may make, will be presented to the standing committees designated by the President Pro Tempore and the Speaker. In three instances, it was the decision of the executive committee that the nature of the studies and the information developed call for publication of separate reports. These reports, relating to the comparative study of business tax differentials, sale of life insurance by mutual savings banks, and branch banking, will be submitted to the General Assembly of 1957.

BRANCH BANKING

TASK FORCE

Senate Members	House Members
Henry J. Propert—Co-chairman	Louis J. Amarando—Co-chairman
G. Graybill Diehm	Jules Filo
Bernard B. McGinnis	Allen M. Gibson

The task force on the study of branch banking reviewed information developed by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia from a comprehensive survey of branch banking in the Third Federal Reserve District and directed that similar data be compiled for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Consideration was given to the talking of a public opinion poll to determine community attitudes regarding establishment of branch banks and bank mergers, but it was the consensus that sentiment for and against branch bank and merger movements should be ascertained by public hearing.

Accordingly, on November 29, 1956, a public hearing in the matter was held by the task force in the Senate Caucus Room, Capitol Building, Harrisburg. Invitations to present views and pertinent information at the hearing were extended to the Secretary of Banking and to representatives of banking associations and banking institutions.

In addition to the report which will be presented to the standing committees of the Senate and House designated by the President Pro Tempore and the Speaker, a summary of the testimony at the hearing, together with statistical data relating to the branch banking and merger movements in Pennsylvania, will be presented in a separate report.

The task force on the comparative study of business tax differentials reviewed comparative data for Pennsylvania and other states relating to railway tax accruals, other utility taxes, value added by manufacturing, numbers and average wages of manufacturing employes, and investment, employes, and payroll of new industry.

At the direction of the task force, a study was instituted of the Pennsylvania tax returns of a sample of corporations, and the cooperation of the subject corporations was enlisted to ascertain comparative taxes paid on their operations in Pennsylvania and other states.

The widespread circulation of statements by industrial officials and newspaper writers charging that Pennsylvania's tax climate is unfavorable to industry led the task force to schedule public hearings to which representatives of industry and the press and other interested parties were invited. Three such hearings on July 31, August 6, and September 12, 1956, were held in the Senate Caucus Room, Capitol Building, Harrisburg. In addition, more than twenty officials of as many Pennsylvania corporations presented facts and views at conferences with the task force in Pittsburgh on October 1, 1956, and in Philadelphia on October 8, 1956.

A report will be presented to the standing committees of the Senate and House designated by the President Pro Tempore and the Speaker. In addition, the results of the study of corporate tax returns and other areas of the task force investigation will be detailed in a separate published report.

The Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House have been designated by the President Pro Tempore and the Speaker, respectively, to receive the findings and recommendations.

Consultant
Edward M. Young

The task force on the study of legislative and administrative printing reviewed reports of the 1955 committee appointed to study legislative printing and considered recommendations presented by Mr. Edward M. Young consultant to the task force and chairman of the 1955 committee. Mr. Young's presentation included data and recommendations relating to the printing and reprinting, spacing, and volume of bills, histories, resolutions, and calendars; legislative printing contracts; distribution of printed materials; members' stationery; the Legislative Journal and The Pennsylvania Manual; printing costs; legislative printing in other states; and information concerning a system for the elimination of typesetting in the reproduction of legislative materials, a demonstration of which was witnessed by the task force.

At the direction of the task force, the proposals were reviewed by the legislative consultant, the House parliamentarian, and the chief compiling clerk of the Senate; recommendations issuing from the review of the special committee were then presented to the task force.

In addition, the task force reviewed constitutional and statutory provisions and regulations related to public printing in the Commonwealth.

The Committee on Rules of the Senate and the Committee on Rules of the House have been designated by the President Pro Tempore and the Speaker respectively to receive the findings and recommendations.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE AND LOCAL PENSION SYSTEMS AND THEIR RELATIONSHIP TO SOCIAL SECURITY LAWS
TASK FORCE

Senate Members	House Members

William J. Lane	Thomas H. W. Jones
Theodore H. Schmidt	Edwin E. Lippincott, II
George N. Wade	Jeanette F. Reibman

The task force on the study of Pennsylvania state and local pension systems and their relationship to existing Social Security laws studied the implications of the integration of state and municipal retirement systems with Social Security permitted under federal enactments and the Act of 1952, January 5, P. L. (1951) 1833, as amended 1956, June 1, P. L. (1955) 1973, and reviewed the provisions of Acts Nos. 658, 659, 660, and 661 of 1955, which amended the statutes pertaining to the State Employes' Retirement System, regular and optional third class city retirement systems. and the Public School Employes' Retirement System by providing for the modification of these systems under integration. Opinions were solicited from the consulting actuaries for the state and school employes' retirement systems regarding possible interpretations of the 1955 legislation.

The task force also considered the effects of 1956 amendments to the federal Social Security Act, which permit partial integration of state and local retirement systems with Social Security—that is, extension of integrated coverage to only that group of employes who elect such coverage.

At the direction of the executive committee of the Joint State Government Commission, a technical committee has been appointed to advise the standing committees of the General Assembly with respect to any ambiguities of language in Acts Nos. 658-662 of 1955 and to screen, from a technical point of view, any amendments which may be offered during the 1957 Session to the laws relating to the integration of state and municipal retirement systems with Social Security.

The Committee on Insurance of the Senate and the Committee on State Government of the House have been designated by the President Pro Tempore and the Speaker, respectively, to receive the findings and recommendations.

OPERATIONS OF THE PROFESSIONAL LICENSURE BOARDS
TASK FORCE

Senate Members	House Members
Albert R. Pechan—Co-Chairman	David M. Boies—Co-Chairman
James S. Berger	Leon J. Kolankiewicz
Anthony J. DiSilvestro	John H. Moody
Hugh J. McMenamin	Andrew S. Moscrip

The task force on the study of the operations of the professional licensure boards surveyed the composition, terms of office of members, and statutory provisions (including restrictions on appointments) relating to the professional licensing boards of the Commonwealth, and the fees, eligibility requirements, and penalties applicable to examinees and licensees under the jurisdiction of the boards.

Copies of examinations and information relating to examination procedures (including the manner in which and by whom examinations are prepared and graded) were obtained directly from the licensing boards. Files of the boards were examined and data relating to numbers of persons taking and passing or failing initial and re-examinations over the three-year period 1953-55 were collated and reviewed by the task force. Where obtainable, information relating to Pennsylvania residents and nonresidents and to graduates of Pennsylvania schools and other schools was included, and where applicable, the record of persons, qualifying by experience or apprenticeship was shown.

The Committee on Education of the Senate and the Committee on Professional Licensure of the House have been designated by the President Pro Tempore and the Speaker, respectively, to receive the findings and recommendations.

CONTINUING STUDY ON PUBLIC SCHOOLS
TASK FORCE

Senate Members	House Members
Paul L. Wagner—Co-chairman	J. Dean Polen—Co-chairman
Jo Hays	W. Stuart Helm
Edward J. Kessler	Stephen McCann
Harry E. Seyler	LeRoy A. Weidner

The task force on the continuing study on public schools surveyed the field of state and local support of the public schools. The system under which the Commonwealth reimburse local school districts on the various education accounts was studied, and the effects of various adjustments of the legislatively controlled elements entering into the calculation of reimbursement (i.e., the equalization level and the local effort rate) were considered. The task force also gave special attention to: the closed-school subsidy, from the standpoint of Commonwealth liability on this account and the manner in which the subsidy affects local budget and building programs; the use of supplemental payments for jointures and merged or union districts as an incentive to the establishment of larger, more economical attendance areas; pupil transportation reimbursement; the relationship of the equalization level to unit costs incurred by local districts on account of classroom instruction; the feasibility of extending to other accounts the "actual or standard" cost principle established by Act No. 417 of 1955 with respect to building reimbursement; and the advisability of reimbursing on noninstruction accounts on the basis of a stabilized equalization level.

The Act of 1956, May 31, P. L. (1955) 1937, directed the State Council of Education to prepare a state-wide plan for units of school administration, to be submitted to the Governor and the Joint State Government Commission. A considerable part of the work of the Commissions task force on the continuing study of the public schools related to the organizational pattern, allocation of costs, and other details of a plan for the operation of such intermediate units or regional service areas." Particular attention was given to the provision, at the regional level, of services which cannot be economically provided by individual school districts, and to coordinating and standardizing certain functions. In conjunction with its consideration of this plan, the task force reviewed the operation of county teachers' institutes and in-service training programs, the education of handicapped children, and the school health program contained in Senate Bill No. 324, Session of 1955.

The Committee on Education of the Senate and the Committee on Education of the House have been designated by the President Pro Tempore and the Speaker, respectively, to receive the findings and recommendations.

SALE OF LIFE INSURANCE BY MUTUAL SAVINGS BANKS TASK FORCE

Senate Members	House Members
Robert D. Fleming—Co-chairman	Mary A. Varallo—Co-chairman
Edward B. Watson	Louis J. Amarando
Charles R. Weiner	George W. Cooper

The task force on the study of sale of life insurance by mutual savings banks directed its efforts to determining whether or not there exists a need for legislation permitting savings banks in Pennsylvania to sell life insurance over the counter and to ascertaining the benefits which might be expected to accrue from legaliizng such sales. The provisions of, and public reaction to, legislation introduced during previous sessions to accomplish this purpose were surveyed. The task force reviewed the history and growth of savings bank life insurance sales in Massachusetts, New York, and Connecticut (states in which such sales are now permitted), and compared costs of ordinary life insurance sold, and policyholder services provided, by insurance companies and through savings banks. In addition, the task force studied data produced from a 1951 field study conducted in Philadelphia to determine interest in, and possible intention to purchase, savings bank life insurance if made available in that city.

A public hearing in the matter, to which were invited representatives of groups both supporting and opposing legislation to permit the sale of life insurance by mutual savings banks, was held October 1, 1956, in the Senate Caucus Room, Capitol Building, Harrisburg. Among those testifying at the hearing were representatives of savings bank life insurance organizations in Massachusetts and New York and the chairman of the savings bank life insurance committee of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks.

In addition to the report which will be presented to the standing committees of the Senate and House designated by the President Pro Tempore and the Speaker, the complete findings of the task force, together with information produced from the public hearing, will be pubiished in a separate report.

The Committee on Insurance of the Senate and the Committee on Insurance of the House have been designated by the President Pro Tempore and the Speaker, respectively, to receive the findings and recommendations.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE SUBSIDENCE COMMITTEE

The Subsidence Committee recommends:

I. That the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to amend the Federal Flood Insurance Act of 1956 to provide that subsidence resulting from mining operations shall be an insurable risk.

II. That the General Assembly enact legislation establishing an independent administrative commission in the Department of Mines and Mining Industries, to be known as the Coal Mining Subsidence Commission, for the purpose of conducting studies of subsidence and carrying out flushing programs in the anthracite and bituminous regions. That an appropriation of $150,000 be made to the commission, and a tax of two cents per ton of coal mined be imposed to finance the commission's program.

III. That the General Assembly provide an adequate appropriation to aid municipalities in the acquisition of pillars or other support necessary to prevent subsidence as provided by the Act of 1949, May 18, P. L. 1474.

IV. That the General Assembly enact legislation mandating that every deed to real property indicate, in bold type or otherwise conspicuously, whether or not it conveys mineral and support rights.

INTRODUCTION

Act No. 646 of 1955 directs the Subsidence Committee ". . . to make a complete study and investigation in the anthracite and bituminous coal mining regions of the circumstances, causes and remedies relating to the subsidence of the surface soil due to coal mining operations, including any damages which have occurred or may occur to any privately owned property or school, church or public highway situated thereon."

In accordance with the legislative directive, the committee has investigated the causes of subsidence due to mining operations, the measures which may be taken to prevent the occurrence of subsidence, the effectiveness of past legislative enactments designed to cope with subsidence, and the pertinent court decisions relating to these enactments. In addition, public hearings were held, in connection with whcih the committee inspected some of the areas in which subsidence constitutes a community problem.

CAUSES OF SUBSIDENCE

Subsidence, which may or may not be apparent on the surface, is an inevitable consequence of any extractive operation. Such operations create unbalance in the superjacent rock strata, causing bending and fracturing and falls of rock until the void created by the extraction is filled and the strata reach a new state of equilibrium. Subsidence of the surface has been observed to follow the extraction of salt, sulphur, gypsum, limestone, sandstone, shale, clay, natural gas, petroleum, water, and coal.

There is general agreement among mining engineers that the extent and/or duration of subsidence resulting from a given extractive operation cannot be predicted with a high degree of accuracy. Similarly, no universally applicable formula has been developed to calculate the size of pillars or amount of backfill, packwall, or timber support which will prevent subsidence after mining. Generally speaking, the extent of subsidence which is likely to ensue from coal mining, as well as the cost of measures calculated to prevent subsidence, depends upon:

1. The folding, fracturing, and faulting of the rock strata which took place prior to the mining operations.

2. The thickness, depth, and number of coal seams, and the method, order, and rate of extraction.

3. The geological make-up of superjacent strata, which in large part determines resistance to compression and tension.

4. The physical and chemical characteristics of the topsoil.

5. The presence or absence of water.

In Pennsylvania, bituminous mining is concentrated in the western part of the state and anthracite mining in the east. (See map, page 7.) Though subsidence occurs in both fields, the evidence clearly indiiates that subsidence is more frequent, more widespread, and of more far-reaching social and economic consequence in the anthracite than in the bituminous fields.

The differences in the incidence of subsidence in the bituminous and anthracite fields are due to variations of geological conditions. Generally speaking, bituminous coal seams are relatively thin, flat, and close to the surface, and there is considerably less folding of the coal bearing measures, less faulting, less fracturing, and less concentration of workable coal seams in a given area, while anthracite seams—sometimes as thick as 100 feet—are spaced at irregular intervals and are sometimes characterized by a marked pitch.

Though it is useful to differentiate between bituminous and anthracite fields, it should be noted that even within the antharcite area different fields show markedly different characteristics. For instance, in the northern anthracite field, which extends from south of Nanticoke to north of Carbondale, the vein is relatively flat. The cities of Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, and Pittston are situated over this field. In the middle and southern anthracite fields, over which are located the communities of Pottsville, Hazleton, Shamokin, Tamaqua, Shenandoah, and Coaldale, the vein lies in canoe-shaped basins with steeply pitching sides.

Further detail on the causes of subsidence appears in Appendix A.

PREVENTION OF SUBSIDENCE

In considering preventive measures, it is necessary to differentiate between current and future mining operations and "old mine workings."

In present and future mining operations, subsidence can be minimized by the employment of systematic mining methods, which, in the United States, usually take the form of so-called "room and pillar mining." In room and pillar mining, coal is extracted from parallel openings called "rooms," "chambers," or "breasts."

Properly engineered, rooms are driven to a predetermined distance between solid coal on both sides, with temporary timber supporting the roof. When the distance is reached, retreat begins by robbing the pillar of solid coal farthest from the mine entrance. One of the important features of systematic retreat work is keeping the ends of the pillars being robbed in a straight line. This prevents uneven pressure from the unsupported roof from producing "creeps" or "squeezes" along the breakline. The purpose of this procedure is to recover as much coal as can possibly be recovered, simultaneously minimizing the probability of subsidence.

It is essential that the passageways between the coal face and the mine entrance be kept open while the mine is in operation, since these passageways—called "entries," "headings," or "gangways"— are the means of ingress and egress for all purposes. Roof support is accomplished by leaving solid pillars of coal or by supplementing the pillars with artificial support. Artificial supports in common use are timber of steel framing, roof bolting, packwalling, and backfilling. Cribbing of brick, stone, or concrete is used where extra support becomes necessary. The purpose of roof support is to prevent the beginning of failure in the rock strata immediately overlying the coal seam. The first appearance of sag or cracking in the mine roof means that failure has begun; once failure begins, the impending fall may be delayed but not prevented. So the first step toward preventing damage from subsidence is the adequate support of mine openings while first mining is in progress. If there is no break, there can be no subsidence.

The second step is to control roof subsidence during the progress of second mining or retreat. This is accomplished either by leaving artificial supports in place as coal is removed or by leaving no support at all. In low seams, say less than four feet, the practice is to take out every support, including small coal "stumps." The broken strata are then free to fall and fill the void, and equilibrium will be established before the break reaches to the surface.

Though systematic mining tends to reduce the probability of subsidence in connection with current and future mining operations, it is manifestly not a solution to the subsidence that may occur from extractive operations that have taken place in the past. The importance of past operations may be judged if it is realized that in the past approximately eight billion market tons of bituminous and five billion tons of anthracite have been mined in Pennsylvania.[1]

Engineering opinion would seem to be agreed that flushing represents the best available means of preventing subsidence from old mining operations. However, all cost considerations aside, flushing—the introduction of solid matter, either by gravity or pressure methods, into voids created by mining operations—presents many serious technical problems: The exact location of voids created by past mining operations is not known; generally speaking, maps are inaccurate or nonexistent. Condition of voids is not readily ascertainable because of collapsed roofs, disintegrated pillars, and the possible entry of water. Again, because mine openings have become inaccessible, many of the voids would have to be flushed by what is sometimes referred to as the "blind method."

[1] In 1955, total coal production in Pennsylvania was 110,977,469 tons.

All preventive measures, whether relating to present, future, or past extractive operations, involve costs, and these may be of such magnitude that their assumption would result in cessation of all mining operations in a given area. Obviously, pillars of coal left in place represent coal that is not salable, increasing the cost per salable ton. Again, the flushing of voids created by past extraction is a costly operation. For example, it was estimated by a committee of mining engineers reporting in 1942 that, at prices prevailing at that time, the cost of flushing under the built-up sections of the anthracite region would approximate seven-and-a-quarter billion dollars, assuming flushing materials were available at the site.[2] It is estimated that, in terms of current prices, this cost would approach fourteen-and-a-half billion dollars.

In connection with the prevention of subsidence, it should be noted that the effect of such subsidence as is inevitable can be minimized by proper selection of surface structure design and careful attention of structure placement. For example, it is well established that very high and long, narrow buildings are more readily damaged by earth movements associated with subsidence than are low and broad-based buildings. Again, buildings of excessively rigid construction are more readily damaged by such movement than are those of flexible construction. A concrete mat or pile foundation provides greater resistance to subsidence damage than do the more conventional foundations. Finally, buildings located at right angles to an advancing line of subsidence have greater resistance than those set at lesser angles.

Further detail is presented in Appendix A.

PERTINENT COURT DECISIONS AND LEGISLATIVE ENACTMENTS

Long before the General Assembly concerned itself with the problem of subsidence, the courts of the Commonwealth developed a number of important precepts bearing on the problem. It would appear that the first case involving the question of liability for damage from subsidence came before the courts in 1870.

In this case, Jones v. Wagner,[3] the surface was owned by one person and the underlying coal by another, and the removal of the coal had apparently caused subsidence and surface damage. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania adopted the rule of the common law of England, which was that "where there is no restriction or contract to the contrary, the subterranean or mining property is subservient to the surface to the extent of sufficient supports to sustain the latter, or in default, there is liability to damages by the owners or workers of the former for any injury consequent thereon to the latter." The court stated that "the owner of a mineral estate, if the law be not controlled by the conveyance, owes a servitude to the superincumbent estate, of sufficient supports; consequently the failure to do so is negligence, and so may be declared upon." The court held the operators liable because the damages had resulted from the lack of "sufficient supports in the mine to prevent the plaintiff's ground, house and orchard, from injury by subsiding into the cavity made in the earth by the removal of the coal."

But the court also observed: "We have no doubt but all the evils deprecated by the adoption of this rule will disappear under regulations adopted to each case of severance of the soil from the minerals. Contract may devote the whole minerals to the enjoyment of the purchaser, without supports, if the parties choose. [Emphasis supplied.] If not, the loss by maintaining pillars or putting in props will necessarily come out of the value of the mineral estate."

A long line of cases followed the rule set forth in Jones v. Wagner in imposing on mine operators an obligation to support the surface unless that duty of vertical support has been waived. See Coleman v. Chadwick (1875), 80 Pa. 81; Carlin v. Chappel (1882), 101 Pa. 348.

The principle that three estates may exist in land—namely (1) the surface, (2) the minerals and (3) the right of support—and that each of these may be vested in different persons at the same time was recognized and approved in the case of Graff Furnace Company v. Scranton Coal Company (1914), 244 Pa. 592; Penman v. Jones (1917), 256 Pa. 416; and Charnetski v. Miners Mills Coal Company (1921), 270 Pa. 459. It was held that the owner of the surface could not recover from the owner of the coal vein for any damages resulting from subsidence where there had been a waiver of such support: Scranton v. Phillips (1880), 94 Pa. 15; Young v. Thompson (1922), 272 Pa. 360. Similarly, the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions are bound by effective waivers as to surface support when given by prior owners: Commonwealth v. Clearview (1917), 256 Pa. 328. However, the Commonwealth is not bound by such a waiver if it takes the land by condemnation: Commonwealth v. Pardee Brothers (1933), 310 Pa. 353. See 1933, June 1, P. L. 1409.

A search of the records indicates that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania took official cognizance of the existence of the subsidence problem in 1911, when it created a commission to study subsidence in the anthracite fields.[4] Subsequent to the commission's report in 1913, the General Assembly passed an act making it unlawful for mine operators to mine in such a manner as to remove necessary adequate support from beneath streets, avenues, thoroughfares, courts, alleys, and public highways of any municipal corporation.[5] In 1915, a similar act relating to boroughs was passed and the 1913 act as it related to these subdivisions was repealed.[6]

In passing, it may be noted that the 1921 General Assembly also passed an act known as the Fowler Act, which provided for the establishment of the State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission (1921, May 27, P. L. 1192). The act is reproduced in Appendix D. Briefly. under the act Pennsylvania corporations organized and foreign corporations admitted to do business in the state after the effective date of the act, as well as other corporations voluntarily accepting its provisions, were subject to a tax of 2 percent of the market price of all anthracite mined, the proceeds to be used for: (1) the expenses of the commission; (2) payments to persons injured or damaged in person or property by mining operations; (3) measures for the prevention of threatened injury or damage to personal property by surface subsidence resulting from anthracite coal mining operations. The records of the commission, such as they are, suggest that it was never active, and it was finally abolished by Section 2 of the Administrative Code of 1929.

In 1921, the General Assembly, through the so-called "Kohler Act," extended the scope of the acts of 1913 and 1915 by making it unlawful to conduct anthracite mining operations in such a manner as to cause the cave-in, collapse, or subsidence of "public structures, streets, roads, bridges, public service facilities, cemeteries, or private structures used for habitation or for commercial or industrial purposes." [7]

Subsequent to the passage of the Kohler Act, the Court of Common Pleas of Luzerne County was asked by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Mahon to restrain the Pennsylvania Coal Company from mining any coal underlying their property in the City of Pittston, "the removal of which will cause the caving-in, collapse or subsidence of their dwelling house," contrary to the provisions of the Kohler Act. The Luzerne County Court denied relief to the Mahons on the grounds that the coal company not only had acquired title to the coal but had obtained a waiver of support of surface and hence was under no liability for injury thereby inflicted. Though this decision was in accordance with decisions previously handed down, the city solicitor of Scranton and the Attorney General of the Commonwealth intervened and the case was taken to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court reversed the lower court,[8] and the case was appealed to the United States Supreme Court, which in turn reversed the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. The federal court held:

A source of damage to such a house [the Mahons'] is not a public nuisance even if similar damage is inflicted on others in different places. The damage is not common or public. . . . The protection of private property in the Fifth Amendment presupposes that it is wanted for public use, but provides that it shall not be taken for such use without compensation. [Emphasis supplied.] A similar assumption is made in the decisions upon the Fourteenth Amendment. . . . When this seemingly absolute protection is found to be qualified by the police power, the natural tendency of human nature is to extend the qualification more and more until at last private property disappears. But that cannot be accomplished in this way under the Constitution of the United States.[9]

Minor amendatory acts aside, the next enactment relating to subsidence came in 1949, when the General Assembly authorized all political subdivisions "to acquire by donation, agreement, lease, purchase, or the exercise of the power of eminent domain . . . any pillars in any anthracite or bituminous coal mine or any other necessary support of the surface over and above such mine . . . necessary to prevent subsidence, collapse or caving-in of the surface or structures thereon which may result from anthracite or bituminous coal mining operations." [10] In other words, under this act, all political subdivisions can acquire support rights, provided compensation for those rights is made to their owners.

A more complete discussion of legal and judicial action relating to subsidence appears in Appendix C.

PUBLIC HEARINGS

Hearings were held by the Subsidence Committee as follows:

On July 31, 1956, at Wilkes-Barre
On August 7, 1956, at Coaldale
On September 10, 1956, at Scranton
On September 28, 1956, at Arnold
On November 27, 1956, at Harrisburg.

At these hearings testimony was presented by individual citizens and by representatives of citizens' groups, municipalities, coal operators' associations, and the Pennsylvania Department of Mines and Mineral Industries. Generally, the witnesses presented evidence calculated to demonstrate the damage to surface structures, the hazards to health and safety, and the inconvenience to citizens caused by subsidence due to mining operations.

Many of the witnesses were keenly conscious of the complexity of the problem arising from the fact that the ownership of mineral rights, the right of support, and the utilization of the surface are severable. Several municipal officials, while cognizant of the provisions of the 1949 act permitting municipalities to acquire mine pillars or other support necessary to prevent subsidence, pointed out that the financial condition of their municipalities was such as to preclude any action under the legislation.

A number of witnesses cited the fact that property owners are frequently unaware that their deeds contain specific waivers of mineral and support rights, charging that such waiver clauses generally are so inserted that attention is not drawn to them.

The Pennsylvania Department of Mines and Mineral Industries has had extensive experience with subsidence. In testimony before the committee, representatives of the department indicated that they are acutely aware that the severability of property rights in land represents the crux of the problem:

This method of separating property rights vertically as well as horizontally is the main issue in the problem at hand of finding a way to mine coal with the consequent causing of damage to the surface by subsidence in such a manner as to be financially and humanly fair to both the surface owner and the coal owner. Obviously, where the right to damage clause is in favor of the owner of the coal, he has, at present, a solid legal leg on which to stand. It is this legal leg and its present application in coal mining practice that represents the key to today's problem in surface subsidence caused by coal mining in Pennsylvania.

With respect to the effectiveness of flushing [11] and the practicability of insurance against subsidence loss, the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries notes:

Flushing, or filling of underground voids with finely divided solid particles, using flowing water to conduct them to the desired position, has been suggested as a panacea for the subsidence problem. Flushing is not a cure all for the problem. It is the best method known to this time to reduce the probability of the occurrence and to limit the extent of surface subsidence at locations where part of the underlying coal has been removed and where existing conditions are favorable to its use. Permanent discontinuance of mining in the area is imperative if flushing is to provide continued value for surface support.

[11] The 1955 General Assembly appropriated the sum of $1,700,000 to the Department of Mines for works, including flushing, in connection with abandoned mines. Currently, the department is using a part of the appropriation to flush under the Pittston Hospital in the city of Pittston, Luzeerne County.

The most effective results are obtained from flushing: (1) when no further mining is to ensue (2) when the mine voids to be flushed are standing open (3) when access to said voids is possible to the workmen engaged in the flushing procedure (4) when the pertinent voids are free of underground water (5) when the dip of the vein or seam is sufficient to allow the carrying water used in flushing to drain off readily. Satisfactory flushing is also dependent on: (1) construction of proper holding barricades (2) use of desirable finely divided solids (3) admixture of minimum of carrying water (4) construction of proper drain and seepage boxes (5) proper supervision of depositing of flushing material.

The value of flushing is reduced with the reduction, or elimination, of availability of any of the above conditions. Prevailing conditions must be analyzed at each specific area by persons qualified to determine the practicability and effectivenuess of proposed flushing therein. The title of the coal, or at least of the right to mine it, in any area to be flushed should pass to a group that would assure its permanent inactivity as to mining. Obviously, the owners of coal lands are anxious that mining continue in order to provide income from their ownership and it is believed only a few isolated coal land owners would be agreeable to participating in a permanent cease mining agreement unless the pertinent lands were purchased from them. It is our opinion that to attempt to purchase the coal lands necessary to accompany a wide scale flushing program would result in costs that would be beyond government practicability.

Some type of insurance has been suggested to provide for repairs to surface property damage caused by subsidence due to mining of coal. No mention of any participation on the part of the surface owner in the cost of such insurance has been noted. It is hard to believe that mining companies extracting coal from beneath unimproved lands could be expected to contribute to such a plan. It is not probable that companies mining coal under improved lands could competitively afford the additional expense of such insurance. State and/or Federal financial coverage of such insurance without participation of other parties would appear to be discriminatory.

Proposals for Remedial Action

Following are the major proposals for action relating to subsidence presented in the course of testimony at the hearings.

1. Provide for federal and/or state financial aid to enable municipalities to acquire pillars in any anthracite or bituminous coal mine or any other support "necessary to prevent subsidence, collapse or caving-in of the surface or structures thereon," as authorized by the Act of 1949, May 18, P. L. 1474.

2. Re-enact the "Fowler Act" of 1921, which established the State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission and imposed a tax of 2 percent of the market price of coal mined by every Pennsylvania corporation organized and every foreign corporation admitted to do business in the Commonwealth after the effective date of the act and by any other corporation accepting voluntarily the provisions of the act. Proceeds of the tax were to be used to pay the expenses of the commission, to pay damages to persons injured or suffering property loss as a result of subsidence, and to finance measures for the prevention of injury or loss from subsidence.

3. Re-enact the "Kohler Act" of 1921, which made it unlawful to conduct anthracite mining operations in such a manner as to cause caving-in, collapse, or subsidence of public structures, streets, roads, bridges, public service facilities, cemeteries, or private structures used for habitation or for commercial or industrial purposes.[12]

4. Make it mandatory upon mine operators to furnish artificial support whenever supporting pillars of coal are removed.

5. Amend federal income tax statutes to permit full deduction as losses of structure damages from subsidence.

6. Amend the Federal Flood Insurance Act of 1956 to include subsidence as an insurable risk.

7. Prescribe by statute that every deed to real property must indicate, in bold type or otherwise conspicuously, whether or not it conveys mineral and support rights.

8. Enact legislation providing for an extensive Commonwealth flushing program in the built-up areas of the anthracite region, the cost of the program to be financed by means of a tonnage tax upon anthracite mined.

SUBSIDENCE FROM A MINING ENGINEER'S POINT OF VIEW

R. M. Fleming, E.M.*

Subsidences of the earth's surface, with the exception of certain types resulting from the erosive action of water, ice, or wind, are caused by the adjustment of unbalanced stresses in rock strata immediately subjacent to the area affected.

The rock strata of the earth's crust are subject to constant pressures from natural processes, and earth movements are in progress everywhere at all times. Movements may be of such magnitude as to result in an earthquake or the disappearance of an island beneath the surface of the sea, but most are infinitestimal and pass unnoticed.

Every tendency toward unbalance in the rock strata is counteracted by a tendency toward readjustment and a new state of equilibrium. Any extractive operation creates unbalance in the superjacent rock strata, causing bending and fracturing and rock fall until the void left by the removal of material is filled and the strata reach a new state of equilibrium. This adjustment may reach all the way to the surface and so result in the condition commonly referred to as subsidence. Surface subsidence has been observed to follow the extraction of salt, sulphur, gypsum, limestone, sandstone, shale, clay, minerals, natural gas, petroleum, water, and coal.

Surface subsidence has been observed in every area in which coal has been mined. Systematic study of the phenomenon in many localities has led to the development of a body of fact concerning its nature and causes to which competent mining engineers generally subscribe:

The extent and duration, and even the very occurrence, of surface subsidence depend upon a number of factors. Primary among these are the thickness of the coal seam

[12] All legal advice to the Subsidence Committee indicates that such an act would be held to be not constitutional. The Kohler Act was declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court in 1922. Mr. Justice Holmes wrote the opinion of the court, with a dissenting opinion by Mr. Justice Brandeis.

* Mr. Fleming is professorial lecturer in mining engineering, College of Mineral Industries, The Pennsylvania State University.

and the depth of the seam from the surface. The thinner the seam and the greater the depth, the less chance of disturbance to the surafce from mining operations. Other factors are:

1. The folding, fracturing, and faulting of the rock strata which took place prior to the onset of mining operations.

2. The make-up of the superjacent strata, which may be clay, shale, sandstone, or other coal seams. These vary greatly in resistance to compression, tension, and shear; some bend, some crumble, and some tend to flow under stress.

3. Top soil, which may be loam, clay, sand, or glacial till. These vary greatly in angle of repose, an important factor in determining how far subsidence will extend beyond the area of the broken rock strata.

4. The presence of water. Some materials are impervious to water, while others become plastic or swell and still others dissolve and are carried away, leaving voids.

5. The number of coal seams, the method, order, and rate of extraction, and the amount of solid coal left in place.

Mining history reveals many man-made conditions which favor subsidence, some the result of mining operations and others the result of location and type of surface construction.

The Anthracite Region

Pennsylvania's anthracite beds are located in eleven counties in the northeastern part of the state; the operations are concentrated in Lackawanna, Luzerne, Northumberland, and Schuylkill counties. Earth movements and extreme folding of the strata in this region have bent, distorted, fractured, and, in places, crushed the rock strata. Within the region, geological conditions vary among the southern, middle, and northern fields. The coal beds, ranging in thickness from less than three to almost 100 feet, are spaced at irregular intervals, and the seams vary in number, depth of cover, and degree of pitch throughout the erea. Top soil also varies greatly in thickness and composition. A large portion of the northern field, for example, is covered by an extensive glacial deposit which flows easily when wet.

Mining began in the eighteenth century, expanded rapidly in the nineteenth century, and continued prosperous until the 1920's. Early mining methods were crude, and the practice was to mine the most accessible coal. With the decline of the industry and the consequent abandonment of some mines, roof falls and disintegrating coal pillars—conditions conducive to subsidence—were paid little or no attention.

The Bituminous Region

The bituminous fields of Pennsylvania lie primarily in the western counties, extending into the central part of the state. Here, geological conditions are less severe than in the anthracite region, and the conditions which cause subsidence are different. There is much less folding in the coalbearing measures, less faulting, less fracturing, and generally less concentration of workable coal seams in a given area; the coal seams are generally thinner, flatter, and closer to the surface.

In some areas, surface mining has caused damage. (Surface or strip mining accounts for over 30 percent of the annual coal production in the Central Pennsylvania Field.) Where it has become uneconomical to remove the overburden, the practice of utilizing coal augers for underground extraction has developed. The aim is to extract as much coal as possible at least expense, without supporting the surface.

Subsidence is not a problem of great magnitude in the bituminous fields at the present time. Large areas have been undermined without causing serious damage to the surface. However, there are cases where surface cracks have been observed, buildings have settled, local depressions have appeared, and roads have been severely damaged, even though less than four feet of coal have been removed under almost 300 feet of cover.

Subsidence is likely to become more of a problem in the future than it is at the present time. Vast reserves of coal remain to be mined—some under areas already densely populated, some under growing residential sections and business developments, and some under farm and forest lands, which are as liable to subsidence damage as are built-up areas.

Repair and Reduction of Subsidence Damage

There appears to be little economic justification for repair of existing damage due to subsidence. Money spent for the purpose of merely restoring buildings and improvements would be wasted, since further damage would not be prevented or even modified thereby. Subsidence will reoccur, and the process may go on for years.

Existing damage must be attributed to two principal causes: removal of the coal, leaving a void that sets up stresses in the superjacent strata and results in surface subsidence; and lack of precaution in building construction and improvement of land overlying mine workings.

A Royal Commission on Mining Subsidence found similar conditions in the coal fields of Great Britain. After an exhaustive study lasting several years, the commission published a final report in 1927, in which recommendations for use of the following were made:

1. Hydraulic stowage (flushing or filling)
2. More scientific mining methods
3. Scientific lay-out of surface
4. Careful construction of buildings
5. Appropriate building codes

The Royal Commission report offers nothing new to mining engineers in the United States. (Similar recommendations, for example, can be found in various reports covering subsidence in the coal fields of Pennsylvania.) The reference is made for the purpose of indicating that subsidence involves the same problems wherever coal is mined.

Though there is no way to predict with certitude the extent or duration of a particular subsidence or damage resulting therefrom, mining men well understand the causes of subsidence and have some knowledge of methods for prevention of further subsidence from old mine workings and present and future mining operations. Given such knowledge, the extent and degree of surface damage from subsidence can be minimized.

Abandoned Mine Workings

Subsidence from old mine workings presents multiple problems. The total amount of coal removed since mining began in Pennsylvania amounts to several billion tons, leaving huge voids underground. According to the testimony of engineers and others who have attempted to make underground inspections, these voids are partially filled with broken rock, and any attempt to estimate the cubical content of the space remaining to be filled would be mainly guesswork. However, it is not unreasonable to suppose that billions of cubic yards would be involved, and that, even at a nominal unit cost, filling would require billions of dollars.

Hydraulic stowage, or flushing, is the only practical method known at the present time for filling old mine voids. Such filling—pumping sludge through bore holes from the surface—involves many problems. Large mine areas have been abandoned, some as long as eighty years ago, and no one knows the exact location of the voids; maps are inaccurate or nonexistent. Many mine openings are inaccessible because of roof falls, and no one knows what conditions prevail. These same roof falls would prevent fill material from flowing. Some of the mined-out coal seams are on gentle pitches and material would not flow readily; other seams on steep pitches would require enormous amounts of fill material. A program designed to fill all mine voids in the coal fields of Pennsylvania would take years to complete, require huge amounts of material, cost enormous sums of money, and in the end would not assure that subsidence would not reoccur.

Selective stowage would seem to offer a sensible approach to the problem of reducing the damage from subsidence in the vicinity of old mine workings. Critical areas could be examined and prospected by drilling and/or by sonic methods, and the systematic lay-out of bore holes for the selected areas would prevent excessive moving of pumping stations. Sonic tests could be made to check progress. Such a program would require organized planning and direction by competent mining men familiar with local conditions.

In selective stowage, no special problem would be encountered in areas in which only one seam has been worked. Where several seams have been worked (as in certain areas of the anthracite region), the number and thickness of seams, the intervals between seams, the amount of coal left in place, and the location of the pillars would have to be taken into account. In these areas, local experience and coal company maps and records would be helpful. Pillars of coal are more likely to be offset in the successive seams rather than directly above each other from bottom to top. Since the normal procedure would be to fill the bottom seam first, there would be problems of casing throughout the voids in the top seams in order to carry the filling material to the bottom seam. If the voids were not aligned vertically, the holes would have to be moved to new locations for each successive seam.

There is always the possibility that the mined-out seams overlie other seams of as yet unmined coal. In such cases, flushing of the mined-out seams would be of limited value unless mineral and/or support rights covering these underlying seams could be simultaneously acquired, since mining under the area would negate the effectiveness of flushing the overlying seams in preventing subsidence.

Systematic selective stowage should be supplemented by systematic repairs to surface land and to the buildings and improvements on the land.

Land repairs will be dictated to a large extent by local conditions. In some areas, minor depressions and pot holes should be filled and leveled; in others, no improvement can be effected unless surface water is diverted or carried off to prevent saturation and erosion of the top soil. In the northern anthracite field, draining and ditching would be helpful in dealing with the special water problems presented by the extensive deposit of glacial till.

The type and location of buildings and improvements on the surface should be regulated. It is a well-known fact that very high and long, narrow buildings are more readily damaged by earth movements associated with subsidence than are low and broad-based buildings. Again, buildings of excessively rigid construction are more readily damaged by such movement than are those of flexible construction. A concrete mat or pile foundation provides greater resistance to subsidence damage than do the more conventional foundations. Finally, buildings located at right angles to an advancing line of subsidence have greater resistance than those set at lesser angles. All of these factors could be dealt with by the adoption of building code regulations, applicable to business and utility as well as private construction, in communities located in the vicinity of old mine workings.

Active Mine Workings

Mining operations can be conducted in such a manner as to minimize damage to surface property from subsidence. The means for reducing subsidence from present and future mining operations are available; the problems presented are those of economics and responsibility for support.

The primary method for modifying subsidence is that of systematic mining, by which the break of the mine roof and caving can be prevented during first mining and the action controlled in the process of second mining. Systematic mining is of two conventional types, called "room and pillar" and "longwall."

In room and pillar mining, commonly used in the United States, parallel openings, called "rooms," "chambers," or "breasts," are driven to a predetermined distance between solid coal on both sides, with temporary timber supporting the roof. When the distance is reached, retreat begins by robbing the pillar of solid coal farthest from the mine entrance.

The ends of the pillars being robbed are kept in a straight line in order to prevent uneven pressure from the unsupported roof from causing "creeps" or "squeezes" along the break-line. The purpose is to recover as much coal as can be recovered economically and safely.

Longwall mining is designed to recover all of the coal on first mining. The main feature is a long continuous face driven toward the boundary of the property (longwall advancing) or from the boundary toward the mine trance (longwall retreating). Men and machines along the face are protected by artificial support. Advocates of the longwall system claim to be able to control roof action so that the pressure is an aid in breaking down coal along the face. This method is in more general use in foreign countries, especially where mining is done under deep cover or extends beneath the sea.

Many modifications of these two basic methods are used, the adaptation dictated by local conditions and the judgment of the mining engineers in charge. Whatever method is adopted, the property must be laid out according to plan and the plan followed without deviation. Continuity of operation according to plan is probably the most effective method of preventing damage from surface subsidence. Systematic mining insures better recovery of coal with greater safety at less cost of production.

Regardless of the method used, the passageways between the coal face and the mine entrance—called "entries," "headings," or "gangways"—must be kept open while the mine is in operation, since these are the means of ingress and egress for all purposes. Roof support is accomplished by leaving solid pillars of coal or by supplementing the pillars with artificial supports, such as timber or steel framing, roof bolting, packwalling, and stowage or backfilling. Cribbing of brick, stone, or concrete is used where extra support becomes necessary.

The purpose of roof support is, or should be, to prevent the beginning of failure in the rock strata immediately overlying the coal seam. The first appearance of sag or cracking in the mine roof means that failure has begun; once failure begins, the impending fall may be delayed but not prevented. If there is no break, there can be no subsidence. Hence, the first step toward preventing subsidence must be adequate support of mine openings during first mining.

The second step is control of roof during the progress of second mining or retreat. This is accomplished either by leaving artificial supports in place as coal is removed or by leaving no supports at all. In low seams—of, say less than four feet—the practice is to take out every support, including small coal "stumps." The broken strata are then free to fall and fill the void, and equilibrium will be established before the break reaches the surface.

No absolutely dependable mathematical formula has been devised for calculating size of pillar or amount of backfill, packwall, or timber support which will prevent subsidence after mining. Solid coal pillars left in place are the most effective means known for supporting a mine roof. The size of pillar and intervals between pillars depend largely on judgment based on experience. Empirical rules for calculating coal pillars allow for such factors as height of seam, depth of cover, and resistance of coal to decomposition and roof pressure. For example, Dron's Rule for calculating the size of shaft pillars for circumscribing all surface buildings which are to be protected and leaving a pillar equal to the area inscribed and extending it to a distance beyond the line to one-third the depth of the mine shaft. This calculation is said to allow for normal excavations and passageways around the shaft bottom. Many similar rules are to be found in Peele's Mining Engineers Handbook.

The decision of whether or not to support the surface, either by leaving permanent pillars of coal or by using artificial supports, is a matter of economics, since in either case there are two valuable natural resources involved—coal and land. Coal left in place is lost forever; land destroyed by subsidence may never be productive again.

Coal pillars left in place reduce the return on the coal operator's investment, since, manifestly, he has less coal to sell and the useful life of his plant and equipment is shortened. The ready alternative seems to be to have the surface owner reimburse the operator for this loss of revenue by purchasing support. However, in many cases the purchase price would be prohibitive, because for all practical purposes it would involve acquisition not only of support but of all mineral rights. Forced to leave large areas of coal for support under heavily populated areas and farm and forest lands, a mine owner might abandon the operation as unprofitable.

With respect to the substitution of artificial for pillar support, it should be noted that the labor and materials used in artificial support of any kind add substantially to the cost of coal production. This is a serious matter to the commercial coal operator, who must sell his coal in competition with oil, gas, and other coal. And it may be taken for granted that the cost of artificial roof support will not be uniform. Variations in thickness and pitch of coal seam, depth and composition of overburden, and methods of mining would result in varying roof-support costs, which then would become a variable factor in competition among mines, among coal fields, and among states where coal is mined.

Subsidence of land following mining operations is a problem of considerable magnitude not only in Pennsylvania but in all states where extractive industries are conducted. From a mining engineer's point of view, a constructive approach to a solution of the problem would be the development of a comprehensive program, implemented by state legislation, in include:

1. Establishment of a liaison committee for the purpose of enlisting the support of other states and the federal government, and the creation of a clearing house, in Pennsylvania, to facilitate the assembling in one place of all available information bearing on the problem, now scattered about in various reports and records, and the dissemination of information to the public.

2. Continuous study by competent mining engineers to assure the orderly progress of efforts to minimize surface subsidence.

3. Codification of existing Pennsylvania laws relating to the exploitation and conservation of mineral and land resources.

A permanent solution to the problem of surface subsidence is certainly desirable, but inadequate or hasty measures will work more harm than benefit by placing coal operators and eventually the state of Pennsylvania in a position of economic disadvantage.

THE EFFECTIVENESS AND COST OF FLUSHING VOIDS CAUSED BY MINING OPERATIONS IN THE ANTHRACITE REGION

A Report to the Antharcite Subsidence Commission of 1941

Scranton, Pennsylvania, September 25, 1942.

ANTHRACITE SUBSIDENCE COMMISSION Appointed Under Act No. 295, P. L. 802, 1941.

Gentlemen:

Your honorable commission in the conduct of its investigation has previously referred to the process of flushing mine openings under the improved or "built-up" surface of the various municipalities in the Anthracite Region of Pennsylvania as a means of overcoming the objectionable surface disturbances attendant upon the removal of coal support. It is our purpose to call to your attention at this time only the so-called high spots involved in the process frequently referred to as hydraulic filling.

While there have been other methods employed in so-called backfilling of voids resulting from underground mining (pneumatic filling, hand packing or stowing, etc.), it is recognized that none of these are as effective as the hydraulic method. It was first employed in connection with anthracite mining in Pennsylvania some 50 years ago and has been carried on to a more or less extent ever since. However, it has never been conducted on a scale commensurate with the mine openings developed, for a number of obvious reasons; first, the lack of sufficient available material, and, second, the additional cost involved.

Reference has been made that the practice of backfilling mine openings in European countries has been used with success. We find, however, that the practise there has been no more general than that used in the anthracite region. And where used in Europe, particularly Germany, it has had specific application to more or less isolated cases and under Government direction and subsidy.

The anthracite region, as your commission now well knows, extends from Forest City, in the Lackawanna Valley on the northeast, to Dauphin County in the southwest, covering 485 square miles of superficial area over the lowest coal beds. There are many communities, cities and towns, located wholly or in part directly over the coal measures. Available figures indicate that 26% of the entire coal area is confined within the limits of these "builtup" communities, under which the original coal content is estimated to have been 5,000,000,000 gross tons in place. During the long period of mining operations since the beginning, extending over 125 years, it is roughly estimated that 50% of the original coal content under the improved areas as a whole has been removed. Much of this areas is now inaccessible and could not be flushed almost at any cost.

The voids resulting from this mining, together with that of future mining, would develop a volume of 4,424,000,000 cubic yards, the fill material for which would be sufficient to cover the surface of the entire anthracite region to a depth of 10 feet. The estimated cost of filling such openings would be an inconceivable figure of $7,278,000,000. This estimated cost of course is based upon present prices, ranging from $1.50 to $3.00 per cubic yard, depending upon the conditions encountered in the mine openings. It is also contingent upon having flushing material available at the mine opening on the surface, which is not the case under present day conditions.

It is obvious, of course, that no such volume of material is recoverable in the process of the preparation of run-of-mine material currently brought out of the mines, and it would be necessary, therefore, to obtain so-called foreign material for the purpose of flushing mine openings on a large scale. This question of finding material to supplement that produced through the preparation of anthracite coal has heretofore been treated in numerous investigations by commissions from the Federal and State Governments, company and private engineers.

The investigation of the mine conditions under the City of Scranton made by two eminent engineers, William Griffith and Eli T. Conner, and published in Bulletin 25 by the Federal Bureau of Mines, indicates "the excessive cost of completely filling the openings, and the tremendous magnitude of the project makes this plan prohibitive."

More recently the report covering a proposal to flush certain mine openings under the City of Scranton made under the direction of Mr. J. Rossa McCormack and other Scranton engineers, indicated the cost of flushing 8 separate areas to involve an expenditure approximating $50,000,000. The Federal authorities refused to appropriate such an amount of money for this purpose. It is to be noted that these reports confirm the excessive cost involved in a large scale flushing project.

The flushing of material into mine openings is no panacea for subsidence resulting from the removal of the underlying support of coal. Since it is a known fact, developed through elaborate tests, that such material is compressible to 33% of its original volume in place, the same is true in varying degrees with other types of support. Engineers and others engaged in operation are unanimously of the opinion that flushing has, as its asset, the chief function of providing lateral support to pillar coal by diminishing the disintegration of the pillar coal support. This is no new theory but one which has been demonstrated throughout the history of the industry. It is obvious, therefore, that the surface can be maintained only through leaving the coal support intact. It must be realized that not only is flushing an expensive procedure, uneconomical from an operating cost standpoint, but its application is attendent with hazards of varying degrees. The various coal beds are geologically formed on pitches ranging from light to heavy in the different basins throughout the region. On the lighter pitches the hazards involved are considerably less than those on the heavier pitches and consequently the factors with regard to cost of filling, drainage, ventilation, etc., are peculiar to the particular location.

It has been shown that flushing is beyond the economic limits of the industry and further that flushing will not provide the support necessary to prevent surface subsidence.

The only other alternate is to leave intact such pillars of coal as remain unmined under the various municipalities. Such procedure would, however, not prevent further subsidence which unquestionably will continue.

Furthermore, it must not be overlooked that the anthracite region, notwithstanding its relatively vast extent, is peculiarly and exclusively dependent upon the healthy condition of this particular industry through the employment of men, with consequent large payrolls, and those of corelated enterprises, and the vast amount of taxes paid to the municipalities in the region. Statistics show that the average tax income annually flowing into the treasuries of the various municipalties for the unmined coal lying under built-up areas ranges from $30 to $50 per superficial acre of surface, amounting to more than $3,000,000 in total. This income would be undoubtedly lost if it became necessary to discontinue mining operations and abandon the coal through legislation for the support of the surface. The local taxes paid locally is many times greater.

It is a matter of record that for more than thirty years in the immediate past, the problem of surface subsidence incident to mining has been given serious consideration by the industry, the engineering profession and the public, and no complete solution has as yet been found.

SUBSIDENCE AND THE LAW

The first Pennsylvania court case involving the question of liability for property damage resulting from subsidence due to the extraction of coal was the case of Jones v. Wagner, 66 Pa. 429, (1870). In this case the surface was owned by one person and the underlying coal by another. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania adopted the rule of the common law of England which was that "where there is no restriction or contract to the contrary, the subterranean or mining property is subservient to the surface to the extent of sufficient supports to sustain the latter, or in default, there is liability to damages by the owners or workers of the former for any injury consequent thereon to the latter." (Emphasis supplied.) The court stated that "the owner of a mineral estate, if the law be not controlled by the conveyance, owes a servitude to the superincumbent estate, of sufficient supports; consequently the failure to do so is negligence, and so may be declared upon," and held the operators liable because the damages had resulted from the lack of "sufficient supports in the mine to prevent the plaintiff's ground, house and orchard, from injury by subsiding into the cavity made in the earth by the removal of of the coal."

But the court also observed:

We have no doubt but all the evils deprecated by the adoption of this rule will disappear under regulations adapted to each case of severance of the soil from the minerals. Contract may devote the whole minerals to the enjoyment of the purchaser, without supports, if the parties choose. [Emphasis supplied.] If not, the loss by maintaining pillars or putting in props will necessarily come out of the value of the mineral estate.

A long line of cases followed the rule set forth in the above case in imposing on the mine owner or operator an absolute duty of support of (1) the surface above the mine and (2) the artificial additions (buildings, etc.) erected, unless the duty of vertical support has been effectively released. Coleman v. Chadwick, 80 Pa. 81, (1875); Carlin v. Chappel, 101 Pa. 348, (1882).

The principle that three estates may exist in land—namely, (1) the surface, (2) the minerals, and (3) the right of support—and that each of these may be vested in different persons at the same time was recognized and approved in the cases of Graff Furnace Company v. Scranton Coal Company, 244 Pa. 592, (1914); Penman v. Jones, 256 Pa. 416, (1917); and Charnetski v. Miners Mills Coal Mining Company, 270 Pa. 459, (1921). It was held that the owner of the surface could not recover from the owner of the coal vein for any damages resulting from subsidence where there had been a waiver of such support: Scranton v. Phillips, 94 Pa. 15, (1880); Young v. Thompson, 272 Pa. 360, (1922). Similarly, the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions are bound by effective waivers as to surface support when given by prior owners: Commonwealth v. Clearview, 256 Pa. 328, (1917). However, the Commonwealth is not bound by such a waiver if it takes the land by condemnation: Commonwealth v. Pardee Brothers, 310 Pa. 353, (1933). See 1933, June 1, P. L. 1409.

In addition to the possibility of there being three separate estates in the same parcel of land, there may be various seams of coal in the same estate, each seam owned by a different person, but by the very nature of the circumstances and necessities, mining operations must be conducted so as not to interfere with either the underlying or overlying seam owners or operators, and " 'in the absence of a release or waiver of support, mining operations must be so conducted as to leave intact the superincumbent estate.' " Pa. C. & C. Corp. v. Duncan-Spangler Company, 132 Pa. Superior Ct. 533, (1938).

The General Assembly of Pennsylvania took official cognizance of the subsidence problem of 1911, when, by joint resolution, a commission was formed to study physical conditions and the legal problems related thereto, and to propose remedial legislation.[1] This commission in 1913 made a report on existing conditions[2] to the legislature and proposed two bills, neither of which imposed any duties of surface support on mine operators. Neither of the proposed bills was adopted, but the General Assembly passed an act making it unlawful for mine operators to mine in such a manner as to remove necessary adequate support from beneath streets, avenues, thoroughfares, courts, alleys, and public highways of any municipal corporation.[3] Specifically, the act provided:

Sec. 4701.

Section 6. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, association, or corporation to dig, mine, remove, or carry away the coal, rock, earth, or other minerals or materials forming the natural support of the surface, beneath the streets, avenues, thoroughfares, courts, alleys, places, and public highways of any municipal corporation within this Commonwealth, to such an extent and in such a manner as to thereby remove the necessary adequate support of the surface against subsidence, without having first placed, built, erected, and constructed sufficient adequate and permanent artificial support, in place and stead thereof, to maintain, uphold, and preserve the stability of the surface of said streets, avenues, thoroughfares, courts, alleys, places, and public highways.

[3] 1913, July 26, P. L. 1439. Repealed as to cities of the third class by Act of 1931, June 23, P. L. 932, Art. XLVII,

This same act permitted municipal corporations in the anthracite region of the Commonwealth to create bureaus of mine inspection and surface support, vesting in the bureaus powers of mine inspection and requiring mine owners, operators, or superintendents to file with the bureaus maps or plans of their workings or excavations.

In 1915, similar provisions were enacted relating specifically to boroughs in the anthracite region and the 1913 act was repealed as it applied to them.[4]

In 1921, the legislature extended the scope of this prior legislation by making it unlawful to conduct antharcite mining operations in such a manner as to cause the caving-in, collapse, or subsidence of: public structures, streets, roads bridges, public service facilities, cemeteries, or private structures used for habitation or for commercial or industrial purposes.[5]

Under the provisions of the act, commonly known as the Kohler Act, the Court of Common Pleas of Luzerne County was asked by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Mahon to restrain the Pennsylvania Coal Company from mining any coal underlying their property in the City of Pittston, "the removal of which will cause the caving-in, collapse or subsidence of their dwelling house." The Luzerne County court denied relief to the Mahons on the grounds that the coal company not only had acquired title to the coal but had also obtained a waiver of support of the surface and hence was under no liability for injury thereby inflicted.

Though this decision was in accord with the decisions previously handed down, the city solicitor of Scranton and the Attorney General of the Commonwealth intervened and the case came to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, where its importance became more evident because the court considered that it involved not only the Mahons, as the lower court had regarded it, but the interest of the entire anthracite region of the state, including many villages, boroughs, and cities, containing, the court's opinion estimated, approximately a million people.[6] It had, according to the Supreme Court, "become a matter of widespread notoriety that these disturbances menace the safety and material welfare of the inhabitants of communities in that part of the state." The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania opinion continued:

During the period mentioned [the previous fifteen or twenty years], the facts have been put before the public, not only by news of the collapse of streets and the fall of buildings, but also through the reports of commissions created by joint resolutions of the legislature and by means of numerous proposed statutes, antedating the present law, some of which passed and others did not; likewise, by messages from the governor of the Commonaddressed to the general assembly.

The opinion also pointed out that the conditions that gave rise to the Act of 1921, May 27, P. L. 1198, were summarized in the preamble to the act, and added:

In signing the bill, the governor stated of record that "lives have been lost, homes, churches and schools destroyed, and an ever-present peril has threatened the morale of the entire community"; adding, "for a generation the appeal . . . to save the situation has been heard at the capital."

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court held that theretofore subsidence cases had been decided on the grounds that they involved private interests between the parties concerned, whereas the act in question was directed to halting a public nuisance; that the mining operations of the defendant coal company were a public nuisance and hence the exercise of the police power to prevent such a nuisance was a proper exercise of that power.

As to the contractual rights of the parties, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court held:

It was the harmful results, to the community as a whole, of contracts granting the right to let down the surface under any and all circumstances, that gave rise to the statute now attacked; and the power to enforce the public policy of the State, declared in this legislation, cannot be defeated because those who move the court [the Mahons] are parties to such a contract.

The Pennsylvania Coal Company took an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States; the case there takes the name of Pennsylvania Coal Company v. Mahon, 260 U. S. 393, (1922). The opinion of the U.S. Supreme Court stated:

A source of damage to such a house [the Mahons'] is not a public nuisance even if similar damage is inflicted on others in different places. The damage is not common or public. . . . The protection of private property in the Fifth Amendment presupposes that it is wanted for public use, but provides that it shall not be taken for such use without compensation. A similar assumption is made in the decisions upon the Fourteenth Amendment. . . . When this seemingly absolute protection is found to be qualified by the police power, the natural tendency of human nature is to extend the qualification more and more until at last private property disappears. But that cannot be accomplished in this way under the Constitution of the United States.[7]

Under the decision of the U.S. Supreme Court, the 1921 Pennsylvania act dealing with the subsidence problem was declared unconstitutional.

The 1921 General Assembly had also passed an act known as the Fowler Act, which established the State Anthracite Mine Cave Commission and gave it jurisdiction over anthracite coal miners.[8] Mine owners or operators who accepted the provisions of the act were required to pay the commission two percent of the market price of all anthracite coal mined. (Corporations organized and foreign corporations admitted after the effective date of the act were presumed to consent to be bound by its provisions.) The commission was directed to use the moneys for: (1) expenses of the commission; (2) payments to persons injured or damaged in person or property by mining operations; and (3) payments for the prevention of threatened injury or damage to persons or property by surface subsidence resulting from anthracite coal mining operations.

The Commission had but one set of members: James B. Smith, Scranton; Philip R. Bevan, Wilkes-Barre; and

Thomas H. B. Lyon, who died May 13, 1922. While the two surviving members were renominated by Governor Sproul on January 2, 1923, for terms beginning November 23, 1921, until annulled,[9] Governor Pinchot, on January 16, 1923, recalled all of the many nominations made by Governor Sproul, including the nominations of the two members of the commission. While the act creating the commission was in no way involved in the litigation of the Pennsylvania Coal Company v. Mahon, for some reason or other members were never appointed after Governor Pinchot's recall of the nominations. No report of the commission has been found, and the agency was finally abolished by section 2 of the Administrative Code (1929, April 9, P. L. 177); no similar commission has since been created.

When the Department of Welfare was created in 1921, it was given specific authority to exercise its supervision over various systems of payments, including "any system of reparation provided by the Commonwealth for the relief from conditions caused by mine-caves."[10]

A 1927 act continued the authority of boroughs in the anthracite region to establish bureaus of mine inspection and surface support. These bureaus were given full power of inspection, and section 1160 of the act made it unlawful for any one to so "dig, mine, remove or carry coal, rock, earth or other minerals or materials forming the natural support of the surface beneath the public highways, streets, alleys, courts, and places of any borough in the anthracite region to such an extent and in such a manner as to thereby remove the necessary support of the surface, without having first placed or constructed an artificial permanent support sufficient to uphold and preserve the stability of the surface of such public highways, streets, alleys, courts, and places."[11]

Similarly, a 1931 act extended the authority of third class cities in anthracite regions to establish bureaus of mine inspection and surface support with powers similar to those set forth above.[12]

In 1937, a statute was enacted making it unlawful to mine bituminous coal in such a "negligent" manner as to cause the caving-in, collapse, or subsidence of surface property located in counties of the second class.[13] The scope and purpose of this act are identical to the Act of 1921, May 27, P. L. 1198, which is reproduced in Appendix D.

In 1949 the General Assembly authorized all political subdivisions to "acquire by donation, agreement, lease, purchase, or the exercise of the power of eminent domain . . . any pillars in any anthracite or bituminous coal mine or any other necessary support of the surface over and above such mine . . . necessary to prevent subsidence, collapse or caving-in of the surface or structures thereon which may result from anthracite or bituminous coal mining operations."[14] This act meets the requirements of the U. S. Supreme Court decision with reference to the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments.

No awards shall be paid to any such claimant, except upon condition that such claimant execute a general release of all past damages to the particular porperty injured or damaged in favor of the owner or operator whose workings occasion the damage, provided said owner or operator has accepted the provisions of section eight of this act.

Mining under structures, highways, etc.

Section 14. Every owner or operator who has accepted the provisions of section eight of this act shall be privileged, at any time, to submit to the commission an application, setting forth details of proposed mining operations to recover coal belonging to the applicant and located beneath a structure, highway, or other improvement of a class protected against subsidence by the provisions of the act of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, entitled "An act regulating the mining of anthracite coal; prescribing duties for certain municipal officers; and imposing penalties." DECISION OF THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT RELATING TO MINE SUBSIDENCE

[Penna. Coal Co. v. Mahon, 260 U. S. 393 (1922)]

This is a bill in equity brought by the defendants in error to prevent the Pennsylvania Coal Company from mining under their property in such a way as to remove the supports and cause a subsidence of the surface and of their house. The bill sets out a deed executed by the Coal Company in 1878, under which the plaintiffs claim. The deed conveys the surface, but in express terms reserves the right to remove all the coal under the same, and the grantee takes the premises with the risk, and waives all claim for damages that may arise from mining out the coal. But the plaintiffs say that whatever may have been the Coal Company's rights, they were taken away by an Act of Pennsylvania, approved May 27, 1921, P. L. 1198, commonly known there as the Kohler Act. The Court of Common Pleas found that if not restrained the defendant would cause the damage to prevent which the bill was brought, but denied an injunction, holding that the statute if applied to this case would be unconstitutional. On appeal the Supreme Court of the State agreed that the defendant had contract and property rights protected by the Constitution of the United States, but held that the statute was a legitimate exercise of the police power and directed a decree for the plaintiffs. A writ of error was granted bringing the case to this Court.

The statute forbids the mining of anthracite coal in such way as to cause the subsidence of, among other things, any structure used as a human habitation, with certain exceptions, including among them land where the surface is owned by the owner of the underlying coal and is distant more than one hundred and fifty feet from any improved property belonging to any other person. As applied in this case the statute is admitted to destroy previously existing rights of property and contract. The question is whether the police power can be stretched so far.

Government hardly could go on if to some extent values incident to property could not be diminished without paying for every such change in the general law. As long recognized, some value are enjoyed under an implied limitation and must yield to the police power. But obviously the implied limitation must have its limits, or the contract and due process clauses are gone. One fact for consideration in determining such limits is the extent of the diminuation. When it reaches a certain magnitude, in most if not in all cases there must be an exercise of eminent domain and compensation to sustain the act. So the question depends upon the particular facts. The greatest weight is given to the judgment of the legislature, but it always is open to interested parties to contend that the legislature has gone beyond its constitutional power.

This is the case of a single private house. No doubt there is a public interest even in this, as there is in every purchase and sale and in all that happens within the commonwealth. Some existing rights may be modified even in such a case. Rideout v. Knox, 148 Mass. 368. But usually in ordinary private affairs the public interest does not warrant much of this kind of interference. A source of damage to such a house is not a public nuisance even if similar damage is inflicted on others in different places. The damage is not common or public. Wesson v. Washburn Iron Co., 13 Allen, 95, 103. The extent of the public interest is shown by the statute to be limited, since the statute ordinarily does not apply to land when the surface is owned by the owner of the coal. Furthermore, it is not justified as a protection of personal safety. That could be provided for by notice. Indeed the very foundation of this bill is that the defendant gave timely notice of its intent to mine under the house. On the other hand the extent of the taking is great. Its purports to abolish what is recognized in Pennsylvania as an estate in land—a very valuable estate—and what is declared by the Court below to be a contract hitherto binding the plaintiffs. If we were called upon to deal with the plaintiffs' position lone, we should think it clear that the statute does not disclose a public interest sufficient to warrant so extensive a destruction of the defendant's constitutionality protected rights.

But the case has been treated as one in which the general validity of the act should be discussed. The Attorney General of the State, the City of Scranton, and the representatives of other extensive interests were allowed to take part in the argument below and have submitted their contensions here. It seems, therefore, to be our duty to go farther in the statement of our opinion, in order that it may be known at once, and that further suits should not be brought in vain.

It is our opinion that the act cannot be sustained as an exercise of the police power, so far as it affects the mining of coal understreets or cities in places where the right to mine such coal has been reserved. As said in the Pennsylvania case, "For practical purposes, the right to coal consists in the right to mine it." Commonwealth v. Clearview Coal Co., 256 Pa. St. 328, 331. What makes the right to mine coal valuable is that it can be exercised with profit. To make it commercially impracticable to mine certain coal has very nearly the same effect for constitutional purposes as appropriating or destroying it. This we think that we are warranted in assuming that the statute does.

It is true that in Plymouth Coal Co. v. Pennsylvania, 232 U. S. 531, it was held competent for the legislature to require a pillar of coal to be left along the line of adjoining property, that, with the pillar on the other side of the line, would be barrier sufficient for the safety of the employees of either mine in case the other should be abandoned and allowed to fill with water. But that was a requirement for the safety of employees invited into the mine, and secured an average reciprocity of advantage that has been recognized as a justification of various laws.

The rights of the public in a street purchased or laid out by eminent domain are those that it has paid for. If in any case its representatives have been so short sighted as to acquire only surface rights without the right of support, we see no more authority for supplying the later without compensation than there was for taking the right of way in the first place and refusing to pay for it because the public wanted it very much. The protection of private property in the Fifth Amendment presupposes that it is wanted for public use, but provides that it shall not be taken for such use without compensation. A similar assumption is made in the decisions upon the Fourteenth Amendment. Hairston v. Danville & Western Ry. Co., 208 U. S. 598, 605. When this seemingly absolute protection is found to be qualified by the police power, the natural tendency of human nature is to extend the qualification more and more until at last private property disappears. But that cannot be accomplished in this way under the Constitution of the United States.

The general rule at least is, that while property may be regulated to a certain extent, if regulation goes too far it will be recognized as a taking. It may be doubted how far exceptional cases, like the blowing up of a house to stop a conflagration, go—and if they go beyond the general rule, whether they do not stand as much upon tradition as upon principle. Bowditch v. Boston, 101 U. S. 16. In general it is not plain that a man's misfortunes or necessities will justify his shifting the damages to his neighbor's shoulders. Spade v. Lynn & Boston R. R. Co., 172 Mass. 488, 489. We are in danger of forgetting that a strong public desire to improve the public condition is not enough to warrant achieving the desire by a shorter cut than the constitutional way of paying for the change. As we already have said, this is a question of degree—and therefore cannot be disposed of by general propositions.But we regard this as going beyond any of the cases decided by this Court. The late decisions upon laws dealing with the congestion of Washington and New York, caused by the war, dealt with laws intended to meet a temporary emergency and providing for compensation determined to be reasonable by an impartial board. They went to the verge of the law but fell far short of the present act. Block v. Hirsch, 256 U. S. 135. Marcus Brown Holding Co. v. Feldman, 256 U. S. 170. Levy Leasing Co. v. Siegel, 258 U. S. 242.

We assume, of course, that the statute was passed upon the conviction that an exigency existed that would warrant it, and we assume that an exigency exists that would warrant the exercise of eminent domain. But the question at bottom is upon whom the loss of the changes desired should fall. So far as private persons or communities have seen fit to take the risk of acquiring only surface rights, we cannot see that the fact that their risk has become a danger warrants the giving to them greater rights than they bought.

COMMISSION ON GOVERNMENTAL REORGANIZATION
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

To the Honorable the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Pursuant to the Act of 1955, July 7, P. L. 256, the Commission on Governmental Reorganiaztion is pleased to submit for your consideration several recommendations relating to

Administrative Organization and Public Buildings

1. Authorize the Governor to employ an adequate number of administrative assistants, not exceeding six, to function as coordinators of related departments and agencies. Constitute these officers, along with the Governor, as the Executive Board. Change the name of the Office of Administration to the Office of Administrative Management, and recognize its existence by statute.

Administrative operations may usefully be divided into three classes: line, managerial, and staff. Line activities are those for which the agency was created, like building roads, inoculating babies, and propagating fish. Manageriel functions are "housekeeping" operations made necessary by line activities but which in themselves are not primary, like accounting, budgetmaking, personnel administration, purchasing, and care of buildings. Staff functions relate to non-routine planning and to evaluation of existing programs, like preparing a reorganization plan, drafting the Governor's messages to the General Assembly, and planning a campaign to attract new industries to the state.

It is most important that each of these three administrative operations be properly organized in the executive branch of the government of a great state like Pennsylvania.

At present, staff functions are performed by advisers called in from time to time by the Governor. The identity of these advisers necessarily varies according to the task at hand. The Governor has had the benefit of advice not only from the members of his immediate executive family but from persons (in both parties) who occupy responsible positions in the cultural and economic life of the Commonwealth.

Managerial functions are discharged presently by the Department of Property and Supplies and the Office of Administration. The services provided by these two agencies are now well in hand, and no change is needed except to transfer the work of the Bureau of Program Evaluation in the Office of Administration to the organization described below. To make its role as clear as possible, the name of the Office of Administration should be changed to the Office of Administrative Management.

It is the line organization of the state government which is in urgent need of reorganization. The principal difficulty is that the Governor has too many, and too many different kinds of, officials to supervise. Some of these officials are appointed by him and directly responsible to him, some are semi-independent, and some are completely independent, but in the minds of the public the Governor is responsible for proper performance by all of them.

The Reorganization Commission is not recommending that independent agencies be brought under the direct control of the Governor, but we believe that the Governor should have better facilities to keep informed about the operations of these agencies.

All authorities in the science of public and business administration recognize that no executive, whether he is Governor, corporation president, Mayor, or President of the United States, can effectively supervise between 30 and 40 agencies. A fifth of this number is generally considered to be the most efficient span of control.

It would not be feasible at this time to try to create six clusters of departments, each under an Administrator, placed between the Governor and the department heads. But the Governor should have a sufficient number of skilled administrative assistant, to coordinate the work of related departments.

These officers should be professional or sefi-professional, both in their training and in the discharge of their duties. Thus the administrative assistant who would act as coordinator in the field of economics should be trained in economics, the corresponding officer in the field of public works and conservation should be trained in engineering or conservation, the corresponding officer in the field of welfare would be trained in social welfare, and so on.

The salary of these coordinators normally should be somewhat lower than the current rate for department heads. This disparity would emphasize their role as representatives of the Governor rather than as direct command officers.

Since these six officers would be acquainted with all activities in the Executive Branch, they should also serve as the Executive Board (along with the Governor), replacing the present Board.

This recommendation does not contemplate that department heads would be separated from the Governor; it means merely that the department heads as well as the Governor would have a liaison officer to coordinate related programs and that the Governor and the department heads would have a mutual spokesman and contact agent.

The General Assembly should not be deterred by this increase in the Governor's budget. It is fully expected that these officers will save their salaries many times over.

2. Eliminate the independent office of State Treasurer and merge the functions of that office and those of the Department of Revenue in a Department of the Treasury, under the Governor.

It is generally acknowledged that officers who have no discretionary powers should be appointed. Moreover, the typical State Treasurer, because he is popularly elected, feels that he must introduce checks and audits, which are properly the work of the Auditor General. This duplication can be avoided and large savings effected if functions relating to the collection, custody, and disbursement of funds can be consolidated in one department, and post-auditing is done only by the Auditor General.

The Commission recognizes that there must be a strong officer, independent of the Governor, to act as a watchdog on expenditures. One such strong officer is enough, however. Checks now performed by both the Treasurer and the Auditor General constitute an unnecessary expense.

This and the following change require, of course, amendments to the State Constitution.

3. Discontinue the separate elective status of the Secretary of Internal Affairs and provide for the appointment of that officer by the Governor

The work of this department might well have been strengthened through the years if it had been under the direction of the Governor. Whatever reasons seemed good in 1873 to confer an independent status upon this department are not valid today. The character of the functions of the Department of Internal Affairs does not justify a status different from that of any of the executive departments.

After this department has been given the same status as the other departments, an examination should be made of the wisdom of transferring functions into and out of it, so as to make its bureaus and divisions more closely related. An excellent case could be made making the Department of Internal Affairs into a Department of Local Government, and transferring into such a department the functions presently scattered among many agencies. Local governments could then know where to go to obtain the help and guidance they deserve.

4. Stagger the appointment of the members of the boards and commissions names below so that an interval of time elapses between each appointment which is equivalent or roughly equivalent to the number of years in the term divided by the number of members. (Thus if a board is composed of five members and the term is ten years, an appointment should be made every two years.)

Securities Commission.
Examining and Licensing Boards.
Industrial Board.
Parole Board.
Council for the Blind.
Tax Equalization Board.
Trustees of State Institutions (except Trustees of State Mental and general institutions and State Teachers Colleges which will be in accord with this recommendation after 1965).
Workmens' Compensation Board.
Art Commission.
Battlefield and Park Commissions.
Council of Education.
Historical and Musuem Commission.

Boards and commissions are used in state governments for a number of reasons, one of which is to provide continuity of policy through acquisition of experience. This purpose is defeated, however, if all of the members of the board or commission have concurrent terms.

In making this recommendation, the Reorganization Commission does not wish to circumscribe or curtail the right of the Governor to make removals, where he now possesses the right. In the case of removals, it is intended that the Governor would appoint the successor (to the member removed) for the remainder of the term, not for a full term.

5. Provide that the position of member of any of the boards and commissions named below shall become vacant automatically if the member is absent from three consecutive meetings without a reason deemed to be a "good reason" as set forth in the agency's rules.

State Board of Public Assistance.
County Boards of Assistance.
Banking Board.
Building and Loan Board.
Securities Commission.
Examining and Licensing Boards.
Industrial Board.
Labor Relations Board.
Parole Board.
Council for the Blind.
Tax Equalization Board.
Trustees of State Institutions (except Trustees of State Mental and general institutions and State Teachers Colleges which will be in accord with this recommendation after 1965).
Unemployment Compensation Board of Review.
Workmen's Compensation Board.
Aeronautics Commission.
Art Commission.
Battlefield and Park Commissions.
Council of Education.
Civil Service Commission.
Fish Commission.
Game Commission.
Historical and Musuem Commission.
Milk Control Commission.
Public Utility Commission.

The purpose of this recommendation is to compel a board member to contribute to the work of the agency or to dissociate himself. Moreover, absenteeism perceptibly reduces the morale of the more conscientious members.

6. Lengthen the terms of the members of the Milk Control Commission from four years to six.

The basic purpose in assigning an administration function to an independent commission is to free that administrative function from interference or domination by the chief executive. A term of our years or less, however, allows the Governor to name the entire commission before his own term expires.

It is intended that the increase in the length of the term will affect only those members who will be appointed after the date of the change.

7. Create an Archives program, with appropriate facilities, where irreplaceable documents may be protected from destruction.

If Harrisburg were to be visited by a holocaust, property titles, industrial and commercial charters, legal documents, and millions of other invaluable papers would be destroyed.

The General Assembly might well name a committee, to make a survey and see at first hand the precarious security of our most important records.

8. Establish in the Department of Property and Supplies an Office of State Architect, which would develop uniform standards and specifications and approve, revise, or disapprove all plans for buildings erected or subsidized by any agency of the state, and which would supervise construction and check specifications. Attach to this Office, in an advisory role, the State Art Commission.

At present, the jurisdiction of architects and inspectors connected with the several departments and authorities is not clear. Considerable unnecessary duplication exists, both among architects and inspectors, hence this change would save money as well as expedite operations. Difficulty is encountered in assembling an adequate technical staff for all of these agencies. This change would terminate such functions in the Department of Public Instruction, the General State Authority, the State Public School Building Authority, and the State Art Commission.

The Department of Property and Supplies would be suitably compensated by the agency for whom the construction is instituted.

9. Designate the Department of Property and Supplies as the agency to keep in repair all buildings used by units of the state government, where the units are too small to support full-time maintenance staffs.

This recommendation does not contemplate that the pertinent budget items will be transferred from the operating departments to the Department of Property and Supplies. It is expected that this department will be compensated by the departments obtaining its services.

To avoid idle times and part-time use of employes, it is recommended that maintenance districts be established over the state.

The Commission wishes to make a distinction between maintenance of properties and janitorial duties. Cleaning, heating, and related functions should not be assumed by the Department of Property and Supplies.

It is anticipated that the Governor's Office would make the determination as to which units are too small to support full-time maintenance staffs. Some agencies use employes for a variety of purposes, one of which is small-scale maintenance, and hence achieve a full-time status for them. These operations would not be disturbed by this change.

10. Raise the limit on the cost of repair and maintenance which can be instituted by operating departments without formal bids and contracts from $4,000 to $12,000.

The figure of $4,000 was fixed by the General Assembly in the 1920's. Since that time construction costs have risen considerably with the result that the Department of Property and Supplies is compelled to go through cumbersome bid procedures on what are now small repairs. This was not the intention of the original legislation.

11. Abolish the State Armory Board and the State Military Reservation Commission and transfer their functions to the Department of Military Affairs, under the Adjutant General.

Actions by the Board deal with repairs to armories and are now perfunctory. The Commission, was created to establish the Indiantown Gap Reservation, which mission has now been accomplished.

Commission of Governmental Reorganization
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

To the Honorable the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Pursuant to the Act of 1955, July 7, P. L. 256, the Commission on Governmental Reorganization is pleased to submit for your consideration several recommendations relating to

Public Health

1. Enact legislation to provide for an integrated school health program. The technical content of the medical, dental, nursing, and sanitary portions of the program should be prescribed by, and under the general direction of, the Secretary of Health, and the administration and supervision of the educational and teaching aspects should be the responsibility of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The present school health program is neither functionally nor administratively integrated and places undue emphasis upon periodic, regularly scheduled medical examinations. It is recommended that the new school health program include medical and dental examination of each child on entry into the school system and in grades six and eleven; vision and hearing tests, height and weight measurements, and a chest X-ray; use of medical questionnaires; and maintenance of a comprehensive health record for each child, including the results of the foregoing examinations, tests, and measurements and the child's attendance and scholastic achievement records.

2. Assign to the Department of Health the responsibility for the sanitary protection of the processing of food destined for human consumption, and the enforcement of laws concerning ingredients. In the case of milk, the jurisdiction of the Department should begin at the time the milk reaches the collecting point or processing plant. The Department of Agriculture should continue to inspect milk on the farm and enroute to the collecting point or processing plant.

The purpose underlying this recommendation is to give the Department of Health complete responsibility for the inspection of processed food (for human consumption) and to leave in the Department of Agriculture the function of maintaining standards in feed (for animal consumption). The functions proposed to be transferred are in the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry; it is not proposed to change the status or functions of the Bureaus of Plant and of Animal Industry.

The emphasis presently placed by the Department of Agriculture in the inspection of food (bakery products, butter, non-alcoholic drinks, coffee, milk, fruit syrups, ice cream, sausage, etc.) relates to the specifications of ingredients rather than to cleanliness in preparation. The Commission believes that inspectors working in a Department of Health would be more likely to emphasize purity and sanitation.

3. Amend Act No. 315, approved 24 August 1951, to make mandatory by 1 January 1962, single-county health districts in counties of more than 60,000 population. Allow smaller counties to create single-county or multi-county units.

Cities of 80,000 population or over should have the option of being included within the jurisdiction of the pertinent county Health Department, or of establishing a separate Health Department under the same standards that are applicable to a county Health Department.

In accordance with a flexible formula of state aid, counties or municipalities should be required to levy taxes toward the financial support of health departments.

Lower jurisdictions within counties should be authorized and permitted, if they desire, to retain jurisdiction over the abatement of nuisances, general cleanliness of streets and buildings, pest control, and similar "community housekeeping" services; and to employ persons designated as Sanitation Officers to carry out these functions, provided that they be carried out under minimum standards of performance established by county or multi-county Boards of Health.

4. Institute in the Bureau of Industrial Hygiene in the Department of Health a vigorous, aggressive program to prevent occupational diseases, this program to emphasize enforcement rather than research.

Industrial environmental hygiene is a primary concern of health authorities, although the Department of Labor and Industry has a close interest in working conditions.

If the health of workers is not the overriding consideration (and legislators will all agree that it is), we must face the tremendous financial burden (estimated at $20,000,000 per biennium) of state assistance to the victims of disease caused by bad working conditions.

Research has progressed far enough for us to know that the present problem is one of enforcement. The purpose represented by this recommendation is not to distinue research but to take affirmative and prompt action to correct the evils we know to exist.

5. Transfer to the State Police the responsibility of enforcing the narcotic laws, except in 1st and 2nd class cities, and retain in the Department of Health only the medical and rehabilitative aspects of the drug problem.

The primary responsibility of the Department of Health in the rehabilitation of drug addicts should of course not be questioned, but a problem exists in the regulation of drug vending.

It is here proposed that Health authorities will continue to audit the records and inspect the sales of vendors, and that it will turn over to the State Police all cases justifying investigation and prosecution.

COMMISSION ON GOVERNMENTAL REORGANIZATION
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

To the Honorable the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Pursuant to the Act of 1955, July 7, P. L. 256, the Commission on Governmental Reorganization is pleased to submit for your consideration several recommendations relating to

Public Instruction

1. Discontinue the State Public School Building Authority and transfer to the General State Authority all of its functions except those connected with the liquidation of outstanding bonds. Lease buildings to the Department of Property and Supplies.

If a school district fails to make its convenanted payments to the Department of Property and Supplies, that Department should so inform the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of Public Instruction should have no choice but to divert to the Department of Property and Supplies enough of the subsidy designated for the school district to amortize the building.

Instead of having two authorities doing much the same kind of work in constructing buildings and renting them to the state, the financing of school buildings and the contracting for their construction might well be handled by the General State Authority (existing law permits the GSA to construct school buildings), which would rent all such buildings to the Department of Property and Supplies, which in turn would sub-lease them to school districts. Some of the staff of the SPSBA would be transferred to the General State Authority, although in a consolidation some reduction in inspectional and accounting staffs, for example, as well as in travel costs, would seem to be possible.

The present architectural and engineering staff from the SPSBA probably could be used in the unit proposed for the Department of Property and Supplies. By consolidating the design approval work in the Department, any overlapping between the SPSBA and the Department would be alleviated.

One further chance for saving as a result of having the financing done by the General State Authority is that the present requirements for excess coverage and debt service reserve funds in connection with the SPSBA bonds probably would be eliminated.

An added advantage of this proposed plan, from the point of view of the school districts using the state authority plan, would be their need to deal with only one main state agency rather than two.

If the earlier recommendation looking toward the discontinuation of authorities is accepted, this recommendation must be amended accordingly.

2. Provide the Comptroller of the Department of Public Instruction with an adequate pre-audit staff, so that he may safeguard the expenditure of the hundreds of millions of dollars appropriated as subsidies to school districts, and authorize the Department to compel districts to submit appropriate and uniform records.

Aside from building and salary subsidies, a large sum of money is spent by the Commonwealth—about $15,000,000 a year—for the transportation of pupils. But it is spent solely on the basis of information reported by the districts. There is no staff available for verifying the accuracy of the reports on such matters as the capacity of the buses used, the number of miles driven, or possible duplication of routes. It is admitted that undoubtedly the Department pays for the transportation of some pupils not covered by the laws.

Payments of subsidies by the state for extension education likewise are made with almost no verifying of local figures on the number of classes, students, and hours.

A thorough check on all such local reports would not be practicable, but it is recommended that the Department staff should be of sufficient size to permit spot checks.

3. Remove from the State Council of Education all administrative and adjudicatory functions and emphasize that its role is to advise the General Assembly, the Governor, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction on policy matters. (It should be adequately staffed for this purpose.) Limit the boards attached to the state teachers colleges to the same advisory role.

At present, the time of the members of the Council is pre-empted by endless details and administrative minutiae, such as approval of changes in districts, designation of forms of reports, determination of manner of spending of local funds, and borrowing money for residences of teachers and janitors, etc.

To emphasize and implement this change, these boards should elect their own Chairman, and the Superintendent and the college presidents should not be members of their pertinent boards.

To enable the Council to study the educational scene effectively, it should be staffed with an Executive Director, a public finance specialist, a statistician, and a clerk.

The Council should meet once a month for ten months, instead of once every two months during the school year.

4. Create a State Library Commission, lodged for administrative purposes in the Department of Public Instruction, which would choose a State Librarian and exercise general control over the State Library.

The General Assembly should also prescribe a set of objectives for the Library, that is, determine whether it is primarly to serve the local community, or the state as a whole, or the General Assembly, or the executive branch.

At the present time the Library is to a considerable extent a ship without a sail or rudder. Most states administer their library program through a commission; and librarians in Pennsylvania believe a commission should supervise it.

A recent organization chart for the Department of Public Instruction shows the general library and the law library reporting to two different departmental deputies. The law library is said to be an excellent professional library, although used very little. The general library resembles a city library; it is not rendering the services that it might. The two libraries should be combined under the proposed Commission, and a Librarian and augmented staff appointed as early as possible.

The Library should be reorganized and strengthened both in its collections and staff, in order to take care of immediate and future needs. The development of a strong, professional staff is essential. Emphasis should be given to an over-all state library program which would include provision for:

1) State governmental requirements whether in the State Library itself or in other governmental agencies. The State Library should be so organized as to perform its own local duties to legislators and for state-wide inquiries, as well as to advise other state agencies in their library problems. The services should therefore encompass those to the executive, legislative, and judicial branches of the government and to the independent agencies as well.
2) Advisory services should be made available to the public school and state college and university libraries of the state.
3) Advisory services should be made available to the local public libraries of the state—borough, county, or municipal.

State libraries usually provide six kinds of service: a general collection of state and federal publications and those books and periodicals, newspapers, and other reference material which state officials require for the intelligent discharge of their duties and, in addition, develop collections for the general public; a law library of books and other publications on jurisprudence; a legislative reference library for reference and research assistance on all subjects of legislation; an archives library to preserve those manuscripts, books, records, papers, maps and other papers of original record of any agency of the State Government not in current use and which by law or otherwise must be preserved; a collection of state historical materials bearing on the history of the government and people of the state; and especially an effective library extension division for advice and service to public libraries and to those in schools, colleges and universities. The staff should include several field workers who can be sent on call to libraries as needed.

In drafting the mission of the State Library, the General Assembly can decide in its wisdom which of these typical services are being adequately provided and which are being neglected.

5. Place under the Department of Forests and Waters those parks which presently have a primarily recreational and conservational function, and under the Historical and Museum Commission those parks and monuments which presently have a primarily historical significance.

In keeping with this principle, the Independence Mall State Park and the Point State Park should be transferred to the Commission, but no properties presently under the Commission should be transferred to the Department. The Brandywine Battlefield Park Commission should be made advisory and attached to the Historical and Museum Commission.

In those parks, like Valley Forge and Washington Crossing, where the historical and the recreational factors are both important, it is recommended that jurisdiction be shared. In practice this would mean that the Historical and Museum Commission would plan and execute educational programs in connection with the historical significance of the several parks, and the Department of Property and Supplies would plan and execute recreational programs and would be responsible for all maintenance.

6. Transfer the Junior Historian Unit from the Department of Public Instruction to the Historical and Museum Commission.

This unit promotes the study of Pennsylvania history by school pupils. The transfer is recommended not because the unit is inappropriately located in the Department, but because the Department is so large and so heavily preoccupied with huge administrative responsibilities. The program is a worthy one and should be placed in a smaller and more homogeneous environment, where it will undoubtedly get more attention and encouragement.

7. Transfer the State Board of Funeral Directors from the Department of Health to the Department of Public Instruction.

Fifteen professional examining boards are located in the Department of Public Instruction. These boards do not seem to fit neatly into any one existing department of the government, but most of them are as closely related to Public Instruction as to any other. At least they make tests of the educational qualifications of applicants for licenses, and they have some contact with deans of professional schools. The real estate, barber, and beauty culture boards were attached to the Department in later years, for even less compelling reasons, merely because their procedures were similar to those of the more established professions.

Because there seems to be no other existing department more fitting for these 15 boards, it is recommended that they be allowed to remain in Public Instruction, and that the State Board of Funeral Directors, for similar reasons of consistency, be transferred from the Department of Health to Public Instruction.

COMMISSION ON GOVERNMENTAL REORGANIZATION
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

To the Honorable the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Pursuant to the Act of 1955, July 7, P. L. 256, the Commission on Governmental Reorganization is pleased to submit for your consideration several recommendations relating to

Labor and Industry

1. Empower the Labor Relations Board to arrive at compromise settlements before or during case hearings.

At present the Board must follow a case to a legal end once it has been opened. It is not permitted to mediate an extra-legal situation. This makes for a slow procedure, with unnecessarily costly hearings and investigations. Feelings of the parties in a case may become intensified in the course of such hearings. When a ruling is finally handed down, even though just, it may not create the best of labor relations. For these reasons, the Board should be allowed to serve in the capacity of mediator when its members feel such service might be in the best interests of peaceful labor relations.

2. Amend the "conclusively prove" phrase in the Occupational Disease Act (amend 31 October 1953) so that the state will not, in practice, pay the full compensation.

Since 1941, contributions by the employer, if made, have been fixed by law at percentages varying from 50% to 90%. The present figure is 60%. However, in cases where disability cannot be "conclusively proved" to be associated with a particular employment, the Commonwealth must bear the entire cost.

It is admittedly difficult to ascribe a particular occupational disease to service with a particular employer, but the recent act which in fact exonerates most employers from sharing the responsibility of compensation fails to supply the initiative needed by the employer to provide safeguards against disease.

Although the money involved is important (for the State's share is likely to be tripled over the last appropriation), the health of the employes is more important, and provisions should operate to accord the worker maximum protection. But maximum protection is not likely to be provided by the employer if he feels that in most cases he will not be financially liable when illness strikes.

COMMISSION ON GOVERNMENTAL REORGANIZATION COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

To the Honorable the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Pursuant to the Act of 1955, July 7, P. L. 256, the Commission on Governmental Reorganization is pleased to submit for your consideration several recommendations relating to

Personnel Administration

1. Direct the pertinent departments to make an agreement with the Civil Service Commission providing that applicants for those professional and technical positions covered in the most recent relevant resolution of the Executive Board shall be recruited, examined, and certified by the Civil Service Commission and providing that the occupants of these positions may not be dismissed from their positions without cause.

Members of the General Assembly have heard repeatedly the arguments for and against a merit system in the civil service. Hence the Reorganization Commmission is not submitting a long essay setting forth the many advantages and disadvantages of either the merit system or the patronage system. The Commission is convinced that the merit system is better, at this time in Pennsylvania, for certain technical and professional positions.

Our reasons for making the recommendation above may be summarized as follows:

a. Policy-making officers and employes should not come under the merit system. Nor need any routine workers who can learn their jobs readily and who require no technical or professional training.

b. Reasonable security of tenure attracts a better type of civil servant.

c. Salaries must be higher, other things besides tenure being equal, if the incumbent can be dismissed without cause at any time.

d. Merit system employes eventually acquire the skills and work performance which come only from experience, hence turn out a given volume of work with fewer names on the payroll.

e. Scarce professional skills cannot be successfully recruited through conventional political channels.

f. Interest in political campaigns and the strength of political parties are not diminished in jurisdictions using the merit system; witness, among many others, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, the State of California, the City of New York, and the Federal Government.

2. Consolidate into a single personnel act the numerous personnel systems now administered by the Civil Service Commission.

These various programs have been initiated from time to time over the past twenty years. Some have been created by legislation and some by resolution of executive bodies.

Not only because we should simplify the work of the Civil Service Commission, but because we should confer upon all employes exactly the same status, the time is well upon us to consolidate these directives.

3. Organize the Civil Service Commission so as to confine the Commission to rule-making and adjudication, and to general, not immediate, direction of the Executive Director.

In times past the day-to-day work of the Commission has suffered because the Commission members insisted on making routine administrative decisions, e.g., determining the critical percentage or passing mark on an examination. This practice takes on added significance when it is remembered that the Commission meets once a week, or even less frequently.

If this recommendation is adopted, the Commission would appoint and dismiss the Executive Director, but no other employes, and the Executive Director would be responsible for all administrative functions.

4. Permit applicants to qualify for positions in the merit system regardless of residence but extend preference to residents of Pennsylvania if their qualifications are equal to those of non-residents; and permit applicants to file for positions at any time, that is, not merely at the time an announcement is made of the pertinent examination.

The purpose of this double recommendation is to improve the quality of applicants. In the one instance, it is now generally recognized that career professionals, like school superintendents, city managers, public health administrators, etc., move freely from jurisdiction to jurisdiction and every jurisdiction is the better for it. Talent does not occur in exact proportion to geographical areas or population masses. In the other instance, many desirable applicants are unnecessarily lost to us because they happen to miss the announcement of an examination.

5. Create an advisory commission, to include several persons skillled in testing, to appraise the examinations and operations of professional and occupational boards now operating under the general administrative supervision of the Bureau of Professional and Occupational Licensure in the Department of Public Instruction, and to report to the several boards.

Accurate testing and scoring is yearly becoming more of a science. More can be gotten for less time, energy, and money if testing experts compile examinations. Professional board members will always be required to advise on the substance of examinations, but the form and approach of the tests and their grading should be entrusted to testing experts. This expertise can be supplied either by the testing staff presumed above, by the Civil Service Commission, or by outside testing services.

COMMISSION ON GOVERNMENTAL REORGANIZATION
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

To the Honorable the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Pursuant to the Act of 1955, July 7, P. L. 256, the Commission on Governmental Reorganization is pleased to submit for your consideration several recommendations relating to

Conservation of Natural Resources

1. Enter into a compact with New York, Ohio, and West Virginia, to implement a unitization law governing the extraction of oil and gas.

The future of the gas and oil industry in Pennsylvania appears to depend in large part on the discovery of new reserves in deep zones, but the rule of capture which prevails in Pennsylvania constitutes an obstacle to the exploration of those zones and to the efficient, complete, economic recovery of oil and gas wherever found. Until the law is changed, there is no adequate incentive to induce operators to attempt to develop new oil and gas fields in Pennsylvania.

The potential injury to our national defense is obvious, especially now when the Suez situation reveals the dangers surrounding the Middle Eastern oil reserves owned by the western nations. The public interest in Pennsylvania suffers additional disadvantages from existing procedures because a large share of the inequities, gas losses, and excess expenses are passed on to the public through higher prices for gas and decreased revenue from publicly owned land.

Private landowners lose the benefit of their correlative rights because the oil and gas underlying their lands can be drained out by their neighbors. In fact, as late as 1930, when crude oil sold below its intrinsic value, producers allowed oil to flow into open pits and into rivers and streams rather than to close their wells and allow their neighbors to capture it. In this respect the waste and inequity of the rule of capture is obvious.

The case against the present state of the law can be enlarged upon, but perhaps it is sufficient to point out that Pennsylvania is now the only state with significant oil and gas production that continues to operate under the common law rule of capture. Indeed, Georgia, Florida, and Washington have adopted compulsory unitization laws in advance of any significant production of oil or gas within their borders. Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma also have compulsory unitization statutes, thus realizing the petroleum engineer's concept of the proper way to produce oil and gas. Arizona, California, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Wyoming, and the United States Congress have all abandoned the rule of capture and recognize in some way the desirability of unitizing the production of an entire pool.

2. Create a Natural Resources Advisory Council, to engage in research and to make policy recommendations concerning a fully integrated natural resources program. For administrative purposes this Commission should be attached to the State Planning Board.

Many of the failures of conservation as well as much waste of resources can be traced directly to an unwillingness or inability to acknowledge this interrelationship, despite its universal recognition by scientists. In the past, independent governmental agencies have been created to deal with just one renewable resource, and these agencies too often have functionel as though the resource under their jurisdiction existed in a vacuum. Integration of plans and operations on the realistic basis of the interdependence of renewable natural resources is vital to the achievement of the legitimate goals of conservation, and to the economic functioning of conservation agencies.

Conservation is now thought of in terms of management. But this management must be dynamic, living, affirmative. Conservation agencies are not mere caretakers. They have a duty to be alert to new problems and new opportunities. If they are not equipped to do research, they must cooperate with those who are. They become repositories of invaluable information, and they should use this information to initiate new programs and if necessary to support proposals of new legislation. There is a great and continuing need for additional knowledge to guide all those who deal with natural resources, and in developing and disseminating this knowledge these agencies can and should play a key part. Conservation must succeed in considerable measure through education and persuasion. Where those gentle means fail or take too long, conservation must succeed through regulation. But regulation must be justified on the basis either of ascertained facts or a risk to our economy or national defense too dangerous to be run. For example, the dangers and potential benefits of "rainmaking," including current experiments in stopping the formation of damaging storms are far from clear. We may get changes in climate with consequent changes in vegetation and natural conditions. Regulation (at least in the form of licensing) may be called for in advance of clear harm to minimize the risks. Interstate compacts with or without concurrent federal action may be necessary. Studying problems of this type and preparing suggestions for handling them should be a major responsibility of conservation agencies.

The multiple-use principle should be applied to every conservation program. Too often recreational possibilities of forests and waters have been ignored, although recreational use is rarely incompatible with other more obvious uses. Too often the research possibilities of so-called wilderness areas are disregarded until the natural state of these few precious areas have been destroyed. Perhaps the answer here is for the state to have a "creative idea" agency to develop new and better uses for its natural resources, improved technologies, more economical procedures, and so forth. Government can adopt the attitude of the most successful, progressive, hardheaded businesses which have actively tried through training and encouragement to incite their executives to produce ideas. It pays off for business and can do so for government.

There is considerable interest these days in carrying on conservation programs by means of a partnership between government and business. Actually this partnership is inevitable and has existed in some degree since the inception of the conservation movement. However, the current emphasis is on a formalized partnership expressed in the form of contracts and legislation. This may turn out to be a thoroughly worthwhile device on the state as well as the national level, but a caveat must be noted. As a leading student of the problem puts it, pious talk and good intentions are not enough. "Partnership by nature is based on divided authority, and divided authority, if not geared to common objectives and clearly defined methods, means total ineffectiveness if not utter chaos."

The problems inherent in partnerships arise also in these cooperative programs carried on by the United States Government and state governments and by state govenments and local governments. In these situations as well as in the government-business partnership it is absolutely essential to spell out with precision the authority each is to exercise and to reach agreement on policies to be pursued and methods to be adopted.

All of this means that the agencies entrusted with the development and execution of the state's conservation program must have some unity, some intercommunication, some flexibility.

There are innumerable possibilities for additions and improvements to the state's conservation program. A unifying agency could consider, reject, select, and help to implement the best of these as were proposed.

The Reorganization Commission does not believe that the activities of the Fish and Game Commissions should be brought within the purview of the proposed Advisory Council.

3. Abolish the State Forest Commission and the Flood Control Commission.

The Secretary of Forests and Waters is advised on forest matters by the State Forester, who is responsible for the 20 forest districts, the 45 state forest parks, the seven state parks, and the operations of the Divisions of Administration, of Protection, of Forest Advisory Services, of Minerals, and of Recreation.

Theoretically, the Secretary is also assisted by the State Forest Commission, which the Administrative Code designates as the advisory commission to consider, study, and advise the Department in all important matters relating to forests. The commission nominally has certain statutory duties and powers. It must approve the acquisition of land for state forests and for the growing of forest tree seedlings whether by purchase, gift, lease, exchange, or condemnation. Rules and regulations of state forest lands are adopted with the advice of the Commission. Leases or contracts for mineral rights on state forests land require the Commission's consent. Its advice is required when the Department gives municipalities the right to impound water or maintain pipe lines through the forests. Another act provides that the Commission (and the Water and Power Resources Board) must approve the boundary of land proposed to be included in a National Forest.

The Secretary of Forests and Waters is ex-officio its chairman, and there are four other members, all of whom serve without pay. Only the expenses incurred in attending Commission meetings are reimbursed. But prior to the administration of the present Secretary, the Commission rarely met, being called into session as infrequently as twice in an entire administration. Legislation enacted since 1949 has not required the Commission's consent to departmental action.

The State Forest Commission can be dispensed with, as past practice indicates. As an economy measure its elimination would not be significant, and the statutes mentioned above would have to be amended to avoid any danger of a cloud on titles to lands and mineral interests, but the operations of the Department would be simplified, time would be saved for a conscientious Secretary, and the danger of overlooking the need for Commission approval of a limited number of actions would be eliminated. Competent, conscientious Secretaries do not need the Commission and the other type will not use it.

Our laws concerning waters are administered primarily by the Department of Forests and Waters, its Water and Power Resources Board, and the Sanitary Water Board of the Department of Health, although other agencies such as the Public Utility Commission, the State Planning Board, and the General State Authority play roles of varying importance.

The Secretary of Forests and Waters' departmental water responsibilities are discharged with the advice and assistance of the Department's Chief Engineer, who in turn is responsible for the Division of Encroachments, Division of Dams, Division of Flood Control, and Division of Hydrography.

If the Flood Control Commission is looked upon as a planning agency, such functions can better be discharged by the proposed Advisory Council, if it is regarded as an emergency or disaster relief agency, those responsibilities have been vested in the State Council of Civil Defense.

4. Place the parks boards in an advisory status, and vest full responsibility for the parks program in the appropriate central operating agencies.

The members of the parks boards perform valuable services, in doing historical research, promoting public interest, and assisting parks executives in obtaining funds and gifts from private persons. These public-spirited persons should not have their function adulterated by devoting time and energy to routine or marginal administrative details.

Commonwealth institutional boards, since they do not have a rule-making or adjudicatory role (like the independent and ex-officio regulatory boards), should be placed in an advisory role.

It is a sound rule of administration that a worker should have only one boss, and should know who that boss is. This rule is deceptively simple, and consequently is frequently overlooked.

NEWSPAPER INFORMATION FOR RELEASE TO MONDAY AFTERNOON PAPERS MARCH 25, 1957

COMMISSION ON GOVERNMENTAL REORGANIZATION
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

To the Honorable the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Pursuant to the Act of 1955, July 7, P. L. 256, the Commission on Governmental Reorganization is pleased to submit for your consideration several recommendations relating to Public Welfare.

1. Change the basis of payment of state monies to private institutions taking care of state wards from a subsidy system to a purchase-of-services system.

The amount of payment from tax funds to institutions and agencies for services to individuals should be commensurate with the quantity and quality of the service rendered and its total cost, and should not be granted by lump sum payments or on the principle of budget deficits.

At the present time private hospitals, for instance, receive $8.00 per bed day for medically indigent patients regardless of the quality or cost of the service.

Our proposal contemplates that the total appropriation for hospital care in private institutions will be made to the Department of Public Assistance. Since total financial needs cannot be estimated exactly for a biennium, and since the General Assembly may not wish to increase the total appropriation so as to accommodate average daily charges of $14.80 instead of $8.00, it is recommended that the Department of Public Assistance pay one-half of the charges as they arise, and distribute the remainder of the total appropriation on a pro rata basis at the end of the fiscal period.

Payment should be made only for services which meet minimum standards of quality established by competent and recognized authority.

The unit of state government administering payments for service should maintain fiscal control over the operation.

Subsidized services to individuals should be based on rules of need and eligibility, applying equally to all citizens of Pennsylvania.

2. Assign to the Department of Public Assistance the responsibility of determining eligibility to receive care at private hospitals when such care is paid for in full or in part by the state.

Eligibility is now determined by an employe of the hospital, who is in no position to make field investigations and verify statements made by applicants. The Department of Welfare reimburses the hospital on the basis of reports submitted by it, and makes no basic field audit.

The best that can be said for this system is that it is inefficient and wasteful of state funds. But it also must be mentioned that political and other types of favoritism obtrude themselves, and some patients may be excused from paying who are capable of paying.

3. Transfer to private agencies the ten medical and surgical hospitals now administered by the Department of Welfare.

It is appropriate that the Commonwealth maintain hospitals for mental and tuberculous patients, but the ownership and operation of general hospitals in the United States is deemed to be the responsibility of cities, counties, private corporations, and religious and charitable groups. It is appropriate that the state should operate these hospitals, it is appropriate that the state should expand their number, so that all sections of the state may benefit equally from the largess.

Specifically, it is recommended that the General Assembly declare its intention of suspending appropriations to these institutions as of 31 May 1959, and that the Department of Welfare be instructed to negotiate with the private groups referred to above with a view to relinquishing them at terms most favorable to the state.

If the General Assembly does not elect to follow this suggestion, the Commission recommends that these hospitals be transferred to the Department of Health.

4. Create an administrative Board of Public Recreation in the Department of Internal Affairs, composed of a majority of professional recreationists. This Board should have an adequate appropriation.

Provide by law that recreation facilities owned by school districts be made available to authorized municipal recreation agencies.

The objective sought in making this recommendation is to recognize the growing importance of public recreation as a means of raising the cultural level of many of our citizens, guiding marginal persons away from criminal practices, bestowing upon our increasing numbers of elderly persons the opportunities for pleasant and constructive use of their leisure, and supplementing the lessons in good citizenship taught in our schools.

This recognition may be implemented by adopting the following policies:

1. Create a positive design of recreational services to be provided by the Commonwealth for its citizens directly and for its citizens indirectly through local units of government, and enact this design into law.
2. Give local governments expert consultant service, upon request of the appropriate public official, on such recreation problems as community organization, program planning, budget and finance, preparation of master plans, personnel selection and training, planning areas and facilities, legislation, surveys, and coordinated school-part-recreation programs.
3. Plan state-wide recreation programs on areas and facilities under the jurisdiction of the state, acting in cooperation with other administrative departments, boards and commissions.
4. Assist the appropriate authorities in state institutions to plan and carry out programs of recreational therapy in such institutions.
5. Make the vast resources of the school available for community recreation, when not being used for educational purposes, under responsible auspices. The schools should be authorized to pursue the objective of education for recreation, so that persons may learn the skills and abilities necessary for full enjoyment of many recreational pursuits.

COMMISSION ON GOVERNMENTAL REORGANIZATION
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

FISCAL AFFAIRS

To the Honorable the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Pursuant to the Act of 1955, July 7, P. L. 256, the Commission on Governmental Reorganization is pleased to submit for your consideration forty-three recommendations. In addition, we are making twelve recommendations to the Governor, relating to changes which can be made without legislative action.

The Commission was organized in May, 1956. Twelve members were appointed by the Governor, of whom, ten served. The names of those who participated in the deliberations of the Commission, with the officers and staff, follow:

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., Adjutant General, Chairman
George N. Wade, Senator from Cumberland County, Vice-Chairman
Genevieve Blatt, Secretary of Internal Affairs
Leonard P. Fox, Executive Director, Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce (now retired)
Albert W. Johnson, Representative from McKean County
William J. Keefe, Professor of Political Science, Chatham College
Henry B. Leader, Governor's Legislative Secretary
Albert S. Readinger, Representative from Berks County
John S. Rice, Secretary of Property and Supplies
Paul H. Wueller, Associate Director in charge of Research and Statistics, Joint State Government Commission

James C. Charlesworth, President, American Academy of Political & Social Science, served as Executive Director, and Stephen B. Sweeney, Director of the Institute of Local and State Government, University of Pennsylvania, acted as principal consultant.

Early in the summer of 1956 the Commission engaged the services of twelve persons having skills in the field of State government, who prepared reports during the summer months. Among these are several state employes who received no additional compensation for their services. The names of these authorities and the subjects of their reports follow:

Harold F. Alderfer—Local Governments
A. David Bouterse—Public Hospitals; Correction; Public Assitance
Robert A. Christie—Labor and Industry; Professional Licensure
James A. Crabtree—Public Health
Charles B. Cranford—Recreation
John H. Ferguson—Agriculture; Milk; Public Utilities
Roy A. Helton—Public Information
C. Herschel Jones—Personnel Administration
Albert B. Martin—Records and Secretarial Functions
M. Nelson McGeary—Public Education; Public Works
William F. Schultz, Jr.—Conservation of Natural Resources
Randall S. Stout—Fiscal Administration

Members of the Commission individually studied these reports and other materials bearing upon pertinent activities of the State government, and the Commission met from early October until March to discuss each proposal. The Commission wishes to thank the officers of the Senate for making the Conference Room available for these meetings.

The General Assembly is doubtless interested in whether the recommendations made by the Commission, if adopted, will save money. An exact estimate of savings cannot be made, but the Commission is confident that its proposals will not only improve government but reduce the total charge on the taxpayer. Savings of the magnitude of millions of dollars per year are definitely indicated in lowered interest payments, improved personnel, closer auditing practices, and elimination of administrative duplications.

Our recommendations to the General Assembly are classified under seven headings, as follows:

1. Fiscal Affairs
2. Personnel Administration
3. Administrative Organization; Public Buildings
4. Conservation of Natural Resources
5. Public Welfare
6. Public Health
7. Public Instruction; Labor

Proposals relating to these separate subjects will be submitted at short intervals. This present submittal relates to

Fiscal Affairs

1. Designate the Joint State Government Commission as the staff agency of the General Assembly for the purpose of assembling and analyzing budget information. Direct executive agencies to make available to the Commission information relative to estimated financial needs to carry on existing programs and to meet statutory mandates, during the period of the preparation of the budget and make available to the Commission similar information on new and expanded programs after such programs have been approved by the Governor.

The fiscal problem is the Commonwealth's most pressing problem. Both the Executive and the Legislative branches must bear responsibility for its solution. But if the General Assembly is to contribute its proper share of this joint effort it must first of all be adequately informed.

In making this recommendation the Reorganization Commission does not intend to diminish the role of the Governor in preparing the budget. We believe that the executive type of budget is the best. Our purpose is to enable legislators to know in advance of the release of the printed document the general lines of its development, so that they may begin early to weigh alternatives and to plan for needed revenues.

Another reason for bringing the two branches closer together in fiscal affairs is the heavy emphasis on subsidies. If the state budget covered only the expenses of operating the executive departments, the General Assembly might well assume that the duty of accurately measuring needs could be appropriately left to the Chief Executive. But since such a large part of state expenditure consists of subsidies rather than of execution of state programs, it is proper that both of the policy making branches be equally aware of the reasons for expanding programs.

2. Create an independent tax appeal board, consisting of one lawyer, one accountant, and one member familiar with tax matters, serving full-time. This agency would resettle tax cases presently handled by the Board of Finance and Revenue, and make cash refunds. Also, time limitations now imposed by the Fiscal Code should be revised.

The Board of Finance and Revenue now labors under certain limitations, as follows:

a. It consists of part-time ex-officio members representing some departments that are not concerned with tax functions, whereas other members sit on appeals from the administrative actions of their own departments.
b. It does not codify its rulings or legal recognitions.
c. It is usually understaffed.

d. There is poor interdepartmental liaison.

e. There is no tenure, and no proper qualifications for its staff.

f. It cannot by statute grant tax cash refunds.

g. It is not an independent appellate group in the strict sense of this term.

h. Time limitations imposed by the Fiscal Code are in some instances unrealistic in terms of conditions.

3. Create a permanent tax and fiscal research agency, which would bring together pertinent activities in the Legislative and Executive branches. This agency should be composed of equal numbers of designees of the Governor and of the General Assembly, and should be adequately staffed. It should report annually and on special request to either the Governor or to the General Assembly or to both of them. For administrative purposes, the agency should be attached to the Joint State Government Commission.

An adequate fiscal research program is necessary in order that the public, the Governor, and members of the General Assembly may be properly informed concerning the nature of the tax structure, the expenditure programs, and revenue requirements for financing them. Research is essential for the formulation of a state's fiscal policies and long-term programs. In spite of recurring fiscal crises, Pennsylvania has never had adequate fiscal research facilities. Further evidence of this serious defect in the Commonwealth's fiscal programs is indicated by the numerous legislative and special emergency tax study committees which have been set up within the past decade in order to provide the General Assembly and the Governor with adequate facts. At present, the General Assembly has a special committee to "get the facts" concerning the Commonwealth's tax burdens and their effects on industrial development and migration.

The responsibility for tax research should be jointly assumed by the Executive and the Legislative branches. This inter-branch unit should be given regular budget status, should be headed by a director, and should be adequately staffed and equipped. It should carry on continuous research concerning the nature, effects, and operations of the tax system; it should prepare the official revenue estimates, and should prepare adequate annual and special reports designed to give taxpayers an understanding of the operation of the state's tax system and its needs for revenues.

4. Provide for annual sessions of the General Assembly.

The principal reason for this recommendation is the fiscal situation. In a rapidly moving economy, and with the close interrelationship between government finance and the general economic well-being of the Commonwealth, two years is now too long to project budget and tax needs.

The General Assembly may wish to restrict the session in even-numbered years to consideration of fiscal matters.

5. a. Amend the Constitution, to allow the General Assembly to fix the state debt limit for capital purposes by joint resolution passed by a two-thirds vote.

b. Abolish all state authorities and place future projects in appropriate departments of the state government. Refund authority indebtedness, at a favorable market date, with money obtained through the issue of general obligation bonds.

c. Raise constitutional school district and other local government debt limits, so that the device of local authorities need not be resorted to.

It is believed that these proposals, if adopted, will save the citizens of Pennsylvania many millions of dollars, since it is generally recognized that the interest rate on state general obligation bonds is usually lower than on authority and other "revenue" bonds.

The question readily suggests itself: If this is so, why were the authorities created in the first place? The answer is that the authority device was the most expedient one to finance improvements promptly without resorting to the time-consuming procedure for submitting a constitutional amendment to popular vote.

It has been felt in certain circles that the citizens of the state are not willing to depend upon an adequate sense of restraint in the General Assembly, when it comes to incurring debt. This opinion warns against allowing the General Assembly to open the floodgates of irresponsible spending and of passing on our burdens to the next generation. But we are nonetheless incurring huge debts, in the semi-public, semi-private, financial operations of authorities. The members of the Reorganization Commission feel that the time has come to make a forthright accounting to the citizens of Pennsylvania on how much they owe, both directly through state government bonds and indirectly through authority bonds. We further believe that indirection should be avoided in the future, and that the people should be currently and fully informed on state borrowings.

The national debt limit is fixed by a vote of Congress, where an alert public opinion enforces a salutary degree of restraint. We believe that a similar arrangement will function satisfactorily in Pennsylvania.

In the case of limits on local debt, we believe that here, too, the General Assembly should be given the responsibility of fixing the ceiling for units of local government by classes.

The possibility of savings on interest payments by local school districts is an immediate concern of the General Assembly. School districts subsidies need not be so large if savings can be effected in the cost of financing our school building program.

EXHIBIT No. 1

Honorable A. H. Letzler
Secretary of the Senate
Senate of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

My dear Mr. Letzler:

I acknowledge receipt of the resolution of the Senate dated February 26, 1957, in which I am directed to "submit to the Director of the Joint State Government Commission on or before March 4, 1957" specifically mentioned data relative to scholarships granted to Medical students.

This is to advise you that this Department has neither set up nor granted any scholarships to Medical students.

However, I assume from newspaper articles that it is quite possible that the Senate had in mind the program which this Department is carrying on in connection with the training of graduate students in the fields of psychology, social services, therapy (occupational, industrial, recreational) and nursing.

I am preparing a full and detailed statement of the program, including the names and addresses of the students, the schools, the financial assistance and the terms and conditions upon which these trainees are admitted into the program. I hope to be able to have that statement finished early next week. I trust you will bring this matter to the attention of the Senate.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

HS: isk

Harry Shapiro (signed)
Secretary of Welfare

Exhibit No. 2

December 12, 1955.

Ed Kemena, Assistant Director
Bureau of Disbursements
Office of the Auditor General
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

My dear Mr. Kemena:

Your letter of December 9, 1955, addressed to Mr. George A. Reel of this Department, has been referred to me for reply.

Requisition No. 102 on Symbol No. 521035, in the amount of $3292.26 represents a payment on a training program which is part of the Department of Welfare's "Research and Training of Personnel" which is so essential in order to promptly fill the gap caused by the shortage of trained professional and technical personnel in the field of psychiatry.

The authority for issuing the Purchase Request is found in the Administrative Code Section 507 Clause C, reading as follows:

"Notwithstanding any of the foregoing provisions of this Section, any Department, Board or Committee may: (1) . . . . . (2) . . . . . (4) Employ professional or skilled labor on a temporary basis in institutions where the Department of Property and Supplies does not have applicable contracts, but all such employees shall be approved by the Governor except in cases of State Institutions it shall be approved by the head of the Department having supervision over the Institution."

The arrangement for the payment of these funds was made by the Philadelphia State Hospital and the Norristown State Hospital with whom Bryn Mawr College has agreed to furnish the professional skill necessary to train Social Workers for the two (2) institutions above named.

You will be receiving these Requisitions from time to time because we have made similar arrangements with the University of Pennsylvania; University of Pittsburgh; Pennsylvania State University and Temple University for the training of Psychologists for our various mental institutions and very shortly will be arranging for similar professional services for training of Psychiatrists and Occupational Therapists.

Since it is important for the well being of the patients that this program proceed with full-speed-ahead, I will appreciate it very much if you will write and let me know if there is any further information you want because any failure to make prompt payment may interfere with the progress of the work.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

Secretary
Department of Welfare

Honorable Harrington Adams
Deputy Attorney General
Department of Justice
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Adams:

Following my conversation with you, I am enclosing three contracts dated October 1, 1955, as follows:

Between the University of Pennsylvania
School of Social Work and Philadelphia
State Hospital

Between the University of Pittsburgh
School of Social Work and Pennsylvania
Training School

and

Between Bryn Mawr College and Philadelphia
State Hospital

for consultation services for state training.

These contracts have been approved by me under the provisions of the Administrative Code which authorizes the institution itself to make such contracts upon approval of the Secretary of Welfare.

As I told you on the telephone, Mr. Eshbach of the Auditor General's Department, has the impression that the Attorney General's Office has raised some question about the authority of the institution to make such contracts.

These payments have been so long delayed that there is danger of the destruction of the program which we have initiated to supply much needed help to the institutions which we can not otherwise get and therefor anything that you can do to accelerate prompt action will be greatly appreciated.

The attached copies are the only copies remaining in the Department of Welfare and I would appreciate if you would return them to me after they have served their purpose.

Sincerely yours,

Secretary
Department of Welfare

AGREEMENT

The Department of Welfare agrees to pay Donald Armsby the sum of $124.00 bi-weekly from September 17, 1956 to June 7, 1957 in preparation for employment with the Department of Welfare. In addition, tuition as agreed upon will be paid on his behalf.

DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE

The Professional Training Program

The Department of Welfare's training program applies to the following fields: clinical psychology, nursing education, occupational therapy, rehabilitation, social work and the teaching of exceptional children. However, students in clinical psychology must have completed their first graduate year before applying.

Assistance during graduate study will consist of:

a. Payment of tuition, by contract with accredited professional schools in Pennsylvania, up to $750 annually for each person accepted, and
b. A biweekly stipend paid directly to the student for the period* September 15 to June 15, of $ 84.00 the first year
   112.50 the second year
   124.00 the third year
   143.50 the fourth year

Stipends will be paid as salary from the Department's headquarters budget; therefore, duductions will be made for state retirement. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has advised that the stipend and tuition will be subject to income tax, which, of course, will vary with each individual.

Whenever possible, summer employment in facilities of the Department will be offered to students.

It is expected that persons who have received professional training under the Department's plan will accept regular employment by the Department of one calendar year for each academic year. An agreement to this effect, which is part of the application, must be signed before the form is submitted. Each succesful applicant will be notified of arrangements for a representative of the Department to discuss the agreement with each student before school, opens, if possible, or very soon afterward.

Clinical practice (field work) required as part of a regular curriculum or to fulfill Ph.D. requirements should be done primarily in facilities administered by the Department but may be done in those which receive funds from or through the Department. In unusual instances, when an individual student's development requires it, Departmental approval may be given for a practice assignment in a non-state-owned or non-state-aided facility. However, it is the objective of the Department that state-owned facilities be used to the maximum.

Lists of state-owned and aided facilities have been sent to the professional schools and include state mental institutions, state general hospitals, Pennsylvania Training School, grant-in-aid mental health and child guidance clinics, state-aided general hospitals and state-aided institutions and agencies (including some County Institutional Districts) for children and others. Clinical practice in some fields may also be done in the headquarters and regional offices of the Department.

*Since the original stipend schedule was set up, a new Commonwealth pay scale has been established and salary payments are to be made bi-weekly instead of semi-monthly.

Professional schools will be responsible for evaluating the education opportunities offered by these facilities, and for deciding which ones meet their standards. The amount of clinical practice expected of students in each professional field will be the number of hours required of any student in that curriculum. Clinical psychology students will be expected to complete the required practice during the 3 years scholarship period.

The training program is not restricted to employes of the Department of Welfare. To be eligible, however, applicants must have been accepted for enrollment by an accredited professional school in Pennsylvania.

The training program outlined above replaces prior programs carried on by the Department or its facilities except that of the Bureau of Children's Services which is carried on with Federal funds. In-service training programs will be conducted as separate undertakings of the Department. Mental hospitals will continue to hire psychologists as regular employes for their interneship year.

Application forms have been sent to the porfessional schools and to state institutions. They may also be obtained from Miss Helen McManus, Bureau of Program and Community Planning, Pennsylvania Department of Welfare, Harrisburg.

Applications should be completed, in duplicate, by the student and by an officer of the professional school to be attended and forwarded by the school or by the student to Miss Helen McManus, Bureau of Program and Community Planning, Pennsylvania Department of Welfare, Harrisburg.

Employees of the Department will, in addition, obtain the signature of the administrator of the facility where they are employed, (i.e., superintendent, bureau director, etc). in the lower left hand corner.

Questions on the use of state facilities for clinical practice should be addressed by the school to the appropriate bureau director.

Press Release No. 572.
Newspaper Information for release to Wednseday Morning Papers, April 4, 1956.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
HARRISBURG

April 3, 1956.

Research into the problems of mental illness will receive long-needed boost under the terms of a bill introduced in the Senate today.

The Administration measure would coordinate all research effort—public and private—now being carried on within the Commonwealth in the field of mental health.

A special State agency—to be called the Commonwealth Mental Research Foundation—would be created for this purpose.

It would be up to the Foundation to work hand-in-hand with the Commonwealth's medical centers on research within the State's twenty-two mental institutions.

Not only would the Foundation stimulate research into the critical problems of mental illness, but it would coordinate the over-all effort and help give it direction.

Administration spokesmen expained that once the Foundation is established, the Commonwealth will be eligible for research grants from private foundations devoted to the physical sciences and public health. Without such a Foundation, the Commonwealth is unable to obtain such private grants.

No appropriation is sought in the measure. The Foundation will depend upon two sources of revenue: funds already earmarked for research and alloted to the Department of Welfare; and grants from outside sources.

The bill also provides that any patents or discoveries resulting from a research project sponsored by the Foundation would belong to the State agency.

On of its most important features, Administration spokesmen said, is that the Foundation's coordinated program would attract men and women to Pennsylvania who seek training in the field of mental health. Many of these, it is believed, would remain within the Commonwealth and help man the currently depleted staffs of our State mental hospitals.

Under the bill's provisions, the Foundation would be administered by a board of 11 trustees, consisting of the Governor, the Secretary of Welfare, and nine others appointed by the Governor for staggered terms of three years each. All trustees would serve without compensation under the chairmanship of the Secertary of Welfare.

The Foundation's board of trustees would receive technical assistance from a nine-man Research Advisory Board—to be made up of experts in the field of mental health research. Six of these nine would represent those Pennsylvania medical schools, universities and mental institutions which presently have active research departments.

Represented on the Research Advisory Board, therefore, would be: the School of Medicine of Temple University; the School of Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania; the School of Medicine of the University of Pittsburgh; Pennsylvania State University; the Eastern Psychiatric Institute; and Carnegie Institute of Technology.

It would be the duty of the Research Advisory Committee to select and supervise the Foundation's research projects, emphasizing such programs of personnel training and research as could be carried out in Pennsylvania's State hospitals.

The Honorable George Leader
Governor, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Governor Leader:

Pursuant to Section 13 of the Act of December 22, 1951, P. L. 1726, the Harrisburg Hospital submits the following report:

1. The Harrisburg Hospital maintains and operates an approved School of Nursing and receives State aid for the training of student nurses under Act 91A of the 1955 General Assembly.

2. The undersigned is closely acquainted and in frequent communication with the Director of the School of Nursing, who is known to be not a subversive person. Said Director, being closely acquainted with all instructors and other employed in an official capacity with reference to the School of Nursing, has informed the undersigned that there are no subversive persons among them. The careful screening of characters and reputation incident to appointment of instructors and others connected with the School of Nursing, and the regular and close relationship imposed among these by the very nature of their duties, precludes any of them being subversive without knowledge thereof coming to the undersigned.

3. The undersigned therefore sets forth unequivically that Harrisburg Hospital has no reason to believe that there is in its employ any instructor or other persons in any official capacity with reference to its School of Nursing who is a subversive person.

Copies of this report are being furnished to the President of the Senate and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Very truly yours,

The Honorable George M. Leader
Governor, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Governor Leader:

Pursuant to Section 13 of the Act of December 22, 1951, P. L. 1726, the Latrobe Hospital submits the following report:

1. The Latrobe Hospital maintains and operates an approved School of Nursing and receives State-aid for the training of student nurses under Act 131A of the 1951 General Assembly.

2. I am well acquainted with and in daily communication with the Director of our School of Nursing, Miss Mary K. Harris, who is known to be not a subversive person. She is closely acquainted with all instructors and supervisors employed in an official capacity with reference to the School of Nursing and she has informed me that there is no subversive person among them. We carefully screen all applicants for positions in the School of Nursing as to their character and reputation and loyalty. This applies to all others connected with the School of Nursing. The daily and close relationship

3. I therefore state unequivocally that Latrobe Hospital has no reason to believe that we have in our employ any instructor or other person in any official capacity with reference to our School of Nursing who is a subversive person.

Copies of this report are being furnished to the President of the Senate, Hon. Roy E. Furman, and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, Hon. Hiram G. Andrews.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Governor Leader:

Under Section 13 of the Pennsylvania Loyalty Act, the Abington Memorial Hospital, being a State-Aided Institution of Learning, is furnishing a written statement as follows:

(a) What procedure it has adopted to determine whether it has reason to believe that any subversive persons are in its employ;

(c) Unequivocally set forth that the institution has no reason to believe any subversive persons are in its employ.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

We employ approximately twenty persons in the faculty and administrative staff.

(a) Great care is taken in making appointments, not only as to the scholarly attainments of the academic group and the fitness and qualifications of the others for their particular work, but also as to the integrity and character.
(b) All academic appointments are screened through our Director of Nursing and the Educational Director prior to their employment; approval of all personnel is obtained from the Department of State Nursing, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, and references are obtained from former employers.

It is our belief that the procedure we have adopted and enforced is adequate to prevent the employment of any subversive personnel.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE
DELAWARE RIVER PORT AUTHORITY
OF PENNSYLVANIA AND NEW JERSEY

To the Honorable: The Governors and the Legislatures of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey.

The Delaware River Port Authority takes deep satisfaction in reporting to you that, as of the end of the calendar year 1956, the monumental Walt Whitman Bridge over the Delaware River connecting Pennsylvania and New Jersey is in the final stage of completion.

It is the eighth largest suspension bridge in the world, and, with its five and three-fourths miles of approach roads, is one of the longest bridge systems in the world.

As the year closed, it was not prudent to attempt to fix the exact date upon which the seven-lane, $90,000,000 structure could be opened to traffic. Although the weather during the fall and early winter was highly favorable to proescution of the remaining contracts, neither we nor our engineers could forecast what work-retarding conditions might ensue. We expect, however, to announce a firm date for the opening within the next sixty days.

Traffic movement over the great structure will have, in our judgment, far more than the usual ceremonial significance. It is not "just another bridge," nor is it notable solely because of the dimensions of its span and the complexity of its approach roads system.

Its true significance resides in the fact that, with its elder and more massive kinsman, the Benjamin Franklin Bridge three and one-third miles upstream, it will become a major vehicle in the swift transfer of people, goods and services between the two states to the comfort, convenience and economic benefit of the entire Port Area.

In combination with other highway improvements now either under construction or in the planning stage in both states, it should aid materially in the relief of traffic congestion in the Philadelphia-Camden urban area. By detouring a highly-congested area of Camden county to the north and by slashing across an equally congested section of South Philadelphia, the Walt Whitman Bridge complex will provide, in effect, a limited access highway connecting directly with the Port of Philadelphia. The man-hours of time and dollars of operating cost that shippers may save as a consequence is hardly calculable.

This saving becomes particularly significant in the light of the march of industrial development in the tide-water section of Southern New Jersey and Delaware County, Pennsylvania.

Thousands of vistors to the shore resorts of South Jersey will find the new bridge a comfortable and convenient means of access to their summer homes and their favored beaches, on the one hand; on the other, the major airlines already are keenly aware of the new accessibility of Philadelphia's International Airport to South Jersey patrons.

The significance of the structure as an adjunct of the national defense, providing a link for the swift transportation of men and materials between critical military and naval installations in the tri-state area has been commented upon frequently.

We have been gratified, in recent months, to learn of a mounting realization of the impact this monumental new river crossing will have upon residential and industrial developments of areas on both sides of the river which heretofore have suffered due to their relative remoteness from the main stream of interstate commerce and travel.

In short, we have the confidence that completion of the Walt Whitman Bridge and its approach system will be, in the most inclusive sense, the type of "authorized purpose" contemplated for this Authority by the Interstate Compact of 1951, which stated:

"The effectuation of its authorized purposes by the Commission (Authority) is and will be in all respects for the benefit of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey, for the increase of their commerce and prosperity and for the improvement of their health and living conditions. . ."

This emphasis in our report to you upon the activities of the past year does not, however, imply that completion of the Walt Whitman Bridge commanded the energies of the Port Authority to the exclusion of other concerns. While it is true that prosecution of the concluding phases of construction absorbed the bulk of our funds and of the energies of our staff, the Authority was not unmindful of its other obligations and opportunities to fulfill the spirit as well as the letter of its legislative charter.

In our report to you one year ago, we emphasized that the Authority's activities, both as to projects in hand and those proposed, were influenced by two important if not unique facts of our Southeastern Pennsylvania-Southern New Jersey area: first, problems arising out of vast metropolitan growth, both industrial and residential, and second, the predominating influence of the Delaware River Port upon our economy.

The pressures of these two facts of the area's life continued and accelerated during the year just closed. Within the limits of our statutory powers and resources, the Port Authority sought to cope with them.

Detailed report upon these activities is embodied in succeeding pages of this report and in the attached appendices. In brief preface, they included the following:

1. Submission to your honorable bodies of a report upon a proposed Mass Transportation System for Southern New Jersey, connecting with Central Philadelphia, in accordance with Article I, Section (j) of the Interstate Compact.
2. A continued high-level of activity in the protection and promotion of the Delaware River Port.
3. Presentation to the Legislature of the State of New Jersey of proposed legislation which would authorize and consent to construction by the Delaware River Port Authority of a new high-level vehicular bridge connecting Northeast Philadelphia and New Jersey. Companion legislation to this end was unanimously adopted in 1955 by the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and signed by Governor George M. Leader in December, 1955.
4. A formal offer to the State of New Jersey to enter into an agreement for modernization of the Camden approaches of the Benjamin Franklin Bridge, this Authority to provide ten percent of the funds, the balance to be provided by the Federal Government under the Federal Highway program.

5. A report to the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, responsive to a concurrent resolution of that body, offering to undertake an engineering and traffic survey of a new crossing of the Delaware River between Delaware County, Pennsylvania and New Jersey as speedily as the traffic pattern of the Walt Whitman Bridge is firmly established.

THE WALT WHITMAN BRIDGE

Out of a total of 43 major contracts for the construction of the Walt Whitman Bridge, its approaches and appurtenant structures, only one remained to be advertised and awarded on December 31, 1956.

The only remaining contract is for a fender system for the tower piers. It will be invited in the very near future.

Three and one-half years after award of the first major construction contract on June 24, 1953, the Authority has obligated itself for a total of $83,673,735.62, underwritten in its entirety by the revenues of the Benjamin Franklin Bridge and anticipated revenues from the Walt Whitman Bridge.

Contract commitments built up in the following amounts during the period of major construction activity:

1953	$29,188,735.12
1954	$30,410,747.79
1955	$12,307,244.74
1956	$11,767,007.97

Due to circumstances beyond our control, the entire stretch of the Philadelphia approach system will not be accessible to motorists when the bridge is open to traffic. Initially, the approach system will be open only as far west as Broad Street. Although all of the steel required for the completion of the entire project was on order, the nation-wide steel strike of July 1-27, 1956 resulted in serious delay in delivery of some of the shapes, particularly for the complicated viaduct and interchange structures in the vicinity of Vare and Passyunk Avenues. Delivery of this steel began some weeks ago and affected contractors are prosecuting these remaining gaps in the work as expeditiously as weather conditions and their facilities will allow.

The affected portion of the Philadelphia approaches is that, slightly over one and one-half miles in length, extending westward from Broad Street to approximately 28th Street and Vare Avenue. We pledge you that no circumstance over which this Authority has jurisdiction or control will unduly delay its completion.

The highly complex New Jersey approach roads system, interconnecting with Broadway, Gloucester, the North-South Freeway, Route 130 (Crescent Boulevard) and the Black Horse Pike, will be ready for traffic in its entirety when the bridge opens.

The Authority desires to express its sincere appreciation to the Secretary of Highways of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to the Commissioner of Highways of the State of New Jersey, and the personnel of their respective departments, for the unfailing cooperation and assistance accorded us in meeting and overcoming a multitude of difficult problems.

Section 4 of Article XII-A of the Interstate Compact provides as follows:

"Notwithstanding any of the provisions of this article, the Commission (Authority) shall not, in connection with the bridge or tunnel referred to in this article (Walt Whitman), construct any approach or highway connection in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania unless and until the Department of Highways of said Commonwealth shall have filed with the Commission its written consent to such construction and the Commission shall not, in connection with said bridge or tunnel, construct any approach or highway connection in the State of New Jersey unless and until the State Highway Department of said State shall have filed with the Commission its written consent to such construction."

In actual practice, the rather stern language of the Compact has been reflected in an intimate and mutually cordial cooperation of which this Authority is deeply appreciative.

Making due allowance for varying conditions of site and design, it is probable that the Walt Whitman Bridge will have been opened to traffic more expeditiously than any other comparable structure in this hemisphere, if not in the world. The unfailing cooperation and courtesy which we have received from the highway departments of the two states have been important contributions to the achievement.

The major construction highlights of the past year may be recounted speedily:

The spinning of the main cables, each 23⅛ inches in diameter and composed of 37 strands of 308 steel wires each, was completed on February 22, 1956.

The bottom chord of the main suspension span was closed at 10:20 A. M., June 20, less than nine and one-half months from the date in the early fall of 1955 when the first steel cable to suspend the working "catwalk" was hoisted between the two towers.

Direct highway connection between Fairview, Camden, and Gloucester City was reestablished on July 18, 1956, with the opening of relocated Collings road, a fine, modern boulevard.

On November 21, members of the Authority and its engineers and staff comfortably traversed the bridge-approach system from Broad Street in Philadelphia over the span to the Black Horse Pike in New Jersey by bus, the major portion of the route over asphaltic concrete in place and ready for traffic.

This chronology of events allows some interesting if not necessarily significant comparisons with corresponding periods in the construction of the Benjamin Franklin Bridge, which was opened to traffic on July 1, 1926.

The time lapse from the letting of the first contract to the closing of the main span of the Benjamin Franklin Bridge was approximately three years, four and one-half months; for the Walt Whitman Bridge, a few days less than three years.

The period from the award of the first contract for the Benjamin Franklin Bridge to the first anchorage-to-anchorage inspection by members of the Delaware River Bridge Joint Commission was, by coincidence, exactly one year to the day and almost to the hour longer than the same period in the construction of the Walt Whitman Bridge. The former was four years, four months and 29 days; the latter, three years, four months, and 29 days.

The Walt Whitman Bridge will not achieve its full usefulness until completion of the approximately three and one-half miles of the Schuylkill Expressway from 30th Street to link-up with our end of construction in the vicinity of 28th Street and Vare Avenue. Even with completion and opening to traffic of the Philadelphia approaches to the Walt Whitman Bridge, traffic desiring to enter it at its Vare Avenue terminus must utilize the existing network of city streets. In traffic analyses which necessarily preceded design of the approach system, our engineers, estimated that approximately 15,000 cars a day will utilize the Vare Avenue terminus in both directions. Financing the Schuylkill Expressway under the "90-10" formula of the Federal Highway Program now appears to be assured. We have every confidence that the Pennsylvania Department of Highways and the Department of Streets of the City of Philadelphia will progress this needed improvement as speedily as financing arrangements will allow.

A modest foretaste of the benefits which may be anticipated from the fully completed approach system in Philadelphia was given last December when, for the first time since inauguration of the great inter-service classic, traffic flowed smoothly and speedily across Packer Avenue to the Army-Navy game at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium. Before the broad, paved underpasses of the Bridge approach highway were constructed at 7th, 10th and Broad Streets, traffic entered South Philadelphia south of Packer Avenue over narrow, wooden bridges spanning the former railroad cut. Millions of cubic yards of sand and gravel were pumped from the bed of the Delaware River through pipe-lines to fill a portion of the depression and to create huge stockpiles for filling and elevating the balance. The underpasses, fully open to traffic before the Army-Navy game, now speed its movement to the Philadelphia Naval Base, the U. S. Naval Hospital and the industries and residences of the tip of Philadelphia's peninsula.

THE PORT DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT AND PORT ACTIVITIES

The story of the Port Development Department's activity during the past year might be indexed under just three words: protection, solicitation, and promotion.

The story is written against a background of new tonnage records for the Delaware River Port, despite greatly intensified competition from neighboring ports—a competition which may be expected to increase steadily.

Complete, official tonnage figures for the year 1956 are not yet available. However, tentative figures indicate that the total for the Delaware River Port exceeded 90,000,000 tons last year, a gain over 1955 of at least 5.9 percent.

During 1956, the Delaware River Port once again held the position of "No. 1 Import Port of the United States," handling in excess of 38,000,000 tons.

Applying the formula developed four years ago by the Department's Statistical and Research Section, last year's total tonnage laid down a minimum of $690,000,000 in direct cash income for the Port Area. In terms of purchasing power, the sum approximates $1,750,000,000. Some indication of the impact of such "new money" upon the economy of the area may be derived from the fact that the purchasing power of the port tonnage income last year was more than 36 percent greater than the total of all salaries and wages paid by Philadelphia industry in 1955.

Another measure of the spectacular growth of the commerce of the Delaware River Port is a study of the fast full decade since the close of World War II. During that period, the tonnage of the Delaware River Port has nearly doubled from 51,000,000 tons in 1946 to more than 90,000,000 today. No other port in the United States has made so spectacular a gain in waterborne commerce.

Even more spectacular has been the ten-year increase in foreign commerce, from 16,900,000 tons in 1946 to more than 43,000,000 tons in 1956.

Such statistics, whether represented in tonnages or as dollars income, particularly when they outstrip the growth rates of competing ports, fully justify the oft-repeated statement that "the Delaware River Port is this area's most important business.

The Authority has moved to protect and promote it at every prudent opportunity within the bounds of its legal powers. In accordance with the powers granted in Article I, Section i of the Interstate Compact, we have intervened in three major cases upon which a report seems warranted.

The Interstate Commerce Commission on October 23 announced its decision in the socalled "Iron Ore Rate Case" (I. & S. Docket 6074), upon which we have advised you on two occasions. The case was re-opened on the petitions of the Baltimore, New York and Boston railroads and port interests. The Commission again approved import iron ore rates from Philadelphia to the Pittsburgh, Wheeling, Youngstown area on the same basis as from Baltimore. The Port of New York was placed on a parity with Philadelphia and Baltimore to the Youngstown, Ohio area. The Commission, however, denied an equalization of iron ore rates from Boston to the Youngstown area. This decision to allow New York to publish equal rates to Youngstown came as a great disappointment to Philadelphia port interests. All ten I.C.C. Commissioners voted to approve the present Philadelphia rates, which are same as from Baltimore. Only six commissioners voted to permit New York to equalize with Baltimore, and only one voted to approve equalization from Boston. The decision reaffirms in part the position of the Port Authority in this proceeding, although we strongly opposed equalization of rates from both New York and Boston.

Dissatisfaction with both the 1954 and the 1956 decisions of the Commission in this case has resulted in (1) a suit in Baltimore Federal Court by that city's rail and port interests seeking reversal of the I.C.C. order and re-establishment of the formerly existing lower Baltimore rate, and (2) a suit in Boston Federal Court by that city's rail and port interests, seeking reversal of the I.C.C. decision and equalization of railroad rates on import iron ore with Baltimore. The Authority has continuously participated in these proceedings and will continue to do so until all pending litigation reaches final judgment.

The importance of this case to the port can be fully appreciated by the fact that iron ore imports in the Delaware River Port have increased from approximately 1,000,000 tons in 1953 to over 10,000,000 tons in 1956, bringing with it about $25,000,000 in direct income to the Philadelphia Port Area annually.

The Port Authority on June 27th filed a protest and petition with the Interstate Commerce Commission (I. & S. Docket 6615) requesting the suspension and investigation of reduced rail rates on export and import freight published by the New York and Boston railroads to and from Central Freight Association territory, to become effective July 10, 1956. Ihe Interstate Commerce Commission has suspended the reduced rates to and from all of the North Atlantic Ports and has set dates for hearings in this case commencing early in 1957. This rate adjustment represents an attempt by certain railroads serving the Port of New York and ports north thereof to obtain a parity of rail rates to and from western Pennsylvania and other mid-western points with Philadelphia, which is generally 2c per 100 pounds lower than New York, and Baltimore, which is 3c per 100 pounds under New York. The present port differential rates have been in effect for 75 years. The Port Authority in close cooperation with the Philadelphia railroads, the City of Philadelphia, and the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia is actively engaged in collecting statistics and information for exhibits and testimony in this case in order to protect the best interests of the Port. The Authority has employed special counsel, cost experts and statisticians to assist in the preparation of a strong case, realizing the importance of this matter to the future development of the Port Area.

Since 1938, the Port of Philadelphia had been handicapped by an extra or "arbitrary" charge assessed by motor carriers on freight delivered to piers in the Port Area from adjacent states over and above that charged for domestic deliveries.

When the motor carriers attempted to revise their entire rate structure, in this proceeding before the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Port Authority intervened. It protested that these extra charges—"pier arbitraries" were discriminatory and should be removed.

In August, 1956, the Interstate Commerce Commission sustained the Port Authority's position and ordered the charges removed, thus placing Philadelphia on a parity with Baltimore as to this class of freight movement for the first time in eighteen years.

We have endeavored to keep the Attorneys General of Pennsylvania and New Jersey continuously advised as to each significant development in these rate cases, in addition to formal notification of intervention required by the Compact.

Vigorous protective action of the type described is fully justified, in our opinion, by the obligations to which the legislatures of our two states have mandated us. If further incentive were required, it exists in the program of Delaware River maintenance and improvement for the fiscal year 1957 announced by the U. S. District Engineer, Colonel Allen F. Clark, Jr., and in continuing industrial and riverside development.

Almost six years of unremitting agitation by this Authority, in close cooperation with members of the Congress, State and local officials, maritime, business and civic interests of the Port Area, bore its first fruit on November 23, 1956, when a dredge began pumping mud, sand and gravel from a section of the river just above the Delair Bridge of the Pennsylvania Railroad. On that day, the long-held dream of deepening the channel of the river from Philadelphia Naval Base to Trenton at head of tidewater became a reality.

The announcement of the District Engineer stated that $6,000,000 will be spent during the current fiscal year on the project; $3,250,000 for restoration to 40-foot depth of the channel from Philadelphia to the sea; $1,060,000 for the widening and deepening of the ship anchorages at Marcus Hook and Mantua Creek, and $500,000 for a comprehensive, multi-purpose survey of the Delaware River Basin.

We will continue to exert every proper effort to the end that the District Engineer is regularly supplied with adequate funds to prosecute the channel-deepening project to completion.

Although the river basin survey, just now entering the phase of active planning, embraces problems and facilities lying far beyond the scope of this Authority, the future of the Delaware River, its ports, and its supporting residential, agricultural and industrial hinterland are intimately affected. We are eager to lend our full support to its successful completion.

It has been a prime contention of our support of the channel deepening project from the outset that the vigor of industrial and commercial growth not only justifies the expenditure exclusively from Federal funds, but in fact demands it. The year 1956 supplied additional evidence in support of this view.

In 1956 the National Gypsum Company commenced operation of its new plant near Burlington, New Jersey.

This plant, when in full operation, will use 350,000 tons of gypsum rock annually from Nova Scotia. This material is being transported in specially built cargo carriers which now can only navigate the present channel with a partial load. The Phoenix Iron & Steel Company recently announced the purchase of approximately 900 acres of land on the river between Florence and Burlington, New Jersey. This company plans to build an integrated steel plant at this location, and, according to our information, will import annually approximately 1,500,000 tons of iron ore and other raw materials in deep draft vessels. A modern general cargo terminal which will be one of the finest on the Atlantic Coast is now under construction in Northeast Philadelphia a short distance above the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge. This marine terminal, which has a marginal wharf of 2400 lineal feet and a cargo shed 900 feet long by 200 feet wide, is being built by Northern Metal Company as an addition to its present facilities. This terminal, which will have adequate facilities for the handling of cargoes by rail and motor carriers, is deserving of note in that it is one of a very few general cargo marine terminals in the United States privately owned and operated.

The pressure of greatly intensified competition has been felt both in the field of offices of our Port Solicitation Bureau in New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago, and in our coordinating headquarters in Camden, New Jersey. A growing awareness on the part of the business leadership of the nation's port cities, possibly dramatized by construction progress reports from the St. Lawrence Seaway, of the tremendous community stake in port business has asserted itself nationally. Two cities with deep-rooted maritime traditions—Boston and Baltimore —established port authorities in 1956. The drive for waterborne commerce, which is a major factor in attracting industry dependent upon import raw materials to tidewater, is in full and unmistakable cry.

Our port representatives have recognized the trend, and have intensified their efforts to maintain close contact with principal shippers, as well as railroad and steamship representatives in their areas. In this regard, we take pleasure and pride in the full cooperation and assistance in the solicitation effort given us by the transportation agencies—water, rail and highway—serving the Port Area, and the various business, civic and maritime organizations and agencies. As at no other time in its history, the Delaware River Port is presenting a solid front to the challenge of vigorous competition.

A reflection of the new national and iternational awareness of the significance of healthful port activity was convincingly demonstrated September 18-21 in this area, when the 45th Annual Convention of the American Association of Port Authorities met in Philadelphia. A record of 485 persons, including delegates representing port authorities of Latin America, Canada, the United States and Hawaii and Puerto Rico were in attendance. Cooperating hosts were the Delaware River Port Authority, South Jersey Port Commission, Department of Commerce of the City of Philadelphia, the Port of Philadelphia Maritime Society and the Board of Harbor Commissioners of Wilmington, Delaware.

The year 1956 was one of the most active years in port promotion since establishment of the Port Development in 1949.

Throughout the year, it is conservatively estimated that upward of 500,000 persons, including tens of thousands of elementary, junior and senior high school and college students in the Port District, saw one or more of the Authority's three sound motion pictures—"Delaware River—Port of Opportunity," "Highway to the World," and "Short Cut to World Markets." Included in the total were 1,300 showings to over 107,000 persons in the United States outside of the port area. Approximately 750 showings were made to some 74,000 students and teachers of the Philadelphia School district, which has instituted a special program of instruction on the Port, utilizing the Authority's films, discussion periods and bus and boat tours of the Port teaching media. Numerous other film showings were made to school groups in 23 counties of Eastern Pennsylvania, the eight counties of Southern New Jersey and two counties in Delaware.

Distribution of the films is made through the Philadelphia School District, Commercial Museum of Philadelphia, Camden Film Library and other media, as well as by our staff.

Showing of the film, including Spanish, French and Italian language versions, are being made throughout the world. They are utilized by the U. S. Information Agency and the U. S. Information Service abroad, and at the present time, five Spanish language prints are on tour throughout Latin America.

A new "first" in promotion of the Delaware River Port was achieved in July, when the Authority published a 72-page "Delaware River Port" handbook. The handbook describes the facilities and services of the Port and contains a directory of steamship companies and other agencies serving it. As of December 31, 1956, more than 8,000 copies of this invaluable source book of facts had been distributed throughout the world.

THE BENJAMIN FRANKLIN BRIDGE

Sometime between 1 and 2 o'clock on the morning of Monday, December 17, 1956, the half-billionth vehicle to cross the Benjamin Franklin Bridge passed through its toll lane.

By December 31, 1956, the total had risen to 501,234,866.

It is estimated that if all of the motor vehicles which traversed the great span since opening on July 1, 1926, were to be grouped into a single mass—bumber to bumper, hub cap to hub cap—they would comprise a blanket almost two miles wide extending from the Delaware River to the shore of San Francisco Bay.

Although the rate of increase in traffic during the past year was only about one-eighth that of preceding years, and only about one-twelfth the average for the preceding five year period, it was still an all-time record of 32,198,966, an increase of .44 percent over the 32,058,006 vehicles recorded in 1955.

Retardation of the normal rate of increase in bridge traffic undoubtedly may be attributed to the fact that, on September 14, 1955, the basic toll rate on both the Talcony-Palmyra and the Burlington-Bristol Bridges over the Delaware, operated by the Burlington County Bridge Commission, was reduced to five cents. Traffic in six of the nine months of the past year over the Benjamin Franklin Bridge fell below that of the comparable months in 1955. Beginning with last October and continuing through December, the figures were slightly in advance of the same months of 1955, the increase averaging about .18 percent.

The familiar report upon our traffic which we have submitted to you annually since the report for the calendar year 1926 will be reformed in 1957, with the opening of the Walt Whitman Bridge.

Four years ago, our traffic engineers estimated that total traffic on the Benjamin Franklin and the Walt Whitman Bridges during the first full year of the latter's opening to traffic will aggregate 36,968,000. This estimate is 14.8 percent greater than the actual 1956 traffic over the Benjamin Franklin Brdige alone, and 12.4 percent greater than the traffic engineers' estimate for the same year. At the time the estimates were made, the toll reduction on the two bridges operated by the Burlington County Bridge Commission did not enter into the calculations.

How much combined traffic over the Benjamin Franklin and Walt Whitman Bridges will be affected by factors which were unforeseen four years ago, including the gap in the Schuylkill Expressway to which we have referred, cannot be forecast with any certainty. Whatever the effect of those fortuitous circumstances may be, we are confident that the rate of increase will greatly exceed that of recent years.

On January 17, 1956, the great structure connecting Philadelphia and Camden known for years as the "Delaware River Bridge" was re-named the Benjamin Franklin Bridge in commemoration of the 250th anniversary of the birth of the great American scientist, patriot and statesman.

The dedicatory exercises were held in conjunction with world-wide celebration of the Franklin anniversary. J. William Markeim, Vice-chairman of the Port Authority, presided at the ceremonies at the tablet at the eastern end of the Camden Toll Plaza, facing 7th Street. The dedicatory tablet bearing Franklin's head in bas relief, bears this inscription:

THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE
DELAWARE RIVER PORT AUTHORITY
DEDICATE THIS BRIDGE TO THE MEMORY OF A GREAT PATRIOT
SCIENTIST AND STATESMAN AND IN HIS HONOR NAME IT THE BENJAMIN FRANKLIN BRIDGE

Governor Robert B. Meyner, of New Jersey, spoke briefly and unveiled the tablet in the presence of a distinguished company of Federal, State and local representatives of government, representatives of the various societies and organizations which Franklin founded or with which he was affiliated, members of the consular corps and officers and members of the Poor Richard Club of Philadelphia.

Following the Camden ceremony, the motorcade proceeded to the Philadelphia Plaza. Weldon B. Heyburn, Chairman of the Port Authority and Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, presided. The tablet, fixed on the south pylon of the Philadelphia Plaza structure, was unveiled by Major General A. J. Drexel Biddle, Adjutant General of Pennsylvania, representing Governor George M. Leader. Immediately following this ceremony, George M. Neil, President of the Poor Richard Club, unveiled a tablet to Franklin's memory fixed permanently in the Plaza structure in front of the north pylon.

Prior to the bridge dedication ceremony, Mr. Heyburn placed a wreath upon Franklin's grave in Old Christ Churchyard at 5th and Arch Streets in the name of the Delaware River Port Authority. Following it, members of the Authority and its predecessor commissions, the Delaware River Joint Commission and the Delaware River Bridge Joint Commission, were guests at the annual Franklin Day luncheon in Franklin Hall of the Benjamin Franklin Memorial and Franklin Institute Museum at 20th and the Parkway.

One of the most significant actions taken by the Authority in the recent history of the Benjamin Franklin Bridge came at the December meeting. A resolution was adopted advising Governor Meyner and New Jersey State Highway Commissioner Dwight R. G. Palmer of the Authority's readiness to enter into an agreement with the State of New Jersey, through its Highway Department, for modernization of the Camden approaches to the bridge. This improvement, the necessity for which was recognized when the bridge opened more than thirty years ago, has been the repeated subject of comment and recommendation by this Authority. Widened Vine Street in Philadelphia relieved traffic congestion on the Pennsylvania approaches, but the narrow funnels of Penn and Linden Streets in Camden resulted in serious congestion, not only of through bridge traffic, but upon abutting streets of the City of Camden.

Discussion which the Executive Director held with Governor Meyner and Commissioner Palmer earlier in the year indicated that the most opportune means of accomplishing the approach improvement would be through the Federal Highway program.

The effect of the resolution is this: The New Jersey Highway Department would apply for funds under the "90-10" formula (90 percent of the funds provided by the Federal Government, the balance of 10 percent by the State) for construction of a new highway connection from the Camden Plaza of the Bridge to an interchange with porposed New Jersey Route 60, a freeway approximately paralleling the Delaware River as an interstate link from Trenton to the Delaware Memorial Bridge. From 7th to the vicinity of 11th Streets, Camden, a new approach would be constructed, as either a depressed or elevated structure between Penn and Linden Streets. This structure would continue as a limited-access highway, generally northward of the present Admiral Wilson Boulevard, to the Route 60 connection.

The Port Authority's action expresses its readiness to reimburse the State of New Jersey for 10 percent of the total cost, the State's share of the project. No right-of-way or final design has been developed and the agreement would of course be subject to ratification in final form. The same procedure was followed with both the Pennsylvania and the New Jersey highway departments in construction of the approaches to the Walt Whitman Bridge with most satisfactory results, as noted elsewhere in this report.

The proposed improvement would free the streets of Camden City of the congestion due to through traffic; it would re-establish and permit further development of Admiral Wilson Boulevard as a high value commercial district, and would open up interesting possibilities in freeing North Camden from the present obstacle of bridge traffic. Finally, it would make possible free movement of our traffic to a distribution point well beyond urban congestions.

A contract for painting the bridge was awarded by the Authority last spring and by the year's end, when weather forced suspension of the work until spring, all but a few remote items of the contract had been completed. Analysis of the painting contract costs over the past thirty years offers an arresting documentary on the multiplication of maintenance costs on so massive a structure. The 1956 contract price of $386,685, awarded to the low bidder after public receipt and opening of bids, is 1.5 times the cost in 1947, 3.8 times 1938, and almost five times the initial painting cost in 1926.

We again are gratified to be able to advise you that, due to a twenty-four hour a day patrol of the bridge by police vehicles, an exemplary safety record was established. There were three unfortunate fatalities, resulting in a rate of one death for each 19,319,379 vehicle miles. The national average of deaths per million vehicles is 6.4. The corresponding average for Benjamin Franklin Bridge last year was 5.2, or one-fifth below the over-all fatality rate for the United States. Police recorded a total of 620 accidents, all but a few of which were of negligible consequence, giving an accident rate of one for each 93,480 vehicle miles.

In accordance with long-standing policy of the Authority, full cooperation with Federal, State and local civil defense measures was continued throughout 1956. We now are fully prepared with the most modern warning systems not only to take appropriate emergency measures for the protection and dispersion of bridge patrons in the event of an emergency, but also to give prompt and timely warning to our own personnel.

The most recent of these devices—a "CONELRAD" radio receiver—was installed promptly in compliance with a directive of the Federal Communications Commission dated September 25, 1956.

"Conelrad," a contraction of the phrase "controlled electronic radiation," is a system for grouping standard radio broadcasting on fixed dial positions in such a way that enemy aircraft or guided missile ships at sea would be unable to utilize the broadcast beams as radio direction finders for locating critical targets. If enemy attack impends, all standard radio stations revert to emergency broadcasting on dial positions 640 and 1240. Our equipment automatically "homes" on this shift, thus alerting our switchboard and through it our own short-wave and telephone communications system. This new electronic aid supplements the more familiar "bell and light" equipment for alerting key facilities to the various civil defense emergency signals.

During the year, bridge personnel participated in three civil defense drills: New Jersey's "Operation Surprise" in February, a civil defense communications test without public participation; New Jersey's "Operation May Day" on May 1, a public patricipation test, during which the bridge was closed to all traffic for ten minutes; and the nationwide "Operation Alert" on July 20, when the bridge again was closed to all traffic for ten minutes.

Our bridge personnel have achieved a smooth and effortless routine in responding to civil defense alerts. With the backing of disciplined personnel and the aid of the electronic measures outlined, we believe that Benjamin Franklin Bridge is as well prepared as such a facility can be to face the dire consequences of a national emergency.

On December 31, 1956, the authorized strength of the Authority's personnel was 264, one fewer than for the same date in 1955. In the course of the year, there were one death, three resignations for retirement, 21 resignations, 2 service terminations, all of which vacancies were filled.

The total outstanding debt of the Authority at year's end was $103,156,000, made up of $100,000,000 First Series Revenue bonds and $3,156,000 Refunding Bridge bonds due June 1, 1966.

Gross receipts for 1956 were $9,390,148.39, an increase of $27,907.05 over 1955. Operating expenses totaled $1,770,331.01, or an increase of $90,805.48 over the preceding year. Income on investments and bank balances was $1,431,893.89, a reduction of $483,031.16, principally reflecting dwindling income during the year from invested construction funds as those funds were absorbed by Walt Whitman Bridge construction costs. Interest payments on the 1946 (1966) Refunding Bridge bonds and the 1953 First Series Revenue bonds totaled $3,455,493.83.

Port Development Department expenses of $239,803.91 left net revenue for the year before $400,200 non-opreating adjustments of $5,356,413.53. Port expenses in 1955 were $216,996.94 and net revenue for that year was $5,913,675.90, reflecting a decrease of $557,262.37.

The first maturity of $600,000 on the $100,000,000 First Series Revenue bond issue will become due on December 15, 1957. It will be followed on December 15, 1958, with a maturity of $900,000.

A significant feature of our fiscal management during the year just ended was the retirement of an impressive fraction of our Bridge Refunding bonds, issued in 1946 at an interest rate of 1 percent. Several years ago, the Authority fixed a policy of purchasing any offering of these bonds at a price of 90 plus accrued interest. Late last year, due to money market conditions, the policy of accepting all offerings of the bonds at 90 plus accrued interest was terminated as of December 31, 1956. At the final meeting of the year, the Authority directed public announcement that, for the period January 1-March 31, 1957, Bridge Refunding bonds would be repurchased at 85 plus accrued interest.

During 1956, $4,002,000 of the Refunding Bridge bonds were purchased and cancelled, a reduction of over 55 percent in one year in this issue.

SOUTHERN NEW JERSEY MASS TRANSPORTATION SURVEY

The Delaware River Port Authority on August 18, 1954, engaged the New York engineering firm of Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Hall and Macdonald to conduct a survey and to report upon the economic feasibility of an integrated mass transportation system for Southern New Jersey, with a connection to downtown Philadelphia.

This action, responsive to Article I, Paragraph (j) of the Inter-State Compact, was taken only after several months of meetings of the Authority's Transportation Committee in which it interviewed and consulted with the foremost engineering firms of the United States.

Provision was made for distribution of the final report to the two Governors and the Legislatures and to other individuals and organizations having a primary interest, and it was then released to the press on March 22, 1956.

After four months of intensive study and analysis by the Authority and its staff, the report was approved on July 12, 1956, and the Transportation Committee directed to prepare a report to the Governors and the Legislatures, as required by law. This report, dated July 18, 1956, was reproduced in brochure form. Approximately 4,000 copies have been distributed not only within the Port District but to Federal, State and local government officials, planning boards and transportation agencies throughout the United States.

In May, meanwhile, the New Jersey Legislature appointed a Special Joint Commission, chairmanned by the Honorable Charles W. Sandman, Jr., Senator from Cape May County, to study and report upon a rail rapid transit system for Southern New Jersey. Members of the Authority met with Senator Sandman's Commission on September 25, 1956, for an exploratory discussion of the engineers' report.

The Authority is gratified to report that in the intervening months since the report was made public, it has received and is now receiving the most careful study by numerous organizations both in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

A special effort was made to place copies of the parent report in libraries of colleges, universities and technical societies of the Port District, as well as in public libraries throughout the area, in order to afford the widest possible public access to its recommendations.

In addition to the initial report of Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Hall and Macdonald, the Authority requested a supplementary report which it was felt was necessary to clarify certain aspects of the problem. Cost of the survey was $325,000.00.

To quote from our own report:

> "The engineers propose that high-speed rail transit be provided from a terminal station near City Hall, Philadelphia, with a track connection to the Pennsylvania Railroad Suburban Station, through a new subway under Arch Street and a tunnel under the Delaware River to the existing elevated Broadway Station, Camden, and thence, fanning out along existing railroad rights-of-way to terminal stations just beyond Moorestown, Haddonfield and Woodbury. Stations would be built at Fifth and Tenth Streets along the Arch Street Subway in addition to the terminal in Philadelphia. The trunkline between Philadelphia and Camden would be 2.9 miles long and the spurs from Camden to Moorestown, Haddonfield and Woodbury, 10.6, 8.6 and 9.5 respectively. The rapid transit rails would be entirely separate from the railroad tracks. Grade separations would be provided, safety and comfort of passengers emphasized and patrons would enjoy a reduction in travel time estimated at ten million man hours a year."

This, in brief, is the physical structure of the system proposed. Our consulting engineers made a primary postulate of their survey that any mass transportation to meet the needs of the area would have to be realistically competititve with the private motor vehicle and, therefore, in the engineers' view, a decided improvement in terms of speed, comfort and convenience over now existing mass transportation.

This view the engineers expressed as follows:

> "The dominant problem for the Southern New Jersey area is whether to accept the stagnation and decline of regional mass transportation and the intensification of traffic congestion and frustration of regional development that will result, or whether to reinvigorate regional mass transportation.
> "We, on our part, look forward to the continued importance and vitality of the center city cores of Philadelphia and Camden; a continuation—even acceleration of the dispersion of homes to the residential subsurbs, and out of the prosperity of the center city cores and their commuters, the generation of substantial new commercial activity in Southern New Jersey. But this can only come about through the reinvigoration of mass transportation in a form to pentrate the downtown urban cores, link the centers of employment and commerce and collect from automobiles, before they accumulate in zones of potential congestion, the workers and shoppers upon whom the vitality of the whole region will depend.
> "The success of regional transportation will in turn depend upon its development of an attractive competitive posture in relation to the private automobile. To achieve this, interurban mass transit must provide comfortable seats for all passengers, must operate at high speed and must provide service at short intervals."

Such a system, the engineers advised us, would be "not only the best, but the least cost solution to the region's total land development and transportation problem."

It was apparent that the structure of the system proposed raised no insuperable technical or engineering problems. However, it was equally apparent that the financing of the system was—and remains—of a very different order of concern.

We addressed ourselves to this subject in the following language:

> "The Delaware River Port Authority endorses the conclusions of the engineers that the projected line should be constructed and put into operation as quickly as possible. There is no doubt as to its desirability. The question is—how can this system be financed? The engineers estimate that the cost of construction, rights-of-way and equipment, exclusive of financing charges and interest during construction, will be $242,000,000. Inclusion of the items omitted would necessitate a bond issue of from $282,000,000 to $30,000,000. The lesser amount would represent the saving that could be effected if the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey 'or responsible sub-divisions thereof', would guarantee the bonds."

One of the requirements of our contract with Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Hall and Macdonald was that the report should have appended to it, as an annex, a financial feasibility study prepared by a financial consultant of accepted competence. Such an inquiry was made and reported upon by Smith, Barney and Company.

The financial feasibility study concluded that if the total net earnings of the Benjamin Franklin Bridge, the Walt Whitman Bridge and the proposed Northeast Philadelphia-New Jersey Bridge were pledged as security for forty years, they would support a bond issue of $113,600,000. This estimate arbitrarily fixed the sum of $250,000 a year for expenditures by the Authority's Port Development Department, or very close to the present level of expenditure for port purposes. In other words, a pledge of the Authority's total resources to the approximate end of the present century still would provide only 47 percent of the minimum estimated requirement for the transit system proposed.

Even a superficial study of the alternate means by which additional financing in the order of $128,400,000 could be obtained quickly revealed the difficulties. For that reason, the Authority asked the engineers in their addendum report to address themselves to an unequivocal statement as to the need for so large an investment.

The relevant portion of their response is:

> "Can the Delaware River Porth Authority, by dedicating all unencumbered resources of the Benjamin Franklin Bridge, Walt Whitman Bridge and new Northeast Philadelphia-New Jersey Bridge, if built, and by covenanting that it will build no new facilities and limit its expenditures for port promotion and development to $250,000 annually, finance the rail transit line projected in your report? . . ."
> "ANSWER: No.
> "Can the Authority, by thus pledging the total resources under its direction and control (i.e., $113,600,000) finance any transit system that would materially improve present transportation between South Jersey and Philadelphia?
> "ANSWER: If, as we postulated for the conduct of our work, the measure of material improvement of transit will be its ability to attract to its service substantially more travelers than now patronize existing mass transporation facilities—then our answer is no . . ."

The answer to our question, therefore, in the considered and experienced judgment of our consultants, was "all or nothing"—a system such as that proposed, requiring a minimum expenditure of $242,000,000, or none.

This reply, in effect, placed any further initiative in the matter beyond the legal powers of this Authority.

We are expressly debarred from having recourse to the credit of either the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the State of New Jersey, or of any of the political sub-divisions thereof. To erase this prohibition, if it were feasible, would require joint action by the Legislatures of both states to amend the Interstate Compact. It probably would involve the long-drawn-out and cumbersome procedure of constitutional amendment in both states.

Although, in our request for supplementary information, we pressed our consultants to supply us with feasible suggestions as to how some part of the financing might be effected at the local government level consistent with local attitudes and fiscal policy, no applicable suggestions were available.

The alternative of increasing tolls upon the interstate bridges now or in the future to be operated by the Authority not only would merely ameliorate the financial requirements, it would run solidly against the viewpoints and the interest of the very public which is our patron.

As we again commented in our report:

> "Increasing tolls, a most distasteful procedure, would therefore not balance the budget even if the Secretary of the Army, who has jurisdiction over tolls on interstate bridges, were willing to give his consent. Opposition from motorists would be naturally intense, based upon the ground that they were singled out to bear the burden of the rail transit project. They would undoubtedly assert that the present toll schedule covers operation costs and debt service on the bridges in use or proposed and claim that rail transit persons should pay their own way."

It is here that discussion of the matter and its determination rested at the close of the year.

We sought to summarize the problem in capsule form at the conclusion of our July report in these words:

"The engineers' detailed report points to a solution of a most difficult and pressing problem. Action to be taken by the Authority will, of course, be dictated by the Legislatures and the Governors."

THE NORTHEAST PHILADELPHIA-NEW JERSEY BRIDGE PROJECT

On April 2, 1956, a measure authorizing and empowering the Delaware River Port Authority to construct, operate and maintain a high-level vehicular bridge connecting Northeast Philadelphia and New Jersey was introduced in the Legislature of New Jersey by the Honorable Steelman Mathis, Senator from Ocean County.

The proposed legislation was referred to the Committee on Judiciary of the Senate of New Jersey. It had not been reported out at the end of the 1956 session.

A Pennsylvania counterpart was unanimously approved by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania late in 1955 and signed by Governor Leader in December of that year. Its provisions do not become effective until legislation in substantially similar form is enacted by New Jersey.

Since our annual report for 1955 discussed in some detail the reasons which prompted the Authority to seek enactment of such legislation and described the engineers' report which was submitted with it, a lengthy review in this report would be pointless.

However, it may be recalled that a serious conflict between motor vehicle traffic operating over the Taconey-Palmyra Bridge and shipping on the Delaware destined for points north of the bridge developed to a point where the Brulington County Bridge Commission petitioned the U. S. District Engineer for relief.

The petition requested that the District Engineer grant permission to the bridge operator to keep the drawspan of the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge closed from 7 A. M. to 8:30 A. M., and from 4:30 P. M. to 6 P. M., Monday through Friday of each week. These were and are the hours of peak vehicular traffic. Opening of the drawspan during these hours resulted in serious traffic congestion on the bridge approaches, the District Engineer was advised, and an ineqitable burden upon motorists regularly traversing it.

After public hearing, the District Engineer submitted his report, through channels, to the Chief of Army Engineers who, under date of January 20, 1956, published his findings of fact and conclusions.

"The record amply demonstrates," he concluded, "that the present low-level movable bridges, carrying heavy highway traffic over heavy navigation, are not adequate for present-day needs and should be replaced by a modern high-level structure or structures.

"The bridge openings result in economic loss not susceptible to exact analysis. Any savings to highway traffic by closed periods would not eliminate the economic loss, but merely transfer it to waterborne commerce and to vehicles crossing during hours outside the closed periods.

"Pending the long range solution of modern bridges, the present situation should be approached as a mutual problem of all interested in both land and water transportation and the development of the region rather than the imposition of any arbitrary restrictions on either form of transportation."

The Chief of Engineers stated that "the District Engineer is also being instructed to report further at the end of 90 days and the course of any future action will be determined by an evaluation of the beneficial results being obtained by continued cooperative action in limiting drawspan openings during peak hours of highway traffic."

On August 24, 1956, Colonel Clark, the United States District Engineer, issued a public notice to the effect that the cooperation among all parties at interest had resulted "in fewer openings of the drawbridges for the passages of vessels during the rush traffic periods," and that therefore the petition for closed periods was disallowed.

With full appreciation of the many factors involved in this issue, the Port Authority was and continues to be of the opinion that the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge is now and increasingly will become an obstacle to the free and unimpeded movement of traffic, whether water-borne upon the Delaware or landborne between the two states.

In our judgment, many factors mentioned elsewhere in this report will sustain our position as the months advance. Among them are the deepening of the channel between the Philadelphia Naval Base and Trenton, the steady increase in tonnages proceeding to industrial plants north of the bridge, the opening of new industry in Burlington and Camden counties and the heavy interstate vehicular traffic, both commercial and private, which these developments will induce.

Sooner or later, we believe, these various factors will merge into a crisis which can be relieved only by the construction of a multilane high level bridge with approach roads and highway interconnections at least as extensive as those of the Walt Whitman Bridge.

In accordance with both the spirit and the letter of the Interstate Compact, we have moved to the limit of our authority in an effort to anticipate and forestall that crisis, with all of its implications of artificial restraint upon the commerce and industry of the heart of our Port District.

IN CONCLUSION

We note for this record and with regret the death during 1956 of Homer R. Seely, employed by our consulting engineers, Modjeski and Masters, Ammann and Whitney, as Project Engineer during construction of the Walt Whitman Bridge. Ralph C. Holt replaced Mr. Seely as Project Engineer.

The terms of Messrs. Walter M. Phillips, Harry G. Schad and James V. Baney as members of the Port Authority expired with adjournment of the Pennsylvania Legislature on May 22, 1956. Subsequently, Governor Leader re-appointed Mr. Baney and nominated Ted Schlanger and Frank M. Steinberg, both of Philadelphia, to replace Mr. Phillips and Mr. Schad.

The record of the year's activity herein outlined is testimony, in the Authority's view, of the steady if unspectacular and judicious extension of our efforts into the complete category of public purposes for which it was created. Their effectuation, as is the case with numerous other public purposes, involves differences and in some cases actual conflicts of view. These are unimportant, and readily susceptible of conciliation and compromise, so long as the long-range objective of the welfare of the people of our two states is not obscured. It will not be through any conscious act of this Authority.

We renew our appreciation of the many acts of friendly cooperation and interest manifested by the legislative and executive branches of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey in 1956. Throughout our port district, the door of the year is ajar upon a period of extraordinary opportunity and challenge in the public interest. We bespeak your continued support and interest to the end that, so far as the acts of this Authority are concerned, the opportunity is neither lost nor wasted.

We have examined the balance sheet of the DELAWARE RIVER PORT AUTHORITY as of December 31, 1956, the statement of revenues and expenses for the year then ended and related supporting statements. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

Because the accounts for tolls, rentals and operating expenses are maintained on the cash basis, the accompanying statements do not reflect prepayments and accruals of certain relatively minor items. Otherwise the accounting is maintained on the accrual basis.

Subject to the preceding paragraph, it is our opinion, that the accompanying balance sheet, statement of revenues and expenses and supporting related statements fairly present the financial position of the Delaware River Port Authority at December 31, 1956, and the results of operations for the twelve months then ended, in conformity with acceptable accounting principals consistently applied.

Honorable George Leader
State Capitol
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Sir:

You asked us to study the operations of the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax to help improve the effectiveness of its administration. It was agreed that our chief aim should be to help develop and initiate steps that could be immediately acted upon, and we have reported progress to you weekly. The purpose of the accompanying report, therefore, is to elaborate upon our prior presentations and to bring them together in one document.

What We Said We Would Do

Our letter to you of December 21, 1956, outlined the services this Firm was to provide. In summary, we proposed to devote the first half of January to diagnosing the strengths and weaknesses of the Bureau's operations, and the second half to helping get needed improvements instituted promptly. It was understood that we would collaborate with Dr. Lyle Fitch and Mr. Vernon Eckstrom, specialists in sales tax administration, made available through the Institute of Public Administration. They were to concentrate primarily on what ought to be done to improve the Sales Tax Act and its enforcement; we were to concentrate on developing a practical program detailing how the Bureau itself could most effectively direct its efforts and carry out its business.

We agreed to present this program to you for review at the end of January, but emphasized that it would not be the product of a complete analysis of the Bureau's operations. It was to be "an enumeration of those actions that a quick and limited survey demonstrates should be taken promptly." We also agreed to help in every way possible in putting this program into action.

What We Have Done

The first necessity was the review of each basic process being performed by the Bureau's Central Office—what was being done, how, and why. To check out the support these operations were giving the field and to fill in the picture, we next visited (in collaboration with the representatives of the Institute of Public Administration) all five Regional Offices and seven additional district offices, or a total of 10 of the 22 cities where field offices are operating.

After this initial survey, we presented our preliminary findings on problem areas, analyzed the adequacy of existing approaches to their solution, and suggested additional approaches. We next turned to substantiation of the problems identified and to determining what steps are required to overcome these problems. This involved primarily analysis of backlogs (or volumes of work on hand over and above normal working inventory). each of which was bottlenecking successive operations.

These backlogs have been analyzed in as precise detail as existing record-keeping makes possible. Specific steps have been recommended and taken to eliminate them as quickly as possible. Target dates have been fixed that are not only logical in their timing but reasonable within the resources that can be expected to be applied. These plans have not only been reported to you at weekly meetings wherein you have given needed supra-departmental orders; they have also been discussed daily within the Bureau where implementation has been worked out.

Nature of This Report

On February 1 we presented to you a program specifying forty-four steps that should be taken to improve the administration of the Sales and Use Tax. The Institute of Public Administration simultaneously suggested specific measures on 15 phases of the enforcement program, such as audit selection, statistical data, information on audit costs, audit review, work standards, etc. The two programs complemented each other fully and logically.

This report deals only with the findings, activities, and further recommendations of McKinsey & Company, Inc. It presents our findings and recommendations in three chapters. In the first chapter, we identify the Bureau's six major problems. In the second chapter, we "spell out" a program for making the improvements needed. In the third chapter, we describe the progress that has been made to date in instituting these improvements.

We said in the earlier cited letter that our success would depend upon the willing cooperation and desire for assistance of the Bureau's staff. This essential cooperation has been evident in increasing measure. Even more helpful, however, have been the interest and support of yourself and the Cabinet officers and staff members attending the weekly briefings in the Office of the Secretary of Administration. This support has contributed greatly to the progress being made.

Respectfully submitted,

INTRODUCTION

The Selective Sales and Use Tax Law was enacted less than a year ago. Its complex provisions affected over 200,000 taxpayers in Pennsylvania. A large organization—the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax—had to be formed, almost overnight, to administer and collect the tax, to ensure maximum revenues to the State of Pennsylvania and assure its taxpayers of fair and equal treatment.

Inevitably, as with any large new enterprise faced with an unfamiliar task, the Bureau has encountered serious problems during its "shakedown" period. These problems fall into two general categories:

1. The Bureau's ability to collect the revenues contemplated by the law, and

2. The Bureau's ability to collect these revenues at an economical cost.

For the most part the existence of these problems has been recognized by the Governor, his staff, and the executives of the Bureau. This report is the outcome of such recognition.

The diagnosis and analysis of problems which follows is necessarily critical in nature. This should not obscure the steps which have been taken toward improvement and the willingness of the Bureau to correct the problems that have limited its effectiveness.

IMPROVING THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE BUREAU OF SALES AND USE TAX COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

1—WHAT WE FOUND

As early as January 10 we identified six major problems that underlie deficiencies that had been noted in the operations of the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax. All six problems are inter-related and have contributed cumulatively to the failure of the Bureau to reach all taxpayers and efficiently to seek out all revenue due.

These six key problems are:

1. The distinctive characteristics of the law itself (Selective Sales and Use Tax Law, effective March 7, 1956) that make difficult general understanding by taxpayers and the establishment of efficient administration.

2. The need for the Bureau's staff effectively and persisitenly to inform all taxpayers of their obligations under this relatively new law.

3. The need for efficient, orderly, and economical plans and procedures, and trained staff to process and record taxpayers' returns.

4. The effort needed to be made by the Bureau's staff to seek out individuals and firms not complying with the law, to investigate discrepancies and apparent delinquencies, and to audit the records of an adequate sample of all taxpayers to ensure general compliance.

5. The prevalence of generally unsatisfactory standards of production among employees. This problem was especially apparent in the field offices; in some offices, there was a lack of discipline and in others there was the reported unwillingness of some employees to apply themselves to the work for which they were employed.

6. The inability of those individuals responsible for the direction of the Bureau, for the administration of the Selective Sales and Use Tax, (within the time available and in the fact of the handicaps that confronted them) effectively to lay out the work to be done, to recruit and train a competent staff, to obtain needed supplies promptly, and, hence, to get the Bureau's work done.

In subsequent paragraphs, the nature of each of these problems will be described.

(a) Characteristics of Law that Handicap Administration

The distinctive characteristics of Pennsylvania's Selective Sales and Use Tax were the subject of special study by representatives of the Institute of Public Administration. Their analyses were reviewed with officials of the Department of Revenue, with representatives of the Attorney General and the Governor. Their conclusions as to the efficiency of the law as a means of raising revenue were itemized at several weekly meetings with the appropriate officials. We comment here only on the several features that tend to complicate the Act and make its administration difficult.

1. The selective and exemptive features of the act, almost unique among the provisions of state sales tax laws, make difficult the informing of taxpayers as to their liabilities, the establishment of a firm master list of required registrants, and require the preparation and issuance of numerous and troublesome definitions and rulings.

2. The separation of the Sales and Use and Hotel Occupancy taxes requires that two distinct and overlapping sets of files and records be maintained, and that taxpayers submit separate reports and remittances.

3. The provision of Section 541 (d) that an effective rate, "based upon the ratio between the tax required to be collected and taxable sales," be determined by business classification adds a burdensome task of assembling and analyzing statistical data from taxpayers' returns. As yet this has not been possible. When accomplished, it is questionable whether the use of such effective rates (as prescribed by statute) will either make for greater equity in the treatment of taxpayers or facilitate administration other than as a guide to audit selection.

(b) Informing Taxpayers Of Their Obligations

This is a new law that went into effect only last March on the day after it was enacted. It was amended in May and the first official regulations interpreting it were not issued until July. They were by no means simple, clear, or comprehensive. This situation demanded two crash programs—an all-out effort to inform all potential taxpayers of their obligations under this new, unfamiliar, and complicated law; and the rapid building of an agency to administer the act fairly, yet firmly.

We found that during the months since enactment of the law, insufficient efforts had been made to acquaint taxpayers with the law and their liability. Several taxpayer bulletins were issued by the end of December 1956, but no schedule of future issuances had been planned. No substantial program of conferences with large industry groups had been planned to attain the mutual understanding of obligations required for voluntary compliance. No regulations had been issued covering public utilities and the regulation covering the printing industry was in a state of virtual suspense.

(c) Needed: More Efficient Plans and Procedures

If the 300 employees who are responsible for processing and recording taxpayers' returns in the central office of the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax are to perform these repetitive paper-work operations efficiently, they must be guided by carefully planned, detailed procedures. Such procedures had not existed. As a consequence there were, during January, three serious backlogs in these operations.

1. The machine accounting operations were seriously behind schedule. No adequate plans existed for bringing these operations to a current status. An insufficient number of trained operators were available: A tax collection system that uses machine accounting for the maintenance of taxpayers' returns can only be as accurate and current as are its machine accounting operations. In January 1957, the accumulation of unprocessed work in this Division (for example, the preparation of lists of delinquent taxpayers was on an average more than four months behind) was seriously handicapping the performance of other central office operations and the activities of field office personnel.

2. No central taxpayer record was available to show each transaction with and the status for each taxpayer: There did not exist a central set of records from which the full record of a taxpayer could be found in a single place. Thus it has been necessary to make up to twelve searches to locate a given taxpayer's registration, previous returns, and correspondence in order to process any inquiry or credit action for a taxpayer. The impracticality for making such burdensome searches has resulted in the accumulation of a large volume of unprocessed claims for credits due to taxpayers and the consequent dissatisfaction of many taxpayers.

The lack of this vital central taxpayer record must be attributed to a decision made last spring that has long since been reversed. This situation has materially handicapped operations throughout subsequent months, and in spite of efforts to correct it, will not be fully overcome for another few months.

3. "Irregular" tax returns (e.g., returns marked by some discrepancy, with differences between the attached check and the return, with correspondence attached, or returns made up on the taxpayers' worksheets rather than the prescribed return form) are diverted from the routine flow of work and remain unprocessed. As of January 10, roughly 40,000 returns (over 20 percent of a month's returns) were being sidetracked each month. There being insufficient employees to handle this accumulated workload in the Internal Audit Division, backlogs mounted to significant proportions by this date. This meant that a substantial amount of revenue in the checks attached to these returns was not made available to the state, that the central machine accounting operations could not complete their processes, and the correction of the discrepancy by communication with the taxpayers was, in many instances, delayed.

(d) Insufficient Effort On Investigation and Auditing Programs

The administration of most tax laws depends, in substantial part, upon the voluntary compliance of those citizens who are obligated to pay the tax. The handling of their returns submitted voluntarily in compliance with the law involves the routine processing of a large volume of returns, remittances, and records. But keeping the percentage of voluntary compliance high depends not alone upon the processing of returns voluntarily submitted, but importantly upon the effectiveness of the continual field investigating of taxpayers who are apparently delinquent, of those whose remittances or returns are incomplete or inaccurate, and the auditing of the records of a substantial sample of taxpayers to ensure full compliance with the law.

Such a program of investigation and auditing of tax should recover, in delinquent taxes, at least the total cost for both the routine processing and field enforcement functions.

Actually, the Bureau's field investigations and audits yielded in December, 1956, $154,000, and in November, $123,000.* In comparison, the monthly payroll for the field force of slightly over 400 (backed up by a central staff of 325), during these months exceeded $200,000. The inadequacy of results attained is apparent.

These programs should comprise more systematic selection (by type of business and by regions) of enforcement targets, on-the-job training, close supervision, and reporting against work standards. The three-day training course given October 17-19 was a good start but should have been followed up even more intensively than it has been; many of the men do not or cannot practically, report daily to their offices and so get no direct supervision or on-the-job training; floating squad auditors have not been used effectively to help overcome the deficiencies of the field force; there is no check on the accuracy of number of assignments reported as accomplished; and no published standards or definitions of a fair day's work have existed.

We found no adequate, systematic record of the total number of investigations being made or of the number being performed by each employee carried on the payroll to make these investigations.* Total audits made in the period August 1 to December 31 were 927, and they took 2760 man days to accomplish, or the full working time of an average of about 28 men (while an average of over 200 were being paid as auditors).

(e) Personnel Inadequacies

Collecting a sales tax efficiently requires a large number of conscientious and well-supervised clerks, a few higher-grade in-office audit clerks, a larger number of investigators for "leg work," and a substantial number of qualified auditors. Regarding field personnel, the February 1 presentation of the Institute of Public Administration made precise recommendations as to the numbers of competent auditors and investigators required. Our last paragraphs indicate we found a high percentage of the field personnel inexperienced (to some extent natural in view of the newness of the sales tax to Pennsylvania), insufficiently trained to have even confidence much less competence, and to some extent unable to carry out their assignments because of extraneous interests and responsibilities.

In the Central Office, we found that the in-office audit clerks were probably sufficient in number but bogged down in detail and struggling with backlogs of accrued work that could have been accomplished by clerk-typists.

*Figures based on actual results of field audits and estimates of investigations. The figure for January, $284,000, showed significant improvement.

*An improved reporting system was instituted as of Feb. 1.

Figures derived from the Bureau's report entitled, "Recapitulation 1956" (floating squad included).

It is not yet possible to tell the number of clerks that will ultimately be required for several reasons. First, there has been no reporting of time expended against routine work accomplished, so that no yardsticks have been developed for planning, scheduling, and staffing. Second, a large portion of the clerical staff's time, including overtime, is now being devoted to overcoming the drawbacks of the present filing system, replacing that system with an efficient one, and eliminating backlogs.

The backlogs that are now consuming so many clerical hours are partly the result of lack of typists (especially in the Internal Audit Division) but mainly from lack of clearly developed procedures. (The first draft of an Operating Procedures Manual was not issued until lat January.) For example, procedures for handling of the annual return had not been finalized and published by the end of January, i.e., even after these returns had begun to be filed. Unskilled clerks require precise written procedures, careful training, and effective supervision if each is to handle the volume of paper work that is involved.

(f) Accomplishments and Failures of Management

Those presently in charge of the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax—the Deputy Secretary of Revenue and the Acting Director of the Bureau—have been in charge for approximately one hundred and forty days. Throughout this period, four of the five top jobs have been filled on an "acting" basis. They inherited the difficult task of administering a new law with an inexperienced and untrained staff. And they encountered a succession of obstacles—administrative and political—in obtaining needed staff and facilities and in obtaining satisfactory performance from the total of more than 700 employes on the Bureau's payroll.

Despite the limited time and the obstacles encountered the Deputy Secretary and Acting Director had already recognized most of the problems we have noted. In July the then Assistant Director had attempted to establish a training program and had asked for assistance from the Bureau of Management Methods. As early as October 9, 1956, the Deputy Secretary of Revenue had prepared an "Initial Summary of Bureau of Sales and Use Tax Problems and Program," listing twenty-six problems, of varying importance, requiring attention. Significant progress had been made by January 15 on resolving approximately half of these problems. For example, the Bureau was moved into more adequate quarters at 18th Street at Brookwood Avenue. All field personnel were required to undertake training for their jobs, their performance was evaluated, and more than 30 incompetent employees were removed from the payroll. The first taxpayer bulletins were issued. A formal reassessment board was established. Measures were carried out to ensure that taxpayers' returns were mailed promptly to taxpayers in advance of the time they were to be filled out and returned.

These were important accomplishments but they were not sufficient to overcome the demoralization of personnel, the inefficiency of operations and the large accumulations of work that existed throughout January, 1957. While they had made substantial steps forward, those responsible for the Bureau had not established efficient procedures for the central office operations, had not instituted an adequate program for raising the productivity of field personnel, and did not have a specific program for raising the productivity of the whole staff, and for overcoming the accumulations of work on hand by specified times. Such a program was urgently needed. It was this task we concentrated upon. The program was developed by February 2. It is described in the following chapter.

2—A PROGRAM FOR EARLY IMPROVEMENT

The operations of the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax—in the central office and in typical regional and district offices—were analyzed during early January. Our findings were reviewed in successive discussions on January 10, 17, and 25, and February 1, with the Governor, the Secretary of Administration, the Secretary and other officials of the Department of Revenue and certain key members of their staffs. These discussions depicted the status of operations and the problems underlying the Bureau's ineffective administration. These have been noted. In this chapter, we outline a program consisting of thirty-five separate steps that must be taken if effective enforcement of the law is to be achieved, and additional revenue collected.*

Basically the collection of additional revenue due under the Selective Sales and Use Tax Law requires that the Bureau:

1. Identify more taxpayers: Not all firms and individuals who are liable are now listed by the Bureau as taxpayers and, hence, are not being notified when returns are due.

2. Investigate all firms and individuals who are listed as taxpayers but are not filing: Up to 20 percent of those now believed to be liable for this tax are not now filing returns; each has to be followed up by mail or personal visit.

3. Audit the large taxpayers (direct payment permittees and those taxpayers liable for the larger payments) to ensure that in these cases the law is clearly understood and being properly applied: now Bureau officials contend the law and regulations are being interpreted by those taxpayers to their own advantage.

4. Promptly audit returns being received to ensure that proper rate of tax is being paid and proper commission is being taken: preliminary audits have indicated a sufficient error in reporting to emphasize the significance of this step.

Before the Bureau can accomplish any one of these four activities it must "put its house in order." The specific improvements that still have to be made have been identified; first steps have been taken. The need that remains is to follow through on each of the following steps and get them done by the dates scheduled. This will require that responsibility for each step be squarely fixed.

*Of the forty-four steps outlined in our presentation of February 1, nine have already been substantially or completely accomplished.

1. Bring the Bureau's machine accounting operations to a current status
2. Complete estabishment of a central file recording all transactions with each individual taxpayer
3. Eliminate backlogs of unprocessed correspondence and returns in Internal Audit Division
4. Step-up volume of field investigations and audits
5. Increase flow of information to taxpayers
6. Improve administrative functioning of the Bureau.

The individual steps, summarized on subsequent pages under each of these headings, have been reviewed with operating officials of the Bureau. The essentiality of these steps and the reasonableness of the deadlines set are, we believe, agreed upon. The primary need during the next sixty to ninety days is a relentless and persistent follow-through to ensure that the steps are accomplished.

(a) Bring the Bureau's Tabulating Operations To a Current Status

The Bureau cannot now tell the Internal Audit Division, the field employes, or the Legal Division which taxpayers have filed or have not filed tax returns until its tabulating operations are current. In order that the Tabulating Division may fulfill its mission, returns must be promptly processed so that this Division can prepare with a minimum of clerical review all necessary cards and listings. It cannot effectively use the Univac to audit the returns being received until a considerable backlog of work is eliminated.

And until it has accurate and current data the Division cannot use the Univac for such essential statistical analysis as effective rates by business classification for guidance in audit selection by other divisions. To handle this priority project over and above its other key tasks, the Division will have to recruit and train at least six additional operators, an additional change order clerk, and a statistician. And if this Division is to produce the work central to practically all the operations of the Bureau, it is urgent that it review weekly its accomplishments against its schedule of tasks.

Required Steps and Target Dates

1. Complete listings of taxpayers who were delinquent in any month from March through September by matching returns filed against master deck — March 8
2. Collate all taxpayers returns, filed on punched cards, for months of July through December by taxpayer number for filing in central historical file — March 15
3. Process $2 credits for license fees as provided by Section 301(e) of the law as amended on May 24 — March 15
4. Devlop agreement amongst all officials concerned on procedures for machine preparation of selection of taxpayers whose returns are to be audited in the field. (Refinement should be continuous; initial agreement should be reached by March 15). — March 15
5. Prepare the Visible Index file for cross-referencing names of individuals with "doing business as" names of registrants — April 5
6. Prepare notices to all taxpayers who were delinquent in any month from October through December — April 19
7. Recruit and train additional and replacement operators — April 19
8. Prepare complete written procedure for processing, auditing, and reconciling the annual returns—and accomplish — June 28
9. Analyze by Univac all collections for effective rate by county, industry and size as a guide for audit of those whose returns fall short of allowable tolerances from the average. (This will be continuous after processing of annual returns is completed). — (Continuous)

The most urgent problem facing the Tabulating Division is simply applying its limited work force and scheduling its operations so as to obtain maximum utilization of the equipment and keep current on routine work while meeting the above target dates.

(b) Establish a Central File of All Taxpayer Data

All Internal Audit and Field Audit activities require for effective performance, a knowledge of the individual taxpayer's previous record and previous correspondence. Without such an accumlation of all data relative to each taxpayer the Bureau is dependent for its enforcement on the taxpayer's statements and records.

Required Steps and Target Dates

1. Complete the sorting of May and June (paper) taxpayer reports in numerical order for establishment of the central file — March 8
2. Have (punch card) tax returns for July through December interfiled by machine for establishment of the central file — March 15
3. Interfile, by hand, March-June (paper) taxpayer reports and correspondence numerically — March 22
4. Intersort taxpayer applications and monthly returns so that all data on any one taxpayer will be available in one folder — March 22
5. Have the Tabulating Division prepare new cards for the above visible index cross-reference file — April 5
6. Set up file folders for all taxpayers and attach the index tabs prepared by the Tabulating Division — April 9
7. Process the large accumulation of "change orders," i.e., taxpayers' notices of change of name, address, status, etc. — April 12
8. Process these change orders through the visible index file cross-referencing individuals' names with "doing business as" names of registrants — April 19

9. Assemble all the above materials relative to individual taxpayers into their respective history folders, thus completing establishment of the central file — April 19

To sort and bring together in individual folders 10 months' materials on more than 200,000 registrants is a large routine clearical job. After the central file has been established the requirement for file clerks will diminish. But if the above target dates are to be met, even the present force will have to be augmented by temporary, borrowed, or overtime help. In addition, the entire force, because of the routine nature of the work, must be stimulated by such means as publicizing schedules to be met, work accomplished daily or weekly, and incentives for performance.

(c) Eliminate Backlogs of Unprocessed Correspondence and Returns in the Internal Audit Division

The normal flow of returns through the Bureau is from the Mail and Receiving Unit to the Receipts and Deposits Unit, where they are recorded and remittances deposited. From there they are routed to the Tabulating Division, whose operations are basic to all further processing. However, if a return is considered "irregular" (as described in the first chapter), it is sent direct from Mail and Receiving to the Internal Audit Division; it is not recorded, nor is any remittance deposited, nor can it be sent to Tabulating until this Division has processed it; and the Bureau's record on this taxpayer remains incomplete. Elimination of the large backlog of such suspended returns, (they have averaged nearly 25 percent of all returns) and keeping them to a minimum will speed all operations and permit the Internal Audit Division to do less routine and more in-office audit work.

Required Steps and Target Dates

1. Process replies to be received on approximately 5,000 communications that have been sent to taxpayers who filed "irregular" returns to bring the balance down to a working inventory of 500 per week — March 8

2. Process approximately 5,000 returns reporting no taxable sales to bring the balance down to a working inventory of about 500 a week — March 8

3. Prepare procedures for, assess penalty and interest, and communicate with taxpayers on 25,000-40,000 delinquent returns — March 15

4. Process approximately 2,000-3,000 unrecorded credit and refund cases after establishment of the central file makes it more expedient to trace them — August 15

It is also urgent that there be finalized (with the Attorney General) and issued for guidance of the staff the legal policy to be applied as to imposition of penalty and interest. Then it will be necessary to ensure availability of adequate procedures and personnel to process penalty and interest assessments and credit and refund cases. Again weekly evaluation of progress in accomplishing the above tasks is required to ensure meeting the schedule.

(d) Step Up the Volume of Field Investigations and Audits Being Accomplished

The primary steps in enforcing a sales tax particularly one that taxes only selected items, is the routine and continued audit or investigation of a large majority of all taxpayers within the statustory time limit to ensure their proper reporting and to stimulate voluntary compliance.

Required Steps and Target Dates

1. Restate the enforcement program as it is to be carried out by the field offices, i.e., what kinds of audits and investigations are to be made, what priorities should be attached to each kind — March 8

2. Develop an interpretative announcement to all personnel in the central office and the field as to the positions for which individuals will be recruited through civil service examination — March 8

3 Follow through on arrangements for contract with the Civil Service Commission, on advertising to encourage filing for examination, on provisional appointments in advance of having the examination, and on the replacement of misfits now on the staff who will not qualify by examination — Continuously to April 1

4. Establish performance standards for investigators and field auditors, on the basis of experience of competent men now in the field and in consultation with regional directors and district supervisors; and advise all field personnel, supervisors and men, that their perpormance will be evaluated against these standards. — March 15

Placing the technical and professional positions under Civil Service, Executive Board or Legislative, will not of itself result in increased volume or quality of field investigations and audits. Although this step should result in increased confidence and competence among the enforcement staff, still there must be provided to this staff informed direction and supervision holding them to standards of performance.

(e) Increase Flow of Information to Taxpayers

Voluntary compliance with tax laws requires general understanding by taxpayers of their obligations. Creation of such understanding of a relatively new and complicated law requires an intensive and positive effort to acquaint taxpayers with the law, prevailing regulations, and enforcement steps. Since last summer, regulations, several bulletins, and some 200 legal unit rulings have been issued, but a more sustained effort is required.

Required Steps and Target Dates

1. Identify all industry groups among which there is a known or suspected (a) lack of understanding of the law and regulations (b) tax evasion, or (c) avoidance — March 8
2. Otuline a program for the issuance of press releases, trade press announcements, and the advertisements to build taxpayer understanding of the tax throughout the period to the filing of the second quarterly return — March 8
3. Schedule series of meetings with industry groups identified in (1) above to acquaint these taxpayers with regulations and enforcement steps — March 8
4. Draft and issue additional taxpayer bulletins — March 8

An effective public relations program must be continuing and thought out well in advance with especial attention to the timeliness of all releases and due regard to the difficulty of arranging suitable dates for meetings with large industry groups.

(f) Improve Administrative Functioning of Bureau

The collection of a relatively complicated tax from over 200,000 taxpayers requires the efficient and coordinated efforts of hundreds of employees. The effective utilization of the more than 700 employes now employed (and such additional employees as may be needed) requires leadership, clearly defined organization, efficient layout of the work to be done, and adequate equipment and supplies.

Required Steps and Target Dates

1 Resolve existing organization questions as to (a) structure of Administrative Division, (b) location of Special Audit (Floating Squad) Staff, and (c) role of Management Audit Group — March 8
2. Inventory supplies on hand in Harrisburg and in field offices and install an improved system for maintaining adequate but economical inventories in field offices, and for maintaining economical stocks in the central supply room — March 8
3. Develop, as indicated on foregoing pages, additional needed procedures and standards for their performance so that work can be scheduled, e.g., for:
   (a) Processing "irregulars" to minimize delay in tabulating
   (b) Processing, reconciling, and auditing annual returns
   (c) Assessing penalties and interest
   (d) Better reporting and measuring field performance — March 1-April 12
4. Fill on a permanent basis the top executive positions now filled by "acting" incumbents. Concentration of effort on this difficult task is needed to provide the necessary sense of security in key officials and their staffs — March 29
5. Reassess, after procedures and standards have been established, the personnel required in each division of the central offices and in each field office. This reassessment should be undertaken after accumulated work in these divisions of the central office has been accomplished as scheduled, and after additional experience in field offices permits refinement of performance standards — April 12

The above steps are those of prime importance that must be taken to tighten up the administration of a Bureau still less than a year old and to raise its productivity. The nature of its mission and business are such as to require constant planning, realistic scheduling, and tight control.

The above six paragraphs constitute, we believe, a minimum program of action for near-term improvement. They do not comprise a long-term comprehensive administrative master plan, which should be developed by the Bureau directorate. Nor is this program, it is repeated, the product of a complete analysis of the Bureau's operations. Bureau management should continue to take advantage of all the help it can get from the Bureau of Management Methods to refine the procedures by which the efficiency of more than 300 employes in performing routine paper-work operations will be determined. The goal is to increase the tempo of progress outlined in the next chapter.

3—PROGRESS TO DATE

The preceding chapters have described:

1. The six major problems to be met in improving the administration of the Pennsylvania Sales and Use Tax: short-comings of the law, information to taxpayers, central office procedures, investigation and audit programming, adequacy of personnel, and Bureau direction; and

2. A program enumerating a succession of actions (i.e., schedule of target dates for specific accomplishment) for overcoming these problems.

This chapter will:

1. Summarize what has been done to recruit and train the personnel required to overcome each problem,

2. Indicate steps taken to provide essential material,

3. Outline what has been done to improve the procedures for processing essential business, and

4. Describe the most urgent problem remaining and the plans developed to meet this problem.

Some of the steps already taken to meet specific problems have been indicated in the previous chapters. On the following pages a fuller picture of the progress that has been made in bringing about the improvements needed in the Bureau's operations is presented.

PROGRESS IN IMPROVING PERSONNEL PRODUCTIVITY

The operations of the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax may ultimately require for their effective performance a total of about 800 employees.* This total is made up of two distinguishable groups—the administrative and clerical employees in the central offices and the administrative, auditing, investigative, and clerical personnel in the field offices. Here we will describe the progress made in meeting the personnel needs of the central offices.

On page 3-7 we will outline what has been accomplished, and especially what remains to be done to build a competent field force. In each aspect of this problem the basic objective is to obtain greater production on the essential work tasks, not to increase the number of employees and, hence, the State's payroll.

(a) Recruiting Needed Personnel

The operations of the Tabulating Division require a balanced complement of machines and operators skilled in the use of these machines. In substantial measure the Division has the machines required. One specific item of equipment should be added: to interfile the individual taxpayer's returns for creation of the central file—a Cummings Carditioner (a machine that reconditions much-handled cards for more reliable processing through a high-speed electronic collator) would facilitate the Division's work. Otherwise the equipment of the Tabulating Division is ample. Indeed, the expensive Univac ($1,250 per month) is not as yet utilized sufficiently to warrant the rental cost being incurred.

Such a complement of machinery can be more economically utilized if operated on two shifts. Hence, a second shift has been established despite substantial difficulty in recruiting in Harrisburg sufficient qualified machine operators to operate one shift. To man this second shift, it was necessary to contract with the Sperry Rand Corporation to provide a night shift supervisor and three tabulating machine operators. (The operators had not yet been provided when this report was written.) The crew for the partial second shift now operating consists of five employees borrowed for overtime work from another Bureau.

Backlogs in the Internal Audit Division resulted primarily from lack of clerical personnel able to do simple typing, i.e., to handle correspondence, much of it by form letters, with taxpayers who had filed "irregular" returns. A typing pool that had once consisted of 15 typists had dwindled to three. When this need was pointed up, the Secretary of Revenue took prompt action to transfer 12 clerk-typists and two clerks from other Bureaus in his Department to the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax.

To solve the problem of creating the central file requires temporary augmentation of the clerical force. Early in January the Secretary of Revenue directed all Bureau Directors in his Department to lend any excess clerical personnel to the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax for as much time as they might be available. There has been little practical effect to date. In addition, the Director has found it difficult to get much in the way of sustained productive overtime work since he may allow his female employees to work no more than 2½ hours overtime on any weekday.

(b) Raising Productivity

To increase the productivity of employees, as well as the total number, two important steps have been taken. The first consists of the development of improved procedures to expedite the handling of taxpayers' returns by clerical employees. The second consists of those steps designed to improve employee discipline.

The Bureau of Management Methods in a memorandum of January 11, "Projects of Special Methods Study Group" listed 23 projects undertaken in support of and in collaboration with the Bureau. This work was primarily aimed toward improving individual procedures and processes and resulted in publication of an Operating Procedures Manual, discussed in a later section of this chapter. The last project proposed to be undertaken in the January 11 memorandum was: "Review and standardization of working hours."

As of February 11, however, after earlier directions to his personnel had proven insufficient, the Acting Bureau Director, with the backing of the Secretary of Administration, issued an order that all central office personnel would work from 8:30 to 5:00 and that these hours would be strictly enforced. If this order is followed up by setting even rough standards of a fair day's work for the more routine operations, as we have recommended, it can be expected the productivity of present personnel will be materially increased.

Harrisburg is a tight labor market in which the State government finds it difficult to compete. This difficulty is compounded by the typical delay involved in the routine of processing applications. In recognition of the acuteness of some of the Bureau's personnel problems, the Governor and the Secretary of Administration, early in January, ordered that the Bureau be given priority and that all its recommendations for appointments be hand-carried to expedite their approval. The results have been helpful but the approval of personnel actions remains a slow process, in most instances.

PROVISION OF ESSENTIAL EQUIPMENT AND SUPPLIES

Immediately after we first reported on January 10, the Director of the Bureau of Management Methods, as directed, undertook to expedite the procurement of all equipment and materials essential to meeting the target dates scheduled in Chapter 2. As mentioned earlier, the tabulating equpiment is adequate, little is needed by Internal Audit, and in the field the critical items are forms and technical materials.

The chief area of concern was that creation of the central file was impossible until receipt of certain equipment and supplies; bases, frames, and rotaries for the index file housing; specially designed file folders with envelopes to hold card returns; and continuous-form folder labels to be prepared by tabulator. From amongst the 25 requisitions outstanding on January 10, these were selected for especially expeditious handling, with the result that the central file should be available by the time processing of the annual returns has been completed.

We reported on January 10 that incidentally the ad-

* Rough comparisons with the numbers employed in the administration of sales taxes in other states indicate the reasonableness of this total staff requirement. Such comparisons, however, offer only approximate bases for appraising the total staffing of this Bureau.

ministration of the Bureau's supplies was handicapping efficient operations. A new supply system including inventory control, storage, and disposal procedures had already been designed by the Bureau staff, but as of February 15 had not as yet been installed. Levels of supply of forms to the field offices were, however, initiated as of the beginning of February.

IMPROVEMENT OF PROCEDURES AND PROCESSES

On page 3-2 of this chapter we pointed out that productivity can be increased not only by hiring more people but by improving the procedures they are following. Typical of this sort of procedural improvement made by the new Bureau management since October was the change from second to first class mailing of return cards to taxpayers. This reduced significantly the amount of time wasted by the central office and especially field investigators on tracing the addressees of returned forms, as well as reducing the number of remittances filed with work sheets rather than pre-punched cards.

The biggest single step forward in improving procedures was the publication of the "Operating Procedures Manual." This was released to Division Chiefs and put tentatively into effect by January 15. Although prepared by the Office of Administration, Bureau of Management Methods (whose services were specifically requested by the Acting Director last summer) it is, of course, the product of collaboration between the two bureaus. Relentless efforts to improve this document should alone serve to spur achievement of more refined procedures and more efficient processes.

Increasing the speed of improvement will require more systematic and timely collaboration amongst division chiefs to work out joint procedures. As an example of what can be thus accomplished a joint study by the Internal Audit and Administrative Division Chiefs recently reduced the number of returns being processed as "irregular" from nearly 25 percent to under 15 percent. Also essential to more effective over-all procedures is closer collaboration between Bureau management and the Regional Directors and District Supervisors, and in the next section we will point up the especial importance of building up the Management Audit Group as the most likely tool to accomplish this.

STEPPING UP FIELD ENFORCEMENT PROGRAM

The most urgent problem that now remains in improving the operations of the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax is that of increasing substantially the number of effective investigations and audits being made by field personnel. A significant increase in the number of investigations and audits was accomplished in January (field collections increased from around $154,000 in December to over $284,000). The level of production, however, remains substantially below what must be achieved.

The program described in chapter 2 of this report identifies six steps that are designed to step up the field enforcement program, i. e., to increase the number of effective investigations and audits accomplished. The large importance of this objective warrants our restatement here of those steps and further discussion of the objectives to be accomplished.

"Step 4: Follow through on arrangements for contract with Civil Service Commission, on advertising to encourage filing for examination, on provisional appointments, as possible, in advance of completion of register, and on the replacement of misfits now on staff who will not qualify by examination."

The Institute of Public Administration recommended substantially the same action in its presentation. Specifically, its representatives stated that—

> "3. It is therefore clear that the first order of business is to push the program of weeding out a large proportion of the existing audit and supervisory staff through a system of civil service examinations, put the remainder under civil service, and doing everything possible to recruit new qualified personnel."

After the Executive Board authorized the inclusion under the executive civil service of Accountants I—IV and Accountant Executives I and II jobs within the Department of Revenue, the State Civil Service Commission announced in February an examination for March 9. It is estimated that qualified personnel can be obtained for the Bureau through this examination by March 28. In fact, we were told on February 18 that 245 applications had already been received.

The importance of this step to the improvement of the Bureau's operations cannot, in our opinion, be underestimated. It is essential that those field employees who are not qualified to perform the essential investigating and auditing tasks be replaced by competent personnel. The recruitment of an adequate staff of individuals trained in accounting and auditing hopefully can be achieved through civil service recruitment. Such recruitment should ensure the qualifications of the individual and offer him greater security than employees of the Bureau now enjoy. It is essential that this civil service recruitment be completed as expeditiously as possible.

"Step 5: Increase staff of Special Audit (Floating Squad) Staff by careful selection of 6 to 10 additional qualified and available auditors to reside and work in those areas where volume of audits are to be made, but to be directly and wholly responsible to Chief of Special Audit Staff."

While the substantial staff in the field offices is being "leveled up" by training as well as the recruitment under civil service of additional qualified people, a considerable volume of important audits must be made. These include particularly the audits of direct payment permittees, of out-of-state enterprises obligated under the sales and use tax law, and those taxpayers whose returns reveal discrepancies that should be promptly investigated. To accomplish these audits currently and thus to ensure an effective enforcement program as early as possible, we have recommended that the special audit staff be expanded as rapidly as possible. We have proposd that this be done by recruiting a limited number of qualified auditors from the field offices. This has the disadvantage of depleting an already inadequate staff of auditors in the field offices. It has the advantage of focusing the energies of the best-qualified auditors on the most important audits to be completed.

As yet, this step has not been taken. During successive weeks, we recommend that a further canvass be made of the personnel now assigned to field offices and their availability for assignment to the Special Audit Staff.

"Step 6: Establish proposed Management Audit to review for the information of the Director and Deputy Secretary (weekly) in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh district offices, and at least monthly in other offices:

(a) Performance, quantity and quality, of supervisors. auditors, and investigators
(b) Deficiencies noted by Chief Auditor in his review of audits and investigations turned in
(c) Compliance with laws, regulations, rulings, and established procedures
(d) Adequacy of supplies and other administrative arrangements
(e) Adequacy of training being carried on."

This specific step is probably the most essential effort to be made by the Bureau during the next 60 days. The field offices, as have been pointed out, include more than 400 individuals whose productivity has been far below an acceptable standard. To increase the effectiveness of this large number of field employees, it has been agreed that the Management Audit Group would be established to undertake a series of intensive appraisals of every field office.

The making of that program effective requires that the Bureau assign three competent men from its headquarters staff to devote full time to this activity for the period from February 25 to April 6. These men, it has been agreed, in collaboration with consultants from the staff of McKinsey & Company, Inc., will visit every field office and, following a carefully designed plan for appraisal, assist the supervisors of each office in improving the level of production being achieved. An announcement of this program has been prepared to advise the regional directors and district supervisors of the activity of the Management Audit Group and its objectives.

SUMMARY

Progress has been made in improving the operations of the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax. During the period from October 1, 1956, to January 1, 1957, the Deputy Secretary of Revenue and the Acting Bureau Director made notable steps toward determining what was wrong and what needed doing. In addition, they instituted a number of needed improvements.

Since January 1, as this chapter has outlined, some further progress has been made. In substantial measure, the operations of the central office of the Bureau have been brought up to a point approaching operating efficiency. Much remains to be done to overcome the accumulation of work in these operations that had piled up prior to January 1, but the level of performance has been raised to a reasonable standard.

The next major improvement that must be effected if the Bureau is to administer this tax equitably and efficiently is the improvement of performance in the field offices. This task will require the unrelenting and vigorous insistence by the Governor and the Secretary of Revenue that the three critical steps enumerated on page 3-7 be accomplished as expeditiously as possible.

GENERAL COMMUNICATIONS

Philadelphia, June 1, 1956

To the Honorable Judges of the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of the Peace for the City and County of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

During the May, 1955 Grand Inquest, we acted upon the following indictments:

True 1446 Ignored 58 Total 1504

Institutions Visited

I. HOLMESBURG PRISON—Visited on May 15, 1956

Warden: Fred Krueger Captain: James Stott

Census:	White Male ..	343
	Negro Male ..	1177
	Total	1520

In general, this penal institution is in good condition and well kept. Considering the overcrowded conditions (720 cells for 1520 inmates), Warden Fred Krueger, Captain Stott and their staff are doing an excellent job.

The set-up in this prison is very good with regard to teaching the inmates a trade which will afford them a livelihood after their release. Schooling is also available to the men and any inmate who is sincere about furthering his education can do so in Holmesburg Prison.

The cells, work shops, kitchen and eating quarters are exceptionally clean and well kept. The inmates themselves do most of the work. The guards and outside professional men are doing a fine job working with the inmates and directing them.

While the hospital appears adequate, clean and well kept, we understand there is a need for more trained medical help.

Good, spacious recreational facilities are available and all types of sports are participated in by those who wish to play.

Recommendations

A. Inmates' terms in this prison range from two to ninety years. The maximum sentence should be reduced to twenty years. This would better utilize the fine training program set up there and would also alleviate the over-crowded conditions.

B. New chapel is needed. We understand and recommend that work on this project should be started as soon as possible.

C. More guards are sorely needed for security reasons. Every effort should be made to remedy this important and urgent need.

D. There are not enough jobs to keep all the inmates busy. The average inmate works only four hours per day. The overcrowded conditions are partly responsible for this condition. Outside work should be brought in to keep the inmates occupied longer. This should keep them more content.

E. Exhaust fans are needed in the bakery, laundry and kitchen where it is warm and humid with odors and vapors.

F. The long-termers should be sent to the Eastern State Penitentiary.

II. HOUSE OF CORRECTION—Visited on May 15, 1956

Warden: Charles G. Day

Census·	White	Negro	Total
Male	299	236	535
Female	28	76	104
	327	312	639

The thing that impressed us most on our visit to the House of Correction was the spacious work shop with its modern power equipment. A large and varied amount of work is to be done here when they set up the remaining machines.

Most of our visit was in the female division. Their recreation room provides adequate facilities for the inmates' recreation. The dining area is also adequate and cheerful.

There is good opportunity at the House of Correction for the female inmates there to learn a trade.

Overall cleanliness was good with one exception (See "G" under recommendations.)

The average term of inmates is from three months to two years. This seems satisfactory.

Recommendations

A. The shower, sewing and laundry rooms need more ventilation e.g. exhaust fans.

B. The cement floor in the kitchen is broken and stained and detracts from it's otherwise clean and sanitary appearance.

C. The wooden benches in each shower stall in the female division should be replaced as they are in very bad condition. They could be made in the spacious work shop.

D. A small stand or shelf should be provided in the women's cells to hold their personal belongings. As it is now, anything they have is put on the floor.

E. More maintenance personnel and guards are needed. They should be provided.

F. Overcrowded conditions. We need another penal institution in this city.

G. The roof of the ventilation hood, which is located over the large cooking kettles, is dirty and dusty looking. Steps should be taken to remedy this condition.

H. Puddles of water were visible on the kitchen and mess hall floors. Better drainage should be provided.

I. The young inmates should be separated from the older ones as much as possible.

J. The chef needs some professional help, rather than all inmates.

K. A new chapel and field house for sporting events should be built at the end of a short wing of the prison. This is needed and we suggest that work be started on it as soon as possible.

Could P.A.L. work and play with the male and female inmates? This would further impress on them the fact that the police are trying to help in every way.

L. The occupational therapy was operating well. We recommend the articles made there should be placed where they can be seen by visitors with price tags attached on them.

M. Employing more maintenance personnel in Riverview will tend to relieve a strain on the House of Correction Maintenance personnel.

III RIVERVIEW—Visited May 15, 1956

Evan E. Stauffer—Assistant Superintendent

Census: Male 560 Female 420 Total 980

Assistant Superintendent Stauffer greeted us at Riverview, and showed us through these buildings.

Recommendations

A. The greatest need in this institution is for additional physical therapy, also other help, as it is undermanned. To do this, living quarters should be furnished for the staff and the budget should be increased to pay higher salaries.

B. Personnel asked for in this institution should be on a Rush Order.

C. Steam tables are needed in the cafeteria.

D. Donations of books and reading matter are also needed.

E. We recommend that the University of Pennsylvania be asked for students to help in physical therapy.

This institution is well managed. The old folks seem very content, well fed and well housed. The dining area, and kitchen facilities are excellent. The meals are well balanced. They have very nice hobby shops and a good library. They also have a very nice Dual Chapel. The entertainment is satisfactory. We were very interested in Mr. Stauffer's plans for the future, as he is very interested in and dedicated to his work. The Personnel staff are certainly doing a grand job.

MOYAMENSING PRISON—Visited on May 22, 1956

Warden: Richard W. Dennison

Census	White Males	White Females	Negro Males	Negro Females	Total
	201	9	556	78	844

This prison appears to have the greatest problems of any institutions we visited. The severe overcrowding, with three men per cell in many instances, creates a grave security threat. Also it is detrimental to the morale of the inmates, particularly those who are trying to rehabilitate themselves, to be forced to share a cell with hardened criminals who are not first offenders. Since there is no room for expansion at the present location, little can be done at this time to remedy the overcrowded condition.

While the buildings are old, they are well kept and extensive painting is being done in many areas to keep them clean and light. Cells, dining areas, kitchens and the bakery are clean and orderly. The infirmary has recently been painted and looks fresh, cheerful and sanitary.

Warden Dennison has a well-rounded background in prison work and is to be commended on his able handling of a very difficult situation and on his understanding of human needs as well as security requirements.

RECOMMENDATIONS

A. 24 more guards should be added immediately to the present staff which is dangerously small.

B. Wall towers should be built and manned by guards for greater security.

C. A new dental chair should be installed in the men's infirmary.

D. 2 more day nurses should be added to the present staff as well as a night nurse.

E. An additional matron is needed in the women's division.

PHILADELPHIA GENERAL HOSPITAL

Visited May 22, 1956.

Census 1547

Executive Director F. Lloyd Mussells, M.D.

Dr. Mussells greeted us at P.G.H. where he gave us a rundown on the conditions. We were then taken on a tour by Dr. Heller, our recommendations and observations are as follows:

RECOMMENDATIONS

A. Need for a new hospital for mental patients. This work should be started as soon as possible.

B. Certain sections of this hospital needs painting and plastering.

PHILADELPHIA GENERAL HOSPITAL

The city of Philadelphia should be proud of this institution. This hospital has spacious buildings, and modern scientific equipment. The facilities in the main kitchen and diet kitchen are excellent—the wards are very clean and orderly.

We wish to thank Dr. Mussells and Mr. Heller for their patience and courtesy to us.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATION

A. We strongly recommend the building of additional penal institutions as soon as possible. This is urgently needed to eliminate the over-crowding now prevalent in our existing prisions and also permit the separation of tried from untried prisoners, as well as the separation of young first offenders from those who have been sentenced repeatedly for participation in crime.

B. Some of the over-crowding of our penal institutions and the work load of our courts could be reduced by a concerted effort to prevent crime at its source. We recommend a larger narcotics division to prevent illegal drugs from entering the city.

C. We have noticed that most of the crimes brought before us have occurred in the most densely populated areas of the city. We believe that when these blighted slum areas, mostly rented tenaments, can be replaced with new housing developments, the better living conditions they would provide would reduce the amount of crime.

D. A law should be enacted to regulate the sale of exempt narcotic drugs which now can be purchased in drug stores by anyone signing a name and address and yet which, when taken in excess, are habit-forming. We recommend lowering the narcotic percentage permitted at the present time in these drugs.

E. We would like to thank Assistant District Attorney Armand Della Porta, together with his entire staff for presenting each case in a clear and concise manner. Also, Court Officers D. Benjamin Bocchicchio and Michael Janusiak for their courteous and kind help.

F. We recommend a raise in pay for all the court officers in lieu of the lack of overtime pay for the extra hours which they work.

G. We would like to commend the District Attorney's Office as a whole and our entire police and park guard forces and particularly Mr. Thomas McDermott, Chief of County Detectives and the narcotics squad for their outstanding work. We also would like to cite in particular Officers Reeder and Moore for the graphic yet brief testimony they gave on many accident cases.

H. We think it would be helpful if everyone receiving a Grand Jury summons were to receive at the same time a short explanation of jury duty and the time it requires. All jurors, whether housewives or people engaged in industry or business must make adjustments in their daily schedules for the period of duty. If they knew in advance the length of the service and the approximate number of hours involved each day, they would be better able to make the necessary arrangements.

I. Business firms whose full-time employees are serving as jurors should pay their regular wages less the jury pay. This would prevent many capable prospective jurors from asking to be excused from jury duty because of financial loss involved.

J. We recommend that because of the added duties of the Foreman and Secretary their compensation should be increased as follows:

Foreman 25% Secretary 15%

K. We would recommend that every grand jury be taken on a tour of City Hall to learn more about the actual workings of the City's business.

L. The members of the May Grand Jury wish to express our gratitude for being given the opportunity to serve Philadelphia in this capacity. We have learned a great deal about our city, its laws, its institutions and its people. We realize the importance and seriousness of the work in which we have been engaged and trust that we have performed it conscientiously and efficiently.

Respectfully submitted,

Thomas J. Black—Foreman

B. REPORT OF VISITS TO COUNTY INSTITUTIONS

1. HOLMESBURG PRISON

Census: 1493 Inmates

Arriving at Holmesburg Prison Tuesday, June 12, 1956, we were met by a Captain and also a Lt. of Guards who escorted us on our tour of the prison. The uniform arrangement of the cells makes it possible to observe each Cell Block from one point. We visited the Medical Center, Mess Hall, tailor, knit, weaving and carpenter shops. Holmesburg also has in operation an academic and vocational school system with teachers from the Board of Education. These various operations and shops are very helpful in the rehabilitation of prisoners.

Recommendations

1. Holmesburg is very much in need of a Building for a Chapel and a recreation room.

2. More guards are needed for security reasons.

3. Exhaust fans were needed in the Bakery, Kitchen, and Laundry, where it very hot and overcrowded.

4. This prison is overcrowded. Philadelphia is very much in need of a new County Prison.

2. HOUSE OF CORRECTION Warden—Day

Census: Male 535 Female 104

We made our tour of The House of Correction on June 12, 1956. On our visit to this institution we found many interesting things which impressed the Jury, most were the spacious work shops with its modern power equipment. This institution has plans in progress for doing work for outside concerns and also the City of Philadelphia. Except for a few recommendations (which are listed below) the female division is in very good order. The kitchen, recreation room and mess hall are very clean.

Recommendations

1. A small stand or shelf should be provided in the women's cells to hold their belongings; as it is now, everything they have must be placed on the floor.

2. The shower, sewing and laundry rooms are in need of more ventilation. The kitchen in the male section is very bad and should be repaired.

3. More maintenance workers and guards are needed at the institution and should be acquired as soon as possible.

3. RIVERVIEW Mr. Groller, Superintendent

Census: Male 560 Female 420—Total 980

Riverview was visited on June 12, 1956. This institution is well managed. Everyone seems to be very happy under the care of Mr. Groller. Here they have very nice hobby shops and a good library. It was amazing to see how dexterious these old people are with their hands. Another thing that we were glad to see was the new one room cottages for the man and wife couples, that they will not have to be separated in their old age. Mr. Groller and his staff are doing a fine job.

Recommendations

1. The greatest need at Riverview is for trained physical therapists.

2. Steam tables are needed for the cafeteria.

4. MOYAMENSING PRISON

We arrived at the prison on Tuesday, June 19, 1956. There we were met by Warden Richard W. Dennison. After a short lecture on prison procedure we were conducted on our tour by Warden Dennison, assisted by Lt. Clark. The accommodations of this prison are small and quite inadequate to handle the number of inmates imprisoned here. We found guards needed for other important duties serving as cooks and bakers. There are also 10 guards needed for desk work alone which they do not have. Warden Dennison is doing an excellent job under what we consider very adverse conditions.

Recommendations

1. Appropriation of new uniforms for bakery help, preferrably white.

2. Consideration of a program for salary pay scale increases to interest qualified personnel in applying for positions of guards. They are greatly needed.

3. Immediate removal of Mental patients from this Institution.

4. Bulding a larger prison to relieve the over-crowded conditions at our Penal Institutions.

5. PHILADELPHIA GENERAL HOSPITAL

The visit to the Philadelphia General Hospital concluded our visits to County Institutions. The visit was on June 19, 1956. When we arrived we were met by Dr. Fetters, Chief of Staff. The first thing we did was to lunch in their beautiful, new and modern cafeteria. The food was excellent. After lunch we started our tour. We were amazed and pleased at the vast improvements that have taken place in recent years. Here at P. G. H., they have come a long way in solving the problem of over-crowding in certain wards, such as the Tuberculosis and Psychiatric Wards. One of the newest additions is the Alcoholic Division, which does an excellent job in the rehabilitation of alcoholics to normal living. Dr. Fetters took great pride in showing us the hospital's new rehabilitation center. The training the handicapped receive here tends to make most of them self-supporting upon their release.

Recommendations

1. More appropriations of funds for the up-keep of the hospital.

2. More trained nurses are needed for night work. It is the opinion of Dr. Fetters and the Grand Jury that if the hospital were able to meet the night differential pay requirements this problem could be alleviated. Funds should be appropriated for this need immediately.

CONCLUSIONS AND SUMMARIZATIONS

A. Sex offenders are the most despicable of criminals and should be treated as such. We highly recommend that known offenders who continue to inflict such outrages upon innocent citizens be dealt with severely by the Courts. These people are not fit to mingle with honest citizens.

B. It is regrettable that it is a common practice to relegate the mentally ill to Penal Institutions because they are not equipped to handle Psychiatric patients. The problems of the mentally ill are unique in themselves and cannot be coped with by persons not trained in this highly technical field. It is the opinion of this Grand Jury that the confinement to prisons only tends to aggravate their conditions and make curing them more difficult when professional care is offered them. We sincerely hope the members of the Legislature heed our recommendations for improvements in our present facilities or the building of a new one to house the mental patients. Not only are new hospitals needed but a greater program to provide trained nurses, doctors, and technicians to treat these patients.

C. This Grand Jury would like to commend the court officers assigned to this session of the Grand Jury for their untiring efforts to help us whenever we needed it. They were kind and considerate. We were surprised to learn that there is no overtime pay for these tireless servants of the people. Therefore, we recommend a salary raise. We wish to thank personally Mr. Ben Bocchicchia and Mr. Mike Januisak. The Police and Park Guards are to be commended on the wonderful job they are doing. The program launched against Drunken Drivers has been fruitful. Officers Reeder and Moore are also to be congratulated on a fine job. The tracking down and apprehension of narcotic offenders is on the uprise. The narcotic squad is doing a wonderful job. These hard working protectors of our citizens deserve our highest praise.

D. We, the members of this Grand Jury, were afforded the privilege of visiting some of the court rooms during sessions. Vast improvements are needed. The acoustics are bad in most of these rooms. There is no space provided for conferences of Lawyers and clients. There is a dire need of air conditioning in the Court Rooms and also the Grand Juror's Room during the summer months, and the lighting could be improved upon. Philadelphia, as the Nation's third largest city, should have a new modern court house. We sincerely hope earnest consideration will be given to this suggestion.

E. In conclusion, our deepest and sincerest appreciation and thanks go to Assistant District Attorney Armand Della Porta and his wonderful staff. They work long and strenuous hours on the Bills of Indictment so that when they are presented to the Grand Jury they are clear and concise. Mr. Della Porta's knowledge of law, its enforcements and penalties that should be inflicted upon wrong doers is boundless. It is gratifying to know that a man of his caliber holds this important position. He deserves all the cooperation and assistance that we can give to him. Similarly, our sincerest appreciation goes to Assistant District Attorney John R. Sutton of the Indictment Office.

F. Having acted for a full month as the conscience of our great city, and having become fully aware of the complete range of criminal activity that scourge our community, particularly the problems of juvenile delinquency, we, members of this Grand Jury, have become fully convinced that steps should be taken to curb criminality at its sources. We believe that immoral and obscene movies, comic strips and similar trashy publications are one of the main sources of criminal activity. The similarity of criminal plans and operations in cases that we have considered daily to scenes of many a motion picture, is striking. For this reason we believe that since our State Censorship of movies is no longer in operation, City Council should immediately enact a movie censorship ordinance for the protection of our great city and particularly of our youth.

Last, but not least, we wish to commend our Foreman (Miss S. Doherty) and Secretary (Mrs. H. Miller) for a job well done and the cooperation of all the members of the June Grand Jury.

FOREMAN Sylvia M. Doherty, 4426 Fleming St.

SECRETARY Helen Miller, 3128 N. Napa St.

B. REPORT ON VISITS TO COUNTY INSTITUTIONS:

HOLMESBURG PRISON

Census: 1146

We were welcomed to Holmesburg Prison by Warden Fred Krueger and Captain James Stott who conducted us through the medical clinic and ward; the printing, baking, weaving, shoe and carpentry shops; the laundry, the school building and the hospital.

Observing these activities, studying the prisoners so engaged in this typical day at Holmesburg, we were highly gratified at the organized shop schedule, the first-class equipment and professional supervisors. We decidedly applaud the system of classification which attempts to place every prisoner in a work suited to his temperament and capabilities. We were very satisfied to note the caliber of medical care given the prisoners. And certainly, we could find no criticism with the quality of food served, this last an important revelation to us recollecting the comparatively recent "food riots" in prisons across the country.

We also commend the coordination of trades with study, i.e., the appointment by the Board of Education of two teachers to Holmesburg, and the prison's affiliation with the International School of Correspondence.

We are gratified to learn that the inadequate chapel has been demolished and will shortly be replaced by the long-needed expansion combining a chapel and recreation hall to hold 1000 men.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Though justly described—from its physical construction—as a "maximum security prison," Holmesburg is greatly overcrowded. It is also so under-staffed in its guard complement that the force now operating is overtaxed. We can only believe that this combination of overcrowded prisoners and overworked guards so strains security provisions as to reduce them significantly from the "maximum." As an example, the total population of Holmesburg on the date this Grand Jury visited was 1446. We were advised that, ideally Holmesburg holds 750, but that it could operate reasonably well with a total between 1050 and 1100. The comparison between this "reasonable" total and the prevailing total offers its own conclusion. Holmesburg is operating under an "unreasonable" burden. We strongly recommend the additional 16 guards needed to raise the complement to required strength.

In the matter of overcrowding, we can only underscore the recommendation of the June Grand Inquest that "Philadelphia is very much in need of a new County Prison." This need became progressively evident to the July Grand Inquest by visits which followed Holmesburg, visits to the House of Correction and Moyamensing Prison. We believe this need to be in a critical, even an emergency state.

Exhaust fans should be installed in the kitchen.

Trucks observed leaving Holmesburg loaded with bread for delivery to other institutions were entirely uncovered, lacking even covering over loading end of truck.

We wholly congratulate Warden Krueger and his staff for the results they were achieving despite handicaps of overcrowdedness and undermanned force.

HOUSE OF CORRECTION

Census: 713

As with Holmesburg, our enthusiastic commendation for the accomplishments of the administration at the House of Correction. Again, the system of classification according to work capabilities is apparent throughout the shops, the quality of food and medical care is beyond criticism.

We wish to comment particularly on the service rendered municipal departments by the productivity of the inmates. We refer, for instance, to the articles manufactured and finished in the machine and paint shops. Here we saw reading tables for the Philadelphia Free Library, and street barricades for the Department of Public Works. In the laundry we observed young women shrinking cloth for use in police and firemen's uniforms. We were deeply impressed by the wholly devotional tone of the new chapel. We think such a singular consideration (as this beautiful chapel exemplified) of the spiritual aspects of prisoner-rehabilitation is an imperative part of prison programs.

We wish to express our gratitude to Superintendent of Prisons, Edward J. Hendrick for his instructive address to us and to commend him for his humane and penetrating approach to prison problems. Our earnest thanks, too, and equally our commendations to Warden Charles Day, Deputy Warden Alfred Brought, Social Service Supervisor Theodore Chapman for their genuine desire to give constructive help to their charges. Congratulations to Superintendent of Matrons Doris Whitney and her assistants for their understanding work with the women inmates.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Emphatically, re-distribution of prisoners is indicated to prevent juvenile offenders from contact with older inmates. Particularly is this true in the far more populous Male Division. We understand that juveniles are quartered in separate living sections. But we observed very young boys working closely with considerably older men. And although seated at their own tables in the Mess Hall, they assemble at the same time to eat with the older elements. Such commingling, even under supervision, dangerously exposes young delinquents to experienced law-breakers. Is this policy consistent even with the terminology "House of Correction?" Could not these boys be committed directly to institutions such as Glen Mills, White Hill, Catholic Reformatory, et cetera, where the rehabilitation program is planned about their age group?

We believe some system of payment be instituted for inmates, both male and female, in the House of Correction. We refer to our observations of prisoners in shops and laundry who were rendering constructive service to municipal departments. Could such services not be extended? All inmates then would be rendering a service for which they could realistically be compensated. Surely such compensation would increase the self-esteem of inmates. It would also give them some security upon release. We understand that, except for the generosity of the custodians, many would be released penniless! There has been a suggestion of 10 cents a day for inmates. We firmly indorse this suggestion.

A psychologist is required on the examining board.

RIVERVIEW

Census: 985

We have only boundless praise for the accomplishments of the administrative personnel for the elderly guests under their care. The program of occupational and recreational activities is adapted with the wisdom of those with a sensitive grasp of geriatric problems. It was a heartening experience for this Grand Jury to learn that such trained, mature-minded personnel has replaced the deplorably inadequate, untrained personnel of so few years ago. While our guides enlightened us throughout our tour, we learned as much of Riverview's accomplishments from the residents themselves. Their attitudes were almost unfailingly contented, cheerful. These observations spoke volumes, not only about the effectiveness of their care, but assuredly, the affectionate expression of that care.

Our congratulations to Superintendent Raymond J. Groller, Assistant Superintendent Evan Stauffer, Social Service Supervisor James Whitsit, and Female Supervisor Lydia Hamilton. They are performing an exceptional work.

RECOMMENDATIONS

There is pressing need for a physical therapist and additional service help, specifically hospital aids.

EASTERN STATE PENITENTIARY

Grand Jurors were unanimous in their reactions to the positive picture presented by their visit to Eastern State Penitentiary. Quality of food, shop equipment, medical facilities were excellent. We remarked the contrast of attitudes among this State-administered institution and our municipal prisons. There appeared a distinct ease of attitude, a freedom of action in all the shops we visited. While we know that the prisoners were under complete surveillance at all times, we think their relaxed attitude is of positive value in their rehabilitation. We firmly believe that this has been achieved at Eastern State Penitentiary because of lack of overcrowded conditions and adequate custodial complement. Both these factors are the foremost problems of our city-administered prisons. Holmesburg and Moyamensing are overcrowded and understaffed to the point of risk.

Warden Stowell merits high praise for his administration.

PHILADELPHIA GENERAL HOSPITAL

We Grand Jurors are indebted to Dr. F. Lloyd Mussells for his thorough explanation of present programs and future plans for the hospital.

While much of the physical plant of Philadelphia General is antiquated, we appreciate the extent to which this is unavoidable, acknowledging that concrete progress had been made at modernization such as the new Blockley Building. We were encouraged to hear that decreasing demands in tuberculous admissions will shortly free that building for other necessary purposes.

Of special interest were the plans to relieve the serious congestion in the Psychiatric Wards. We understand that 160 additional beds will be available within six months. However, the problem of mental patients at "P. G. H." is by no means solved by this addition. We were advised that numerous mentally ill must be refused admission because of lack of space. And there is lack of space at "P. G. H." because of lack of transferral space in our mental institutions. Let us recall also that this problem of the mental defective is an all-inclusive institutional problem. Not only our municipal hospital but our municipal prisons are harrassed because our municipal mental institutions are inadequate. In all our city prisons we were informed of the large number of mental cases confined. In some instances these were extreme cases which required special custodial care. And this "special" demand upon a guard complement not sufficiently staffed to meet ordinary custodial requirements!

RECOMMENDATIONS

There is a great need of new furnishings for the clinic areas. Both treatment rooms and waiting rooms require more modern accomodations.

MOYAMENSING PRISON

Census: 855

Grand Jurors were appalled by conditions at Moyamensing. We now know, not from hearsay, but from observation, that Moyamensing is the "step-child" of the prison program. These conditions are especially evident in the South Block which houses untried cases. In cells built to accomodate one prisoner, three or four were crowded. And since these are untried cases, non-criminal types must often be celled with the criminal. There were many severe mental cases in this block. At the end of the block, we were introduced to the "cattle pen." This is the blunt, and all too accurate description of the initial confinement at Moyamensing following delivery of offenders by the Sheriff's Van. We were informed that into these two cell-like rooms (unfurnished except for a bench in one and an uncovered toilet in the other) as many as 80 men were pressed for a matter of hours during the period of processing them according to their crimes. The processing is unavoidably lengthy because of the critically understaffed custodial force. This processing is repeated two or three times a day with each arrival of the Sheriff's Van. The guards scarcely complete one period of processing before another van-load of accused arrive.

RECOMMENDATIONS

We believe the situation at Moyamensing demands immediate correction. Increased guards are an urgent—an emergency—need! Why cannot Civil Service supply sufficient acceptable personnel to prison staffs for training as guards?

Increased guards are an imperative necessity. But nothing short of a new County Prison will solve the problem that is Moyamensing Prison. Certainly, the present system of housing tried and untried cases in one institution is wholly untenable. In effect, it is not "a system," it is a divided system. Tried and untried cases are often necessarily forced together; regulations which apply to one prisoner cannot be applied to another. But until this ideal is attained, a new County Prison (with a separate House of Detention for untried cases) will not the Prison Board heed the need of added assistance at Moyamensing? Surely the present administration merits complete consideration. Warden William Dennison, Captain John Clark and the entire staff are doing unquestionably heroic work to maintain order and decency in such disruptive conditions. But theirs is a defeating task; they face such overwhelming odds of overcrowding and understaffing. The strain upon them is quite evident. Our complete congratulations to Warden Dennison and his staff for, we repeat, their manifestly heroic work. Conversely, the Women's Section of Moyamensing appears normally filled and adequately staffed. We congratulate Matron Marie Marnie and her staff for their admirable work among the women. The Women's Section requests coffee urns to replace the outdated method now in use.

CONCLUSIONS AND SUMMARIZATION

1. We propose an investigation into the issuance of driver's licenses. From certain cases we reviewed, we question whether the licenses were really issued to holders thereof, or did someone else take the test for such persons.

2. We believe the Malicious Mischief Law should be strengthened to comprehend all property damages, including damages to personal property.

3. We endorse heavy sentencing to sellers of narcotics. On this subject also, we suggest a Placement Agency for "cured cases" of narcotics users.

4. We are heartened to learn that the law against sex offenders has been strengthened. Concerning this category of crime, however, we concur that corrective measures be applied to such obvious sources of sexual crimes as salacious publications and films. We vehemently recommend that City Council enact legislation to control these "salesmen of smut" by the enactment of a Movie Censorship Ordinance. Since the recent enfeebling of our State Board of Censors by court rulings, blatantly indecent films, hitherto banned, are appearing in our neighborhood theatres. And these theatres are chiefly patronized by the young. It is the young also who buy the so-called "comic books," too many of which can only be classified as obscene. Legislation is imperatively needed to rout this plague of foul films and publications. We have experienced first hand the truth of the finding made recently by the Senate Subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency that the "overwhelming evidence" it has gathered indicates a definite relationship between motion pictures and Juvenile Delinquency.

5. We wholly commend the exchange of foodstuffs among our city institutions. We think the farm and cannery at Holmesburg an excellent project which supplies other institutions with quality provisions at significant savings.

6. We applaud the effectiveness of the campaign against intoxicated drivers. We believe such drivers a menace to the very lives of other citizens, and wholly agree with the current campaign to correct this critical problem.

7. Our wholehearted congratulations to our sincerely hardworking law enforcement services: The District Attorney's Office, the entire police and park guard forces, particularly the narcotics division and the vice squad; and all others whose work we witnessed.

8. Our fullest appreciation to Assistant District Attorney Armand Della Porta for his graciousness, his unfailing patience in advising us. We applaud his selfless interest in his work. We consider it important to have men as intensely attentive to this work, as sensitive to its human relations aspects as he is. Equally, our gratitude to Assistant District Attorney John R. Sutton for his valuable assistance in Mr. Della Porta's absence. Our heartfelt thanks also to Court Officers Michael Tankle and Michael Januisak. Both were singularly genial at all times despite the pressure of work. We view their kindness and consideration, not only to us but to every witness they contact, a model for all court officers.

9. From our observation of the District Attorney's Office, and by comparison to other jurisdictions, we conclude that our District Attorney's Office is greatly understaffed and overworked and that there is an immediate need for an increase in the number of Assistant District Attorney's and clerical help.

10. Having observed some of our court rooms in operation, we believe that there is a great need for better facilities, better court rooms; in fact it is quite evident that our city has long been in need of a new Court House.
